Thurlow Boy, 13, Escapes Lightly When Hit by Car

Glen Camelford, 13, of Thurlow township, miraculously escaped serious injury Saturday afternoon when, on No. 2 highway near the Point Anne turn, his bicycle swerved in front of a passing car, throwing him to the shoulder of the road and completely demolishing his machine.

He was taken to Belleville General Hospital for examination but was later released.

Police said the boys' bicycle swerved into the passing lane as a car driven by Wesley Reid of Point Anne was about to pass. The boy escaped with bruises and a shaking up.

Police Blotter

An epidemic of vandalism, apparently the work of juveniles, was reported in the city over the weekend with flower beds at private homes and at Corby Park on the East Hill being raided. Police said they have made progress in several cases were ruined, with flowers being pulled out or broken off.

Also at a residence on the East Hill a pet was stolen. Ropes were cut at the pegs and the canvas was stripped from the tent poles.

A minor breakin at the Glen Roy Creamery was also reported. Entry was gained through a window and a till was taken. The intruders not showing interest in the silver.

Mayor Hyde Outlines Events Leading to an Inquiry Into City's Financial Affairs

The following is the text of Mayor Gerald B. Hyde's radio talk which he gave on Sunday:

"This is the 16th time I have had the opportunity of reporting to you by way of the "Town Crier" program on the affairs of the City of Belleville. During these several months many of you have told me either personally or by letter that this program represents a wonderful service to the people of Belleville inasmuch as it gives them an opportunity to learn the important aspects of city administration by the medium of listening directly to the "Town Criers" I have been led to believe over this period of time that all of my listeners appreciate the factual type of broadcasting which has been presented to them in as unbiased a manner as it is possible for me to do so. From time to time of my last broadcast, the financial affairs of the city of Belleville has become a topic of conversation, primarily in Belleville, but essentially throughout the country. Since the matter first came to the public's attention on the first weekend in May, I would venture to say that 90 per cent of words have been spoken by thousands of people. Apart from this everyone has formed an impression but that no one knows the facts.

"I would like to devote this month's period of broadcasting to explaining to you the sequence of events which led to the recent request for a formal investigation into the city's financial affairs and the events which have since taken place subsequent to that request being made to the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

"The auditor of the City of Belleville (hereinafter referred to as he his audit report for the year ending December 31st, 1958, on the morning of Thursday, May 7, 1959. At the same time a copy was delivered to the office of the City Clerk, another copy to the office of the City Manager, Treasurer and another copy was forwarded to the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs. The auditor went over with me the irregular findings contained in the report and needless to say, his findings were very much of a shock to me. I had been out of the city for the previous four days on business and repeating myself, this was given to me on the morning I returned home from that trip.

"That afternoon and evening my time was taken up with appointments on city affairs which had been made some time before. As a result, I was unable to find time to thoroughly digest the auditor's report or to discuss it with our manager on that day. The next day a report was received by myself that the manager could not be located in the city and I immediately called for a special meeting of the Council that afternoon at 4.30. In the meantime, the manager was located returning to Belleville from a trip which he had been on and the point of location was in the area of Gananoque.

"At the special meeting that afternoon I advised the Council of the findings of the city auditor and again it proved to be a real shock to every member of the Council. We met again on Saturday evening at which time the city auditor made a special trip to our meeting to outline the important points in his report. As a result of that meeting, a majority of the Council felt that there was no choice but to suspend the manager at our regular meeting which would be held the following Monday evening and in so doing, this would allow him to appear before Council at any time at his convenience and explain the alleged improper procedures during this period of time and continuing into Sunday, rumors of a fabulous nature began to circulate among the people of this city. With only portions of truth to it, it is almost unbelievable how rumors can grow from one telling to the next.

"On Monday morning my first action was to call the Minister of Municipal Affairs at his office in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto and at that time I advised him of the findings of this auditor's report, and requested a full investigation into the city's financial affairs by the Department. I was told that he would have officials of his department come to Belleville that day for a first-hand examination of our books and records. This was done and the two gentlemen from the Department of Municipal Affairs, including the chief accountant of the department, spent that entire week in this city looking over our records. I was also advised that Section 20 of the Municipal Act, R.S.O. 1950, Chapter 243, provides that the Minister of Municipal Affairs may request the Lieutenant-Governor-In-Council to conduct a formal inquiry into the affairs of any municipality upon receiving suitable evidence that an inquiry is warranted and in the request of at least one-third of the members of the Council of the municipality or alternatively, at the request of any 50 ratepayers in the municipality.

"I was assured of the full co-operation of the department in getting to the bottom of this entire matter. I released to the public of Belleville the official statement designed to halt some of the rumors and restore some semblance of order to and confidence in our municipal administration. I then prepared for use as the properly written application which the Minister required and signed it myself and had the following addressed also sign the application: Jack Ireland, Ralph Graham, Claude Tice, Dr. Jim Forrester and Wade Elliott. I then proceeded to ask why these particular aldermen signed this request. The answer is a simple one. If you will think of their respective places of business and the multitude that each one of them is close to, they will see how personally walked around to their respective offices and Aldermen Ralph Graham went to the office of Alderman Robertson Collins only to learn that he was out at the time and I therefore went on over to Alderman Wade Elliott's place of business to secure the necessary sixth signature. I am confident that almost all of the rest of the other members of the Council would have signed had I asked to end this request.

"That evening the Council voted to suspend the city manager-treasurer and this status will be known to his position in with the City of Belleville at this moment. He is still employed by the cities before any meeting of the city Council and the answer to questions which the Council would wish to ask of him. It is not my intention to do so or is not able to do so prior to the holding of an official inquiry and questions will be called before the judge who will preside at the inquiry.

"The following evening, that is Tuesday, Controller Ireland and Mr. Blake, chief accountant, of the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs outlined the procedure which he was required to follow. Mr. Blake suggested that Council approve of the appointment of a member of the city's auditing staff to the position of acting city treasurer. That reason he suggested this appointment was that the appointee was familiar with the books, having worked on them in an auditing capacity for several years and would, therefore, not require a period of time to familiarize himself with the complex workings of municipal accounting. This was done and Mr. Gerard Minty of the staff of F. A. R. McFadden Co. is presently acting in that capacity. Mr. Blake also requested that we obtain an revised a modern bookkeeping machine and that we obtain the temporary services of an additional machine operators.

"It should be noted at this point that the postings from January 1, 1959 until May 7, 1959 had not been done with the exception of the receipts for the month of April which I indicated guess would be that this work would involve somewhere in the neighborhood of 12-15 thousand individual transactions. I am sure you will also can appreciate that this kind of bookkeeping requires a great deal of time to be complete when it is added to the regular routine work of city which must go on in the same department. I have discussed with Mr. Minter this week his estimate on how much longer it will be before the true picture of the city's finances can be arrived at as of May 29 by the date of the manager's suspension. He feels that a further two weeks will be required before his report can be finalized and again I wish to say to each one of you if you will reflect on the amount of work involved in the sorting and posting of thousands of individual transactions extending over a period of five months in a treasurer's office of a city the size of Belleville, I think you will realize that the job is a time-consuming one, to say the least.

"In the meantime, it would appear that many of our civic arena feel that because no public statements have been made and nothing has shown up on the surface as far as activity is concerned with regard to this investigation, that the entire matter is being quietly shelved by the municipal officials. Actually I do nothing else on this broadcast I wish to emphatically state and assure everyone that nothing can be further from the truth. The necessary sorting, bookkeeping and auditing is going forward as rapidly as can be done. I have personally continually checked with the acting treasurer on his progress. The officials of the Department of Municipal Affairs have also religiously and regularly checked on the progress of this work. We have the assurance of the Minister of Municipal Affairs that the chief accountant will return to Belleville immediately that our own audit staff reports that the picture of the city's affairs as of 29th, May, 1959, is understated, although I have not personally seen one, that petitions are being circulated among the residents of this community demanding an inquiry by the Department of Municipal Affairs. I can fully understand the concern of every ratepayer in the city and I can further appreciate that the absence of official statements on the progress of our audit during the past three weeks may have led to the false impression that the entire matter was being shelved. I state as emphatically as I know how nothing could be further from the truth.

"There is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that the Minister of Municipal Affairs will order a judicial inquiry, whether requested to do so or not. This inquiry is that it will be open to the public and will be conducted with the hockey club, including players and manager. The present auditor of City Council, every city official and employee connected in any way with our financial affairs will be called to testify at that inquiry. The date of the latter will be made public. There is the highest intention on my part as I am concerned (and I am sure I speak for the entire Council) of receiving the fullest co-operation from the public who have every faith in the City of Belleville as well as those of us who have been elected or appointed to look after its interests.

"I have taken a great deal of time in outline what has taken place on this matter during the past month. I feel sure that you are concerned about the long-range picture for the City of Belleville and the effect on the economic or rumor can have on our future as a social and business community. I know perfectly well that until this matter is finally disposed of by the court and a final report prepared for the benefit of the public that it will certainly be uppermost in the minds of every citizen. Consequently I consider refraining from making any further comment on the actions of anyone connected with the city's affairs as being the wisest course to follow and my judgment is based solely on rumor.

"I am happy to know that the great majority of my listeners have accepted any statement I have made as being fact. Anything that I have said to you during any of my radio broadcast career and which has subsequently been found to be incorrect has been stated to you as fact based on information supplied to me. I now ask you to please be patient and bear with us until the matter is finally completed. You have my assurance that nothing will be withheld from the public and my further assurance that the entire matter will be dealt with as rapidly as is humanly possible.

"This is a good city! Its financial position as far as investment houses are concerned is excellent and its prospects are bright. There is no real need for the panic which has developed among some of our citizens. May I respectfully request that there be an epidemic of calm on this matter you await the findings of the court of inquiry. Then let us redouble our efforts towards progress of Belleville, the friendly City."

"I hope that in making this talk I have been able, to clear some measure, helped to clear the cloud of misunderstanding and distrust which currently exists in the city and which is giving the impression that I have no interest in about the soundness of the city of Belleville and its people.

"One of the basic principles of democratic form of government is the right of the electorate to free expression of their approval or disapproval of the policy decided at each level of government. I invite the citizens of Belleville to take an active interest in all that is possible by attendance at the meetings of Council, or as an alternative by writing to me personally or to any member of Council freely expressing their point of view on any matter of civic business. I will endeavour to use my weekly broadcasts on the city's business and shall have copies of these broadcasts available to any interested citizens by simply calling the Mayor's office, and I shall welcome suggestions for subjects which you may wish dealt with on these broadcasts.

Harness Racing Assoc. Proposed In This District

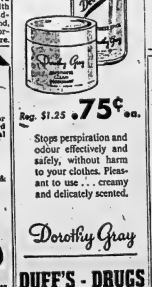
Groundwork for a proposed harness racing association in this city and district will be laid at a meeting scheduled for the fairgrounds tomorrow night at seven o'clock.

Drivers, drivers and others interested in the sport are particularly requested to attend. It is felt that harness racing should be put on some sort of an organized basis.

It is stated that some 14 horses are now quartered in the fairgrounds stable, the majority of them owned in the city.

You do not have to be a driver or owner to join the proposed organization. Any lover of the sport will be welcome.

The meeting will be held in front of the stables and is called for seven o'clock as the main body of those attending want to take in the arena boxing match.



Tobacco Worth $3,000 Stolen At Stirling

An early arrest is expected by Stirling Provincial Police in connection with the theft of approximately $3,000 worth of cigarets and tobacco from the warehouse of Mark Tripp of Stirling.

The break-in occurred early Saturday morning sometime between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m.

Investigation into the break-in is being headed up by Chief Sutherland with the assistance of Corporal Reg. Rackham of the Ontario Provincial Police of Belleville who has been called in to do the necessary finger-print checks.

IN MEMORIAM

SHADBOLT — In loving memory of our dear wife, husband and brother, Vernon, who passed away June 8th, 1956.

Resting where no shadows fall,
In perfect peace he is at all;
And God will link the broken chain,
And we shall meet and smile again.
Sweet be his rest and dark shadows draw night,
And when the morning wakens it's not death to die;
He'll wipe away each tear, roll away every care;
We'll meet him in night here, but good morning there.

COLLINS — In loving memory of James Frederick Collins, who passed away June 8th, 1957.

Sweet memories are all I have left,

VANDOME — In loving memory of Percival Vandome, who died June 8th, 1956.

Gone from our sight but memories
Death can never take away
Memories of you we always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
—Mother and Children.

Local Auto Club Team Takes Part In Simcoe Meet

Members of the St. Lawrence Automobile Club's competition division, the Scuderia Hysteria, had four cars running in the second National Relay Race, a six-hour handicap event put on by the Grand Valley Car Club of the Kitchener-Galt-Brantford district last Friday and Saturday near Simcoe. The event, which is the only one of its type in North America, marked the opening of the amateur racing season. Drivers are the local sports car enthusiasts.

The purpose of the event was for each team, which consisted from two to four cars, to complete as many laps as possible of the race course, which was laid tot uing the runways of an abandoned airfield, within the six-hour period. Each team was given a cash which was won by the driver of the vehicle on the track, only one car from each team being allowed to run at a time. During the course of the event each competing car was required to make a compulsory pit stop to change the front tires about.

To allow the smaller, or less powered, vehicles a chance of competing with the larger and faster machines a handicap was allowed each team according to the known performance of the vehicles it was racing. The handicap took the form of credit laps to be added on to the actual completed laps made by a team. Awards were made for the greatest number of laps completed, in total, and also for the team making the greatest number of laps exclusive of the handicapping system. Other awards were made for the best performances turned in by cars of different categories, such as sports-racing cars and touring or sedan cars.

The local team members included Doug Fraser of Trenton, James McGee of Kingston, Art Armstrong of Port Hope, and Doug Phippen of Belleville as drivers. Numerous other persons made up the required complement of mechanics and pit assistants. The team's vehicles consisted of four Morris Minors, three of which were resplendent with new experimental engines which converted the basic 948cc valve Minor engine into an overhead-valve engine.

Due to the newness of these engines all the quirks and follies of their operation had not yet been eliminated and much time was spent in the pits in righting the difficulties that arose during the course of the race.

Nevertheless, the point was never reached where all of the teams vehicles were experiencing mechanical difficulties at the same time and at least one vehicle was able to stay in the race at all times. A Morris which only had two or three cars experienced periods where none of their vehicles was out on the course.

Despite the enthusiasm and hard work put in by the Scuderia Hysteria team, the vehicles' engines were not able to hold their best tune for very long and turned in slower lap times than were to be hoped for.

Nevertheless a very good effort was made and the members enjoyed the experience despite a few frustrations. The local entry finished 11th in number of laps covered with a total of 167 laps. The front place team, with a total 193 laps, was an entry of three new MG twin cam cars, entered and manned by Jim Ferguson of Tofonto, and driven by Ed Leavens, Bryan Bowstree and George Chisholm.

The local club suffered the loss of a second team entry when two local cars, one a Canada Class special — the other a Triumph TR3, failed to appear. The latter, entered by Ray Rookard of Belleville, was ready to be raced but did not arrive due to mechanical difficulties encountered in the trailer on the way to the event.

The next event at which local sports car enthusiasts will be participating is the Connor Circuit race meet held near St. Eugene, Ont., this coming Sunday.

Temple Lodge Host to DDGM At Banquet

The members of Temple Lodge No. 666 G.R.C. were hosts at a recently held banquet and lodge meeting in the Masonic Temple. Wor. Bro. R. Ash, the toastmaster, welcomed the guests at the banquet, which was faithfully catered by the Massassaga Women's Association.

One hundred and twenty Masons were present to honor Rt. Wor. Bro. F. G. Cowman, District Deputy Grand Master of Prince Edward District, on his last official visit.

In responding to the toast to the Grand Lodge of Canada, proposed by Wor. Bro. H. F. Mott, Rt. Wor. Bro. Creegan urged all Masons to attend and support the church of their choice.

Words of commendation were voiced to Bro. Bruce Smith, a charter member of Temple Lodge, who had recently been elected Grand First Principal, Royal Arch Masons of Canada, in the Province of Ontario.

Following the banquet the brethren met in the lodge room where the work of the evening was processed with.

Wor. Bro. W. Kilbank delivered an excellent address on a Masonic subject.

Schools Give Musical Recital

TRENTON — V. P. Carswell, superintendent of Trenton public schools, welcomed the numerous visitors to the annual musical recital held by the schools at Trenton High School on Friday evening.

The recital was the climax of a year's work. Rhythmic expression and the use of the voice were worthwhile, said the speaker, and the study of the works of the great masters was good also.

The massed choirs, numbering more than 300 voices, led off by the singing of "O Canada" under the direction of Mrs. D. O'Neil and Mrs. M. Spencer. At the piano were Mrs. L. Cassidy and Mrs. J. Wilson.

After various selections by the massed choirs, the Grade Two pupils of Mrs. Mackintosh, in gold and red uniforms, gave a harmony band performance.

North Trenton then followed with three tunefully sung pieces. College Street then came on stage and sang three songs with "Sweet Adeline", "Old Pals", "Pals" mates," by Vicky Smith and Sharon Lange followed. Queen Elizabeth then gave a tuneful rendering of three traditional songs, followed by the "Flower sleeves Air, a sacred song, and an ensemble by Dufferin.

Marmora Street senior then made its appearance in 16 song, which included, "The Ash Grove."

The concert came to an end with the singing of "Bless This House" and "The Queen." Mr. Carswell congratulated the performers on their excellent singing.

Over Thousand Attend Wooler PC Garden Party

TRENTON — Many people from Trenton and surrounding districts, including a large number prospective voters from all over Northumberland riding when Hon. W. A. Goodfellow spoke at the garden party held in Wooler on Saturday evening. Listening under perfect skies to pleasant grassy space, and when the chairs were all filled, stood around in close-packed attention. Those who had come late, stayed to hear. The hearing the address broadcast under the efficient convenership of George Haggerty.

Mr. Goodfellow reviewed the past successes achieved by the Frost administration in such fields as education, the use of coal and other sources of power and outlined future efforts to be made if the Conservatives are returned in the forthcoming election.

Among those present from Trenton, Belleville and Brighton were Lee Grills, M.P., W. H. Ireland, Commander Scotty Broughton, Mrs. Lee Grills and many others.

Members of the Havelock Pipe Band, in full Highland regalia, provided entertainment at the intermission. Refreshments were served by the ladies' committee.

Money Appears To Be Growing On Automobiles

TORONTO (CP) — Money might not grow on trees but in the north end of Toronto it appears to be growing on automobiles.

Motorists on Albertus Ave., who often get up to find all night parking tags on their cars now are finding $10 and $20 bills instead. The cash has shown up on the last two nights tucked under bumpers and windshield wipers.

The motorists must be early birds to catch the cash; if they aren't, the neighborhood children get it first. Police said children had turned in about $40 so far. If no one claims it, the children who found it will get it back.

Police were at a loss to explain the mystery donations.

Central Bridge Gets Contract For Big Building

TRENTON — The Central Bridge Company of this town has been informed that it was the low bidder on a contract from the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for the fabrication and erection of a 2,000-ton structural steel framework for a new multi-storey toll and office building in East Toronto. The fabrication is expected to commence in two to three months on the $500,000 contract. The assembly of a steel strike in the United States could result in the delivery being delayed, according to James Duncan of the Central Bridge firm who announced the awarding of the contract at noon today.

Heavy Traffic Seen But Only Minor Mishaps

TRENTON — No accidents and no fatalities were in Trenton yesterday with only a few minor accidents reported on Saturday.

Pleasant weather brought hundreds of motorists out for Saturday rides but, despite the heavy traffic there were no mishaps. There had been two calls from a factory on Dufferin Street when the automatic alarm system sounded but fire was not the cause of the alarm going off.

On Saturday morning at about 1 pm. William Berrie of 651 Front Street reported to police that the windshield of his car had been broken, while it was parked in front of Berry's Food Market on Dundas Street West. Mr. Berrie told police he was in the cafe at the time and when he came out found the damage. He said it appeared as though a stone had been thrown at the windshield.

Police sources attribute the reading of Front Street as a busy traffic lane to stopping a considerable amount of the traffic accidents in that city.

On Friday the Public Works Department removed the old barrier which blocked the street and replaced it with modern "Keep to the Right" signs, a sign saying "Do Not Enter". They report that no sooner had the barrier been removed and the lights put in operation when one motorist ran into the notice the new sign asked, "Can we use the street now?"

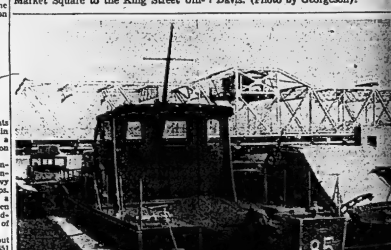
However police assure that the street is still one way and will be used that way until traffic tie off Dundas St. West to Elgin.

Cubs Take Part In Field Day

TRENTON—Cubs from the Trenton packs worked for their athlete's badges on Saturday afternoon when they participated in the Field Day held at Bain Park.

Packs taking part were 1st Trenton, sponsored by St. George's Anglican Church; 2nd Trenton, sponsored by the Rotary Club; 3rd Trenton, sponsored by Grace United Church; 4th Trenton, sponsored by St. Michael's Church; 5th Trenton, sponsored by King Edward Public School; 6th Trenton, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

The cubs took part in the events, which included bullbrowning, the standing broad jump, high jumping, rope-climbing, and performances of head-stands and cart-wheels. These events were not of a competitive nature, as each boy was working toward his own badge.



Six parents were on hand from each group to help with the judging. Mrs. Grace Bailey, Rez. N., was in charge of the First Aid tent which was up to cope with casualties. Fortunately there was none.

Director of the Field Day was District Cub Master Walter Smith, who is in charge of various events was Alex Bell, Cubmaster of Third Trenton Pack, assisted by Second Robert Bell, Stu Kirkpatrick, Brian Ledingham and Bruce Good. Also assisting were Ted Green, Cubmaster of 2nd Trenton Pack; Robert Frost, Cubmaster of 5th Trenton Pack. Norm Brown, Cubmaster of 6th Trenton Pack, Mrs. W. J. Scott and Mrs. S. Teal leaders from 1st Trenton Pack. Mrs. W. F. Anderson from 1st Trenton, and Mrs. Thelma Simmons from 3rd Trenton A Group, assisted by Mrs. Helen Wilkie.

In the evening the boys and their parents returned to the park where they enjoyed games, including a tug-of-war, and a campfire sing-song, followed by a wiener roast.

The Color Party (above) of Boy Scouts follow a parade of 125 children made up of members of Trenton Brownies, Mission Band, Cubs, Guides, Scouts and C.G.I.T. as they march from the Market Square to the King Street United Church for services yesterday morning. District Scout Master Bernard was in charge of the Color Party. In charge of the entire parade was Tom Spear and assisting him was Gordon Davis. (Photo by Georgeson).

Three patrol boats of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police tied up at the government docks in Trenton Saturday night and left again early Sunday morning. It is the first time three of the RCMP boats had been seen in Trenton at the same time but the Corporal in charge explained that the larger boat was escorting the two smaller ones to Kingston. The larger patrol boat see the above photo tied against the do the Shaunavan II and is a familiar in Trenton waters during the early regular patrol duties. The smaller tied along side the Shaunavan is the second and the second smaller one t the docks and towards the town brid the Valleyfield. (Photo by Georgeson

Social Evening Is Enjoyed by Conservatives

TRENTON — Mayor Ross Burtt joined W. E. Sandercock, M.P., and Mrs. Sandercock, Lee Grills, M.P., and Mrs. Grills, on Saturday evening when they were among guests at the Progressive Conservative Party social evening held in the Victory Memorial Community Centre in connection rooms. W. Housh, president of the Trenton branch of the group, with Mrs. Housh, and Mrs. Fred Wessel, president of the Trenton branch of the Women's Progressive Conservative Party, were also present.

Guests enjoyed card games and chatted until the arrival of the square dancing at which floor was cleared for square dancing in which everyone took part.

Refreshments were served by the ladies' committee.

WORK, THE MEASURE OF A MAN

We do not know how many of the readers of this jump are also readers of "The Family Council," dicated feature also published in The Ontario in ligence, but any who are interested in the problems human relationships would be well rewarded by a ular perusal of that column. Tastes differ, of rse, but most of us are interested in other people and he Family Council" deals with a wide variety of eryday problems.

Most of the time the pronouncements of the Council ke excellent sense, if one overlooks that necessity pontificate on the basis of insufficient facts which lf unavoidable feature of all such columns. The other y, though, the Council concluded with a clause which it us rearing back in our chair in an immediate ibsurt of indignant denial. The man in the day's oblem, said the Council, should realize "that his dig y and worth as a man are not measured by the work does or the dollars he brings into the home."

Most of us will pay immediate lip service to the ntention that a man's worth cannot be measured by salary he earns. Unfortunately, we do not always s accordingly in our treatment of fellows.

It seems to us, though, that if there is any reliable restick by which to measure a man's worth it must the work he does. We are willing to grant that istence of exceptional cases in which a man may be a ppy workman and still be a human being of outstanding worth. In most cases, though, the way a man rks tells us what kind of a man he is.

The Family Council, in this particular case, was ying to state that it was no disgrace to be a mechanic stead of a salesman. Surely no thinking person can arrel with that. But the fact that a man is a me anic hardly entitles about him until we know what kind a mechanic he is. Does he like his work? Is he od at it? Does he try to do a little better job than ost mechanics? Is he a perfectionist? Or does he igh the results of perfection against its cost, to his stomer as well as to himself?

If the man who's a salesman, he should have to ask ese questions and another besides: what does he sell? it a useful product? By selling, does he enhance the alth of the community? For that is one of the most portant questions to ask about a man and his work. he working just for himself or does this work serve a illy useful purpose? It is, of course, a question which ust be faced with care. There are some people who uld not concede that an artist, or an actor, or even an storial writer performed any worthwhile service to the mmunity.

But if there are men whose dignity is enhanced by eir work, there are those who are unmasked by it. ey are all those who do work which they know ares nobody but themselves. And, in a different tegory, all those who look down on their work though be useful, for this reveals that they are beneath it stead of above it as they imagine.

A WONDERFUL IDEA!

We see that the Ontario Federation of Professional re Fighters, meeting at Kitchener, has decided to seek two-per-cent tax on all fire insurance premiums, the venue to be used for firemen's pension funds.

This is an interesting idea.

We presume that the reasoning behind the request that firemen, through their work, reduce fire losses nd thereby lower fire insurance premiums. They want out of the savings.

An analogy which immediately suggests itself is the ork of doctors in reducing illness. Following the fire- en's reasoning they should get two per cent of hospi- l insurance premiums.

Since regular eating tends to reduce the death toll om starvation and thereby lightens the burden of bur- expenses, supermarket clerks deserve a two-per cent f of the revenue of undertakers.

Nobody robs a store while reading a newspaper and are undecided whether it would be more profitable to mand a two-per-cent tax on policemen's salaries or burglary insurance premiums. We'll settle for both- en newspaperman can retire earlier on higher pen- ns and also substitute champagne for the traditional er or rye at press club parties.

It's a beautiful system and with a little ingenuity ery occupation ought to be able to make out a claim r a pension fund tax.

NO BUSINESS MAN

By EDGAR A. GUEST

glad I'm not a business man,
Though they are mighty few
Who can be funny;
glad that I don't know a lot
f men who owe me money.
ow I'd fail as sure as fate,
'e certain I'd be busted, never have the heart to go
nd dun the man I trusted.

glad I'm not a business man,
Though poor I'll live and die;
I never was cut out for trade
And here's the reason why:
I never would know what to say
My make-up is so funny;
I think I'd rather run away
Than ask a man for money.

As far as I could go would be
To send my statements to them.
But if they didn't pay, I know
I simply could not sue them.

I'm glad I'm not a business man,

Would Revive Geography

New York Times

Middle-aged sentimentalists will note with sadness the report of the U.S. National Education Association that the teaching of geography has fallen on evil days. That once familiar companion of the three R's, which alternated dreary statistics on butternut and pig iron production with fascinating glimpses of life among the Eskimos of Central Asia and the Congo Basin, is disappearing now, according to the N.E.A., under a "remnant of what was once a unified subject."

In a 250-page report, the association's National Council on the Social Studies calls for the restoration of geography intensive study in the schools and also recommends a general overhauling of the subject. The space are, says the council, has invalidated many concepts of physical geography.

Long before the advent of the Graphophone, Mr. Bell was beginning to show disquieting signs of boredom with school. The boy working his way up through the grades between 1913 and 1925 could testify to that.

The Seven Cities of Cibola had nothing on those diligently memorized European place names that were suddenly and permanently mislaid somewhere between the fifth and seventh grades. Even when so many an erstwhile schoolboy there is an abiding memory of lost words that clings to forgotten names like St. Petersburg and Uitzlaland and Serbia. Or was it Servia?

The disappearance of Serbia from the map of Eastern Europe left the U.S. National Geography book was a distinct casualty. Even the last, so faithfully studied in Miss Jones' front fifth grade, Serbia was a cheerful yellow patch in the old Balkans' multicolored mosaic, a favorite basin for pupils struggling to copy the tangled boundaries of the Powder Keg of Europe. In the revised edition, Serbia had vanished and the yellow had migrated to other countries where it looked decidedly out of place.

Still, the study of geography had its familiar landmarks. "Fallow, wool and hides," remained the principal exports of a legion of lesser nations. The phrase "gently rolling country," a favorite description of agricultural areas, continued to evoke the pleasant image of mobile landscapes where woods and tempted hills gravely deported themselves in the manner of languid dolphins.

Geography as taught by Miss Penfross was no passive affair. Sooner or later everyone in the class made a relief map of South America. The continental outline was first sketched on a sheet of cardboard, then filled in with a layer of paste made from salt, flour and water.

The paste, which was fun to handle and not unpleasant to taste, provided a smooth, moist surface where the Amazon and its tributaries were traced with a toothpick and the Andes could be pinched up into a ridge resembling the edging of an unbaked pie. When the paste hardened into stone, water, Miss Pentross came to the conclusion, was needed only to set Brazil from oozing unogeographically into the middle of the Pacific.

After the continental base had hardened, national boundaries were drawn in and the countries tinted with watercolors. Then for Bolivia, pink for Peru. As a finishing touch, small objects were glued in place; a coffee bean on Brazil, a silver of wood for Venezuela and Colombia's emeralds. It was understood that the cash of cotton on Argentina represented wool.

Miss Pentross' approach to geography had its disadvantages. Yet its most affection-ate admirer must admit that today it is hopelessly obsolete. It is going to take a good deal more than a relief flour to depict the solar system and its proper place in the universe.

REAL — AND IMPORTANT

We make our own heaven and hell as we live our daily lives.

This does not mean that there is not a "place" where people shall live hereafter.

Heaven and hell are definite "places" which humanity will know after death.

But heaven and hell are also states of mind. Attitudes are changed to heaven or hell and hell into heaven. Desires inordinately sought after, the fevered indirect by which people in turn can have both heaven and hell in them.

Heaven and hell are real.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 8th, 1910

The scientific developments of man's combat against the ravages of injurious insects, and the eradication of these insects as employed by the Department of Agriculture through the Dominion Entomological Department proved most interesting and highly educational to a large number of visitors at the Parasitical Laboratory on Dundas St. East, during the annual open house yesterday.

Mrs. and Mrs. L. S. Armstrong of Teaneck, N.J., are the guests of Mrs. Armstrong's sister, Mrs. Ellen K. Gunn, Trent Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson S. Murphy and daughter, Maxie, of Sudbury, are visiting their brother, Mrs. J. J. Murphy, Harriet St.

Mr. Carl Sills, Mr. Gordon and Douglas Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. White and son Archie, called at the home of the latter of Mrs. White, Mr. Kenneth Terry, Hillier.

Dr. Lily B. Mathieson entertained at a most enjoyable afternoon party yesterday, honoring the graduating class of the Belleville General Hospital. The door was opened to the guests by little Miss Barbara Clarke. Dr. Mathieson was assisted by Mrs. G. A. Morton, Mrs. A. C. Locke and Mrs. C. A. Cameron and the tea hostesses were Mrs. H. Muir and Mrs. W. E. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crowhurst, Rowena, N.J., who have been visiting relatives in Belleville and Port Hope, have returned home, and later will go to Long Kong and Shanghai where they will visit their daughter and spend Christmas.

June 8th, 1910

At the graduating ceremony and investiture held with the Belleville General Hospital, Miss Frances Rose of Peterborough received the gold medal for General Proficiency. The following constituted the graduating class: Miss Marion Tate, Castleton; Miss Helen Mackenzie, Colborne; Miss Winnifred Hodson, Toronto; Miss Lucille Brown, Port Hope, and Miss Emma Rowe, Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Rollins and the pins were presented to the nurses by Mrs. W. C. Mikel. Dr. Richard Hall also gave an interesting address to the graduates, an account of the founding of the hospital fifty years ago. The graduation exercises took place in 1885.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gowdy, Toronto, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gowdy, Foster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Chisholm of Winnipeg, Manitoba, are visiting the mother of the former, also his sister, Mrs. P. H. Waldron.

40 YEARS AGO

June 8th, 1910

Miss Katie Hunter has returned to Toronto after spending some time at her home in Consecon Street.

During an electrical storm on Tuesday last, a cow owned by Mrs. Emma Sayers, Roslin, was killed by lightning.

The members of the Tabernacle Ladies' Aid will hold a garden party on the afternoon and evening of June 17th, on the lawn at the residence of Mrs. J. J. O'D. McCurdy, on Church Street.

Tomorrow afternoon the opening game of the season in the Quinte League will be played at the Driving Park between Belleville and Napanee. Mayor Platt will pitch the first ball.

50 YEARS AGO

June 8th, 1900

Four gasoline launches will be offered tomorrow afternoon for sale at the foot of Victoria Park, by J. C. Davidson, auctioneer.

A stranger sold a ring to a second-hand dealer here for twenty-five cents. A short time later the dealer sold the ring at a good profit. The man who bought the ring, which appeared to be made of gold and had a stone which might have been glass, took the ring to a jeweller who told him that the ring was 14 karat gold and that the stone was a genuine diamond. The value of the ring was placed between $135 and $150. Now the police are looking into the matter and would like to question the man who sold the ring to the dealer.

Mr. E. W. Rathbun, ex-M.P.P., of Deseronto, was in town today.

To Test Boat At Niagara

London Free Press

Some day in July an "unsinkable" lifeboat, built by H. A. Kaskin of Hove, England, will be put over Niagara Falls to test its seaworthiness.

Lifeboats, because they are used in rough seas, are provided little boats designed to turn over, and right themselves, and which will not sink, and which automatically shuts off when overturned.

What an assortment of things and animals have been pushed through the Niagara gorge, alligators, containers, and of course people in barrels, like "Red" Hill. Niagara Falls is a magic name — honeymoon, daring exploit, the newspaper world re-nown and mecca for tourists, a profitable combination of nature and exploitation.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of my neighbors suffered a heartbreaking experience when one of his sons, who has been a bit "wild" and given to late hours in schooldays, became involved in a most disgraceful escapade. Under cover of dark, an attempted holdup, and a trip to jail.

It was one of those cases in which a youth of good family turns irresponsible, and falls into reckless youngsters of varied backgrounds in which good background seems to be so easily swamped. There is an element of reckless glee in all of us which is easily jollied by one real rascal.

With another neighbor, I called on the culprit's father.

"Well," he said, "we've had two weeks in which to lay a excuses ourselves to the facts, though it is like a bad dream. At first, we thought we couldn't want to face the music, and we immediately started planning to pack up and move to some strange city and start all over again. But the night watchman down at our plant is a reporter, like Peter Pepper. He set me on the right track.

"He explained to me that I am so indebted to so many people, and even to them for letting me feel superior, that I owe them their turn to feel superior. This disgrace will make so many of my relatives, friends and acquaintances feel superior to me that I am paid off, in full, for all the times I have felt so smug and superior to my relatives.

He has promised to take me for walks which he says will help meet the night watchman, and I am hoping he—I am hoping for-

To Your Good Health

ARE PERSONS WHO COMMIT SUICIDE MENTALLY-ILL?

I'm going to approach today's topic with a great deal of humility, because it raises some questions that are beyond mental authority, yet I suspect that the question itself is one which has been at least half-formed in the minds of many. Let's plunge in, starting with the letter:

"Dear Mr. Molner: Do you think all those who commit suicide are more or less mentally-ill? Many think so, yet by the same token those who are mentally sound should be afraid of death, which is not true. I've met normal people who had no fear of death, not a bit. — J. D."

The logic of "I. D." is not quite foolproof. It's the idea that if only the mentally-ill commit suicide, then normal persons must necessarily fear death.

That just isn't the case.

Does an unborn child "fear to be born"? Considering the problems that await some babies, in the years to come, all the world, should. But being born is human and normal. So, at the proper time, it arrives.

To the average child, it is normal to cry. But to the abnormal child is afraid of "death." Yet the child who happens to be afflicted with some fatal illness will meet death, when the time comes, with all the dignity of a graybeard who has seen 80 years of life.

There is a time for all things, and if the time has come for death, then it is natural to be connected with it.

So, keeping that in mind, let us answer, if we can the question about the mentally-ill person. What do we mean by "mentally-ill"? The closest I can come to a definition is to say that the mentally-ill person is one who, for whatever reason, is not adequately adjusted to life. Some authorities like the term "dissociated," because the person does not, at the moment, fit in with the ordinary pattern of society.

FANTASY OF BEING RESCUED

Whether all people who take their own lives are "mentally-ill" or "dissociated" is something I cannot answer. Perhaps, at the moment of doing it, every one must be. But I don't think I'm just a mortal.

Some observers believe that such a person has a fantasy of being rescued. Hence the attempt may be tried with that thought in mind. If the means is severe and the rescue fails to appear, the results are obvious. The person leaves his relatives, doctors, spouses or others to whom attention is being focussed.

It is certain, however, that some mentally-ill individuals must be watched closely for fear they will destroy themselves. They have acquired a lopsided outlook on life, and they reach for a lopsided solution — that of self-destruction.

It does not follow that all depressed people "do not fear death," nor that all normal people do. For the normal person, fear, your question is anything else, comes naturally at the proper time.

For mentally-ill persons, self-destruction does not mean that they do not "fear death." It may mean that in their emotional derangement they cannot understand or cope with society.

Does this answer, to some degree, your question?

"Dear Mr. Molner: My husband passed away from cancer that spread to his spine and other parts of his body. He complained of pain in his arms. Now I have the same symptoms in my hands and arms. Could I have contracted the disease from him?— Mrs. H. R. S."

No, absolutely not. But it's easy to worry for any twinge (from arthritis, muscle spasm, ache from the flu, or any other cause) could make you worry and wonder. Again, under no circumstances can "catch" cancer from anyone else.

Note to A. R.: Vitiligo (white patches on the skin) can occur in children. Write to Dr. Molner, in his care, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20c in coin to cover handling.

U.S. Farmers Have Racket

Chicago News

In the Alabama hill country, where land sometimes sells for as little as $5 an acre, there is considerable boom in the money that can be made in the mot-growing cotton business.

Well, it seems there are some farmers in New Mexico and Colorado who have discovered an even better situation, whereby they can lease state lands for a few years at a time and then put them in the federal soil bank for a rental of $5 an acre a year.

It's all perfectly legal, according to the Department of Agriculture. But some men will wonder why.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THAT FINISHED EDUCATION

When I ended my college education there were many who spoke of it as a "finished" education. I soon learned that it was nothing of the sort. I quickly learned upon my ending college that it was just a step to the beginning of my education — and now, with a thoroughly humbler mind, I feel every day for me is another lesson in the education that never ends.

We learn, but unconsciously, perhaps, that every person we meet, or even read about, can be a teacher of us in the one application that keeps increasing as we seek to live better and more profitably. Our big success is not what we earn in dollars, but what we live in friends and useful ideas.

Each day's book should be for us something new and interesting. Learning about people and their ways of life is a fascinating process, one that can enrich anyone of us to a marked degree. Another thing: We are "finished made." We are other made. In endless ways other people educate us, and without realizing the fact. Every intelligent person, perhaps unless somehow valuable to our life, and we should be keen to welcome that knowledge to be gained.

We ought always to welcome to the education that comes by which we can become better known individually to ourself, and better known by everyone we habitually meet from day to day. This is to become in a very practical result that I can suggest for myself, or friend. There is something notable about the humblest human being. It pays for us to do what we can to help others to live happily, and to help bear the problems or disappointments courageously. We are a family of human beings in this world, and should live as helpfully as possible.

Second Co-Op Housing Group Is Formed Here

A few months ago, a number of families in Belleville formed a group which is now known as the Quinte Co-Operative Homebuilders' Association. The object of members is to provide themselves with new, good-quality homes at a lower cost than that of present-day home-buying through conventional channels. To date, this association consists of some fourteen member families, but for a number of reasons it is felt that the membership should be increased.

Any family in the Belleville district which might be interested in the proceedings of the Quinte Co-Operative Homebuilders' Association, is invited to obtain further information by telephoning Mr. G. Baxter, at WO 8-5188, or by attending the Association's next group meeting, to be held at 15 Carmen Avenue, Belleville, this evening at 7.30 p.m.

WORK AS TEAM

The co-op method of home-building is group action by a number of member families to provide one another with adequate homes at a reasonable cost. They achieve this by working together as a closely knit team, buying land and materials together, sub-contracting together and sharing the labor involved.

Families can obtain homes by building them co-operatively, but they must possess labour enough to work for them and work hard, not as individuals but as members of a group. Each member family has to "pull their weight," which means that they must not only contribute so many hours of physical labor per week when the actual building takes place, but also take their share in all the decisions, responsibilities, and planning of the Co-Op in the many months prior to building.

On the other hand, if proof were needed that a Co-Op housing project could, indeed, accomplish that which it is set out to achieve, then one need look no further than Belleville itself, for Woodland Acres is an example of such a successful undertaking. It is a pleasant district with attractive homes, built by men and women who, having limited capital, did not lack the essential mental and physical ability to carry out the plans that they had made.

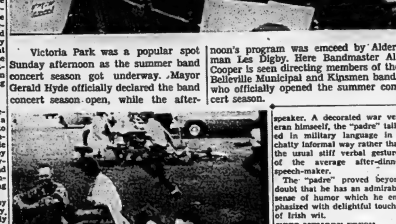
TWO GROUPS

The present Co-Op group is split into two study units, based on the members' geographical location in the city, and each unit meets on one night each every week for a two-hour study session. During these study periods the members may guide books on Co-Op housing, get to know each other, solve their problems, and in general develop the spirit of co-operation and trust which will be of vital importance when actual construction of the homes begins. These study sessions at members' places of residence are, it must be emphasized, strictly business, and have no social side to them whatsoever; there will be time for tea and cookies after the homes are built.

Once each month, in place of the usual meetings, the two units get together for a group meeting, at which they compare notes and progress in their respective studies. They exchange ideas, make decisions, and thresh out some of the many and varied aspects of Co-Op housing, such as where they would like to build and what land is available; what types of homes they want; the choice of building materials; the legal side of Co-Op building, and what financial backing they may expect under NHA regulations for Co-Operative building.

LENGTHY STUDIES

The studying may go on for a year — perhaps more, because the entire education program must be completed before construction begins. The reason for this is that 100 per cent participation is required of every member-family, and this participation requires 100 per cent Co-Op education. When construction has started it will be much too late to attempt the education of new members. From the commencement of building it is necessary that everyone work as much as possible; this usually means that members work five evenings per week and all day Saturday, but not on Saturday evenings or Sundays. It is realized, of course, that all members cannot necessarily put in the same number of hours, but it is expected that each member family will do as much as they are able.



To sum up, Co-Op building offers an adequate home for a reasonable price to those families who sincerely desire a home and who are prepared to work hard to that end.

ROTARIANS GATHER

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten thousand Rotarians and wives opened the 50th annual convention of Rotary International Sunday and heard a message from President Eisenhower urging them to work for peace.

Victoria Park was a popular spot Sunday afternoon as the summer band concert season got underway. Mayor Gerald Hyde officially declared the band concert season open, while the afternoon's program was emceed by Alderman Les Digby. Here Bandmaster Alf Cooper is seen directing members of the Belleville Municipal and Kilpatrick bands who officially opened the summer concert season.

Some came to listen and some came for other interests as is seen here at yesterday's band concert. Two family groups are seen reclining on the grass enjoying the concert while in the background a group of youngsters play tag.

Gunners of 'Famous 34th' Enjoy Successful Reunion

They talked of Petawawa and Debert. They recalled the Sydney hell of Cape and they reminisced of Britain, Northwest Europe and Holland.

They went back into menial harness, did these gallant ex-gunners of the former 34th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery.

Here in the city which gave the unit birth, they came from coast-to-coast to live and relive again the fire, fun and fury of the years when they wrote a blazing page in the book of Canada's wartime history.

The "big effort" was here from the northern British Columbian coastline. From sea-girt Nova Scotia came Captain George Ruffee. From nearly all the other provinces came these gunners whose loyalty to the "best d . . . artillery unit on the western front" has never died, ended with the passing of the years.

And they voted it the best reunion since the battery was demobilized.

Jim "Snipe" Matthews and his reunion committee did a splendid job of organizing and arranging the get-together. Scheduled evening starting with the usual evening registration were run off without a hitch.

An afternoon of reminiscence and story was climaxed with a banquet held in the ANAF auditorium in the evening. This was topped with outstanding entertainment held in Bridge Street Armouries main lecture room.

TRIBUTE TO FALLEN

Nor did these gunners forget their fallen comrades. On Sunday morning they paraded to the Station Street Cenotaph, where a brief memorial service was held conducted by Major Greenwood of the Salvation Army. A wreath to the memory of the fallen was deposited at the foot of the monument by Jim Matthews, escorted by Battery Sergeant-Major R. T. "Sid" Holton.

Jack Lundberg was the master of ceremonies at the banquet featured by a delectable turkey dinner served by the ladies of the ANAF auxiliary.

Head table guests included Major A. S. McConnell, MBE, the guest speaker; Major Greenwood, Elmer "Sandy" Sanderson, M.L.A.; Hastings West Legion Grills, M.P., Hastings South; Mayor Gerald Hyde; Major Kenneth Galsanooge and Captain Geo. H. Carver, who was second in command of the 34th Battery RCA (militia). Lieut.-Col. T. Y. Wills, original commanding officer of the overseas unit was unavoidably absent, as was Captain Fred Hart.

The official welcome of the city was extended by Mayor Gerald Hyde who told the gunners "the city is yours. I know you won't get into any trouble but if you do, let me know."

Brief addresses were given by Major Greenwood, Mr. Sanderson, Mr. Grills and Mayor Ian Beresford of Gatianoque, a former gunner of the battery.

TOAST TO QUEEN

The toast to the Queen was proposed by the master of ceremonies who also introduced the guests. The toast to the battery was proposed by Captain Carver with the response given by Major Downey. Wes Alkenbrack proposed the toast to the 14th Field Regiment, RCA, with the response given by Captain Ruffee.

Jim Matthews gave the toast to "Fallen Comrades" during the two minutes silence. Arms and Duffy sounded "Last Post" and "Reveille". Standing tribute of remembrance was given—the ladies of the ANAF auxiliary. Standing ovations were also given Major McConnell and Major Greenwood at the conclusion of their addresses.

Major McConnell talked "soldier shop" in his role as guest speaker. A decorated war veteran himself, the "padre" talked in military language in a chatty informal way rather than the usual stiff verbal gestures of the average after-dinner speech-maker.

The "padre" proved beyond doubt that he has an admirable sense of humor which he emphasized with delightful touches of Irish wit.

KEEP MEMORY FRESH

He dwelt mainly on the humorous side of the war, illustrating his talk with a number of funny stories and anecdotes. There was some good - natured "heckling" from the gunners, but the padre met the verbal "fire" with well-timed repartee.

In more serious vein he recalled how a soldier had saved his life, and he urged the gunners to keep their memories of their gallant dead fresh.

Speaking of the 34th, he said it was a sad thing that so many fine wartime units are disappearing in the new order of things.

Major McConnell was introduced by Jack Lundberg with the battery appreciation expressed by Doug Stork.

Appreciation was also expressed to Jim Matthews for the fine job he did as secretary of the battery association. A standing unanimous vote put the popular "Snipe" back in office on a permanent basis.

SAY MURDER ATTEMPTED

TORONTO (CP) — Charles Reid, 41, was charged Saturday with attempted murder after 32-year-old Edward Drouillard was stabbed outside the home of Reid's estranged wife. Police said Drouillard and his wife had been visiting Mrs. Reid.

A 22-year-old Toronto man, soon to be married, and a 13-year-old Marlbank schoolboy, died in separate drowning accidents in the Tweed area Sunday as others watched helplessly from the bank.

Fred Hartin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hartin, R. R. 2, Marlbank, died in Turk's Pond, a half a mile from his home west of Marlbank, while in Clare River three miles east of Tweed, Bernard Nelligan, formerly of Prince Edward Island, drowned in eight feet of water when he went swimming a short time after eating a picnic lunch.

The Hartin boy had gone to the Pond with his brother Charles, 10 and two Young brothers about the same age. The boy was paddling about on a log when he slipped off about 60 feet from shore, into six feet of water. The boy could swim "fairly well" but is believed by his father to have suffered a cramp. He surfaced once, calling for help, and then sank.

The boy's brother and Orval Young, aged 9, waded up to their necks in the water in a vain effort at rescue. Charles then ran half a mile home to get help. The drowned boy was in 7th grade and acted as the school caretaker.

He attended Marlbank United Church and besides his parents is survived by three brothers, Gerald, Charles and Wayne. The funeral will be Tuesday with interment in Tamworth Cemetery.

Mr. Nelligan had motored to the Tweed area with his fiancee, Norma Gallant, and other friends from Toronto to visit a cottage site on the Clare River.

The party enjoyed a picnic dinner on the banks of the river, following which the Toronto man went swimming. When he got in an old U. S. coin bearing the trouble the others watched helplessly from the bank as he shouted about in the water.

Both bodies were recovered, that of Mr. Nelligan by Provincial Police from Madoc, shortly after their arrival.

Digs Up Coin Of Washington Days in Garden

A Rossmore - Rednersville area farmer dug up George Washington the other day.

Well, not exactly George Washington, but he did dig up an old U. S. coin bearing the likeness of the former U.S. president — famous for his tree-chopping ability.

The coin, a one-cent piece about the size of a quarter, was minted away back in 1791, and bears the inscription "Washington — President." On the reverse side is the U. S. coat of arms, with a fierce bald eagle.

An 84-year-old Scotsman, Mr. William Bedford, of R. R. 1, Belleville, dug up the ancient coinage in his garden on June 1st.

He also has about eight other coins of ancient vintage in his collection which he found while excavating a foundation several years ago.

Mr. Bedford displayed his George Washington coin at the local market Saturday, where he and his family have vegetable and floral produce on display.

was drowned in the Credit River Saturday.

Evan McLennan, 33, of Willowdale, a Toronto suburb, was killed and four others were injured Saturday in a car-truck crash on Highway 10, 25 miles south of Owen Sound.

Elgin Herbert Murray of Milton was killed Saturday night when a car missed a turn and rolled over, 15 miles north of Hamilton. Douglas Black, 19, is in serious condition.

Mrs. Annabelle Fulford, 32, was killed Saturday night in a two-car collision in North Toronto. Louis Mateas of Toronto, driver of the other car, has been charged with criminal negligence and impaired driving.

Albert Adam, 59-year-old father of 16 children, was killed Saturday night when his car was struck by a CNR freight at a level crossing at Casselman, 25 miles east of Ottawa.

Mrs. Kathryn F. Cook of Boston was today named president of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

A native of South Bend, Indiana, she has devoted her entire time to the practice of Christian Science healing for many years. Her husband was George Shaw Cook. A former Christian Science lecturer, teacher and editor, he served as president of The Mother Church just twenty years ago.

Mrs. Cook's apointment was announced by The Christian Science Board of Directors at the annual meeting of The Mother Church. She succeeds Leonard T. Carney, a member of the Board of Trustees of The Christian Science Publishing Society. Mrs. Cook will serve a one-year term.

Active in various capacities in the Christian Science movement she accepted a position in the office of the Committee on Publication for Indiana in 1924. Since that time she has been almost continuously engaged in some phase of Christian Science work.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. announce the engagement their daughter Eileen Joan, to John Herman Hutt, B.Sc., for- son of George Palma- of Tweed. The marriage will take place on Saturday, July 4, at twelve noon in Bethel United Church, Ivanhoe.

Mayor George O. Tice recently celebrated his birthday at his home, 3 Bridge St. West, on Sunday.

At the recent Blossom Tea of the Royal Group of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Mrs. E. Pilkin and Mrs. J. Webb con- vened the miscellaneous table and Mrs. H. Yorke and Mrs. J. Miller were in charge of the home cooking table. Mrs. J. Webb also assisted with replenishing

Christ Church A.B.W.A. to Hold Fall Tea

The Afternoon Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church, held its June business meeting in the parish hall on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. H. Pitt, president, open- ed the meeting with a devotional period, assisted by Mrs. Ashton, who read a special Psalm for June, and Mrs. H. Wright at the piano.

Reports were heard from the various officers followed by a lively business session in which many items of interest to the members were discussed.

It was agreed to give the church wardens a cash donation for the purchase of Common Prayer Books.

Members were reminded of the Diocesan Deanery meeting on October 26th.

A pot-luck supper will be held at Hallowell, June 15th, in the parish hall with the Evening Branch and Foxboro branches. This will be the closing meeting for the summer.

ARCTIC CHURCH MISSION

Two interesting news clippings were read on Anglican Mission- ary work in the Arctic and Ja- pan. Arrangements were made to extend an invitation to Mrs. Bridge Coler, president of the Dominion Board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada to visit the parish and speak on her recent trip to Japan as W.A. respre- sentative to the celebrations marking the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the An- glican Church in that country.

Mrs. D. Stewart gave an in- teresting talk on the life of the Reverend Sabine Baring-Gould, who lived in England from 1834 to 1924. He was the author of many books and composed sev- eral of the best loved hymns including "How the Day Is Over" and "Onward Christian Sol- diers."

After the benediction, a social period was enjoyed with Mrs. Fritt and Mrs. Waterhouse as hostesses.

Club Activities

CHRIST CHURCH C.C.

The Contact Club Christ Church ended its first part of the year activities with a pot-luck sup- per. The food was plentiful and just as delectable.

Guests at the supper were Archdeacon and Mrs. J. B. Creegan, the Reverend and Mrs. R. P. Smith and the Reverend Hubert Massiah.

During the supper hour, presi- dent Mary Fletcher welcomed the guests and thanked all those pre- sent for their work for the sea- son just past and presented Mr. Smith with a cheque for the pur- chase of the new prayer books for the church.

There were two lucky chairs with numbers, the winners of these were Mrs. Cresswell and Mr. Massiah.

An enjoyable sing-song was held and everyone sang loud and heartily. A game of 'Bingo' was played, the winners of which were: Mrs. Smith, Marg Wiggins, Molly Kerr, Mr. Massiah, Mar- ion Connors and Nadine Thorne.

The members and guests were invited to the hall to see a skit put on by the members of June Fisher's group, which was much talked of.

This group of nine pert young girls known as the Quinte Majorettes from the Dorothy Dickey Dance Stu- dio, will go to Pittsburg, Penn., this weekend to take part in that city's 200th anniversary on Saturday, June 13th. Left to right are Grace Sinclair, Sharon Locke, Barbara Mattis, Gail Kleinsteuber, Beverley Millard, Jack Mus- grove, Karen Post, Bonnie Hayden and Carolyn Chis- holm.

By GLADYS WARD

The Rev. Harry M. Davis wel- comed the students and faculty of Albert College on Sunday morning to Bridge Street United Church, which traditionally has been the host church for the Baccalaureate service for many years. The procession entered the church to the strains of the organ prelude, "Prayer of Repentance" with clergymen leading, followed by members of the Board of Gov- ernors, members of the faculty, the graduating class in blue and gold with sash and mortarboard, and the students of the school.

Baskets of flowers banked up around the altar added beauty to the sanctary. The choir which is well directed and accompanied by Mr. S. Alec Gordon sang two numbers, an unusual arrange- ment of "When I Survey", and "How Beautiful Upon the Moun- tains" with solo parts taken by Misses Helen Cook and Donna Demsi.

The story of the Prodical Son from St. Luke was read by Judge J. C. Anderson, chairman of the Board of Governors. Dr. E. MacKenzie, principal of the school expressed his sin- cere appreciation for the courtesy of the officials of Bridge Street church in making it possible to hold this fitted Baccalaureate service in the church."

BOARD SECRETARY HEARD

Principal MacKenzie introduc- ed the guest speaker, Rev. M. C. Macdonald, secretary of the Board of Mission of the United church in Canada, as a man who was aware of the primary con- cern of the Board in the tremen- dous importance of church ex- pansion. Dr. Macdonald was well-fitted for the challenge fac- ing the church and its on-going program. More and more trained missionaries will be sent out this year by the Board to mission- fields all across Canada.

Taking as his theme "The art of choosing tells best from life, Dr. Macdonald expounded on Christ's words in His discourag- ed disciples who had been fish- ing, 'Launch out into the deep waters'. He told them to go back to the scene of their failures and this time to go out deeper.

"Great living is not experi- enced in the shallows of life", said the speaker, "It is but a matter of making small choices. If we want a vital and challenging liv- ing we must use the great gifts and powers God has endowed us with. There is danger in selfish ease and security. We have all seen people make a shipwreck of their lives by accepting low ideals and standards, becoming more concerned about choosing the easy way rather than making difficult decisions.

They put themselves in a little world of their own creation and are afraid to venture out. They would not risk new experiences and ideas because it might up- set their easy beliefs. They would not change their way of life or choose the better way.

SECURITY DANGEROUS

"The security of the safe- area harbor is dangerous, we need the high and wider of deep waters. Christian living demands launch- ing into the sea of adventure where we must toil and strug- gle.

"The early Christians made the pagan world stop and gaze in wonder at the price they paid to be loyal to their convictions. The highlights of Christian liv- ing were always those times when the Christian has met challeng- es at terrific cost. Our early pi- oneers in Canada provided a great heritage for us when they saw the significance of the church in the community. The early message that can save the world is the word of God.

"Christianity needs proclama- tion, we have not begun to pro- claim it as we should. We are making choices every day. We can resolve to choose only what is comfortable and will not in- volve us in self-denial, we can choose a cheap expression of Christianity; but if we do we get nothing but ashes, and we make no contribution to life".

Speaking directly to the stud- ents the minister told them he was conscious that many of the young people of the congrega- tion had completed several stag- es of learning, and were now at the place of making decisions and choices.

"Life offers a great variety of alternatives," said the speaker, "it is for you to choose and se- lect, to determine to be men and women of character making a contribution to the world.

The story of the prodigal son shows us a young man who made on choice which was extremely stupid, and another which was wise, his first choice made him an outcast, sunk in self-degra- dation, he had not the sense to recognize his responsibilities, he decided to return his ways and make a contribution as a good citizen.

FULL OF PROBLEMS

"You are going into a world full of problems and difficulties, the words are spoken at ev- ery Convocation. But as our civilization grows older and more complex it requires a quality of leadership more de- dicated and selective. Your training is giving you the equip- ment and moulding the charac- ters of leaders who will cope with the problems. It is God's world and you are being sum- moned to laborers together with Him. The church, the pro- fessions, business and the farm call for a quality of citizens which the world never knew before. God has a greater force than the evil of the world."

Dr. Macdonald closed with a quotation. from Rupert Brookes, God be thanked who has match- ed us with this hour."

While the congregation re- mained standing, the school and guests filed out to the recess- ional hymn, 'Prayer of Thanks- giving', by Purvis, played as an organ Postlude.

GOVERNORS HOLD TEA

On Sunday afternoon the Board of Governors' annual tea was given at the Albert College Manor. The guests were greeted at the door by Dr. and Mrs. A. E. MacKenzie, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Macdonald, Judge and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, and welcomed to the gracious rooms where bouquets of spring flowers added their fragrant beauty to the setting. Miss Dorothy Mc- Mrs. Turner were in charge of the flower arrangements.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth, centred with tri-pointed candle holder, and a low bowl of peonies, spi- rea and yellow iris. Yellow can- dles were used in crystal can- molit.

Pouring tea were Mrs. J. De- meza, Mrs. Bryson Leslie, Mrs. Stuart Robb and Mrs. H. Davis.

Those who served at the re- ception were Misses Joanne Campbell, Shirley Ritchie, Bever- ly Barregar, Margaret Soden, Carol Dickenson, Margaret Al- lan, Betty Whiling, Claire Ten- nant, Janet Shaw. Supervising the tearoom and those who so- served were Miss Mastin, Miss Holmes, Miss Balmer and Miss Watson.

The lawns and gardens were trimmed and cultivated to look their best, providing a pleasant outlook from the windows, and gracious surroundings for the guests.

Wedding

HAIG — ENARR

Ferns, white and pink gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned the chancel of the Board's Un- ited Church, on Saturday, May 30th at 2.00 p.m. and white sat- in bows centred with lily-of- the-valley designated the guest pew for the marriage of Mar- ion Frances Snarr, of Campbell- ford, R.R. 3, daughter of Mrs. George Snarr, of Campbellford and the late Mr. Snarr, to John Carl Haig, of Campbellford, R.R. 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Haig. The Reverend Gordon Whitehorne, officiated.

Mrs. Frank Potts rendered the wedding music and accom- panied the soloist, Mrs. Walter Anderson, as she sang, "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You", while the register was being signed.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Everett Cooke was lovely in white nylon lace over taffeta fashioned with fit- ted bodice and full ballerina skirt accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore a seed pearl and sequin encrusted headdress and finger- tip veil of tulle illusion and car- ried a bouquet of red roses with white satin streamers. Bro- caded silver pumps completed her ensemble.

Miss Bonnie Blake, of Camp- bellford, attended the bride as bridesmaid, gowned in ice-blue nylon with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of white mums tipped with blue.

Mr. Reginald Wallace, of Campbellford, was groomsman, while Mr. Bill Scott of Camp- bellford, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Mr. Harold Snarr, brother of the bride were ushers.

The reception dinner was held in the church hall which were decorated with white wedding bells, pink and white streamers and lily-of- the-valley. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake on each side. Pink candles in crystal holders, and white tulle with lily- of-the-valley, pansies and lilacs completed a lovely nuptial set- ting. The bride's mother, wear- ing light blue nylon lace over taffeta, with white hat and ac- cessories, wore a corsage corsage, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother in rose nylon lace over taffeta with white hat, black accessories, and corsage of white and blue-lip- ped chrysanthemums.

For the wedding trip to Buf- falo, Niagara Falls and Toron- to, the bride donned a light- blue suit with white hat and accessories and a carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Haig will reside at Campbellford, R.R. 3, upon their return.

Guests attended from Montr- eal, Buffalo, Hamilton, Toron- to, Trenton, Belleville, Stirling, Kingston, Harold and Campbell- ford.

Mrs. Harold Rowe, entertain- ed the bride previous to her marriage, with Miss Marilyn Rowe, as hostesses at a mis- cellaneous shower.

Those who served at the wed- ding dinner were Mrs. Ernest W.A., included eight girl friends of the bride, the Misses Marilyn Rowe, Linda Parr, Wilma Lewis, Muriel Heagle, Donna Fowler, Olive Sharpe, Joan Sharpe and Mrs. Ronald Parr.

St. Andrew's Ladies Admit New Member

The Presbyterian Women of St. Andrew's Church held their regular monthly meeting at Fair- lay Avenue Sunday School.

Mrs. H. Hay opened the meet- ing with prayer and Mrs. F. Muirhead read the Scripture. Mrs. E. Alexander read the min- utes and Mrs. E. Smith the meeting.

Plans were made for the fall bazaar and it is hoped that it will be as successful as the re- cent "Dish Tea". A miscellane- ous auction sale was enjoyed by all.

The group welcomed one new member, Mrs. M. Oliveson.

Women Build Forestry Camp Without Bars

VANCOUVER (CP) — Women prisoners at the Oakalla jail in suburban Burnaby are building their own forestry camp without bars at the edge of Vancouver.

The camp has a bunkhouse ac- commodating 30 women and a separate cookhouse.

A stay at the camp is the hope of every woman prisoner at the jail. At least one week at the camp is summer is the goal.

"It is no summer resort," says matron Bessie Baldwin. "It is a work camp—a pilot plan towards a dreamed-of forestry camp for women."

The project was started last summer, and some of the women had their sentences there at that time. It now is ready to reopen for this summer.

The women did all the main- mering and sawing to build the apartments, except for fixing the heavy stringers. They also used lumber, wire and clean weeds from the lake so they can enjoy a swim.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Clayton Sills are pictured signing the register in College Hill United Church following their recent mar- riage. The bride is the former Miss Norma Irene Fair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sills, also of Belleville.—Photo by McCormick Studio, Belleville.

SILLS — FAIR

College Hill United Church, Belleville, was the scene of a very pretty May wedding when Norma Irene Fair, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, became the bride of Allan Clayton Sills, also of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sills. The Reverend W. E. G. Dovey officiated at the church, officiated before a lovely background of baskets of white 'mums. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her fa- ther, the bridge was radiant in white organza over taffeta fea- turing a pleated, fitted bodice accented by lace at the waistline and full bell-length skirt with lace appliques. The short sleeves were complemented by lace mitts. A crown style headdress encrusted with seed pearls and sequans held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and she carried a beautiful bouquet of deep-pink Sweetheart roses. A single strand of pearls completed her ensemble.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Er- nest Vardy, a sister, and Mrs. Bryce Philp, as bridesmaid, were gowned alike in deep-pink with matching glove length mitts. They carried three-length pure silk organza over taffeta, bracelet-length sleeves and bell- length skirts accented with sequins and carried bouquets of white 'mums.

The Misses Linda and Iris Var- dy, cousins of the bride were de- murre flower girls frocked alike in pink green organza, with white shoes, gloves and hats. They carried tiny nosegays of white and pale mauve 'mums.

Mr. John Howard, of Point Anne, attended the bridegroom, while Messrs. Gerald Butcher and James Fair brother of the bride, both of Belleville, ushered the guests. The bridegroom and his attendants were white din- ner jackets and black trousers.

The reception was held at Wallbridge Orange Hall, where the bridal table was appointed with white damask beneath pink and white streamers, and cen- tred by a three-tier wedding cake flanked by pink candles, and the bridal bouquets.

Receiving the guests were the bride's mother, and the bridegroom's mother, the former in royal blue and pink taffeta with pink and navy accessor- ies, and corsage of pink Sweet- heart roses, while the latter was in a light blue chemise style gown with beige accessories and corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses.

For travelling to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride chose a pale-blue lace sheath with crystalette over-panel in back, white picture hat, shoes, gloves and bag, and corsage of white feathered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Sills reside at 192 Bleecker Avenue, Belleville.

Guests were present from Belleville, Madoc, Campbellford, Toronto and Bowmanville.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was entertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Bryce Philp, with the office girls of Mead John- son present; at another miscel- laneous shower held by Miss Betty Nicolls; the office staff of Mead Johnson of Canada, Limi- ted, presented the bride with an electric waffle iron, while the bridegroom was the recip- ient of a walnut wood-finished alarm clock from the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Polygamy Still Widely Practised in Backward Lands Survey Shows

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP) — Enlightened public opinion in many Asian countries has become perturbed by recent disclosures of the extent of polygamous practices—the ancient social system that allows a man to have more than one wife.

Surveys conducted by social workers in Singapore, Malaya, Egypt, Iraq and other eastern lands showed that in the past decade polygamy has suffered a setback either as a result of social, political, legislative and economic developments. But, at the same time, they indicated, polygamy still is being widely practised in many backward communities, particularly in Moslem lands.

For example, polygamy still is strongly entrenched in so modern an Asian city as state like Singapore, and some estimates place the Singapore polygamy rate at "among the highest in the East."

One Singapore newspaper reported that of 1,200 husbands questioned at random in the "action" areas of the city, 40 per cent admitted having more than one wife.

TWENTY-FOUR WIVES

A 70-year-old Malaya merchant was reported to have told police during an investigation into some other charge that he had 24 wives.

"Mind you, I am not running a concubine," he said. "They are all my legal wives." When police later raided his house they found that only seven of the 24 he admitted they had "married" the merchant out of their free will. The rest said they were being held against their consent.

The Singapore Women's Association has launched a vigorous campaign against polygamy on the island and in adjoining Malaya. Spearheading the drive is Mrs Shirin Fozdar, a quiet-spoken social worker who originally came from Bombay.

"The continuing practice of polygamy is an outrage on the conscience of civilized mankind," Miss Fozdar says. Describing polygamy as "a slur on the womanhood of Asia," she has begun a tour of several Asian countries to mobilize public opinion against it.

Miss Fozdar and other social workers hold that governments in Asia have only been taking half-hearted measures to for outlawing polygamy.

One Malayan newspaper wrote: "The easiest way to start streamlining the whole country is to compel males to discard their extra wives."

Miss Fozdar plans to call an Asian women's conference to tackle this and other problems facing women.

DIVORCE EASY

An allied problem is the rehabilitation of discarded and divorced women, said to number several thousands in some Asian countries. In many lands it is still so easy to divorce a wife as it is to marry her. A Singapore proverb says: "It is easier to divorce a wife than to light a cigar."

The Singapore Women's Association plans to organize several hostels for housing divorced women. They will be taught useful occupations.

The military government in Pakistan has banned the encouraging polygamous practices. Similar campaigns against it have been started by influential Moslem leaders. But recent any attempt to interfere in "religious traditions" But President General Ayub is known to be determined to discourage plural marriages.

In India, the state has been vigorously implementing legislation to outlaw polygamy. A number of persons charged with taking a second wife when the first one should have been fined or sent to jail and government employees have been firmly told that continuation of the Monogamous Marriages Act would mean dismissal from service. Though India's leaders believe divorce should not become too easy, courts have been liberal in granting divorce to women whose husbands take second wives.

Polyandry—the system under which one woman marries several husbands —has practically disappeared from Asia except in a few pockets along the Himalayas. The custom still is entrenched in Tibet and Bhutan where it is believed to be rooted in the fact that men outnumber women.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

FATHER TO ANNOUNCE DAUGHTER'S ENGAGEMENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our only daughter has just become engaged and, to announce the engagement, we are planning to give a dinner, inviting the members of both families, several close relatives of each family and a few very intimate and long-time friends. My wife and I have been discussing the toast I am to make, to announce the engagement, and we have decided to ask you if you will please suggest what I could memorize and rehearse carefully before the dinner. Thank you — Dad

You rise, get the attention of all by raising your glass and saying, "A toasting toast, please. Let's drink to the happiness and health and all good fortune of our daughter Elizabeth and of our future son-in-law, Philip!"

Suggest it: Don't rush the words . . . give them full and meaningful value.

Suggest 2: Make a gracious bow to your wife as you say "our daughter" . . . a courteous bow to your daughter as you say her name . . . a gracious bow to your daughter's fiance as you say "our future son-in-law, Philip."

Suggest 3: Don't overdo it that saying the words of a toast that will sparkle with grace is most significant and memorable.

MARRIED WOMAN'S FORMAL AND INFORMAL NAMES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was married recently, and I am trying to use and to sign my new name correctly. I am finding that there are many things for me to learn about how-to-use and how-to-sign this new name of mine that I'm so happy and proud to have!

I don't speak so often of a married woman's "formal name." Will you please explain exactly what this term means? And when is it correct for a married woman to use her "formal name"?

2. What is a married woman's "informal name?" And when does she use her "informal name?" — Recent Bride

Good for you . . . and deep congratulations to you for your wise determination to learn how to use your new name correctly. This is extremely important. You have hit on the basic fact to know: The difference between your "formal name" and your "informal name," and when to use each.

1. Your "formal name" is your married name with the title "Mrs." For example: Mrs. John Robinson (or Mrs. John Paul Robinson). This is the name to use on visiting cards; on your informals; with your address printed on the sheets (and envelopes if you wish) of "utility" letter-paper; for your charge accounts; for parcel-delivery; when you give your name for publication, for example, as a member of an organization or club or committee; and when you write your name in the return address on an envelope.

2. Your "informal name" may be called your signature name . . . It consists of your first name, your maiden surname (or the initial of this name), and your married surname . . . with no "Mrs." For example: Mary Smith Robinson; or Mary S. Robinson; or, if you with no maiden surname notation, Mary Robinson.

This is the form of name you should sign as your direct signature to business letters and to all other letters when you don't sign only your first name. Usually in these letters it is necessary to write your formal name, in parentheses, under or to the left of your direct signature, so that the business firm or person receiving this letter will know how to address an answer to you. Like this:

Very truly yours, (for business)
Sincerely yours, (for others)
Mary Smith Robinson
(Mrs. John Robinson)

Important note: It is absolutely incorrect for a married woman to sign any kind of letter either "Mrs. John Robinson" or "Mrs. Mary Smith Robinson."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and a social worker. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Louise J. — Fred hasn't the guts to tell Jim about his friend.

Fred J. — It will just lead to more bad feeling.

Louise J. — I am so furious I want it's break off relations with a couple with whom my husband and I have been on very friendly terms for ten years.

My husband Fred, first met Jim when he worked for him in the same company. Later my husband got a better job, but he and Jim continued their friendship. Over the years we have done many, many favors for Jim and his wife — most of which were never reciprocated.

Recently Fred has been very dissatisfied at his job and has looked for another one. Suddenly he heard that Jim went and hired a man to fill a post that Fred would have filled a post that would have meant a big raise in salary. I want Fred to ask Jim why he didn't even consider him when he knew he was looking for a job. Fred hasn't the guts to confront him.

Fred J. — The way I see it is what's done is done. The job has been filled and that's that. I know that Jim is embarrassed about it. He can't look me straight in the eye. If I confront him with it there will just be more bad feeling.

What really hurts is this business of not answering why. Jim and I got along first rate when I worked under him before. He knows I'm not the kind of guy to take advantage of friendship or get special privileges or anything like that. And he knows that I'm an expert in the field. Why he didn't even can figure is that Jim feels that I now know much about his personal affairs. Maybe he would be embarrassed to have me around. Maybe someone around who knows about some of his domestic problems. But he should trust me to have tact on that score.

The Council: The reason that Fred advances for Jim's not hiring him seems valid enough.

Yet there might have been reasons of other reasons. There might be a question of personality, of working with someone else with whom there is a possibility of personality clash. These might be some small, but important qualifications that gave the other man the edge.

The important thing is that there was definitely a reason or reasons. Jim is responsible to his company for picking the best possible man and he cannot allow his judgment to be clouded. Even if the business were his own, he should be expected to think only in terms of the best man for the job without jeopardizing the friendship.

We agree with Fred that not much can be gained by asking for reasons. The sort of which his job problem persists and he is seriously interested in a job with Jim's company, he should apply for it in a businesslike manner. This would probably help to clear the air between the friends. Jim would be forced to make a clear statement on the matter.

If Jim appears to shilly-shally, Fred should "call his bluff" in a more honest statement. If he is not qualified, it might help him in his job hunt to learn the reasons why. If he is qualified, Jim may simply doesn't want a close personal friend around his office. Fred ought to try to be understanding. Many individuals create a certain role or personality for themselves in their working life and feel a little uneasy if the picture they have created is threatened by a pair of eyes that see something different. It is natural, human — and no reason for the break-up of a friendship.

Old Favorites That Build Reputations

by Mary Moore

Do you think that I give you often enough recipes for old favorites like macaroni and cheese and spaghetti casserole? Sometimes I feel a conscience smites me for featuring "different" dishes too much; or ceasing you to heat nutritious food too urgently; or helping you to economies too strictly.

Dinner Menus

MONDAY

Ham Asparagus Rolls (slices of ham rolled around thick asparagus salad); New Potatoes with Chive Butter; Julienne Carrots; Hot Corn Bread; Lemon Refrigerator Dessert; Coffee.

To lull myself into a mood of indulgence I'm giving you two old favorites: the ham macaroni and cheese I know how to make, and the spaghetti casserole that is a reputation builder.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

8 ounces elbow macaroni; ½ cup finely sliced onions; 2 ounces process cheese, grated; 1½ cups milk; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; ½ teaspoon Tabasco. Cook macaroni in plenty of salted water until tender. Drain. Combine cooked macaroni, onions and cheese; mix lightly. Place in buttered large casserole. Blend milk with mustard and Tabasco. Pour over macaroni in casserole, sprinkle with additional cheese. Cover. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 35 minutes. Uncover and continue to bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until top is lightly browned.

Variations: Ham: Add 1 cup diced ham to macaroni mixture. Before baking, cut 2 tomatoes into slices and place in a circle on macaroni mixture. Inserting each slice part way into mixture.

Chicken: Add 1 cup diced cooked chicken and one 3-ounce can sliced mushrooms, drained, to macaroni mixture.

Seafood: Add 1 cup cooked tuna, crabmeat or shrimp and ½ cup finely chopped green pepper to macaroni mixture.

SPAGHETTI CASSEROLE

½ pound uncooked spaghetti; ½ pound sausage meat; ½ pound ground beef; 1 clove garlic, finely minced; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ teaspoon pepper; 1 3-ounce can mushrooms, drained and chopped; ¼ cup fresh lemon juice; 1 package spaghetti sauce mix; 4 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese; 2 tablespoons slivered, toasted almonds.

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water just until tender. Drain. Saute meat with garlic, salt and pepper in frying pan until brown. Drain off excess fat. Add mushrooms, tomatoes and lemon juice. Blend in spaghetti sauce mix. Simmer for 15 minutes. Remove from heat and mix in blue cheese. Toss with cooked spaghetti and turn into large casserole. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 25 minutes. Remove from oven; sprinkle with almonds and serve.

Northern Italians Make Gentle Type of Spaghetti

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Derfum Semolina's spaghetti is "not so good hot" but it's delicious.

It's not so hot because he uses spices sparingly in spaghetti sauce.

"Spaghetti ought to be gentle," maintains Mr. Semolina, a native of northern Italy. He says Canadians have learned to make highly-spiced sauce from immigrants from southern Italy, but that northern Italians make a gentler type of sauce.

FEW INGREDIENTS

Like any good cook, he has several pet theories. Don't over-spice is his first word of caution. He believes that a small pinch of a variety of spices is the secret of success in the sauce.

A big pot and enough water are the main factors in cooking. Few people use enough water. There should be no less than half a gallon and no more than one gallon of water for one pound of spaghetti. The water must be boiling and salted. Let the spaghetti boil for 15-18 minutes. Stir at first to keep it from sticking to the bottom of the pot.

"You can tell by the bite when it's cooked. Italians bite food, that's why they have nice teeth," he says.

When the spaghetti is cooked, pour one cup of cold water over it, drain, add the sauce and Parmesan cheese to taste.

TOMATO SAUCE

Blend a bit of oil, a bit of butter, chopped bacon, onions to taste, half a garlic bud, pinch of rosemary, sage and salt. Fry slowly until the onions start to turn pink.

Put one tablespoonful of tomato paste in one cup of hot water and stir until dissolved. Add gradually to the onion mixture, stirring without stopping the sauce from boiling. Cook slowly for 15 minutes.

If meatballs are added, the sauce must be cooked longer to allow the meat to cook.

For the meatballs, mix one pound ground meat, one egg, onion, garlic, parsley, rosemary, sage and salt. Form into small meatballs and add to tomato sauce. Pre-cooking not necessary.

For variety, mushrooms or tuna fish may be used instead of meat or the plain sauce.

Mr. Semolina says spaghetti is made from the heart of the wheat which is high in protein and low in calories. "It's the meat, whatever else you add that makes you fat."

Hillsdale Wins Rich Race at Hollywood Park

NEW YORK (CP) — Hillsdale captured the $54,700 Argonaut Handicap at Hollywood Park Saturday with a thrilling stretch drive from far behind. It was his 20th stakes victory of the year.

The four-year-old, packing 126 pounds for the heaviest weight of his career, burst under the wire 2½ lengths ahead of the pace - setting Fleet Nasrullah. How Now was third.

The time for the mile was 1:34 3-5. Hillsdale, ridden by Tommy Barrow for C. W. Smith of Detroit, paid $5.20, $3.80 and $2.60. Mrs. John D. Hertz's Fleet Nasrullah returned $6.50 and $4.90 and How Now paid $5.70.

BIG WINNER

Hillsdale's triumph netted the stable $31,650 and increased the big boy's earnings this year to $301,900, highest in the U.S.

At one stage, jockey Jameel Valenzuela had Fleet Nasrullah five lengths ahead of How Now. Hillsdale was far behind the leaders. Barrow began his move at the far turn. Passing horses on the outside, Hillsdale roared down the middle of the stretch to catch Fleet Nasrullah.

The bettors made Royal Orbit a 1-to-2 favorite but the big chestnut could do no better than third. Black Hills ($13.10) went under the wire two lengths ahead of Bagdad.

Calumet Farm's On-And-On set a six-furlong track record in winning the $27,215 Sheridan Stakes at Washington Park. The son of Nasrullah was timed in 1:08 3-5 to lower the 1:09 mark shared by Sun David and Fighting Indian.

On - and - On ($8.20) whipped down the stretch by jockey Steve Brooks, led Little Tytus by a length. Coltrane was third.

P a t t e rne equalled Delaware Park's grass course record of 1:42 3-5 for 1 1-16 miles in winning the $26,625 Brandywine Turf Handicap.

Name Canadian Ski Team

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Canada's first National ski team was named Sunday and cites chosen for training the team that will represent Canada in the 1960 Olympics in Squaw Valley, Calif.

Officials of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association said the team was established so only select skiers can compete in major international events.

W. G. (Bud) Carroll of Ottawa, president of the CASA for the last seven years, announced his resignation because of pressure of business.

Mike Gurzell of Fort Arthur succeeds him with John Frippe of Ottawa, taking Gurzell's post as technical chairman. Russell Smart of Ottawa was named vice-president and Harold Edge of Ottawa secretary.

Peter Tindale of Montreal is also no further thought to competing but did not rule out the possibility. She has offered to help the team with information and training and says that might be the basis for listing her.

Another top skier on the list is Ann Heggtveit of Ottawa, Arlberg-Kandahar winner.

Jumping — Frank Gartrell of Fort William.

Cross-country — Antero Rauhaniec and Arvo Ayrasto, Sudbury; Elmer Ypya, North Bay; Vaino Hyvarinen and Erkki Mikkola, Port Arthur; Eoro Uusimaki, Suno Kalviainen and Raino Tuhka, all of Timmins.

BOXER LOSES DAUGHTER

HALIFAX (CP) — The seven-year-old daughter of Canadian lightweight boxing champion Richard (Kid) Howard of Halifax died suddenly here Sunday. Cause of death was not available.

Ted Williams Not Hitting, Not Quitting

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Williams, Boston's Splendid Splinter, isn't hitting his weight, but here those rumors that he might quit baseball before the season is over.

"Sure, I might have decided to call it quits now if I had had a bad season last year," said Williams Sunday.

"But I got off to a bad start last year and won the batting championship, so why should I call it quits?"

Williams, always confident, expects to shake his present slump and eventually get up above the .300 mark. He has never batted under .317 for a season.

Williams, whose brilliant career has been spotted by various ailments and military service, missed the early part of the campaign because of a pinched nerve in his neck.

So far, he hasn't been able to untrack himself and is currently batting a feeble .224.

"So what," is Williams' answer to his bad start. "On May 20 of last year I was batting .224."

He ended the season with a .328 average to capture his sixth be said.

Segura Wins Over Rosewall

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Defending champion Pancho Segura of Ecuador took a 3-0 lead in the Masters' round-robin professional tennis tournament Sunday by defeating Australia's Ken Rosewall 7-6, 6-3, 6-4.

In other singles matches Lew Hoad disposed of Ashley Cooper 6-4, 6 - 2 and Tony Trabert defeated Frank Sedgman 3 - 6, 6-3, 6-4.

Segura beat Cooper, 6-3, 6-3 Saturday night. Pancho Gonzales knocked off his arch rival, Lew Hoad, 11-9, 10-8 for Hoad's 13th consecutive Masters defeat.

In the doubles, Tony Trabert and Frank Sedgman beat Ken Rosewall and Mervyn Rose 8-5.

BETTERS OWN MARK

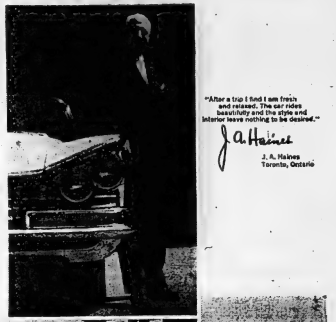
Schoolboys Win Four Each At Track Meet

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Ontario schoolboys raced through rain and threatening weather Saturday to win four events each in the annual schoolboy invitation track and field meet.

Tony Sugden of Ottawa's Ashbury College and Dave Dorman of Smiths Falls High School topped the list of 350 who competed in 22 events during the day-long affair.

Sugden, competing in class five division for boys under 20, took the 100-yard dash in 10.5 seconds; the 220 in 22.8; the 120-yard high hurdles in 16.8, and the broad jump with a 21-foot, three-inch leap.

But Ashbury could only come second in the class five team totals. Bill Mason with a triple win led Toronto Central Tech to the team award with 31 points. Ashbury and Montreal's Verdun High had 20 points each.



Dorman scored in class four, for boys under 17, to lead Smiths Falls to the team championship with 52 points, 19 more than Toronto Central.

He won the 100 - yard low hurdles in 16.8 seconds; the high jump with a leap of five feet, four inches; the hop, step and jump with 40 feet, one-half inch, and the discus throw with 121 feet, 11½ inches.

Ottawa Nepean took class one team honors and Ottawa Fisher Park won in class two. Only Montreal squad to win was Montreal West. High in class three, Class one was for boys under 14, class two under 15 and class three under 16.

In the class 1 hop, step and jump, Dianne Carr of Cornwall topped entries with a distance of

Minors Expected Big Factor At NHL Annual Get-Together

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League opened its three-day annual meeting today with the big pro circuits expected to play as big a part at the draft or cash deals and swaps.

The American Hockey League — particularly president Maurice Dye — will be present in more than spirit to defend its different versions.

The six-city AHL has been going since last August without an agreement with the NHL. The draft has for some time been a big stumbling block. The AHL doesn't want the major circuit to grab off its players.

The QHL, wobbling along financially except for a couple of teams, seems to face disappearance or a complete reorganization that would bring in new members.

There will be no formal, official meetings of either the AHL or the QHL during the NHL's show, but with hockey moguls from pro and amateur circuits present from Canada and the United States it's a certainty some hefty spade work will be done.

The QHL's Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces have applied for AHL membership. Some AHL clubs, particularly Hershey, are reported against this because of long road trips to Montreal and Quebec. Also both circuits have dropped heavily on Sunday dates for attendance.

So far as the NHL is concerned, the AHL and the major circuit have been negotiating since last February towards a new agreement. The AHL shied off the draft as if it were poison and it appears the AHL intends to stand pat on its present setup. Credence was given this belief with reports that Montreal Canadiens, parent club of Royals, have renewed their agreement with Rochester Americans.

There have been reports that the QHL may look westward for new members to replace Trois-Rivieres and Chicoutimi. Cities mentioned have been Ottawa, former member; Hull, Que., Edmonton and even Scotland.

DRAFT WEDNESDAY

With the NHL's intra - league draft coming up Wednesday, it's beginning to look as if the champion Montreal Canadiens aren't going to let any club snatch proven players.

Canadiens are reported prepared to protect all players on the roster and not get caught as New York Rangers did last year. The Rangers went heavy on protecting upcoming rookies and had four first - string players grabbed.

If Canadiens stand pat, they will leave open to the draft such youngsters as Irwin Spencer and Bill Sutherland of the Royals. If anything of Montreal farmhands becomes heavy, Canadiens might do some raiding on their own to help farm clubs.

One report has it that Detroit Red Wings are ready to put pressure on Delvecchio as bait for a big name. Toronto Maple Leafs are reported willing to talk deals.

The rules committee gathers today and tries and amateurs next. No drastic rule changes have been indicated.

Musial May Quit if He Cannot Hit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stan Musial hinted Saturday that he might quit baseball at the end of the season unless he can get back on the beam as a $100,000 hitter.

"But there is still a long way to go," said the 38-year-old St. Louis Cardinals star, making a face at his present .246 average.

Musial, seven times a batting champion and three times the National League's most valuable player, refused to blame his batting woes on the five-game-week regimen prescribed for him by the cards manager, Fred Hutchinson.

"If you'll remember," Stan said, "I was a pretty tired ball player at the end of last season. It was tough for me to get in shape in April and come back and play the next afternoon."

"That's when it was decided I would take a day off. I think it should help me in the long run. The big trouble with me is that I haven't been able to get going."

Musial explained: "I'm doing everything I know to snap out of it. Some of the other fellows have suggested things I've taken extra practice. I'm practically being analyzed in order to snap out of this slump—one of the worst in my career."

Unbeaten Juniors Take 4th Straight With 2-1 Win Over Shannonville

Belleville Juniors ran their undefeated string to four games in the South Hastings baseball league Saturday night by pulling out a tight 2-1 victory over Shannonville on the village diamond.

The Juniors have won three and tied one game in the play at CNRA Park here Wednesday night against Trenton and again on Saturday against Fourbert at the same park. Both games are at 8 p.m.

The winner scored single runs in the fifth and sixth innings Saturday night with Gordie St. Louis pitching shutout ball until the last inning when he was thrown in from the bottom of the seventh.

St. Louis gave up just three hits over the route. He fanned seven while walking half a dozen. He came through with men on second and third for the last-inning throwing error would have had a shutout.

Shannonville had the rubber for Shannonville and allowed five safeties over the route. He struck out five and passed one. Both he and St. Louis hit one batter.

Duffy Follwell accounted for what proved to be the winning run in the sixth inning. Following a single and a terrific home run over the centre field fence to give his club a 2-0 lead.

Belleville's other marker came when Hunter was hit by the pitcher and Bill Moxon and Red Kellar followed with singles. Keller's hit scored the run. Moxon was cut down attempting to steal home later in the inning.

An attempted steal cost Belleville another run in the fourth. Lloyd walked but was thrown out trying for second base prior to Follwell's double.

Shannonville finally scored with two runs in the bottom of the seventh and final frame. Al Reid singled, took second when St. Louis walked a man, advanced on Bennett's long fly and scored when Belleville's attempted pick-off throw went wild.

Bill Moxon had two of Belleville's five hits but Follwell's homer was the key blow. Moxon and Red Kellar collected the base knocks.

Jerry Hill, R. Green and Al Reid collected Shannonville's three singles.

Pitcher Won Milk Contest Hands Down

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "I won it 'hands down' and that's all there is to it."

That's how Jerry Walker, Baltimore's rookie pitcher who fired charges of Bill Tuttle, veteran Kansas City outfielder, that a cowmilking contest prior to the Orioles - Athletics baseball game Sunday was "fixed" in favor of Walker.

Five of the 11,800 fans who witnessed the Orioles' 3-0 victory in Municipal Stadium were in a position to see exactly what went on as Walker and Tuttle sat down at the milking chorus in a two-minute contest near home plate.

The judges declared Walker the winner with almost two pounds of milk. Tuttle barely got enough to wash.

"Walker had a lanky cow," Tuttle complained. "I'm an old cowhand and I knew I didn't have a fair deal the minute I sat down."

The 30-year-old Walker, who was born on a farm near Ada, Okla., said Tuttle should realize "sporting contests are for young people." Tuttle is 36.

Harvey Insists Ronnie Missing

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Harvey Knox, widely - known star of quarterback Ronnie Knox, took off for Los Angeles Sunday, insisting the missing player is missing and saying he's intends to place the matter in the hands of the FBI.

He and his stepdaughter Pat were here to arrange a stage appearance for the girl.

Harvey said Friday no word had been heard from Ronnie since he left for a brief vacation in Mexico six weeks ago.

Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football League reported they had reached Ronnie's agent in Los Angeles and learned the backfielder had returned there, but that they were unable to reach him.

Briton Takes Endurance Race

ADENAU, Germany (AP)—Britain's Stirling Moss Sunday drove his green English Aston Martin to a second straight victory in the 1,000 - kilometre (621.40-mile) Nuerburgring endurance race for sports cars.

Moss, 29, and his British co-driver Jack Fairman, won by 48 seconds over an Italian Ferrari driven by Phil Hill of the U.S. and Olivier Gendebien of Belgium. Another Ferrari was third and a German Porsche fourth.

Moss, in capturing it for the second successive year, drove 37 of the 44 laps of the 14 1-5-mile course which has 174 curves.

The Britons were timed in seven hours, 33 minutes, 18 seconds, for an average speed of 82.8 miles an hour. This was slower than the record pace of 84.36 mph set by Moss last year.

BREAKS WORLD MARK

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — Ian Black of Scotland broke the world swimming record for the 440-yard individual medley Saturday night with a time of five minutes 2.8 seconds. This was nearly 18 seconds faster than the world mark of 5:34, arbitrarily set by the International Swimming Federation for the event.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

That indomitable pair of Yankee lovers, "Pat and Peeve" are on edge. They're looking sharp, feeling sharp and acting sharp. The Yankee Stengleers have hauled themselves out of the American League snakepit.

Pat doesn't say much. He merely shakes his head rather sadly when his beloved Bombers are bombed and smiles with an "I-told-you-so" grin when Casey's Cut-ups pull out on the right end of a score.

Peeve is not as enthusiastic as he was when his ex-beloved "Bums" were packing 'em in the "rotters" in Ebbet's Field and the Flatbush flivvers were knocking the slats from under the then Coogan's Bluffers, and the Casseymen from across the river.

Secretly, Peeve has switched his loyalty to the Yankee Clippers. Occasionally he blasts off with a "bloish" or two, knowing like the Scotsman who gave his sweetheart lipstick for Christmas, he will get some of it back.

Now both are wearing whimsical smiles since the Yankee cavalry galloped out of Fort Detroit and stormed the Injuns citadel at Cleveland taking three out of the weekend four.

Perhaps It Is a little silly to touch off a wild celebration just because Casey's Cut-Ups did just that, but it's almost the best they've done all season, and now the Yankeelovers are not as fussy as they used to be.

This far the Union diamond troops have had one hot private in the ranks. His name is Mantle and the Mick is just off a sizzling pace. He has started to hit and his action on the baselpaths have been unsettling to the enemy. Not only is he stealing bases but he is driving opposing pitchers crazy with his dancing tactics off first. Moose Skowron was a ball game soon this season by smacking a homer off a distracted hurler.

Ty Cobb was a demon at this sort of thing. Once he stole second, third and home on successive pitches. Once he scored from first on an infield out. Every time he reached base the jitters started on the opposition.

The experts say Mantle is no Cobb. He doesn't have that certain something Ty had but it would appear he has lighted a spark under the Stengleers. One thing they have stopped their season aboddy fielding.

As one New York baseball writer puts it:— "The Yankees featured in the field had been indeed shocking to their old-time fans. They knew better than most the Bombers did not compile their awesome records over the years on the big hit alone. Even in the era of Murderers Row the solid strength of the New Yorkers was their gild-edged pitching and superlative fielding. And when DiMag assumed the Babe as the star attraction, the underlying pattern was the same."

Now that the Yankees have climbed out of the snakepit they should have the opportunity to play more relaxed ball. There's still plenty of time to win the pennant mainly because no other club has either drawn out of reach, or has displayed enough overwhelming strength to do so.

Casey was in the doldrums when his Yankees were staggering and stumbling around the last-place area much and mire. But he did not "flip his lid" as the players, so to speak. He didn't have been a bit crusty and nagging at times but that is all. He was patient with his heroes.

In fact the Old Fox was never nicer or gentler than when the Yankees plummeted to the cellar. He smiled quietly and briskly brushed off the attacks by the press and fans.

Arthur Daley, New York Times sports columnist, has great faith in the "old boy." He wrote, "The Old Man hasn't lost his marbles or slipped. He's still the shrewdest, smartest and best manager in the business. If the Yankees fail this year, it won't be because of Stengel. It will be in spite of him."

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

Casey Stengel might as well announce it today, Hoyt Wilhelm will be the starting pitcher for the American League in the all-star game at Pittsburgh, July 7.

And just to be on the safe side, the players and managers had better vote Gus Triandos to the team as the first-string catcher. He lets one of Wilhelm's knuckleys get away now and then but as he says himself, "I can take it if Wilhelm can."

Wilhelm and Triandos teamed up on Kansas City Sunday to boost Baltimore into second place. The surprising Orioles are only one game behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox.

NINTH STRAIGHT WIN

While Hoyt's knuckler was fluttering past the As for a 3-0 seven-hit shutout, Triandos' 13th home run with Al Pilarcik on base was powerful the insurance. It was Wilhelm's ninth straight without a loss.

After the game, the statisticians went into a huddle and reported Wilhelm's earned run average, figured on the way down to third of an inning, was a startling 0.999.

Chicago's lead was shaved while the White Sox split two with Boston. The Chicago stayed one of its rare big innings —six runs in the second — scoring the only runs Boston grabbed the second 4-2 although Frank Sullivan pitched his first two Leo Kiely and Mike Fornieles in the ninth after eight shutout innings.

At Cleveland the Indians divided a pair with New York Yankees. Herb Score beat Don Larsen in the first game 7-5 but the Yankees hopped on Cal McLish for four runs in the second inning to get an even break 4-3.

TOST HOMERS TWICE

Eddie Yost hammered two home runs against his former Washington mates in Detroit's 6-4 victory that pulled the Tigers up to the .500 mark. Charlie Maxwell also homered for the Tigers and Jim Hanson and Roy Sievers for the Senators.

The Yankees, greasing the skids for Cleveland, won 2-1 Saturday as the Indians took their seventh straight setback. Boston beat Chicago 4-2 on homers by Vic Wertz and Frank Malzone.

In other games Saturday, Paul Foytack pitched Detroit to a 4-1 triumph over Washington and Baltimore lost 5-1 to the As as Kinsey City backed up Bob Dxley's five-hit pitching with 11 hits.

Getting back to Wilhelm, the former Giant relief man certainly is the talk of the year. Sunday's win was his third shutout and his fifth straight complete game. Nobody has scored more than two earned runs in any game against the 35-year-old trickster.

Batting—Bill Bruton, Milwaukee Braves, collected four hits in 5-2 victory over Dodgers, including two singles in eight-run rally in seventh inning.

Pitching—Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore Orioles, won his ninth straight without loss with seven-hit shutout over Kansas City 3-0, dropping his earned run average to 0.999.

to Hershey in 1956 but has played little there, partly because of injuries and because he was overshadowed last season by Bob Perreault, the Bears' regular goaltender.

Ask National League managers about the best infield double-play combination in the league and they'll point to Chicago's Bill Henry and Don Elston.

Henry and Elston did it again Sunday when they chipped in to help John Buzhardt and Elmer Singleton rack up victories that boosted the Cubs into the rare atmosphere of third place.

Henry, the lefty, saved Buzhardt in the eighth inning of a 4-3 first-game-victory over Pittsburgh. Il was Henry again in the second game when Singleton walked two men in the eighth inning. Elston marched in to mop up and complete a 1-0 three-hit shutout.

Milwaukee Braves snapped out of their slump in the eight outfield in the seventh inning to rout their four persistent tormentor, Don Drysdale, with an 8-2 victory over Los Angeles. Bill Bruton had two of his four singles in the big inning but the key hit was a pinch single in the first game. Pinch-hit Sam Francisco whipped Cincinnati 5-3 behind Jack Sanford in the first game, but the Reds came in the race by losing the second 7-1 to Sandy Koufax in the night cap.

They had a wild Sunday in quiet Philadelphia. First the Phillies battered St. Louis' veteran for 16 hits and an 11-9 decision in the first game. Then a fan-in flight erupted between Don Cardwell, Phil pitcher, and Giles' C. Card outfielder, while Vince Bend Mizell was shutting out the Phils 2-0 with five hits in the second game.

Milwaukee's lead was down to Saturday's victory over New York Braves lost a 3-2 squeaker to Los Angeles while the Cincinnati Reds Cubs cooled off Pittsburgh 8-2 Saturday and the Phils routed St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innin-s and Linned the cellar over to Cubs 11-9.

PACKED BLEACHERS

Sunday was a day of good crowd, with 39,098 at Pittsburgh where the Pirates lost a pair because of the Cubs' fine relief work. Harvey Haddix and Bob Briend were the losers although Friend gave up Pete's four hits in eight innings and struck out 10 Cubs.

Milwaukee had 32,399, its largest turnout since opening day, to enjoy the big seventh inning Dodger runs off Bob Bohl came on homers by Gil Hodges and Don Demeter.

The Giants backed up Sanford's pitching with 10 hits in the first game as Dorish allowed Pitt only six duo much with Pena, a skinny Cuban Kinsey City backed up Bob Dxley's five-hit pitching with 11 hits.

Getting back to Wilhelm, the former Giant relief man certainly is the talk of the year. Sunday's win was his third shutout and his fifth straight complete game. Nobody has scored more than two earned runs in any game against the 35-year-old trickster.

Richmond Beats Royals Twice; Leafs Split

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What a weekend can do to the first division of the International League shouldn't happen to three scrambled eggs.

Saturday morning, Buffalo and Columbus were tied for first place. Rochester was third, a half game out, and Richmond was fourth, two games out.

Today Buffalo is alone at the top after splitting a Sunday doubleheader with Miami Marlins, losing 3-0 and winning 2-1. Saturday, the Bisons beat Miami 2-1 in 11 innings.

Richmond moved up to second, a game out, after Saturday's 7-1 victory over Montreal and Sunday's 1-0 and 4-1 doubleheader sweep. Columbus dropped to third, trailing Richmond by one percentage point, by splitting a doubleheader with Toronto, winning the nightcap 9-6 after absorbing a 9-0 shellacking in the first game. Columbus won Saturday's game 7-4.

CURTAIN AT HAVANA

Rochester dropped a notch to fourth, two games out, losing the first game with Havana Sunday, 2-1. The second game was a scoreless tie when called after seven innings. Havana won Saturday, 9-3.

Jim Cassile's home run and Frank Herrera's RBI single got Buffalo enough in the nightcap victory. Cassile's drive was his sixth in nine decision for Miami in the opener. Dick Farrell won the second game.

Richmond set a modern club record, scoring in seven innings and eighth in a row. Fritz Brickell's fourth-inning single drove in the Richmond run in the opener as Zack Monroe got his first victory. Frank Lary drove in two runs in the first inning to start Red Dick toward his fourth victory in the nightcap.

CHAKALES EFFECTIVE

Bob Chakales scattered five Columbus hits for Toronto in the opener to win No. 3. Joe Altobelli homered for the Leafs, while Tom Burgess with two, and winner Joe Gibbon 6-3), smashed round-trippers for Columbus in the nightcap.

Tony Gonzalez's two-run triple in the opener got the job done for Buffalo and Vince Amoros 2-3), while Bob Keegan and Ted Wieand were hooked in a scoreless duel in the second game. Wieand called so both clubs could catch planes to the mainland.

SEND DOWN PITCHER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves sent southpaw pitcher Juan Pizarro to the Louisville farm in the American Association Saturday recall Gene Conley. To replace Pizarro, the National League leaders called up 21-year-old Bob Hartman.

Fighter's Mother, Manager Receive Mysterious Calls

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rueben Vargas's mother and manager say they have received mysterious phone calls demanding to know where to find the heavyweight fighter.

Manager Bert Brodose disclosed Sunday night he got the first call June 2. He added that later the fighter's mother was phoned at Fairfield, about 40 miles east of here.

Vargas fights out of nearby Richmond.

The calls added fuel to a fire lit last week in Los Angeles when matchmaker Jackie Leonard was severely beaten.

Brodose said Vargas's elderly mother was called three or four times, always at midnight.

There was no indication of why the callers wanted to know the fighter's whereabouts. Brodose said neither he nor Mrs. Vargas gave any information. He did not notify police but said he would report the calls to the state athletic commission at its Wednesday meeting here.

TO REPORT DEAL

He added he would bring up the matter of a deal by which Hank Sinacola, an associate of singer Frank Sinatra, acquired an interest in Vargas last summer.

Brodose claims Sinacola and Ralph Gambino, another Sinatra associate, agreed to pay him $10,000 for a piece of Vargas's contract. Brodose contends he got only $500.

Gambino is the California manager of Larry Boardman, 9osion lightweight from Boston, who pulled out of a Saturday night fight at Hollywood Legion stadium. The other main eventer, Art Ramponi of Oakland, also bowed out, contending he was ill.

Don Chargin, legion promoter who received an anonymous threatening call in Oakland Thursday, said Boardman's father called him long distance Saturday night at the stadium to tell him the fight was off. The father had said Boardman had a bad hand.

"Pop is it," Chargin said Sunday night. "Leonard was told by those guys that some of fighters would get sick at the last minute."

Jackie Leonard legion stadium matchmaker, was severely beaten by unknown assailants Wednesday night. He said a perpetual press conference Saturday that Frankie Carbo, an eastern underworld character, was responsible.

SIGNS FOR $100,000

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Raymond Culp, 17-year - old Austin High School pitching sensation, got $102,000 to sign a contract with Philadelphia of the National League Saturday.

Culp, six - foot, 195-pounder, wound up his high school career last week with a 16-1 won-lost record for the season. He has a 23-4 record for the last two campaigns.

Bobby Green Out-Duelled Campbell in Bobcats' 5-2 Win Over Cobourg

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Belleville Bobcats consolidated their grip on the top runs of the B and D softball league standing in Cobourg Saturday night by virtue of a 5-2 win over the Merchant's on Bobby Green's pitching and a couple of home runs.

The win, second for the Cats over the previously undefeated Merchants in as many nights, boosted their won and lost record to five and one. Cobourg holds second with a three and two mark.

Bob Green and Cobourg's Rolly Campbell hooked up in another tight pitchers' duel for seven innings with Belleville holding a narrow 1-0 lead. Then in the top of the eighth the Bobcats exploded for four runs on a pair of two-run homers by Bert Faulkner and Denny Hayden to make it 5-0.

The homesiters were far from dead however as they scored two runs of their own to snap Green's shutout in the bottom of the same frame. They threatened again in the ninth with two runners on base when the final out was made.

Trumple's are portsider tossed masterful ball in gaining his third victory of the season. He allowed a single in the first frame and blanked the Merchants without a hit after that until the eighth. He ended up with a five-hitter. Green struck out eight batters and showed excellent control with only three walks charged against him.

Campbell on the Cobourg hilltop showed seven hits with three of these coming in the big eighth inning. He fired third strikes by four while walking only one.

O'Brien's error at third opened the Belcats' big rally in the eighth. Bert Faulkner lolsted a fly to deep centre but two outfielders went after it, got in each others road with the ball falling safely for a two-run homer and a 3-0 score.

"Wiener" Brown slashed a single through shortstop to keep the ball rolling. Rolly fly do centre made the second out but Hayden sliced a shot down the left field line and chased Brown all the way home before it was recovered. Bobcats second-inning rally came on Hayden's single and Earl Cousins' double along the left field foul line.

Cobourg finally touched Green in the eighth as Jim Hart beat out an infield single and took second on an error. Turpin singled him home and Harnden got the second infield hit of the frame, McSporran's ground out drove in another run.

"Sleepy" Dawe's pinch - hit double and a walk came with two out in the ninth and both died on base as Green bore down to wind it up.

Bert Faulkner and Denny Hayden with a homer and single each scored the Bobcat batters. Hayden also looked sharp, snagging two throws at first base and Faulkner pulled in a home blast to left, robbing Clarey in the seventh. Earl Cousins and Bobby Hull lashed doubles and 'Wiener' Brown, a single.

Judd Shades Maracle In Mound Duel

A two-year hitch in the United States army has failed to weaken Ray Judd's pitching arm or dull his batting eye either. You can take Pat Maracle's and the rest of the Point Anne Cementmen's word for that!

Judd edged Maracle in a pitching duel deluxe Saturday night as Lakefield squeezed out a 2-0 victory over the Cementmen in an exhibition tilt played in Peterborough.

A return engagement is scheduled for the CNRA diamond in Belleville on Saturday, June 20 at 8 p.m.

The two roundsmen battled on even terms right up until the bottom of the ninth without a score Saturday night. Then it was Judd himself who won his own game.

Reg Fowler bagged a double off Maracle with out out in the ninth. The Point Anne management ordered Judd walked intentionally. Maracle threw three balls but on the fourth Judd reached across the plate to stroke another double for the 1-0 victory.

Maracle gave up only six hits over the route. He fanned four and issued only one base-on-balls.

Judd tossed a three-hitter, whiffed 15 and did not walk a batter.

Johnny Batchelor of the Cementmen touched him for a brace of solid singles. Pete Green had another one. Chuck Kingston was robbed of a homerun when Mackness raced to the scoreboard in centre field to pull down a drive in the opening frame. He retired the last 19 batters he faced.

Neil Wasson had two of the Lakefield hits with Judd's double the payoff blow. Reg Fowler also doubled as did Red Wasson. Crowe hit a single.

Stu Muirhead's two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning gave the Bobcat Juveniles a 7-6 victory over Sports Centre last night for the latter's loss of the season.

The tilt was all tied up at 5-5 after the regulation seven innings, Muirhead, who had singled earlier, smashed his two-run homer into the left fielder's head to wrap it up.

Ron Pelletier pitched the win, allowing 11 hits and walking one. He did not fan a man but got three apart from his mates. Poor base running by Sports Centre helped Pelster out of a couple tight spots.

Junior Day gave up nine hits on the losers' mound. He whiffed four and walked five.

Dick Clapp had a double and single to back Muirhead at the plate. Gary Dugan singled twice with Bobby Duggan doubling and singles going to Billy "The Kid" McGuire and Bucky Ehlter.

Phil Bennett hit a two-run homer for Sports Centre while Bob Brown, Dennis Neil and Shakier" Baker had a double and single each. Calnan singled twice and Junior Day once while Doug Murray tripled.

Boxing Card Offers Four Main Bouts

Four main bouts and four preliminary bouts are scheduled for Tuesday night when the Belleville Boxing Club presents its third all-star card of the season at Memorial Arena. Action begins at nine o'clock.

In the top feature Sam Persaich of Browns' A.C. in Hamilton, who fought Harold Mann at the Palace Pier two weeks ago, meets Jack "Rocky" Lucas of the Belleville club.

Persaich is being tutored by Mickey Doyle. Doyle, during his ring career, fought such greats as Sugar Ray Robinson, Tony Zale and Rocky Graziano. Persaich is a rough, charging type of Hamilton. Persaich is here to be Lucas' toughest test to date. Lucas in his last fight proved he can punch. He is well conditioned and with a few more bouts will be ready to fight in the Canadian championships.

Another local top - notcher, Barry Parsons, taken on Joey Le Roy of St. Mary's Boxing Club, Hamilton. Parsons is improving at a rapid rate and the opposition he will be facing should be on in will be of a top calibre.

Le Roy is a ring-wise veteran of some 30 fights. Parsons as yet has not had to extend himself to the limit but this will be the test for him to find out if he is ready for this calibre of opposition.

Others in the card are Bobby Hull, who has seen action on both preceding cards here, returns to meet a sharp competitor in Johnny Bay of St. Mary's of Hamilton.

Paul Daniels of Peterborough, the Ontario lightweight champion, takes on rough, tough Ted Secord, also of Hamilton's St. Mary's. Secord has fought all the best lightweights in Canada, including Charlie McIntyre who was seen in action on the last card here.

Other Belleville boys slated to see action in the preliminaries Tuesday night are Bob Cole, Benny Hubbs, Tommy Cross and Cliff Anderson.

Throttles Whip Dundee 4-2 Before 17,000

TORONTO (CP)—West Bromwich Albion Saturday night defeated Dundee Football Club of the Scottish First Division 4-2 in an exhibition soccer game at Varsity Stadium.

A wildly-cheering crowd of an estimated 17,000 fans saw the English First Division team put on a superb display of soccer, scoring the dominate game.

West Bromwich scored three goals in the first half and one in the second. Main contributor to the Dundee downfall was inside right David Wilson who scored three goals. Centre forward Ronnie Allen was Albions other scorer. Centre forward Alley Hill netted both goals for Dundee.

West Bromwich then went to Ottawa for the second last stop of its tour.

Player Priest Is Transferred

TIMMINS (CP)—The Timmins sports scene is losing one of its most colorful characters, Rev. Les Costello, the hockey-playing, fun-loving priest.

Father Costello, stationed in Timmins for the last year, has been transferred by the Roman Catholic Church to Kirkland Lake.

He played professional hockey with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League and was with Toronto Maple Leafs when they won the Stanley Cup in 1947.

He played every forward position with Timmins Flyers of the Porcupine Mines Hockey League and picked up 22 points in 18 games playing only home games. He played with Schumacher Maroons through the Timmins Past-ball League title last season.

USED CAR FACTS
By Ken Pinder

JOINTS TO INVESTIGATE

When checking a used car it only takes a moment to examine the condition of the universal joints. With the motor running, rock the car by shifting back and forth from low to reverse, looking for chattering noises may mean a worn universal joint or play in the differential. While this may not mean a big repair bill, it should be considered in the over all picture of the car's condition.

In our many years of business we at KEN PINDER LTD, 189 Front St. are convinced of one important fact ..... people are looking for QUALITY not a "bargain" when they buy a used car. Smart people realize that in buying a quality used car they save many, many dollars in the long run. Phone us at WO 2-3408.

Two Injured In Car Race

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Two drivers were taken to hospital here Saturday night following one of five violent crashes which turned a 15-lap jalopy race into the most sensational of the track's eight-year history.

Bill Huggins of St. Catharines had 15 stitches taken in a gash in his forehead after his car crashed into a light standard. The other vehicle, driven by Carl Culp of Niagara Falls, rolled over on the track and he suffered possible stomach injuries.

In close crack-ups, Ron Proctor of Welland rolled his car over three times on a turn on the first lap and Earl Ledingham, also of Welland, spilled end over end on the eighth lap. He collided with a jalopy driven by Tony Soyka of Thorold.

Larry Jane of Thorold turned over twice after banging into a stalled car driven by Tom Beckett of Foothill. None of the drivers except Huggins and Culp were injured and they were reported in good condition.

Ragan Wins Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (CP)—Dave Ragan, 23, of Chattanooga, Tenn. fired a two-under-par 70 in Sunday's final round to win the $20,-000 Eastern open golf tournament with a 72-hole total of 273.

A four-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole of the last round enabled him to win his first professional championship after a stand-tock battle with Gene Littler, who ended up with 65-67-71-71—274 and second-prize money of $1,900.

Ragan collected $2,800.

Ragan was 15 strokes under par and two under the former tournament record set by Sam Snead on another course in 1952.

WESLOCK WINS

BRANTFORD (CP)—Nick Weslock of Windsor shot three under par 69 here Saturday to win the Brantford Golf and Country Club's annual invitation tournament for the Calvert Trophy. He finished two strokes ahead of Bruce Jardine of Galt and Donald Ross of Ancaster. Wedo Weyerewski of St. Catharines shot a par 72 and won low net honors in the A division with 69.

FIRST SHOWING
"BELL, BOOK AND CANDLE"
All-Star Cast

Columbia Pictures' new Technicolor comedy, "Bell, Book and Candle," which stars James Stewart and Kim Novak, at the air conditioned Park Theatre, is truly an enchanting romantic comedy, a pleasure to attend and to recommend. Happily co-starred are such other expert practitioners of the comic art as Jack Lemmon, Ernie Kovacs, Hermoine Gingold, Elsa Lanchester and Janice Rule.

"Bell, Book and Candle" is the felicitous story of a cautious, conventional bachelor and a beautiful, bohemian - type blonde. The girl in the case has "strange" powers; the gentleman, her neighbor, finds himself suddenly in love . . . on the eve of his wedding to another girl.

Helping Kim further her romance are Lemmon, as her madcap brother who plays bongo drums in a truly out-of-this-world night club, and Elsa Lanchester, their aunt, a fey creature indeed. Also assisting Kim is a cat named Pyewacket.

On the side of "normalcy" are Jimmy, as the somewhat bewildered book publisher, and his best-selling writer, wild haired Ernie Kovacs whose books keep him in bread and butter and bourbon, which Kovacs drinks from a stein. Janice Rule, the girl to whom Jimmy is engaged, also is on his side.

England's Hermoine Gingold, famed for her portrayals of eccentric characters, joyously shuttles between Jimmy and Kim, making still more unconventional and still more joyous one of the most delightful screen romances in years.

AT THE McCARTHY — Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon, disguised as girls, carry Marilyn Monroe. They are all starred in Billy Wilder's "Some Like It Hot", a United Artists release opening Wednesday at both the McCarthy Theatre and the Belleville Drive-In Theatre.

AT THE PARK — James Stewart and Kim Novak star in Columbia Pictures' new Technicolor Comedy, "Bell, Book and Candle." Co-starred are Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs opens tonight at the air conditioned Park Theatre. On the same program a suspense thriller "Kill Her Gently", both features are first showings. "Bell, Book and Candle" shown at 8.55 p.m.

Strological Forecast

DAY, JUNE 9, 1959

Aries (March 21 to April 19)—It is possible now to make those changes in your surroundings, add artistic perfect pieces that will express your own personality and good taste. Then buy a workable bookkeeping system based on experience.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Good day to be with regular associates to discuss future plans and get what is rightfully coming to you. Be specific and firm. Tonight is then ideal for relaxing fun with bosom pals and entertaining them with your fine talents.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21)—Make your consciousness today to where you know how to command a greater income and have more than your needs, a lot more. Also, be sure you get TV, radio, other important appliances running in tip-top condition.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Dress beautifully this A.M. Then, using most friendly manner, contact those people who can assist you in your career. Speak frankly, P.M. excellent for social fun and frolic. Laugh and be merry.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Much backing can be yours if you will just let your hair down and let closest friends know what you want. Then exercise philanthropy where most needed and be of service to worthy individuals. P.M. just fine for romance.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) —Many opportunities present now to be with intimates in order to work out any joint plans of a constructive and remunerative nature. P.M. forget about finances and enjoy sports, amusements that most suit your mood.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Much progress can be made today toward fame and fortune if you tackle your work and contacts in most direct and determined fashion. Be certain you are dressed in excellent taste.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—By simply making the effort to get away from rather dull existence you have carved out for yourself, you can meet interesting people and start a whole new and exciting pattern for living. Read newspapers for ideas. Grow.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Today you have a fine opportunity to get a whole new plan of action outlined for you by those who are expert in the field that interests. Listen carefully to understand every detail and then full speed ahead.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) —Be about actively with associates, have long conversations and start things humming, whether in business or personal affairs. You will get results almost immediately and to a greater extent and affluence than you dreamed possible.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) —Tackle all chores and tasks with real vim and enthusiasm now and you will accomplish what is almost Herculean in nature. This applies to work indoors, at business or out of doors, whichever is most pressing today.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20)—After doing the work that is necessary early A.M. the day is fine for having a glorious time at the amusements that most please. Be sure to dress nicely and impress others with your excellent presence.

If Your Child is Born Today—The child born today, if guided properly, will have such an inner glow that it will be felt by all with whom he or she comes in contact, and be a boon to society. An excellent chart then for the artist, the entertainer who pleases all, young and old alike. See that a wonderful smile ever adorns the face of your delightful youngster. Great spirituality here.

Communist China

Propaganda and Persuasion

By Walter L. Gordon

(Article 5)

In the second article of this series I discussed the blind unquestioning belief of the Chinese communists in the rightness of their system. They have their faith and it is absolute. However, it is their firm policy to "persuade" people to see the light rather than to knock them on the head until they do so. People who are persuaded that a certain policy is desirable or about their own deviation from or lack of understanding of the true course are expected to endorse the policy or to confess their errors publicly. And this they do upon occasion without any apparent reservations or embarrassment.

In the West this system of persuasion, which may lead to presentations and confessions, is often described as "brainwashing." And it is suggested sometimes that it is a hideous invention of the Chinese communists. But it was not unusual in China long before communism was heard of for important public officials to apologize in the most grovelling and extravagant terms for what we would consider very trifling misdemeanors. There are many resemblances to historical practices and customs in the techniques used by the present government.

There is a great deal of discussion and debate before policies in China are formally adopted. This goes on continually at all levels, about all sorts of policies, large and small, and ranging all the way from national policies to questions of production methods in a single factory or commune.

It is the policy of the Chinese communists to encourage such discussions. Resolutions are passed spontaneously or otherwise and if the matter is of sufficient importance, it may be taken up by the government or by the People's Congress. This technique, if carefully exploited, can become an effective build-up or introduction for policy decisions that can be presented in the form of acknowledgments of the wishes of the people rather than as edicts or orders from on high.

"UNANIMOUS" REQUESTS

As an example, the food supplies in Peking were on the short side last winter. The army, of course, had priority and the garrison discussed this situation and passed a series of resolutions, one group after another, asking the government (a) to discontinue their meat ration and (b) to reduce their ordinary rations by 25%. After due consideration the authorities agreed reluctantly to comply at least in part with this "unanimous" request.

Another example: Handicraft workers in a certain area were working an 8 hour day with Sundays off. They petitioned for permission to work 10 hours a day and to reduce time off to every other Sunday. Petition granted.

A sceptic might suggest that it would be easy for party members to arrange for such discussions and resolutions and no doubt it is. The sacrifice to them means nothing because of their beliefs. And anyone who protested would run the risk of being labelled "rightist." However, no matter how one looks at it, one must admit it may be easier for people to make a sacrifice if, to outward appearances in any case, they have participated in the decision. Surely this must be more acceptable at least to the majority than it would be if, without any discussion or formality, they were ordered by the authorities, say, to work harder or to eat less. In any event, such discussions help to publicize the policy that is about to be decided and in the main to convince people of its essential soundness.

However, once a policy has been discussed, debated and formally decided upon and, if important enough, approved by the People's Congress, it then becomes an article of faith that everyone is expected to accept and to believe in. No further questioning can be tolerated. Heresy is an indulgence that has no place in Communist society. And no matter what we may think about it, the technique of persuasion seems to be most effective.

PROPAGANDA TECHNIQUE

The system of propaganda is equally effective as it is pervasive. It must be remembered that at the time of "Liberation" 90% of the people were illiterate; 80% are still illiterate. And, furthermore, there are wide differences in the dialects spoken in different parts of China. Cantonese, for example, is not understood in Peking and vice versa.

How then was the new government to get five or six hundred million people to understand its policies and to accept them? The communists, of course, had gained considerable experience in the years preceding: "Liberation" when they ruled large areas of the country and over many millions of its people. In that period they were able to develop their techniques of propaganda to a high and most effective art. This includes posters, displays and exhibits which anyone who sees can understand. It includes the coining of catch phrases, slogans and elementary statistics which convey the meaning of government aims and policies and which can be passed on by word of mouth with a rapidity that is almost unbelievable.

These slogans, statistics and catch phrases are repeated constantly in speeches, in the newspapers and in private conversation. They have become a ritual and they are believed in implicitly. A Western visitor to China may become slightly irritated at times by the endless repetition, particularly if he tends to question the truth of some of the assertions. But perhaps it is a question of what one is accustomed to. Conceivably a Chinese who visited North America might question the sterling qualities of such things as Revlon face creams, of Coca-Cola, or Chevrolet two door sedans about which we hear so much and so incessantly. He might find it difficult to understand how we in the West can think the people who now occupy the relatively small island of Taiwan (Formosa) should represent the more than six hundred million people on the Chinese mainland; six hundred million people who seem to be satisfied with their own government, a government which certainly is strong and well established. Perhaps it all depends upon one's point of view.

Assuredly there are people in New China who held positions of respect or importance in the old days who have not succumbed to the propaganda of the present government. There must be many people who were on the wrong side of the revolution or who have since transgressed and for whom the new system is anathema. It would be remarkable if there are not people who question the basic concept of the communists that one should think only of the collective good and not in terms of personal individuality. Unquestionably there are such people. But it seems safe to surmise that under the techniques of propaganda and persuasion and in the light of the real material progress that is being made in China which anyone can see, the younger generation will grow up with a firm belief in Communism and with unquestioned loyalty to the present government. How can it be otherwise?

British Critical Of French Stand On Atom Bombs

Means No Integrated Air Defence in Europe

LONDON (AP) — France's reported decision to bar U.S. stockpiles of atomic bombs from French soil created a storm today in the Atlantic Congress, approaching the climax of its six-day meeting.

Reaction inside delegations to Congress was split, with the Americans taking a cautious line and British representatives outspoken critical of the French action.

George A. Brown, Labor member of Parliament and a member of the British delegation to the Congress, described the French decision as "self-destroying."

ALLIANCE WEAKER

"It means there will be no integrated air defence in Europe," Brown said. "I don't see how you can say anything but that the Atlantic alliance will be a damn sight weaker as a result."

Word leaked out in Paris Monday that President de Gaulle's government will not allow the United States to maintain control over atomic warheads stockpiled inside France.

Since the United States insists on maintaining such control, the decision if it is approved by Congress means that some 250 atom-carrying planes of the U.S. Air Force may have to be transferred from France to Britain or Italy. Those two countries have agreed to U.S. control of warhead stockpiles on their soil.

GAVIN IN FAVOR

A member of the U.S. delegation, Lt.-Gen. James M. Gavin, former Army chief of research and development, said he is in favor of expansion of the Atomic Club, the group of allied nations possessing atomic and hydrogen weapons.

There is considerable suspicion that the Soviets are building an U.S. stockpiles on their soil in an effort to put pressure on the United States into helping them in their own atomic bomb development.

The Russians know what we've got in the way of atomic hardware," said Gavin, "We don't see why our allies shouldn't be allowed to know the same thing."

British cabinet ministers and military chiefs today discussed the French action but an informant said Britain has not been requested so far to accept American fighter-bombers on British bases if they are withdrawn from France.

Chases Storms Puts Hailstones In His Frig

HOUGHTON REGIS, England (AP) — Meteorologist Malcolm Wells had a disappointing day on Monday — nursery a hailstone to put into his refrigerator.

Meteorological weather researcher and scientist is the first official storm chaser, carries the refrigerator in his station wagon. He will drive it to the centre of thunderstorms and collect hailstones, measure rain, record the thunder and make other observations.

Monday, however, there were no hailstones because the Bedfordshire area where he is working.

Today's Chuckle

Taking your wife to a party is like fishing with the game warden. So many chances of you catch, you have to throw it back.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis:

The current heat wave will continue over most of Ontario today and Wednesday. Weak disturbances in Northern Ontario will cause considerable cloudiness and thunderstorms there resulting in lower temperatures than over the remainder of the province.

Increasing moisture spreading northward from the Gulf of Mexico will result in higher humidity and scattered evening thunderstorms Wednesday in southwestern Ontario.

LONDON (CP) — A French spokesman at the Atlantic Congress here today defended the French refusal to allow stockpiling of American nuclear weapons in France under United States control.

Gen. Pierre Billotte, former French cabinet minister, urged that global strategy must be shared among the Allies.

The congress rejected his amendment to the military report of Field Marshal Montgomery urging that NATO defence should be a common strategy directed on a world scale.

Billotte stated that the policy of leaving direction of strategy to the United States is outdated because the American-based Strategic Air Command no longer is a full deterrent.

The Allies could accept American direction when the U.S. Strategic Air Command was superiority over Russia and based on Britain, Europe and United States territory, Billotte said.

MUST GET SHARE

But now that Russia has reached parity with the U.S. and the deterrent power of missiles [illegible] of American allies, the Allies should be given a share in control-ling strategy.

"It would seem logical that a government aware of its responsibilities cannot hand over to an ally, as loyal as he may be and whom he trusts completely, his share of responsibility.

"That is why we proposed that those governments willing to accept a share of these world responsibilities, who have world interests, should have the means to participate in this global strategy."

Soviet Official Asks to Meet Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frol Kozlov, a Soviet first deputy premier, has asked to meet with President Eisenhower and other leaders during a 10-day visit to the United States.

Eisenhower is expected to grant his wish along with a request to see Khrushchev when he arrives for some half a dozen cities in early July.

The 51-year-old Kozlov, a fast-rising newcomer in the Kremlin hierarchy, is due to arrive in New York June 25 to open the Soviet national exhibition.

The Soviet government appears to be modelling the visit a formal one, a lift-for-at-exchange for Vice-President Richard Nixon is to make to Russia July 25.

Nixon has asked to be allowed to visit Soviet cities, including some in Siberia, are area barely opened to foreigners.

E. German Youngsters Instilled With Fear of Capitalists Observed

Associated Press correspondent Michael Goldsmith, met with a group of 10 Westerners on an exchange trip from Geneva to East Germany at the invitation of the Communist government. Here are some things he observed.

The Communist teacher in the huge, concrete, modern school planted the little girl's effort on the classroom wall along with other students' efforts.

The central theme of drawings made by children at the summer school at Stalinstadt, East Germany's "first socialist city," was the danger of the warmongers piling up nuclear weapons to destroy the "socialist" camp of peace-loving nations."

Stalinstadt is the pride of the East German regime. Its vast iron smelting combine on the Oder-Neisse border with Poland grew from a sandy waste in less than a year. Now it turns out more than 1,000,000 tons of pig iron a year.

The Soundry's 6,000 workers live in the new state-built, state-owned and state-operated city of 30,000 inhabitants.

All material conditions are there for comfortable above the average enjoyed by industrial workers in Western Europe.

But the streets are without life and without laughter. The people have the glazed look of sleepwalkers. It is a familiar atmosphere in East German cities.

Grenzpolizei police are as much in evidence in East Germany as littler's storm troopers once were. The color of the uniform is different but they still carry rifles, pistols, even sabres. Most of them are in their late teens and their entire lives have been dominated by dictatorship and war.

Russian troops keep scrupulously out of the way.

"But we know they are here," a retired civil servant said. "Those who would rebel remember Hungary. And so they make the best of it. If they are realists, they know there cannot be any hope at all."

COMMISSION MAY STUDY MARITIMES COAL PROBLEM

Would Report Back Within This Year

Revenue Minister Nowlan, cabinet representative for Nova Scotia, cropped a hint o fit in the Commons Monday.

Later information outside the House indicated a commission will be set up within the next two months with instructions to report within a year. Whether it will be a full-dress royal commission was uncertain, though that seemed probable.

Meanwhile, Premier Stanfield and Mines Minister Manson of Nova Scotia were expected here within the next two weeks to work out with federal officials the terms of the inquiry.

A royal commission on coal would be the first in 13 years. The last one reported in late 1946 and recommended mainly the resumption of the pre-war subventions system of treasury freight rate assistance that had been discontinued during the war.

COST $10,000,000 ANNUALLY

The Liberal government put that recommendation into effect, and it has remained as the major bulwark of the coal industry. The subventions, or freight subsidies, have been costing the treasury around $10,000,000 a year, most of this going to Nova Scotia mines.

Musicians Sound New Notes, Talks Do Not Follow Lead

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A skirling pipe band and the discordant notes of Chinese instruments were among the background sounds Monday night as the Ontario election campaign drove towards the finish line.

The pipers led Premier Frost in a motorcade through York South riding in suburban Toronto and the Chinese music came from the stage of Toronto's Massey Hall where Liberal leader John Wintermeyer spoke to a rally of 1,200.

But if the musicians sounded some new notes the speeches didn't follow their lead.

Mr. Frost continued to hammer at his theme of Ontario's progress under 16 years of Progressive Conservative administration.

Mr. Wintermeyer hung up an issue introduced by the CCF earlier in the campaign, said Ontario civil servants should be given collective bargaining rights and an civil service departments divorced from political patronage.

CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald told a shirt-sleeved audience of 500 in a humid Hamilton auditorium that Energy Minister Macaulay had misled the public in his defence of a land purchase near Sarnia by Ontario Hydro.

The premier had a brisk day with a rally at Barrie, a television appearance in Toronto and a night invasion of York South, the rally held by Mr. MacDonald in the last legislature.

After the two-mile motorcade he went to church youth centre where he shook 225 hands at a party reception and issued a call for a heavy turnout in Thursday's voting.

"Remember, good government requires strong government and good government cannot be carried out without strength in Parliament or the legislature," he said.

At Barrie he defended his government's education program by stating the aggressive teacher recruiting campaign which had met the requirements of a growing school enrolment. In 1958 alone 5,700 new teachers had been as-

OTTAWA (CP) — A United States Navy plan to send a 27-ship flotilla through the St. Lawrence Seaway has run into heavy weather in the Canadian Commons.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier), former president of Canada's Lawrence Seaway Authority, suggested Monday night that the flotilla "should not be allowed to go into the seaway at all."

"There is no reason in the world why it should clutter up Hurley," he said.

Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, said if the flotilla's trip through the seaway is found likely to affect shipments of fish "it would be far better if the U.S. ships stayed home."

ASKED TO CUT NUMBER

Parliament Transport Minister Hees informed the House that he has asked U.S. authorities in cut the number going through, although he didn't mention any specific number.

But the ships are without life and without laughter. The people have the glazed look of sleepwalkers. It is a familiar atmosphere in East German cities.

ASKED TO CUT NUMBER

Parliament Transport Minister Hees informed the House that he has asked U.S. authorities in cut the number going through, although he didn't mention any specific number.

But the ships are without life and without laughter. The people have the glazed look of sleepwalkers. It is a familiar atmosphere in East German cities.

Toronto Mayor Critical of Statement Made

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Nathan Phillips Monday criticized Dr. Frank Underhill, retired of Ottawa's Laurier House, for a comment he made about Toronto.

Dr. Underhill told the Canadian Association of University Teachers Saturday night in Saskatoon that Winnipeg had such a "intellectual and moral level" of Toronto by taking up the damnation doctrine of predestination.

He added that Winnipeg had shown "sweetness" in its attitude to the dismissal of Prof. Harry Crowe from United Church Press, a United Church institution.

Mayor Phillips said Monday: "Dr. Underhill may have had the advantage of an academic background, but education is distinguishable from other good qualities which he apparently lacks.

"If there is one thing about Toronto it is the fact there is tolerance and respect and the spirit of brotherhood in a real sense."

FIDEL CASTRO'S REGIME HAVING MANY TROUBLES

Political, Economic Unrest Prevailed

HAVANA (AP) — Political and economic unrest appears to be growing under Premier Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime.

The defection of a seaman from the revolutionary navy and the flight of five Batista soldiers in the same boat to asylum in Key West, Fla., are signs of the times. In addition a captain in Castro's army reported to have fled to Miami.

The tenseness in the political atmosphere here arises largely from two factors:

Fears that Communists and their supporters are muscling in on Cuba's armed forces and government and the Castro agrarian land program, which critics contend is even more extreme than that proposed by Cuba's Communist party.

DENIALS DISBELIEVED

Despite Castro's denials, many here believe that Communists and those who follow the Communist line are moving into positions of power and importance.

After the two-mile motorcade he went to church youth centre where he shook 225 hands at a party reception and issued a call for a heavy turnout in Thursday's voting.

"Remember, good government requires strong government and good government cannot be carried out without strength in Parliament or the legislature," he said.

At Barrie he defended his government's education program by stating the aggressive teacher recruiting campaign which had met the requirements of a growing school enrolment. In 1958 alone 5,700 new teachers had been as-

Social Security Measures Hit

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada today described social security measures as "pie in the sky" political promises made to attract votes.

R. H. Ely of Toronto said that once established, social security benefits "become permanent built-in features of the government spending pattern, no matter what political party is in power."

"Aside from the staggering financial burden they impose, they tend to the - grave protection would destroy the self-reliance, independent and hard-working characteristics of the Canadian people."

'Sure Have a Lot of People Here Who Want to Throw Up' - Liberace

LONDON (AP) — U.S. TV star Liberace complained in court today that there seems to be an unusual number of weak stomachs among British show critics.

Testifying for the second day in his libel action against a British newspaper, accused of describing his performance as "camp to the point of nausea," Liberace declared: .

"I am sure have a lot of people of who want to throw up here, that's all I can say."

Liberace's comment came after counsel for the defendant Daily Mirror and its columnist William Connor read to the jury several London newspaper criticisms of the American pianist.

An evening news critic was quoted as saying a movie in which Liberace appeared "delighted his fans and sickened the critics."

A Daily Herald reviewer asserted that Liberace's "frers and dimples make me brave."

Another Evening News article said that all the stars were to go through the seaway at one time, it would take three weeks to unravel the resulting confusion.

Herter Gloomy Over Tough Talk By Khrushchev

Gets Copy of Remarks In Hungarian Interview

GENEVA (AP)—Western foreign ministers were reported deeply concerned today over the possibility that their conference with the Russians may collapse in failure soon without agreement either on Berlin or a summit conference.

U.S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville rate the danger of a breakdown greater than does Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of British, high-placed authorities said.

All three still hope that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will get instructions from Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev when he is to make last-minute concessions.

But Herter particularly now is said to be much less hopeful in this respect in view of statements made by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in an interview published in Hungary at the weekend.

KHRUSHCHEV'S REMARKS

"The Soviet Union," Khrushchev said, "will not under any kind of pressure renounce an agreement which would perpetuate the occupation regime in West Berlin."

Khrushchev's interview became an official part of the conference record when Herter asked Gromyko Monday if Gromyko had a copy of the text.

The Soviet minister said the whole thing had been published in Pravda, Communist party newspaper in Moscow. Gromyko then provided a Russian copy which Herter aides translated and distributed among all his advisers.

The Western ministers had been trying for some days, a high authority said, to get direct answers from Gromyko about whether the Russians would back down from their Berlin ultimatum. Gromyko's attitude was that he would not say whether yes or no.

The Khrushchev statement gave an answer which was far more negative than anyone had expected the Western ministers now want to know to what extent he was laying down in fact the policy line which Gromyko must follow in the end of the conference.

TALKING IN MOSCOW

Western diplomats had expected the talks to drag on for conditions before this. Now they believe the new U.S. ambassador to Moscow will be playing up a Soviet-East German peace treaty while signing at some future date.

TRY TO PROD RUSSIANS

In an effort to prod Gromyko into taking a final stand, U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter and France's Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told him today with what official called the "frank bottom" Western terms for a peace agreement on Berlin.

They called for Russia to affirm the rights of the Western powers to supply their troops in Berlin and to protect the economic life of West Berlin against Communist pressures.

Reported told as a key section of any communique summing up the work of the conference provoked an argument with Gromyko.

Armed Police Combing Island For Gunman

AMHERSTBURG (CP) — Police armed with shotguns are combing the wooded amusement park on nearby Boblo Island for a wounded gunman today.

The gunman was one of two masked men with their pistols in the back of a hostage who let loose with a spray of bullets when they walked into a police trap on the island early this morning.

The hostage, Norman Paisley, superintendent of the park, fell to the floor when the shooting started.

Less than an hour later, a suspect was arrested by Amherstburg police as he was opening the door of his car on the main street of the town.

MAY BE ON ISLAND

Police believe one of the gunmen was wounded in the exchange of fire and may still be hiding on the island.

Amherstburg police chief George Hanna said he believed he shot one of the men in the shoulder.

The gunmen's bullets passed between one of the heads of the five officers who were waiting inside the washroom of the island manager's house.

Chief Hanna said one bullet whizzed so close that it split a hair it would have been parted by it. Police had been waiting in the washroom for three hours before the gunmen appeared. They were armed with a shotgun by a phone call.

HOSTAGE BOUND

Superintendent Paisley, who was armed with a revolver, was surprised by the gunmen as he was making his rounds of the amusement park. They bound his hands and took his revolver, then with their guns in his back made him lead them to the manager's home.

Police described the gunmen they believe is still on the island as extremely dangerous with a long record of violence behind him.

He is still armed and is familiar with the island and its environs.

A powerful swimmer, he is known to have swam back and forth from the mainland to the island.

YOUNG DEER SEEN ON REDNERSVILLE RD.

While driving home through Prince Edward County last evening Hilton Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Davidson, 377 Bleecker Avenue, had a little brush with nature. About two miles west of Redneresville, Mrs. Davidson spotted a wounded young deer by the side of the road. The deer took in the situation for a minute and then jumped a fence into an orchard and disappeared. It is believed the deer are becoming quite common in the county to the south of the city.

Over 100 Cubs, Scouts Enjoy Camp Mohawk

Over 100 Cubs, service Scouts, Cub parents and Scouters from Air Force Trenton and Belleville districts of the Boy Scouts Association camped at "Camp Mohawk," Deseronto, on the 30th and 6th of June. The camp was organized by the Trenton District with Mel Pound, the district Cubmaster, acting as Camp Chief.

Leaders attending from Belleville were Ken Bowerman, McCloskey, district Cubmaster; G. Russell and N. Howard, Cubmasters; M. Akey and L. Tripp, assistant Cubmasters.

Leaders from Trenton were: Mel Pound, District Cubmaster; Rolland Moores, Lloyd Mullin, Ron Meiner, Dave Molmewood, Al Coulan, Cubmasters; Bob Hicks, Bill Snooks and Peter Buckminster, assistant Cubmasters. The two service Scouts were Bobby Worrall and Brian Pound of the 2nd Air Force Trenton Troop. George Hainault and Frank Swalle took on the duties of quartermasters for the group of Cubs due to absence of the regular leader.

The Cubs were transported to and from camp by their parents. On reaching camp, the Cubs were assembled in groups of 12, eight from Trenton and four from Belleville which made it ideal for the boys to get acquainted. Leaders were assigned to each group and supervised them throughout the week.

Each group did its own cooking, the menu consisting of cooking utensils (a fry pan, egg turner, a small stove and a six quart pail). The object of this was that it is possible to camp for short periods without elaborate equipment.

Highlights of the program were a campfire with songs and skits followed by a marshmallow roast. This was held on a night, over 100 smoking marshmallows and a sky filled with stars of sparkling eyes. Campfire closed with "taps" and a prayer.

ARTHUR JOHN SPRAGUE

Following an illness of six months, Arthur John Sprague, 173 William Street, died in the Belleville General Hospital on Monday evening. He was born in Ameliasburg township in Prince Edward County, 72 years ago, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sprague and except for the time he lived in Frankford, spent most of his life in Ameliasburg.

As a young man he entered the employ of Ketchum's as a salesman and followed that occupation until he purchased a hardware business in Frankford in 1925 and which he successfully operated until 1956, when he sold the business and retired. While a resident of Frankford, he took an active part in the community life and for a time was a member of the school board. Mr. Sprague was well known among a wide circle of friends in every walk of life. He enjoyed hunting and fishing during his younger years and was a lifelower of the old Nationals, Frankford 1930 ice sweeping Ontario championships in baseball.

He was a member of Bridge Street United Church, and a member of the Wolfe, the Dorcas Meta Johnston, two daughters, Mrs. Hugh (Marie) Dunlop of Trenton, Mrs. Harold (Jean) Carruthers of this city, one sister Mrs. James A. Richardson of Winnipeg, Man., and one brother Percy Sprague of Ameliasburg. Also surviving are three grandchildren.

Resting at his late residence. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

40 Ratepayers Want Trent Road Name Retained

The objection of Trent Road ratepayers to the proposed council action of changing the name of their street to Dundas Street was brought directly to the city council chamber in the form of Mrs. Ponton presented a personal request on the matter.

"We object to re-naming our street Dundas Street," she said. "It has always known as Old Trent Road and should continue to be known by that name."

She said it was only natural that it be known as Trent Road because it leads to Trenton. The use of the name Dundas Street would only lead to confusion.

Alderman Ralph Graham asked what the reaction might be to changing the present Highland Ave. to Trent Road, thus making for one street name from the branch off Bridge Street.

"A good idea," returned Mrs. Ponton.

Approximately 40 ratepayers have signed a petition asking that the Trent Road street name be retained.

Alderman William Argue, chairman of a special committee set up to consider changes in street names where deemed advisable, said there was no wish on the part of the committee to oppose anyone's wishes.

The by-law with respect to the street name change is expected to be before council at their next meeting.

Ontario Losing Tourist Trade Rotarians Told

"The tourist business is everybody's business," stated Dr. J. Lawson Mackie, guest speaker at the weekly Rotary Club dinner meeting yesterday afternoon. The director of public relations for the Canadian Travel Bureau of Tourist Resorts of Ontario, outlined the present condition of the tourist business in Canada and especially Ontario. One of the leading industries in the province-wide and Province-wide is brought $350,000,000 into Canada last year and $300,000,000 into Ontario. There are however, serious deterrents to the development of the industry, these hampering conditions are due to both government, municipal and individual faults.

The speaker listed five major reasons why Ontario has been consistently losing the tourist travel which Canada has enjoyed in the past year this business has fallen off 2 per cent, or to the amount of $25,000,000. The lack of first class accommodations for the tourist is the first reason who want to visit the province, the unrealistic attitude of the individual in the liquor trade, serious inequality of business taxation, the lack of co-operation and competition for the tourist trade; and the large amount of traffic tickets issued by Canadian are indicating to. Dr. Mackie stated that a business which business had maintained its 1953 level the income to the province would be increased by the $150 billion last year instead of $200 million.

Commenting on the various actions taken by his association, Dr. Mackie said that more than some 80 per cent of holidays are taken during the last two weeks of July and the first three weeks of August and the association has been instrumental in the spread the holiday period out to cover between June 15th and September 15th as the sweeping provincial tourist resorts will be able to accommodate the traffic.

PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER DIES

"We give lodging and scenery", explained Dr. Mackie in closing. "The tourist pays dollars. It is up pro every citizen, especially businessmen and professional men to help in the preservation of natural resources, to maintain and improve historical sites, to do good service and to keep their streets clear and orderly."

Canadian cuisine should also be improved and a distinctively Canadian menu should be developed to appeal to tourists and let them know that they are in a different country. The "slovenly condition"—of the washroom facilities in otherwise good restaurants should also be eliminated especially by the speaker. The improvement of these facilities is of very great importance to the hundreds of restaurateurs, who receive the bulk of the tourist dollar, the report stated that many were only receiving about 17 percent of each dollar.

Court Miller introduced the speaker, who was thanked by George Lanning. Harold Mott introduced the guests; Jack Vanover presided at the meeting; Frank Gallagher, Newt Thompson, Allen Ketcheson, Ralph Sloan announced birthdays. Bill Gault gave grace.

Any Health Plan Must Be Paid By High Schools

The city department of health and welfare committee will decide all not to undertake any program in connection with high schools unless the entire cost of such program is covered from the Quinte High Schools Board budget.

A recommendation to this effect was carried by council at its regular meeting Monday evening after defeat of an amendment calling for a partial health program. Council would take in only city students.

The amendment was introduced by Ald. Dr. Forrester who said he would not like to see the idea dropped.

Alderman William Argue opposed the amendment noting that it would be safer to set up a health program in high schools which only students only would be covered.

Alderman Les Digby also argued the amendment claiming the only fair way for the program to be set up would be for the board to bear the full cost.

He said otherwise it would mean city taxpayers would be contributing toward service for students outside the city.

"The city should not be asked to bear any out-of-town costs," he said.

As result of the discussion the amendment was withdrawn.

City debentures totalling $1,400,000 have been sold at a price of 99.30, city council was told last night by the representative of a syndicate of three houses and the Bank of Montreal, authorized last week to sell the debentures.

The debentures, issued to cover construction and other costs in connection with the new Moira Secondary School, and the addition to the Carnegie Public Library, have an interest rate of five and three-quarters percent.

The syndicate which sold the debentures receives a commission of ½ percent which means a net price of 98.30 to be received by the city.

The syndicate was authorized last week to sell the debentures at the meeting of council. A Member firms of the syndicate are: Dominion Securities Corporation Limited, Royal Securities Corporation Limited and Bank of Montreal.

Council was told that bond interest rates had increased by three-quarters of one percent over the past year and were still going higher.

A 38-year-old Niagara Falls, N.Y. resident has been taken into custody by Ontario Provincial Police on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident following the highway death of a young girl at Batawa early yesterday morning.

Instantly killed when struck by a northbound car was Donna Khouda, 13, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Klouda of Batawa. The girl was struck while walking or playing along 33 highway opposite the Batawa Inn where a number of other children had been swimming in the Trent River.

Police said that Clarence Ivan Carey, of 179 8th Street, Niagara Falls, alleged driver of the car which struck the young girl, left the scene and was arrested some time later in Frankford. Reports are that the man had hitch-hiked a ride to Frankford where he was found at an ice cream bar.

The Klouda girl with a number of other children had gone swimming in the Trent River opposite Batawa following school, which was apparently either walking or running along the highway when the accident occurred.

The girl's body was thrown across the highway and into a car driven by Fred Carpenter, Batawa, whose vehicle was stopped by the north entrance to Batawa waiting to enter onto the highway.

The thirteen-year-old child was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia and was the only child. The family has resided in Canada for the past two years.

They left Czechoslovakia when their only child was three. She was carried for miles by her father, when the family left its native country.

Donna was a member of Sacred Heart Church, Batawa the Girl Guides and the Sokol Club.

Ball-Playing On City Streets Brings Protest

Youthful ball-playing enthusiasts who persistently use public streets for their diamond activities were a topic of discussion at city council last night.

Mr. C. H. Sweetman, 59 Gordon Street, said that teenagers consistently used the street in front of his place to play ball to the detriment of hedges, flowers and light bulbs.

Calls to the police served only to put a temporary damper on the ball playing and a day or two later the boys were back again, according to Mr. Sweetman, who asked council if something could be done.

"If the boys have a right to play ball on the street, then surely I should also have some rights", Mr. Sweetman complained.

Mayor Gerald Hyde said he sympathized with Mr. Sweetman but admitted he did not know what could be done other than what had been tried.

He said, however, council would do all it could to discourage the ball playing practice.

Higher Payments to Hospital Legal But Are They Proper?

The question of the propriety of the former city practice of paying full cash for indigent patients at Belleville General Hospital, when under provincial law only 50 percent was to be called for, has been asked in city council.

The question was posed a week or so ago by Alderman William Argue and last night Mayor Gerald Hyde read the reply from the city auditor.

The letter noted payments which the city had made above the required statutory rate and indicated that the payments had been legal.

The letter failed to satisfy Alderman Argue, however. He said he had not been interested in whether the additional payments were legal, but only with whether it had been the proper thing to do.

"I am not satisfied with the reply, all I wanted was a yes or no as to the propriety of the payments", he said.

Mayor's letter indicated that although the city had paid full indigent rate, the hospital had more than repaid the city by assuming hospital debenture charges which normally would have been the city's responsibility.

Commenting, city treasurer Alderman Graham noted that apparently, according to the hospital Act, the Belleville General Hospital budget should be passed by city council annually.

He wondered why this had not been done and suggested council's request that future would pass on the hospital budget or that the Hospital Act should be changed making it unnecessary.

Mayor Hyde wanted to know what the city was going to do with respect to financial administration only and that the city auditor after the current audit of the city's books has been brought up to date.

Mayor Hyde replied that in his opinion there was no need to worry what to do, noting that the department of municipal affairs would direct what was to be done.

Alderman Ralph Graham pointed out, however, that direction from the department would be up to council and city officials.

Alderman Graham noted that

BROWN. — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Thomas J. Brown, who died June 9th, 1958.
We watched him suffer day by day
It caused us sorrow
To see him slowly pine away.
His pain is o'er
His weary hours and days of pain,
His troubled spirits are passed;
But in our aching hearts we know,
He has found sweet rest at last.
And in our home he is remembered
By his son and wife Clifford
And sons and grandchildren Valerie and Rodney.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Western oils slipped back to a 1958-59 index low as the stock market was quiet Monday in light morning trading.

Golds were the lone winners, ahead nearly one-half point.

The 11 a.m. volume was 690,000 shares, compared with Monday's 897,000 at the same hour. Speculatives were quiet.

Among industrials changes were generally less than one point. Aluminium added ¼ at 42¾.

Major mines were mixed in base metals. International Nickel and Consolidated Mining were up small fractions but Noranda lost ½ at 52. Uraniums were steady as Consolidated Denison eased to 13¼.

In golds McIntyre regained its early downward trend, up ½ at 88½. Kerr-Addison added ¼ at 20¾. Hollinger lost ½ at 19¾.

On Money western oils closed at an index low for the year.

Form Committee To Deal With Bus Franchise

A special committee has been set up in city council preparatory to the calling of tenders for the city bus franchise, the contract to commence at the beginning of next year.

Owners of the Rawson Bus Lines, which has operated the city buses for the past 34 years, have reported financial difficulties during the past few years, and routes have been re-arranged in some instances to make for more economical operation. The present bus franchise expires September 31st of this year.

Rawson Bus Lines is one of the few privately-owned bus companies in Ontario operating municipal bus franchise, and unlike bus lines in other centres the fare is one cent increase rates to offset higher operating costs. The English fare in the city is 15 cents single fare with tickets available at two for 25c.

The bus problem in Belleville has been up for discussion in council on several occasions in the past few years and several solutions, ranging from subsidization to municipally operated buses, have been suggested.

The committee will be composed of Mayor Elliott, Ireland, McCabe, Temple and Mayor Hyde.

Council Asked To Cut Number Of Tag Days

A request from the Belleville United Appeal organization for co-operation on the part of city council in reducing the number of tag days was heard by city fathers at their regular meeting Monday evening.

Appearing before the council body was Mr. Donald Williams who asked council to give consideration for a request that no tag days be allowed for dates vacated by organizations which have joined the united appeal.

He said the multiplicity of tag day appeals is known to the Belleville residents and also to district people shopping in the city.

Three organizations. The Sir Julien Canada Club, The Argyll Chapter, had given up their regular tag days, while the Kiwanis Club had also eliminated their annual tag day in favor of the United Appeal, Mr. Williams said.

Flat Water Rate Charges Higher Than on Meters

The case of flat rate versus metered use of water in the city continued to be a topic for discussion at city council last night despite the fact a recommendation covering the matter had been defeated in committee last week.

The defeated recommendation asked that all residential users of water in the city be assessed on the same basis until installation of meters was completed.

Mayor Gerald S. Hyde noted the matter had been fully discussed by the commission before it was decided not to go along with the council suggestion. The council objection was that domestic users were being assessed on a flat rate basis whereas in the newer assessed area, meters had been installed.

The mayor said that test instances investigated had shown that actually users generally paid more under the flat rate system than they would under the flat rate-meter system.

He said four cases had been examined and when charges for both flat or meter rates were taken into consideration the cost for water would have been higher under the metered system.

The Public Utilities Commission has also turned down a parking committee suggestion for a walkway to be provided from the Pinnacle Street parking lot to Front Street. The walkway on PUC property was one proposal thoroughly before Street for motorists leaving their cars on the parking lot.

Mayor Hyde said the Utilities Commission had considered the proposed thoroughly before turning it down by a 2-1 vote.

Profit Was $17,830

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Clare Mapledoram, director of Ontario lands and forests minister, made a $17,830 profit on 1,210 shares of promotion stock in Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company, a report tabled in the legislature Feb. 10 disclosed. Investigation of the company's stock sales brought about his resignation from the cabinet last year.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Monday in an election campaign roundup that Mr. Mapledoram made $600,000 on the stock.

Twelve T-33 Jets Take Off From 6 RD on Trip to France

TRENTON — Twelve T-33 trainer jets took off this morning from the Royal Canadian Air Division Headquarters in France. The flight was under the command of Flight Lieutenant Lloyd E. Hunt of Allenford and Belleville and were, at one time his unit, the Acceptance Flight, ferried the aircraft across the ocean to the continent.

The jets took off in two elements of six, with F/L Hunt with his first and F/L Ian Lambros of Wiarton in command of the second element. Their first stop will be Goose Bay and there they will be met by a ground crew which left Trenton yesterday in a North Star to be waiting to service the jets when they arrive.

Also leaving this morning was a second North Star with the remainder of the ground crew which will service the jets to their destination. The ground crew now in Goose Bay will return to Trenton tomorrow.

Original plans called for the flight to fly in three elements of four planes each with F/L H. Elliott of Hamilton in charge of the third element. F/L Hunt decided to start out with only six aircraft because a change over to three during the trip.

ARRIVE THURSDAY

They expect to arrive in France on Thursday and will be away for a total of 10 days if all goes according to plan. Taking three hours to get to Goose Bay they will refuel the jets will be two and one half hours in flight to the next stop, Sondestron in Greenland. From there it will take them two hours to reach Fox Harbour, Iceland, and then two hours to Prestwick, Scotland.

From Scotland one and a half hours will see them at their destination in Metz, France, where No. 1 Fighter Wing is stationed.

After a short stay in France with the jets they will be flown to Trenton via the North Star which will carry the ground crew back.

All-day yesterday final preparations for the flight were held at Ferry Flight hangar and the pilots and crews on the hop making last minute checks and adjustments.

BRIEFINGS HELD

During the afternoon special briefings were held and during one of these the pilots were introduced to the "Dog Suit" which each will wear during the flight in case they are downed over the water. The suits have also been used in the Atlantic regions of the RCAF but this is the first they have been seen or worn out in Trenton. The suit is water tight and will stay so long enough to enable a pilot to get his survival kit, which contains a rubber boat, into operation.

The pilot, will sit on a 10-pound summer survival kit which contains all the things necessary to keep him alive in the event of ejection. It also contains smoke and fire flares and a portable sending and receiving set to signal rescue craft, if necessary.

A total of 21 persons will be flying over in the 12 T-33 and 28 will be in the ground crew.

SEAMEN STRIKE

ROME (Reuters)—Union leaders say Monday night called out Italy's 100,000 merchant seamen on an indefinite strike and Italian ships due to sail during the night were hailed in port. The strike was called after the breakdown of Government-sponsored

Flight Lieutenant Lloyd E. Hunt of Allenford, Ont., and now living in Belleville, points to the most northerly point the "Silver Dozen" will reach on their flight to Air Division in France. Ballet School Pupils Perform In Drill Hall

TRENTON — The Drill Hall at the RCAF Station Trenton was crowded to capacity on Saturday evening with parents and friends watched exquisite dancing of the Rhoda Bain School of Ballet. The event was arranged under the auspices of the Broadcast Home and School Association.

Leading off the evening's entertainment were two "Les Paisneurs," when the skating ballet steps were adapted for the fairylike grace of B. Bain, K. Johnston, J. Wickins, S. Galvin, G. Farcas, G. Tremblay, K. Van Rhyn, J. Pfaff, R. Bain, and J. Black.

Five "Littles" then performed the Petite Ballerinas, followed by the "Pied Piper," with Judy Ball in the title part, and J. Kolb, D. Dupuis, E. Crich, D. Guerin, A. Gulfoyle, D. Hould and P. Easton as the children.

The "Four Seasons" then were displayed, with B. A. Craig as "Frost," and C. Bergin, G. Earnshaw and S. Patrie as "Raindrops." J. Forbell and J. A. Paine as "Sun and Rain," and J. Brooks and D. Schaufele as "Autumn Leaves." M. C. Andrews and L. Latreille as "Frost," and C. Bergin, G. Earnshaw and S. Patrie as "Raindrops."

Mrs. Bain's niece, Janet Cunillic, of Colborne, who was billed as "Raindrop," followed by the "Pied Piper," with Judy Ball in the title part, and J. Kolb, D. Dupuis, E. Crich, D. Guerin, A. Gulfoyle, D. Hould and P. Easton as the children.

The "Four Seasons" then were displayed, with B. A. Craig as "Frost," and C. Bergin, G. Earnshaw and S. Patrie as "Raindrops." J. Forbell and J. A. Paine as "Sun and Rain," and J. Brooks and D. Schaufele as "Autumn Leaves." M. C. Andrews and L. Latreille as "Frost," and C. Bergin, G. Earnshaw and S. Patrie as "Raindrops."

Mrs. Bain's niece, Janet Cunillic, of Colborne, who was billed as "Raindrop," followed by a lively tarantelle Gipsy dance by the ten-year-old gropsy. A Spanish dance by the older girls, R. Bain, J. Pfaff, K. Van Rhyn, Trumley and K. Van Rhyn was followed by solos and first-year pupils J. Brooks, S. Patrie, Paine and M. Aver danced the "Bubble Dance" and the Nutcracker suite accompanied by "Bubes in the Wood," with B. Trumley and C. Diamond as the Babes, and K. D. Liggins as the Fairy with other parts danced by the first and second-year pupils.

"Busy Bees," a lively dance, was followed by "Serenity Rain and Suzanne Galvin in "Divertissement," with a polka following. Dorothy Bain danced the "Moth and the Flame"-most effectively, which was followed by "White Ponies," to circus music, and Irish Jig, by Janet Bain. Rosemary Bain as the "Swan Queen," accompanied by "Swan Lake" other ballerinas danced "Swan Lake" with great aplomb.

Dancers taking part in this also included K. Nobban and P. Vout.

ANCIENT DENTISTRY

Artificial teeth made of bone or even wood have been found in Egyptian tombs from centuries before Christ.

Cpl. J. C. Rogers of Lloydminister, Alta., and Trenton, director of the special "Dip Suits" the pilots will wear as they cross the Atlantic Ocean in "Operation Silver Dozen" from Trenton to Air Division in France. The suits are specially designed to keep the pilot afloat for enough time to get his dinghy inflated and into operation. This is the first time the pilots of Acceptance and Ferry Command have used these suits. Cpl. Rogers, a safety equipment technician, explained the use of the suit to the pilots before the flight yesterday. (National Defence Photo)

Marmora St. H-S Assoc. Holds Tea, Bake Sale

TRENTON—A pleasing event at Marmora St. School for the combined "Open House" so the parents could see the students' work and for a tea and baking sale. The tea and sale was in the auditorium while the students' work displayed in the various downstairs rooms, being teachers in attendance.

Mrs. V. J. Bigwood was general convener and welcomed the guests to the tea.

The tea room was under the supervision of Mrs. Jack Ross, assisted by Mrs. K. Blackford, Mrs. D. Steiling, Mrs. J. Greer, Mrs. B. Nelson, Mrs. J. Page, Mrs. Jim Parkey, Mrs. Neil Inman, Mrs. Earl Sprague and Mrs. Jack Taylor.

The abundant supply of tea, coffee, sandwiches and cake from the kitchen was under the convenership of Mrs. Jack Ross, G. McGregor, Mrs. W. McLaren, Mrs. Lloyd Bird.

The home-baking was arranged and sold by Mrs. F. Hamilton, assisted by Mrs. Sandford and K. Hicks.

The younger guests soon found the candy table which was under the care of Mrs. F. Jolley and Mrs. R. Hall.

CAKE DECORATING

Mr. McGregor was kept busy, decorating six lovely cakes, which kept for these being sold by Mrs. M. Marchese. The lucky winners were Mrs. Nelson, Marmora, G. Baker, Miss Susan Knack, Mrs. Inman, Miss Judith Wilson and Richard Knack.

A beautiful crocheted cushion, donated by Mrs. Donaldson for a door prize, was won by Miss Sheila Westfall. The draw for these prizes was conducted by Mrs. Bigwood, assisted by Mr. Nelson, the school principal.

Catering to the tea-cup reading fraternity was Mrs. Frank Sherbert, who never seemed to lack customers.

The affair was well patronized by parents and friends, and president L. Hamilton reported approximately 150 persons purchased tickets at the door.

MINIMUM SENTENCES

CARMEL, N.Y. (AP) — Two New York men who pleaded guilty in the shooting of a deputy game warden last June, 17, after he caught them poaching were given minimum sentences Monday. Marino Anzalone, 29 who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder was sentenced to 20 years to life imprisonment. Mario Sesta, 18, who pleaded guilty to first-degree manslaughter, was sentenced to 5 to 15 years.

Plaque Unveiled to Mark 'White Chapel' as Historic Church Site in P.E. County

PICTON — Before a crowd which filled the historic White Chapel and overflowed on the sun-splashed lawn, the 150th anniversary service was held last Sunday afternoon. Preacher was Rev. E. Crossley Hunter, D.D., of Picton.

Prior to the service a plaque was unveiled by Judge Conger to mark this old Methodist chapel as an historic site.

Judge Gerald Smith of Napanee, chairman of Lennox Historical Society, gave a brief resume of the history of the church, stating that while the old church at Hay Bay had been erected in 1792, the White Chapel held the distinction of being the oldest Methodist chapel used for the greatest number of years as a place of worship. The land was donated by Stephen Conger, who came from New Jersey. The names of the first trustees as Stephen Conger, Nehemiah Wilkins, Henry Johnson, Abraham VanBlaricom, James Wilson and Casparus VanDusen.

Dr. W. Jury of the University of Western Ontario, representing the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario, thanked the society for the dedication of the Department of Travel and Publicity, brought greetings from the premier, Hon. Brian Cathcart, and the board. The dedication ceremony was an opportunity to pay deserved tribute to the pioneers," he said.

WELCOMED AS GUEST

Mayor H. J. McFarland, Picton, in extending the town's welcome, said he could not realize the hardships the pioneers experienced in settling this new country. However, the erection of the chapel at one hundred and fifty years ago was a contrast to today's construction prices, and only by donations of time and money and the use of the local Conger mill had its erection been possible.

Wardens of Prince Edward County, Ern Ward, extended the county's welcome and paid special words of praise for those who had been responsible for the upkeep of the chapel and cemetery.

Greetings from Belleville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada were brought by Rev. Howard Beare of Belleville, with the chairman. He compared the erection of the plaque with those by Joshua so that those who passed by would ask "What meaneth these stones?" which would be told 'here believers in God came and worshipped."

Rev. F. J. Whiteley, minister of the Bloomfield charge, who presided, paid special tribute to the chapel trustees, Carl Handley, Reginald Hubbs, Mrs. Gertrude Hyde, Nathan Jones and Donald Warner, and to Mrs. Addison for a trowel which was on display, brought by a direct descendant of Stephen Conger, Ralph Conger of Ottawa. This trowel had been used 150 years ago to lay the mortar in the foundation of the chapel.

Program Chairman

For the unveiling, Norris Whitney, M.P.P., was assisted by Miss Alice Conger, great-great daughter of Stephen Conger, pioneer. Another great-great-granddaughter of Ottawa, Miss Alice Conger, Picton, was unable to attend. They were given the honor of unveiling the plaque which is held by a standard, surmounted by both briefly spoke of the pleasure they had in participating in the ceremony. Mr. Whitney pointed out that though the settlement commenced with the establishment of new homes by the Loyalists, one of the first things they did was to build a church. They built well, as time proved.

Rev. A. G. Reynolds, D.D., archivist of the United Church of Canada, gave the dedicatory prayer, and the singing was led by the choir of the National Anthem.

Inscription on the plaque reads: "The White Chapel 1809. This church, formerly known as Conger's Chapel, was built on land donated by Stephen Conger, a Loyalist from New Jersey, who had settled with his family in Hallowell township in 1787. Consecrated in 1809, it was the first Methodist Church in Prince Edward County and one of the earliest in Upper Canada. Built by William Moore and financed by public subscription, it was maintained as a place of worship for a longer period than any other church of Methodist origin in Ontario."

The 150th anniversary service followed, with basket-ball Brownies brightening the interior of the edifice, whose walls are covered with many historical documents. Seated in the high pulpit, reached by stairs, with a sounding board overhead, was Rev. Dr. Whitley who conducted the service and read Scripture. The choir of Picton United Church with A. A. Benvie at the organ gave two anthems, and led in the singing of hymns.

Referring to the cemetery which surrounds the chapel, Rev. Crossley Hunter felt that this was holy ground and the spirits of the faithful were present on this memorable and historic occasion. Such a story they could tell, he exclaimed, as he compared the past with the present — today's smiling, well-tilled fields with the forest primeval; paved highways with trails in the bush; modern and appliances with log cabins; spacious and modernly equipped churches with meeting houses which they did not feel dignified with the name of church. A thousand and changes in every aspect of life.

The speaker developed his theme from Malachi: "sound out the clarion witness. I am the Lord. I change not." And from Hebrews 'Jesus Christ the same yesterday and today and forever.' This has held true in spite of all modern advancements and improvements. "No miracle of the Old Testament would seem greater today," he declared "if those pioneers could come back" said Dr. Hunter. "Truth does not change and the love and love of God are unchanging. If we have the true, unchanged power of God, if we fear war, if we believe we have tried some way other than God's way.

"If the pioneers could come back they would say 'God is good. He brought us to this good land. Here we cleared fields and built homes.' Their graves are largely forgotten but not what they did. Christ's claim. You be faithful in your generation as we were in our generation', concluded Dr. Hunter.

Vote Heavier At Advance Polls In This City

The number of votes cast in advance polls in Belleville was the highest in the last provincial election but the total votes cast was about the same, it was reported Monday by the returning officer for West Hastings. The number of votes cast was 1634.

In East Hastings the returning officer reported the total votes cast in the advance poll was 83.

In Belleville 103 votes were cast in advance polls for the riding in Frankford and at Marmora and 11 at Bancroft. Eight ballots were cast at Trenton, this figure being down from the last election.

MISSING THE BUS

There is something to be said for missing the bus. It leaves one standing on the street with nothing to do but to use the eyes, ears and imagination. The catch may be larger, and vastly more varied, than what was missed.

There is, for instance, the glimpse of the buxom brunette wearing purple lips. On her, surprisingly enough, they look good. Perhaps this compares them with the orange lips beneath the lighter orange of the hair and the green of the eye-shadow of a baby-sized blonde. The orange looked good, too. But what did women's lips look like before they were all painted? Memory searches and fails to provide a conclusive answer. Surely, though, Nature was not so kind in varying the natural coloring of the lips to match the type of the wearer. And why lips, anyway? What happened that Nature should suddenly run short of the standard-colored skin and leave, on human beings, two rolls looking like uncovered flesh, not even properly tucked in?

A glance in a store window reveals a ticket on a pair of trousers, "Dry-cleaning is recommended." Now nobody could object to the suggestion that it is seemly to clean a pair of pants occasionally. At the same time, what a soothing way to intimate that if you wash the dagned things they'll shrink into knee-pants.

Back go the eyes to the sidewalk but nothing is happening. Ah, yes there is, here are a couple, boy and girl, not hand-in-hand. As one wonders why they quarrelled, their hands seek each other. The day is warm. A hand can get uncomfortably hot and sticky. Has today's generation ever tried walking arm in arm? Do these young things not know that, despite the irrefutable evidence to the contrary which could be deduced by any mathematician by a careful analysis of their respective shapes, it is possible, in an arm-in-arm position, for a boy and girl to ambulate and still maintain constant contact from shoulder to knee? Why be satisfied with the touch of a sweaty hand? Surely, though, in secluded lanes, the pose would be different. Lovers must still know that a man's arm was designed to fit a woman's waist.

Here is a long line of children crossing the street, in orderly fashion. There is something eerie about the procession. What can it be? And then a gesturing hand brings revelation. These are children from the Ontario School for the Deaf and the strangeness we have sensed is the lack of the normal chatter and laughter. Is that absence of sound the explanation for their orderliness? Is sound the basic ingredient of all rowdiness, and if so could we—

Here comes the bus.

LEARNING IN A STRAIT-JACKET

Dean J. F. Leddy of the University of Saskatchewan, addressing the members of the Canadian Association of Physicists at Saskatoon on Friday, stated he did not think that Canadians had much, if anything, to learn from the educational systems, as such, of totalitarian countries.

". . . . the visitor," he said, "perceives at once that higher education is assigned a top priority in the national effort . . . You sense the drive and confidence in these universities. Education is regarded as the special honor and responsibility in strengthening the power of the state, and you cannot miss the fact that they are in the full main stream of national life."

Why, then, have they little or nothing to teach us?

"You understand quite well that they are chained to a doctrinaire system of thought, and are strictly obedient to the imposed standards of the state, and you are saddened that in many subjects so much intellectual effort is doomed to frustration or to stop short of its logical conclusions. On these grounds one can, and should, discount some of the probable long term benefits of the university program in Communist countries."

Here, then, we come to the crux of the question; which is stronger, education or political faith? Many observers have thought that the very stress which the Communists are putting on education would inevitably, in time, alter the structure of the Communist state. Dr. Leddy, though, seems to think that the strait-jacket imposed by political dogma is too strong to be broken by the spirit of learning. Only the years will provide the answer.

WHEN THEY'RE WELL

By EDGAR A. GUEST

When the little tots are well
Then the whole wide world's all right,
Just as though some magic spell
Filled the day with colors bright.
Troubles ebbe and troubles go,
Then they're easy to dispel;
Nothing really causes woe
When the little tots are well.

When the little tots are ill
There's no joy that counts worth while
All the world seems standing still;
It never sacrifice is smile.
Blessings come and blessing go,
But our lives they do not fill;
There's no joy that's good to know
When the little tots are ill.

Two Outlooks Illustrated

Freedom and Union

An American UN official once confided to a friend what he called a precious experience in the difference between American and European mentality.

It happened when he was driving a French and an American colleague across the George Washington bridge which links New Jersey and New York.

Like everyone else, the American paid his toll. The Frenchman paid his toll, flashed four bits out of his pocket, and handed them over to the toll taker.

"What are you doing?" the Frenchman inquired, when upon the UN official explained that this being a toll bridge he was paying for the cost of the right to use it. The Frenchman thought.

And where is the next bridge?" he asked.

There will be the Holland Tunnel which passes under the Hudson River," was told.

"And do you have to pay there?"

"Yes, 50 cents."

"Is there no way of crossing the river by car, no bridges, no tunnels?" the Frenchman pressed the issue.

When he was told that such was the case the visitor from overseas was astounded.

"Every person should have the right to use a river in his country without being subjected to payment," he insisted with vehemence. "It is unbearable that on the sanctity of all freedoms including that of movement.

"Suppose a man needs to have half a dollar in his pocket. Does that mean that by the strength of law he is to be on one side of the river?" he inclined his head.

"It is supposed that a man who has a car has also enough money to pay the contract toll charges," interjected the American.

"That is utterly beside the point. What counts is the question of principle," he said.

"What counts is that bridges must be built and authorities willing to pay for the privilege of speech communication," the American insisted.

And so the debate went on until the weekend visitor UN Headquarters, but it was never settled. To the last the man from France held out for the supremacy of abstract concepts, without which, he said, there can be neither order in the outside world nor peace in one's mind.

No less adamantly the American stuck to what was for that practicability and positive achievements to be the prime attick of conduct if one desires to cope with the many complex problems of life.

"It was a miniature UN session," the UN official told a friend. "You would be surprised how often controversies among nations are made of this kind of imponderable stuff rather than of violations of real interests."

Art Prices Sky-Rocket

New York Herald Tribune

When one of Bablo Picasso's paintings sold last week for $154,000, the highest price ever paid for the work of a living artist, and a Renoir went for another $116,000, an all-time high for one painting.

Until that event, we had been told, during the 1957 auction here in New York of the Georges Lurcy collection, sixty-five modern French paintings sold for $1,768,500, and the antiques and a few moderns were surprised even the experts. An eighteenth-century miniature, for instance, which was worth $2,000 in 1941, brought $89,000 in 1957. The Lurcy sale, the last fall, at Christie's in London, a small group of impressive table sold for $99,960.

Like all markets, of course, the art market has its ups and as its ups. According to a financial bulletin from French & Co., which will periodically analyze the trends, poor Courbet and Degas sank to new lows of around $500 last year. But the venetians are on the rise and Corot, who now increased 600 percent to $200,000 in a great decade, and certain modern painters have become blue-chip stocks overnight, among them Utrillo one. In 1946 you could get one of his canvases for $10; now they go for $3,000.

To own great works of art has always been a privilege of monarchs and millionaires. Obviously there are more millionaires today than at any other period of art. Or perhaps it is that investors who normally play the stock market are scared by Wall Street's giddy climb, and rather than see their profits on paper evaporate in a sudden crash, prefer to put their money in something that they can see in black and white — and all the colors of a painter's palette.

Small Farms Are Doomed

Financial Post

Protect and preserve the small farm as a national economic unit, urges the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, in a brief to the Senate committee on land use.

It is a plan which is sure to raise a lot of sympathy. But before too many tears are shed, the CFA should look at the facts and tell the public exactly what is a small farm, how it proposes to preserve it and at what cost.

If the CFA has in mind the old 100-acre mixed farm unit of eastern Canada, or the somewhat larger grain farms of the prairies, then it might as well dry its eyes and start thinking about another tough job.

There is about as much chance of these surviving as there was of the Canadian Pacific Railway store or the livery stable of a previous generation.

Much as we may regret it, agriculture, like every other industry, is changing. What was big enough and good enough a century ago is not nearly big enough or good enough today.

Moreover, wherever a government attempts to keep alive inefficient, fixed prices and other schemes to keep the inevitable trend toward larger farm units, toward more mechanization and toward greater efficiency, the lows who didn't need the aid have the start of their benefit and the little fellows have continued to sell out.

If the CFA wants to preserve a few pioneer farms as a tourist and historical attraction, like Williamsburg that might be an excellent and not-too-expensive idea. But it is not up to the hundreds of Rockefellers to attempt that sort of thing in agriculture and on a national scale.

Subsidizing marginal farms has not helped Britain or any part of the U.S. where only a small proportion of the people are farmers and agriculture is only one of a score of major industries.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

CAN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT IT?

Some time ago I saw the picture of greyhounds racing. he dogs were all muzzled.

But when you think about it for a moment, isn't how could it be otherwise." If they did not muzzle the animals, there would be a good sized dog fight going on almost all the time the race began. The dogs would turn from running and begin tearing at each other.

How true this is of human life also. Leave the human race to its own devices and what does it do? It goes to war. Throughout human history there have been only a few times when the human race has been at peace. How we have fashioned a big muzzle known as the United Nations. This kind of a muzzle is better than no muzzle it will probably never prove very effective. We will not be kept from war by fear. Economic considerations will cause us to think twice before girding up our loins for battle.

But down in the bottom of its heart the human race is not the same as usual. This does not mean that people are basically bad. People are basically good but they are easily misled. They can be led by the demagogues, the tyrants of fear and persuaded to fight at their neighbor's throat. And this they will do a deferred war or a police action.

To get a satisfactory race run, the owners have to muzzle their greyhounds. A good suggestion and a penetrating commentary not only on dogs but on people. But it is not to be taken into consideration. The muzzle is "no war."

CLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 8th, 1939

Mr. Arthur (Dutch) Turner, Mrs. Turner and Mrs. James H. Turney, Forin Street, leaves on Saturday for Nicaragua, Central America, where he will remain for two years as chemist for the La Luz Mines.

Yesterday's ideal weather made a splendid success of the opening social event of the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club. The visitors were welcomed by Mrs. J. J. O'Connor, president. The winning rink was that of Mrs. C. McIntosh, Mrs. S. Correll and Mrs. C. Hyde (skip), while the prize for low score was won by the rink of Mrs. Charlesworth, Mrs. E. Sandercock and Mrs. J. J. O'Connor (skip). Mrs. R. A. Backus was convener of the bridge and prizes were won by Mrs. Backus and Mrs. A. Boynton. Mrs. Walter Robins was convener of the tea and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Earl Fry, Mrs. Charles Bishop and Mrs. Reginald Rowe.

Mrs. A. Jones Sr., of Crookston, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fox, Donald Street.

Mrs. Frank Carlisle, of Plainfield, and Mrs. Fred Garrison of Corbyville, left on Thursday by motor for Nanoda, Que.

Mr. Walter Hilton, who is taking the chemistry course, faculty of Arts, Western University, has been awarded the Leonard Foundation scholarship valued at two hundred dollars.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Mildred Gift, Charles Street, on graduating from Women's College Hospital, Toronto.

Mrs. A. G. Sinclair, Saskatoon, Sask., is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hobson, Trent Road.

Civic Holiday will be observed this year on August 4.

Dr. Oshy, Royal Professor at Oxford University, England, spent last evening in the city, the guest of his old college friend, Inc. F. Milburn, M.A., on Charles Street.

Mr. T. S. Tait of Campbellford was in town today.

Elephants Like Sprees

From Richard Carrington's "Elephants in the Wild"

It has often been remarked that captive elephants have a passion for strong drink.

Nearly every elephant worth his salt will knock back a gallon of arrack (a fiery distillation of a cricket team after a thirsty match, said Charles Dickens in "The Ivory King," mentions an elephant that could draw a cork from a bottle of claret and drink the contents without spilling a drop.

Liquor of this quality is seldom available to elephants in the wild, but they show the most human enjoyment for such substitutes as they can obtain.

An example of the elephants craving for alcohol is quoted by the Hon. W. H. Drummond in his book, "The Large Game and Natural History of South and Southeast Africa."

"The time of the elephants' arrival in the country from Pongolor northward is simultaneous with the ripening of the fruit of the umganu tree, of which they are inordinately fond, and doubtless come in search of.

"This fruit is capable of being made into a strong intoxicating drink, and the elephants after eating it, become quite tipsy, staggering about, playing huge antics, screaming so as to be heard miles off and not seldom having tremendous fights."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

If you happen to notice a certain lofty look about those of us who are seventy years old and up, you must understand that we are entitled to a measure of self-congratulation. We have lived through the greatest era in the history of progress.

Nothing you young squirts of forty and five can see in your time can equal what we have seen. And as for the young people!

When we came on this earth, telephone had just been introduced, and only the privileged possessed it. It was a world without. Little music, our grandfigured, could be added to the marvels of human accomplishment.

There were no motor cars. All our world was pulled by horses, or else steam engines. There was no aeroplane. Or flying, it was for the birds. Horse cars ambled on our streets. At eventide, a man with a match went from street lamp to street lamp, lighting the gas every half block. Local lunatics were talking of lighting our streets at each intersection with electricity, which landed up by pulleys. Electric lights! What fantasy.

Yee, man, we who are seventy have spanned the wondrous years from horse buggy to space travel. Even if you young punks get to be a hundred you will never see the gigantic jump we have seen.

Why, man, when we were little, the butcher rilled the cow right in his own back yard.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

JAUNDICE ISN'T A DIRE ASS — ITS A SYMPTOM

"Dear Dr. Molner: For many years I've noticed the whites of my eyes have been yellowish. When I was 30, I was quite sick with yellow jaundice. Is there anything I can do or use to clear up this yellow? I feel my complexion is serious enough to take up the valuable time of a doctor. — Mrs. H. M. K.

This yellowish appearance is jaundice — and I am quite positive about this because, you see, "jaundice" isn't a disease. It is a symptom. The yellow coloring is a sign of something else that has gone wrong.

Some years ago we used to speak of "jaundice" as a disease because we didn't then know as much about it as we do now. There are several causes of the yellowing known as jaundice.

They include trouble with the liver, the gall bladder (which is connecting ducts), the pancreas and certain blood disorders.

The liver cells bile, a most useful substance. It helps digestion. The bile passes into the intestine — but some of it goes by way of the gall bladder which becomes a reservoir, holding it until we need it.

If the bile does not move into the required place, then it goes somewhere else — into the blood. And the blood deposits it in the tissues, skin, eyes, etc. And the color is yellow. There are various degrees and ways that may be involved: Hepatitis (liver disease), inflamed gall bladder, gall stones obstructing the ducts, cancer (which may get some of the bile). Mr. H. K.'s trouble of course), cysts or tumors in the pancreas which are large, enough to interfere with the flow of bile.

SOME BLOOD DISORDERS

Likewise there are certain blood disorders featured by excessive destruction of blood cells (hemolytic anemia) which result in large quantities of pigment, or coloring matter, being left over. This yellow tinging.

Now in Mrs. H. M. K's case, she has had her trouble for years. It is a "wild jaundice". She doesn't tell us ill, Well, perhaps this to happen over long periods, depending upon the nature of the blood disorders. In the other situations I mentioned, the distress is usually severe and comes on soon done about it.

However, Mrs. H. M. K. is concerned about the yellow color. There is no treatment for the jaundice itself. First you have to tackle the cause, and that will require examination and some chemical testing.

There is one other possibility, especially in a case that has lingered on for years. That is carcinoma — not related to "jaundice" at all, except in the color. Carcinoma, not very common, is a situation in which the yellow coloring matter of some foods (carotene, found in carrots, squash, etc.) is not properly handled by the body. The color piles up in the blood, and finally is deposited in the tissues so one acquires the yellow hue. In this condition, the palms of the hands are especially yellow.

Anyway, they have been the principal causes of such yellowing, and I think Mrs. H. M. K. would do well to get busy and have the true causes ascertained. In most of the causes I've mentioned, the yellow color soon disappears, once the basic trouble is corrected.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Are getting the teeth at night, and picking the nose a sign of worms? My 5-year-old is a very nervous child, but I have never found any sign of worms. Mrs. H. M.

The gritting and picking are signs of nervousness or irritation — often brought on by pinworms. But these are not necessarily signs of worms. The nervousness might indicate worms. This may not be much of a clue for you, but consider it.

Forest Hour Good Therapy

Halifax Chronicle - Herald

It would be well if all men would take an hour and walk a favorite woodland. The world is large and taut; in elbow-rubbing friction much of the day is accomplished. Harsh sounds and rushed competition engender frayed nerves. There is, to be sure, a grandeur in the mad purposes behind the 20th Century scene. There is a thrilling and awakening symphony in the meaningful noise of factory and shop.

But, because of the intensity of the drive that has given us the standard of living we have, has come when we must learn to live with the society we have evolved. One secret of living in a whirling, rushing world is to get away by ourselves occasion and recharge batteries of heart and soul in the peace of Nature.

If the world is too much with you and you think you are wasting your power by getting and spending, try the therapy of a forest hour. There is a harvest not count in coin of the realm.

PAINT UP!

It is surprising what a change paint makes, when applied in an intelligent manner. It is a real source of insurance. People stop and admire the home that is well painted and attractive.

"The time of the elephants' arrival in the country from Pongolor northward is simultaneous with the ripening of the fruit of the umganu tree, of which they are inordinately fond, and doubtless come in search of.

"This fruit is capable of being made into a strong intoxicating drink, and the elephants after eating it, become quite tipsy, staggering about, playing huge antics, screaming so as to be heard miles off and not seldom having tremendous fights."

Paint is a preserver. It is the Savings Bank of our homes. We love the things we make immediate use of, and that includes our homes inside and out — gives us a great satisfaction when we give to them liberal care, and especially paint care.

Paint is a great outdoor painter. All her colorings are made in the earth and then scattered everywhere, in the colorings of flowers, trees, the coats of birds, and faces of babies. These need no man-made paint. Nature, who colors the paints from the soil of things, does not intend that the white picket or a mere violet dancing in the slopes of the hills. I walked in a meadow with its white sorrel, a violet dancing in the slopes of the hills. I walked in a meadow with its white sorrel scraper this week that was so full of blue you could easily imagine a night of snow might have slept there.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

The graduating class of 1959 makes its exit from the chapel of Albert College wherein convocation ceremonies were held. The bright sunlight presented a lovely scene with the white of the girls' dresses standing out from the ivy-traced grey stone building and the green grass.

Pictured are a few of the top students of Albert College who received recognition at their annual convocation ceremonies yesterday afternoon. From the left: Anne Coffeng of Toronto, who received the Albert Women's Guild Medal for highest resident girl's scholastic and school life standing; Tully Chambers of Quebec City, recipient of the Howard Purchase Memorial Award for the finest contribution to residential life; Elizabeth Jane Whiting of Hazelton, B.C., presented with the Howard award as finest representative lady student, and Kenneth Robert Sawyer of Jessie B. Tulte Trophy for the finest contribution to residential life (girls).

Albert Convocation Held In Brilliant June Weather, Diplomas, Awards Given

By Gladys Ward

Convocation day at Albert College immediately brings to mind a green and gold picture of ivied walls, smooth lawns and flowerbeds, and over all the sunshine of a June day. Add to the picture the procession with girl students in long white dresses with lace berths collars and gauntlets, carrying nosegays of rosebuds and sweetpeas; the young men in navy blazers, grey flannels and school tie; the faculty members wearing gowns and hoods for their various degrees, and all the visitors in happy mood and that was the scene on Monday afternoon for the 102nd Convocation exercises at Memorial Chapel.

Picture taking has become an increasingly important feature of the day, and each year the visitors all world wide make elaborate and expensive equipment. The commencement snapshot of the individual appears to be a thing of the past and is superceded by movies and colored slides. The students posed for the annual panoramic picture on the chapel steps before the service.

The academic procession entered to the organ and piano music of "March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn played by Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Boyce. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Frank Whiteley, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery.

In his remarks to the assembly, Principal A. E. MacKenzie who presided, hoped that the parents would enjoy the afternoon's proceedings. The Board of Governors was considering the suggestion that Albert should become a Junior College or even a Liberal Arts college, possibly in affiliation with Queen's University. The executive of the Board had had a busy year with several important decisions to be made in relation to the ongoing work of the school, teachers' salaries, and setting the fee schedule for the coming year. The school is dependent on its fees for about 98% of its annual income.

Dr. MacKenzie announced a scholarship of $200 to be awarded to the student from Albert College entering Queen's University in Arts, who is a candidate for the ministry, and who has the highest academic standing among candidates from the school entering Queen's in addition a bursary of $100 will be offered to other candidates entering Queen's in Arts, which will be, tenable throughout the course in Arts. Although no one was eligible for the award it was hoped that there would be someone in the years ahead.

ENDOWMENT RECEIVED

The principal also acknowledged the receipt of a legacy from the estate of the late Mr. Mackenzie Robertson of $10,000. By resolution of the board this sum was placed in an endowment fund, with a scholarship to be administered annually in memorial to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson.

Dr. MacKenzie announced some changes in the teaching staff, the first one of which was cancies filled. In a real sense Albert College was at a crossroad. In some respects the immediate future looked very bright with a larger number enrolled than ever before in its history. Although there were serious difficulties to be overcome, with the interest and support of the board, the alumni, students and parents they were hopeful.

"To this year's graduates I extend sincere congratulations," said Dr. MacKenzie. "I remind you that in a very real sense the reputation of our College is in your hands. You are the product of the school, and we hope that you will consider it your responsibility to represent, at their highest and best, the ideals for which this college stands."

The last act of flowers at the front of the hall was a gift, presented in the memory of the late Jack Ackerman by his friends.

The graduation class presented the school with the gift of a silver coffee and tea service to complete the set with the silver tray which was given by last year's class. President of the class Nancy Smith and vice-president Garry Countess made the presidentation to Principal MacKenzie.

The Valedictory address was given by Miss Thomas May Goodwin, who spoke for the class and that you are the ones to do it.

"For generations our fathers have been saying it, and these dogs have had their day. We may find evidence of confusion, and things to clean up. It is a period of rapid change with so many new and exciting things happening that it is difficult to keep up with it. The horse and buggy trips of the last generation have given way to the speed of jet planes. There is a lot of words which are commonplace today which were unknown a generation ago, such as sound barrier, split level house, daccron, food freezer, electric typewriter, foam rubber, drive-in movies, automatic transmission, United Nations, Polaroid cameras, atomic bombs and quite a few others.

LIFE MORE COMPLEX

"Life is going to become more complex. What happens in the face-off concern of the world has more significance than what happened in China twenty-five years ago. Graduation does not mean the end of examinations, life is more than ever full of questions that demand answers. School is just a preliminary, most important is the cultivation of a frame of mind that will enable you to tackle problems that require new answers.

"We have seen in our time a change from inner-directed people who were self-propelled to a generation that is other-directed. The mature person is unconcerned, but yet ready to sympathize and react to the nature of others. At Albert College you have begun to determine the nature of the kind of answers you will give.

"Scientists give us some terrifying figures from the nuclear action. While it is true that it has caused great devastation and is a thousand times more powerful today than when it was first used, yet the scientists tell us this is not the most significant thing to know. It is the source of power, heat and energy that the world needs today. It has the power of healing. Its benefits can be utilized for development in medicine. This is the concern of the common people. This is our heritage and there are certain things that we must do. We must stop thinking in purely nationalistic terms; we need to be intelligent and have the courage to control of nuclear power; need to see that political leaders who are concerned about the development of power need to think of ourselves as Christians in our personal day to day living. It is impossible to know the structure of our universe and to use this knowledge.

"Here you have been cultivating the intellect, and have not neglected the sense of adoration for other people. I suggest that in these days of change each must exercise his sense of responsibility. Will you be part of the problem of this generation or will you be the answer to the problem?

"The things you have learned are a by-product at education, in this respect it has been just a beginning. I hope you will find the way to continue to learn in terms of concern for the welfare of your generation. Intolerance, prejudice and apathy are in our midst, our weapons against them are those to be forged to their potential strength."

EXPRESSES THANKS

Assistant Principal Bert Simpson expressed the appreciation, on behalf of the assembly for this splendid information, stimulating and challenging address.

After the presentation of diplomas, degrees, awards, prizes, scholarships and awards, the principal, Dr. MacKenzie, in turn, special guests and friends of the school, re-assembled in Ackerman Hall where the reception was held with the members of the Women's Guild assisting with preparing and serving a delightful tea.

As luggage was loaded into cars and goodbyes were said, tokens of feelings of gratitude relief were expressed as another year drew to a close. Albert College Grade XIII students who still have to sweat it out in study halls, they also will be a reflection of the days spent at Albert; by our actions and attitudes in the country we live in. Here we have been nourished and given strength for the days to come."

Golden anniversary graduates were recognized with certificates and were accepted by Mrs. Newton Thompson, Belleville, and Mr. Wesley Brooks, Newmarket. Not present, but also receiving the award were Mr. Harry Balfour, Lethbridge, Alberta, Mr. Fred Copp, Don Mills and Mr. H. T. Cherry of Toronto.

Mrs. Jessie Gillis was given a copy of the school magazine, 'Alibi' by the editor, as the person to whom the issue was dedicated.

The school choir directed by Ernan J. H. MacKay gave two fine musical presentations, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You", and "Onward Christian Soldiers", with Betty Whiting accompanying at the piano.

Rev. Frank Fidler, B.Sc., B.D., associate secretary of the Board of Christian education of the United Church in Canada, gave the Convocation address, saying that a certain pattern was usually followed in such talks: that things were going to the dogs, that somebody's got to save us, one long to be remembered, a climax of inspiring words that they were all getting set for another spate of their lives. It was the breaking up of a family who had studied, worked, played and had good times together. These exercises were a way of saying goodbye, of wishing success for all their aspirations, and to honor those who had completed their course.

There was a feeling of sadness in the realization that this was the last time this wonderful group would meet together. The speaker reviewed all the things they had had together, good and otherwise.

TRUE DEVOTION

"Here in this sacred place we have been given a sense of duty, of faith in future purposes and promises and presence of God", said the valedictorian. "We have made the amazing discovery that amid all the trials we can be more than conquerors, we can live vital, dynamic Christian lives. We have learned thoughtfulness, for others, and the pure joy of life in living with others."

"We have had the true devotion, friendship of the Principal and teachers all which mean more of a life worth living. We can show our gratitude by the lives we live, they can be a reflection of the days spent at Albert; by our actions and attitudes in the country we live in. Here we have been nourished and given strength for the days to come."

HOMEMAKERS SERVICE

On Saturday afternoon the Red Cross Homemakers Service held an entertainment evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Graham, 210 John Street.

Mrs. Thomas Wrightmeyer spoke on the display of antique coverlets and quilts, stressing the dyeing and traditional designs, many of which came from the Pennsylvania Dutch immigrants.

Mrs. S. McCurdy extended appreciation thanks to Mrs. Graham for her hospitality and to Mrs. Wrightmeyer for her interesting talk.

Refreshments were served.

Civil Defence Nurse Shaping Fine Program

RED DEER, Alta., (CP) — A small blue - eyed woman from nearby Innisfail is helping shape Alberta's civil defence program into one of the best in Canada.

Lois Kremer, as the first civil defence nurse consultant to be appointed in Canada, is organizing the province's 81 hospitals into a disaster plan, conducting civil defence courses, supervising civil defence exercises and remaining on 24-hour call.

No one was certain what Miss Kremer's duties would be when she took over the newly-created post. Assisted by a volunteer advisory board, she decided the hospital disaster plan was the most urgent. At the time, there were no such plan for hospitals to deal with defence or natural disasters: fires and major accidents.

MODEL PLAN

Red Deer municipal hospital was the first to be organized, and representatives from many parts of the province came to watch the system in operation. Now 19 hospitals have been organized and 62 others are in the planning stages.

Working from an office in Edmonton's civil defence building, where she has a stenographer, Miss Kremer spends about 60 per cent of her time travelling.

Keeping a diary of almost all the time, she considers herself now an "expert on hotels." In the back of her car is a complete outfit of heavy clothing and an emergency food pack.

It's a demanding job, which has forced her to give up tennis, badminton, golf and curling, but she loves the work.

VITAL NEED

"After all," she says, "civil defence training is a big element to war. In Russia it is compulsory.

"And we need it in peacetime. I've seen hospitals caught in a serious crisis without a disaster plan. They admitted they couldn't do a proper job of treating the casualties."

Women are playing a far greater part in civil defence across Canada than men, she says. "The men might not like that, but it's true. I think the women are thinking of their children. They take it much more seriously."

She added that high school students are best for civil defence operations. "They are better actors in mock civil emergencies, have a more serious attitude and are keenly interested."

JACKSON — MASTERSON

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, May 16, at 11.00 a.m. for a lovely spring wedding when Phyllis Anne Masterson, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Masterson, was united in marriage to Gary Rene Jackson, of Trenton, son of Mrs. H. Jackson and the late Mr. Jackson, by the Reverend William McGee.

A and white snapdragons adorned the altar and white satin bows were the guest pews.

The Reverend Sister Mary Ildiana presided at the organ and of the organ, and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, who sang, "Panis Angelicus", "Ave Maria", and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a bridal gown of full-length Nalpac lace featuring a modified scooped neckline appliqued with individual lace flowers, molded torso bodice, and full skirt appliqued with hand-draped floors from the lace pattern of the gown, accented by shimmering lace clusters. The long sleeves ended in lily-points over the wrists. She wore a finger-tip veil of nylon net caught by a Juliet cap incrusted with sequins and lace flowers, matching pailettes accented gloves, and carried a bouquet of red roses in cascade style with rosebud knotted streamers of white satin.

Miss Lorraine MacKinnon, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Ray Blue, of Oakville, sister of the bride, and Miss Lois Wannamaker, of Connecon, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in tropical-weight romance blue nylon net over flowered taffeta fashioned with trapeze panel back, and sheath front, in waltz-length, with wide picture hats and matching mitts. The maid of honor carried a semi-cascade bouquet of yellow and white carnations, and the bridesmaids semi-cascades of pink and white, and blue and white carnations.

Miss Susan Gilhooley, niece of the bride, as flower girl, was demure and sweet in her short frock of blue and white floral material, with wide, blue satin sash and three-tier skirt. She wore a tiny white hat and gloves, and carried a little basket of pink sweetpeas.

Master Jimmie Rion, of Oakville, nephew of the bride, did the duties of ring-bearer.

Mr. Ronald Masterson, of Belleville, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Ray Rion, of Oakville, and Mr. Bob Sarles, of Trenton were ushers.

The reception was held in Club Chanara, Belleville, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a gown of turquoise nylon net over flowered taffeta, in sheath style, with corsage of yellow roses, and beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother, in royal blue flowered silk, with navy accessories, and corsage of pink roses, assisted.

The bride's table, appointed with linen damask, was centred with the traditional wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and their attendants. Tall candles in crystal holders, and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

For the wedding trip to Watertown, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Oakville, the bride chose a blue silk sheath in floral design, with powder blue duster, blue and pink accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are residing at 128 West Moira Street, Belleville.

Guests attended from Oakville, Whitby, Tamworth, Campbellford, Northbrook, Consecon, Trenton and Belleville.

The bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Miss Lorraine MacKinnon, at a cup and saucer shower for the bride's fiance, with Mrs. A. Cornish and Mrs. E. Adams, co-hostesses at which a centre-piece of pink roses was presented by the co-workers of the Northern Electric.

The bride's gift to her attendants, crystal vases with matching earrings; to the flower girl, a crystal rosary; to her ring-bearer, a rosary; the bride-groom's gift to his attendants, initialled cuff-links and to his bride, a white gold wrist watch.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church was held at the home of Mrs. A. Greatrix on the afternoon of June 4th with an attendance of 16. The president, Mrs. Charles Wood, welcomed all and read a poem, "Your Mission".

In the absence of Mrs. Gordon Akey, Mrs. Damon Hinchey acted as group leader and gave the call to worship, theme for the month being, "Fellowship".

Mrs. A. Greatrix read from the 5th chapter of Ephesians and Mrs. Orval Stration read from the 10th of Acts.

Mrs. Hinchey gave a reading from the United Church Observer "The Preacher Was a Boot Black," and gave some examples of people from other countries who rose to high positions in Canada.

Master Keith Greatrix accompanied by his grandmother, Mrs. Archie Greatrix, favored with a solo, "I'm a Child of the King of Kings", and sang for an encore, "Valley of the Valley". Both selections were greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Frank Doxtator gave a reading, "Moments Are Golden". Mrs. Hinchey thanked all who had helped with the program and received the thanks of the president who took charge of the business. Mrs. Orval Stratton expressed thanks for the gift and flowers received at the time of her nephew's death and extended thanks to all who sent her cards.

A shower of remnants was received and held in the sale. Plans were made for the strawberry social on June 24th.

Mrs. Will Ross, treasurer, gave her report and offered her home for the September meeting. Mrs. Wood read about Miss Jessie Oliver's work among the children of Vancouver and their new United Church Hospital there. Miss Oliver is the missionary for special prayer this year.

The hostess and her assistants served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

The group leader and president both thanked Mrs. Greatrix for opening her home for the meeting.

Bay of Quinte Legion Aux. Gets Charter

Canadian Legion members from Belleville, Trenton, Colborne, Brighton, Cobourg and Port Hope, gathered at Colborne Legion Hall on May 31st to attend ceremonies conducted by Scotty Broughton of Belleville, vice-president. The chairman, district commander Lou Knack, introduced the guests and Mrs. Ross Harding of Colborne, welcomed the branches to Colborne.

The presentation of the Charter was made by Mrs. Blackburn, the first president, who gave an interesting address and Mrs. Ross, the president of the 179 branch responded to this presentation.

The chairman installed the President, Mrs. T. Mossop as Chaplain to the ladies' branch and the first vice-president of the Peterborough Zone presented the president of the Bay of Quinte ladies' branch with a gift. A presentation of this generous act was given by the president, Mrs. Rush, of the 179 branch.

The president of the Bay of Quinte Zone, Mrs. Knack noted the appreciation of the members to district commander, Lou Knack, for all his help to them and to the Colborne branch for allowing the ladies to make their head quarters in the Colborne Legion Hall.

Commander Hill condneted the closing ceremonies and the benediction was offered by the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton.

A delicious luncheon was served.

For A June Bride

By TRACY ADRIAN

All the sentiment of a summer wedding is caught in the delicacy of this beautiful, traditional bridal gown. The fabric, woven entirely of acetate, is a luxurious taffeta that captures soft highlights and drapes gracefully.

Winging out from either side of the dress is a court train, artfully decorated with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The same lace also frames the demure Empire bodice and dramatizes the front panel of the floating skirt.

Hotel Fostering Social Revolution in Arab World

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

CAIRO (AP) — An American-managed hotel is quietly fostering a social revolution in the Arab world—the emergence of women into business and professional life.

The Nile Hilton hotel, a striking architectural combination of modern and ancient Egyptian motifs, opened a few months ago. It employs young women and girls as waiters-waitresses, operators, floor personnel and clerks—about 200 in all. It is the first time in the Arab Middle East that women have been employed for this sort of job.

The influence of this move is far out of proportion to the size of the hotel or the numbers involved. Cairo has for centuries been an intellectual capital of the Arab world. An idea which wins acceptance in Cairo will eventually spread to other Arab countries.

The new 1-storey hotel has already made an impression on Cairo life. Taxi drivers take you out of your way to point it out to you.

IDEA LIKED

The coffee shop is open around the clock and the serving staff—except for the overnight shift—is all women. This has become a gathering place for Cairoites for their pre-theatre or post-theatre snacks. They apparently like the idea of being waited on by young women.

The hotel's experiment had President Nasser's blessing. The employment of women fits in with his own campaign to liberate Egypt's young people, and sexes from centuries-old restrictions.

The girls say they enjoy making money of their own. One, an elevator operator, said the extra income helps her and her husband maintain a nicer home. Another elevator operator had to drop out of university this year for lack of money but will be able to return next year.

One of the head waitresses, also a widow with two children, said she took the job mostly to have something to do, and also to help the advancement of Moslem women in general.

Nearly all the girls are Moslems. How do they get along with men customers?.

"We don't have to accept dates from customers," one of the girls, a slim-eyed latter-day Cleopatra, confided. "What we do outside is our own business, and once in a while I do give a date to a boy who is nice looking. But most of the time I just flirt back, and turn them down in a laughing way. They don't seem to mind."

As a matter of fact, they seem to love it.

Chief Has Special Recipe For Taking Care of Husbands

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., (CP)— Mrs. Elzie Knott, 36, stern ruler of about 500 persons, has a special recipe for taking care of husbands.

"Some husbands are entirely spoiled by mishandling," she advises, "and so their meat is tender and good. Some women keep them constantly in hot water, others put them in a stew or keep them in a pickle."

Mrs. Knott, for the past five years chief of the Curve Lake Ojibway Reserve, 23 miles northwest of here, says "no husband will be tender managed this way, but they are delicious when properly treated."

MEN APPROVE

And according to the men of Curve Lake, Mrs. Knott is a fine chief and a cook as they have ever had.

"Elzie is a good chief," one of the reserve men says. "She really keeps us in line. Like a woman she's always changing something, but it's always for the better."

Along with her duties as chief, which she handles with the aid of a council of five, Mrs. Knott looks after her three children, Church Sunday School and holds full-time job in nearby Keene as well.

Better education for her people is tops on the list of the policies she pursues. She rises early every morning to drive students into Lakefield in her own school bus. "I usually get up at 3.30 a.m. in order to get everything done," she explains, "Sometimes it's earlier—when villagers call in to say hour of the night about a sick child, or political matters."

Mrs. Knott, who likes her non-paying job, is not discouraged by the tough grind.

"I'll stay as long as they want me—it keeps me feeling young," she says.

INDIAN RULER—Mrs. Elzie Knott, 36-year-old chief of the Curve Lake Ojibway Reserve 23 miles from Peterborough, Ont., says her job, although tough, keeps her feeling young. She arises at 3.30 a.m. each day to handle her many duties — which include a full-time job, full-time job in nearby Keene as reserve's Sunday School and chief. (CP Photo)

ISN'T IT NICE in these days of cash-and-carry that drug stores still provide a reliable, free delivery service. Think of the number of times you've needed some household product in a hurry and the weather was bad or you were just too comfortable to move any farther than to the telephone . . . or when your doctor left you with a prescription that had to be filled right away. Your pharmacist is interested in your health and general well-being of you and your family. He is also interested in giving you the best products and the best service possible. Make a regular habit of shopping at your drug store—you'll find it a pleasant, friendly place to shop. (ADVT.)

New Version of An Old Classic

By ALICE ALDEN

The classic blazer is almost indispensable in the well-rounded country, sports or suburban wardrobe. Here, then, is this beloved and useful coat emerging in a new guise — fashioned of leather. Soft, supple kidskin is used for the well-cut blazer, with white piping defining the front closing, pockets and sleeves. A versatile packet, it's ready to team up with skirts, shorts or slacks.

MONTREAL (CP) — Ella Carver likes to swan-dive from a 90-foot tower into a six-foot-deep tank of water with her body aflame. She's been doing it for 39 of her 70 years.

"I think I may retire this year," the white-haired grandmother laughed—"but I've been saying that for the last 19 years."

She says she decided on her career when she was seven years old, after seeing a high-diver perform. Her dream came true about three years later when she became the foster-daughter of a sharpshooter with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show.

"If I had my life to live again, though, I'd do exactly the same thing," she said. "I've been an outdoors lady all my life, and once a showman, always a showman."

She travels alone to engagements in a big truck transformed into living quarters. When she does retire, she says, she is going to cook, sew and grow flowers, like any other grandmother.

English-speaking missionary the attendance at church services grew.

One mother travelled 16 miles to ask Miss Graham to organize a Sunday school for her own and a neighboring family.

The western missionary was in Toronto recently attending the 53rd annual meeting of the Dominion Board of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Summer Sleeper

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

The popular dacron and cotton blend fabric — so cool and comfy, so easy to care for— is used for this waltz-length nightgown. It is white with a hem, and embroidered yoke in yellow, rose or blue for dainty color contrast. Dainty, too, are the lace ruffles that mark the yoke and hem ruffle. The gown hangs loose from the body and is as cool as it is pretty, making it an ideal choice for warm weather slumber.

Fancy Cakes In Pastels

by Mary Moore

Last week I gave you Lillian's 24-hour White Fruit Medley and promised to give you today the Snowballs which were served with them at the Nurses' Reunion.

SNOWBALLS

(Pals pink and green — of all things!) Make (or buy ihs wonderful ready -made ones) an angel food cake and an orange chiffon cake. Cut them up, roughly into 1½-inch chunks.

You need much more frosting for these than you think. Frosting: Do frost even 1 angel food cake, cut into 20 pieces, you need 2 ths sifted icing sugar, 2 egg whites (unbeaten) and ½ cup cold water. Mix this all together until smooth. Divide into two portions by pouring into two shallow pans. Tint one with about 6 drops of green coloring (flavor with mint if desired); then tint the other portion with about 6 drops red or rose coloring. Mix evenly. Work with only one color at a time. Line up pieces of cake uniformly (angel food pink and orange chiffon green) along one side of pan. Spoon frosting over cake pieces until coated working from unoccupied side. Carefully lift on fork, let drain, transfer to cake rack where frosting my drip through to clean surface, from which later it may be scooped up and used again.

Do not let these drain or dry more than 3 minutes before lifting with fork and gently rolling in desiccated coconut spread out on a large platter. Let dry uncovered at room temperature or wax paper overnight. Twenty-four hours later these are not sticky when held in fingers.

CHOCOLATE CRACKLES

Three tablespoons each cocoa and butter (or margarine), ¼ cup each sugar, and corn syrup, 2 cups frosted corn flakes. Combine cocoa, corn syrup, butter and sugar in saucepan. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until mixture boils rapidly. Remove from heat. Add frosted corn flakes, stirring well until all are coated. Spoon into shallow waxed paper cups or drop by teaspoonfuls onto waxed paper or squares.

Missionary Wants Peace, Quiet of Western Prairies

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, (CP) — Missionary-in-the Western Canada, university student in New York and big-time baseball may seem miles apart, but Ferne Graham enjoys them all.

Miss Graham, a United Church missionary, is returning to rural Saskatchewan and the work she loves best after a year's study at Columbia University in New York.

She said, in an interview, it was fun to spend a year in New York, "especially as a sing the world series," but she longed for the peace and quiet of the Prairies.

For seven years, she served the rural area around Yorkton, Sask., midway between Saskatoon and Regina. She will take up duties in the Prince Alberta area on Aug. 1.

INTERESTED PARENTS

In the rural district "parents don't just send their children to Sunday school, they take them." It's not uncommon for mothers to drop into vacation Bible school for lunch or a chat.

"Rural people are aware of the need for strong Christian faith. They are not so rushed and not so involved in things," Miss Graham said. "While they have organizations, they still have time for church.

"It's a privilege to work with rural residents who have such a great desire for what the church brings them."

Miss Graham thinks the church should do more work in rural Canada. Farm people fear their churches will be closed as their numbers diminish.

The Winnipeg - born mission worker was posted to Yorkton in 1951 following her graduation from the United Church Training School in Toronto.

COVERED BIG AREA

From then until 1958, she travelled approximately 84,000 miles in mid - Saskatchewan bringing Christian fellowship to rural residents.

For a long time many of the families did not realize the services were being conducted in English. Previously, a minister had conducted services in Hungarian, the native tongue of many of the residents. As word spread of the

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Gerard G. — There should be limits to her career.

Sandra G. — He likes my weekly pay cheque.

Gerard G. I am married to a career woman. Sandra, and I are both in our early 30's and we have been married two years. She has a good job and I am happy for her that she's succeeding.

Just the same I think there should be some limits to this career business. I wouldn't mind if Sandra's working day ended at 5 p.m., but when she brings work home or insists upon taking courses to advance her career that's just too much.

I do enjoy having my wife's company in the evening. But she always acts as though I'm pulling her away from something more important. It's not very flattering. Sandra is planning to go on working after we have children. She wants to hire a housekeeper. I keep telling her she won't be able to bring work home then. She'll have to give the children some time.

Sandra G. — Gerry likes it very much when that weekly pay cheque of mine comes in. He agrees that it is necessary if we are to be able to live up to the standard we both want. His work will never pay very much — even when he gets into the upper brackets of his profession.

Well, if I'm told to go on with my career I have to take it every bit as seriously as Gerry takes his. Incidentally, he often brings home work himself. He doesn't think it implies any insult to me if he is too busy with his work to pay attention to me.

I realize that I won't be able to devote as much time to my work after we have children so I think it's important that I get in all the background I can now. I think Gerry really objects to my having a career.

The Council: All of life's satisfactions must carry a price tag, it seems.

The women of 50 years ago who longed for Sandra's opportunities led a life that was undoubtedly frustrating in many ways.

Sandra certainly must get many satisfactions from her career, but she shouldn't kid herself into thinking that she isn't paying a price for these.

The time, energy and emotional involvement she takes away from her husband and home also deprive her of many rich pleasures — more than she realizes.

The facts of life and nature being what they are, a woman simply cannot operate at full capacity in two separate worlds. Some women manage to do remarkably well, but they delude themselves if they think that sacrifices are not being made at both ends of the line.

In the long run, most women are happier sacrificing their ambitions in the world of work to the world that represents their feminine domain.

The problem, however, is an individual one. If Sandra were to sacrifice her career ambitions in a spirit of bitterness she would not do much good to herself, her husband or the children she hopes to have. But if she makes the sacrifice in a spirit of affirmation of sacrificing a lesser good for a greater good, the rewards would surely be great. The financial loss will seem small in comparison.

Most Youngsters Take News Of Adoption in Their Stride

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto survey indicates it's hard for adoptive parents to tell their children they are adopted—but that most youngsters take the news in their stride.

The survey was made by social worker Adrienne MacLeod who came to the Ottawa Children's Aid Society last year after 3½ years with the society in Toronto.

"The most striking revelation of the study was how much fear and anxiety the parents had felt at the thought of telling the child about his adoption," Mrs. MacLeod writes in Canadian Welfare, bi-monthly publication of The Canadian Welfare Council.

But the children "appeared to accept the information as a matter of course, and many of them were not even much interested."

The survey, covering 37 families, was made in 1957. The agency had warned the parents to tell the children at an early age they were adopted; otherwise they would find out later from other sources.

All were under 18 months when adopted. At the time of the study, the oldest was 12, the youngest six. Four had not been told. Two had learned from sources other than their parents.

Half the couples had not explained how babies were born. Explanations by the others varied "from barely adequate to thoughtful and intelligent."

"Where there was no sex education, the children could hardly understand the difference between being born to parents and being adopted by them," Mrs. MacLeod observes.

Only one child—told when he was eight later showed unhappy feelings about his adoption. It was followed by the birth of four boys to his adoptive mother. With each birth he was unhappy and cried and "kept asking why he had not come that way too."

Most youngsters were happy to learn they were "special." Seventeen asked why their natural mother had not kept them. Five wanted to know what she looked like and where she was now. None asked about the natural father.

In five families, the children asked their parents not to let it be known that they were adopted.

Mrs. MacLeod advises her fellow social workers to give adoptive parents more aid with this problem, and to help them understand why their children especially need sex education.

"Telling the child about his adoption represents one of the foundation stones of the happy adopted family." Yet it was "the aspect of adoption most fraught with emotion."

The parents had accepted "intellectually at least" the importance of telling the child. But they were not prepared for "the amount of feeling they found within themselves at the thought of revealing to the child he was not born to them."

Mother's Helper

EVEN a reluctant thank-you-note or letter writer will be intrigued by making a rebus instead of just plain words. With a few old magazines as picture sources, the object is to do the letter with a minimum of writing, substituting pictures for words or parts of words. Original drawings are even better than cut-outs, if your youngster is Artistic.

Only 1 Death In 10 Yrs. From Breast Cancer

VICTORI (CP) — Progress in one aspect of the war against cancer was reported at the annual meeting of the British Columbia surgical society.

Dr. L.B. Watkin of Vancouver General Hospital revealed that of 1,300 patients operated on for breast cancer in the last 10 years there was only one death.

"More than 50 per cent of breast cancer cases in B.C. today are cured without any recurrence of the disease," he said.

"This is due both to improved surgical methods and to earlier diagnosis."

DIES AT AGE 101

BRANTFORD (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Page, one of the city's two centenarians, died Sunday. A resident of the John Noble home, she celebrated her 101st birthday last Thursday. She was born in London, England. Frank Howell, who celebrated his 101st birthday last February, also is a resident of the home.

CHANGED ROLE

Emmy Destinn, the famous soprano who died in 1930, began her musical career in Prague as a violinist.

'NORTHERN BROADCASTER—Former school teacher and newspaper woman Jean Doidge is producer and announcer of the program "Northern News" beamed into the northern reaches of Saskatchewan six night a week from radio station CKBI in Prince Albert, Sask. Her broadcasts include news of special interest to those in the North, interviews, weather reports and tips on hints of problems facing isolated residents. Messages from friends and relatives are also included. Mrs. Doidge has flown 30,000 miles and travelled by jeep, truck, dog team and snowshoes to almost every northern settlement in search of material for the programs. She receives regular fan mail from these settlements including letters from Eskimos and DEW line radar operators. (CP Photo)

"Good Evening, Northerners" Always Friendly Greeting

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., (CP) The friendly greeting "Good Evening, Northerners," in the cheerful, clear voice of Jean Doidge, heralds one of the most important events in the daily routine of Northern Saskatchewan residents.

Six nights a week the attractive grandmother, former school teacher, newspaper editor and public relations officer, produces and broadcasts a program called "Northern News" from the studios of Radio Station CKBI.

Beamed into the north, the program reports news of interest to northern residents, the weather forecast, keeps track of aircraft movements and handles messages to listeners from relatives on the "outside." Interviews and features also are broadcast.

Mrs. Doidge was born in Russell, Man. Her interest in resources development led her to the Saskatchewan natural resources department.

When attention began to focus on the north in the 1930s and Prince Albert became the jumping off point, Mrs. Doidge moved to this city and began "Northern News" as her contribution to northern development.

Her broadcasts have saved lives, spread happiness, eased anxieties, solved problems and helped in many ways to ease northern isolation.

Mrs. Doidge considers one of her most important services is keeping northern families in touch with relatives and friends. She says family ties are strong in the sparsely-populated north and news of loved ones always is welcome.

Mrs. Doidge, a divorcee whose 23-year-old son Bill is married with one child, recalls that on one occasion her broadcast saved a pilot forced down in sub-zero weather from the possibility of death by freezing. He was able to pick up Northern News on his radio and was found in a short time later by search planes.

Mrs. Doidge has flown 30,000 miles, often deep into the North, west Territories, to gather material for programs. She has visited nearly every northern settlement. She has travelled by plane, truck, jeep, walked, canoed and mushed with dog teams to get her stories.

In 1952 she made a trip north of Lake Athabasca for five weeks to report the Beaverlodge uranium rush to newspapers and magazines around the world, as well as to her listeners.

Another time she voiced warnings and information that made it possible to hold rabies outbreaks in check.

Mrs. Doidge receives regular letters from Eskimos at DEW line radar posts and isolated people living in the Rockies as well as those of northern Saskatchewan.

RULE ABOUT WHERE TO PUT RELISHES, JELLIES, ETC.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is there a definite "rule" about what relishes, jellies and so forth to put on one's dinner (or luncheon) plate, and which ones to put on one's bread-and-butter plate? For such a small decision, this can, I think, be very bothersome! — Elsa R.

Yes, there is a rule — an easy one to remember. Any type of relish, pickle or jelly that is to be eaten with the meat (or whatever the main course is) you put on your dinner (or luncheon) plate. For example: mint jelly with lamb; India relish or other relish with cold sliced meats; apple sauce or apple relish with pork. But jellies, jams and so forth, that are to be eaten with bread or biscuits or rolls are put on the bread-and-butter plate: for example, marmalade with toast; honey for hot biscuits.

Women's Activities

MELROSE W.M.S.

The regular monthly meeting of Melrose W.M.S. was held on Wednesday last at the home of Mrs. E. Embury, with 17 present.

The president, Mrs. J. Milligan, presided and gave the call to worship. All took part in prayer. Mrs. S. DeMille was at the piano. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. J. English, Mrs. Bruce Sherman and Mrs. Eric Cappell.

Mrs. Milligan read the comments on the Scripture, and also an interesting article re the subject. She said in part, "Christ had admonished us to help each other regardless of race, creed or equality, but also, class distinction and racial animosity had not been banished; yet we had learned that, 'Pride goeth before a fall'."

Miss Margaret Bailey gave a talk on the questions for discussion, choosing verses 34-35 Acts 10, as key verses. Peter was narrow and bigoted, but was taught that Salvation was for all.

In regard to the question of racial prejudices, she said she believed many were due to economic and social causes, and the Canadian church was doing very well to eliminate such prejudices. "We need more Christian love before we can overcome them; also we should remember that Christ was a member of a race that none despise. As to problems like racial discrimination in industry, world hunger, economic exhalation and slum conditions. With deep shame we must confess that the church is doing very little. Too often our prayers are like that of the man who prayed:

"God bless me and my wife,
My son John and his wife,
Us four and no more."

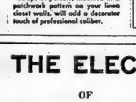
A short business session was held. The treasurer Mrs. C. Bates reported $85 on hand. The July meeting will be held at Melrose Church. A letter was read thanking the W.M.S. for cards re the death of Mrs. G. Morgan.

Mrs. C. Osborne, stewardship secretary read an article dealing with the mistaken idea that sacrifice is necessary for redemption, when Salvation is free.

Mrs. E. Embury, citizenship secretary, gave a reading describing new legislation for immigrants, giving them social benefits immediately.

Mrs. R. MacFarlane, group leader, took charge of the meeting. Mrs. C. Bates read an account of the result of a fire in Hong Kong, where new and better buildings were erected and Canadians had sent $5,000 for this purpose.

Mrs. J. English told of a Leper Colony which raised money for missionary work.



Mrs. Roy Badgeley gave an interesting account of the Bethel Ashram in India. It is a busy place, with a nursery and primary school. There are also industrial projects. The life of the whole place centres in an awareness of God's presence.

Mrs. R. MacFarlane spoke of church unity in India, and in hospitals this same unity has founded. Much more money is needed for this work.

The convenors reported the sum of $85 had been collected.

The hostess served refreshments and a pleasant social time was spent by all.

TO THE ELECTORS OF EAST HASTINGS

As this election campaign draws to a close, I would like to express sincere thanks to my workers and supporters, who have given me such unbounded help and encouragement.

I have endeavoured to see as many people as possible in the short time at my disposal, and the reception I have received at the hands of all, is more than appreciated.

Regardless of the outcome on Thursday, it is my hope, that my two opponents and myself, will remain firm friends. This has been a clean campaign in East Hastings, and personalities have been avoided. That is the way it should be!

I feel sincerely, that the Frost administration will be returned to power on their record of accomplishment and achievement. Reports from all over the province, indicate this! It is definitely to the advantage of East Hastings, that the riding be represented by a member on the government side, Queen's Park.

On Thursday, I will appreciate your support, your influence, and your vote at the polls. East Hastings has been a traditionally Conservative riding, and naturally, it is my hope, that this tradition will be maintained, through my election as your representative.

If elected, I will work sincerely in the interests of ALL people of the Riding of East Hastings, regardless of politics, religion, race or creed. Give me the opportunity, and I will do the job to the best of my ability.

Yours Sincerely,

NATO Brains Trust Worried About Future of Alliance

By DAVE OANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is celebrating its 10th anniversary this year and the international brains trust in session here this week to examine its past performance and future is worried.

The concern of the 650 delegates from NATO countries attending the Atlantic congress is not only about the Russian threat in Europe.

They are worried far more about forces within the alliance that could lead to its disintegration, and about finding ways of meeting the challenge presented by the emergence of Afro-Asian peoples as independent nations.

COMMITTEES BUSY

Congress delegates have split into a variety of committees to take stock of every facet of the West's present position and to plot a course they hope NATO countries will follow for the next decade.

Reports on their conclusions are to be presented Tuesday. A general congress declaration is to be presented for adoption at a general meeting Wednesday.

Before starting their detailed studies, the delegates listened to speeches by the top NATO military, religious and educational leaders.

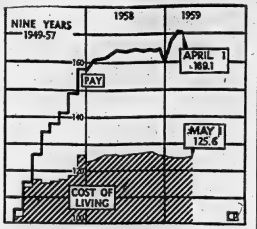
NORSTAD HEARD

Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander in Europe, warned that "perhaps the greatest danger might spring from a weakness inviting exploitation from a probing operation which might well get out of hand as a result of a miscalculation."

The effectiveness of NATO shield forces depended upon atomic warheads.

"We introduce these weapons without boast and without threat. With our devotion to peace and freedom, this action is to provide for our security needs no justification."

IMPRESSIVE SPEECH



By far the greatest impact on delegates was made by the son of a slave, who said the Communists are winning the cold war because the West is unchristian, mean and complacent.

The speaker was Dr. Mordecai Johnson of Washington, D.C., president of Howard University and chairman of the congress' free world committee.

"I tell you we are going into the fight of a lifetime and we are not prepared," he said. "We are not morally prepared."

REVOLT REPORTED

TAIPEI (AP)—More than 10,000 persons revolted in remote Sinkiang province March 20 and 21, the Chinese Communist chief and 50 other party officials, a former governor of the province said Sunday. Yolbars Khan, last Nationalist governor of Sinkiang, said he obtained his report from a refugee who reached Pakistan.

The cost-of-living index at May 1 stood at 125.6, up two-fifths of a point from 125.6 on April 1.

This graph (shaded area) traces the yearly average of the price index during 1949-57 and its movement through 1958 and so far this year. The index is based on 1949 prices equalling 100.

Also shown is the index for average wages and salaries which stood at 169.1 at April 1, last date for which figures are available. (CP Newsmap)

Quebec Liberal Leader Assails Provincial Head

LONGUEUIL, Que. (CP)—Jean Lesage, leader of the Quebec Liberal party, says Premier Duplessis has served notice that he plans to "exploit shamelessly" the religious feelings of the province for political purposes.

He said Premier Duplessis, leader of the governing Union Nationale party, has in his last 15 years as premier been trying to throw scares into the people, claiming he and his party alone can save them from "terrible disasters."

Mr. Duplessis last weekend attacked Dr. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, Jean-Louis Gagnon, editor of Montreal La Presse, and the Toronto Star for views they have expressed regarding education.

Mr. Lesage told a regional Liberal congress meeting here that the premier and his party plan to make the Quebec people believe there exists a plot to abolish the teaching of religion in the province's schools.

He described the premier's speech as the first performance of a "Punch and Judy show on the assassination of religious education."

CCF Leader Is Often Called 'One-Man Band', Does Own Research, Writes His Talks

TORONTO (CP) — A 45-year-old man who realized a boyhood ambition by entering politics is fighting his second election campaign as Ontario CCF leader in the province's June 11 election.

Donald C. MacDonald, full-time CCF leader since his election to the post in 1953, first entered the provincial legislature in 1943 when he captured the Toronto area seat of York South from the Progressive Conservatives.

Leader of a three - member group in the last legislature, he provoked some of its stormiest sessions with outspoken attacks on the Conservative administration.

Often called a "one-man band," he does his own research and writes his own speeches. In the election campaign, he drove his own car hundreds of miles a week sometimes to speak to only a few persons, but always with the fervour of an evangelist.

His campaigning was basically from the platform. After meetings he held quickly, rarely pausing to shake hands, never slapping a back. Yet he is friendly and approachable—his associates all call him Don.

A tall, big-boned man, he stands out attention on the platform, heels together, arms at his sides, rarely stabbing at the air to emphasize key points.

Born in Cranbrook, B.C., eldest of eight children of a Quebec farmer, he went back to the farm with his parents at the age of 10. The family homestead, which belonged to his grandfather, lies across the St. Lawrence River from Prescott in Glengarry county. It is still operated by his father and a brother.

He left the farm at 17, worked through Macdonald technical school in Quebec, then went to Queen's University at Kingston, in history, political science and economics. On graduation in 1938, he won one of two top history scholarships which led to his master's degrees.

His MA thesis was on Richard Cartwright, a prominent figure in the early history of Kingston and of Ontario. Ontario's Progressive-Conservative Premier Frost has directed the provincial archivist to have it printed.

After graduation, he worked for a time with the Montreal Gazette and "later served in the Royal Canadian Navy.

From the time he started school he wanted to enter politics. He grew up in the mid-early that he would not be a Liberal. The Macdonald family has in the former federal riding of Chateauguay-Huntingdon, traditionally Liberal, a history of trying to seek out another.

The thought of the Conservatives had chatted with the late Vincent Bennett over the years. During the past few years he became interested in the CCF and after the 1955 election started forming a party's national office in Ottawa. First he served as national educational secretary, then in 1949 he became national organizer and treasurer, a position he held when he was elected Ontario leader.

His wife is the former Simone Germaine of Montreal. They have three children.

Launching Base For Satellites Long Way Off

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker has indicated it will be a long time, if ever, before Canada has its own satellite launching base.

However, he said in the Commons Monday that government believes that Canadian scientists are fully qualified to participate in the satellite program and should not be held back because this country has no launching base.

Therefore, the Defence Research Board and the Defence Research Telecommunications Establishment had approached the U.S. with proposals for a co-operative program of satellite research and development. As a result, Canadian scientists would provide the instruments for a satellite that would be launched in the U.S., possibly in 1961.

"Insofar as a satellite is concerned," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "the United States already has extensive and expensive base for launching earth satellites, and it will be a considerable time—if ever—before it will be economic for Canada to establish her own satellite launching base.

"We do not believe that Canadian scientists should be held back in their research and development to give every possible encouragement to them to pursue this program and to add to the collective pool of knowledge which can be used in peaceful pursuits."

VALUABLE DATA

Work on space research now had passed beyond the stage of hurling a satellite into space. There was valuable scientific data on the properties of space that could be collected, analyzed and considered.

Mr. Diefenbaker was explaining to the Commons that he was referring to previously-announced plans to send aloft a Canadian instrumented U.S. satellite when he said Saturday in Prince Albert, Sask., that "a Canadian satellite is to be launched in 1960."

Outside the Commons, a spokesman for the Defence Research Board said no consideration has been given by the board to the establishment of a rocket range at Moosonee as reported last week by The Financial Post.

Civic Reception Will Be Given Bolshoi Ballet

TORONTO (CP) — Moscow's famed Bolshoi Ballet will be extended a civic reception after it's...

After 45 minutes of debate, city council Monday voted 11-8 in favor of a suitable civic reception for the Russian dancers.

The reception were not against the city welcoming the troupe—they had held out for a "luncheon-type" reception as well.

Mayor Nathan Phillips, who had originally ruled there should be no reception for the troupe except for an official welcoming ceremony in his office if one were requested, said Monday:

"I resent the idea being thrown out that Toronto is not a hospitable and generous city."

ANCIENT CLIMATE

Fossils found in Antarctica show that frozen continent had tropic vegetation 200,000,000 years ago.

TRAGIC CLIMAX—A Sunday outing at the Pittsburgh Bicentennial Exposition today ended in tragedy for Frank Monoco (centre), 9-year-old elementary school pupil, when he picked up a rifle at a shooting gallery and accidentally fatally injured Mrs. Mamie Alice Peniman, 38, an entertainer in a trick shooting act, police said. The boy's father, John Monoco of New Kensington, Pa., accompanies the youth as unidentified police take him for questioning. One officer is carrying the fatal weapon. (AP Wirephoto)

Presbyterians Now Undecided On Report of Administration

TORONTO (CP) — The Presbyterian General Assembly decided Monday that no new offences can be created or amendments made in the church without its approval, but delegates couldn't agree on what to do with a report proposing administrative changes.

A special committee set up last year to study the administration structure of the church was presented the report by Professor C. Ritchie Bell of Montreal. Its proposals mainly dealt with the church's financial situation.

Prof. Bell asked the assembly to send the major proposals of the committee's report down to the 48 presbyteries. He said an interim report should be adopted and the committee retained to carry out the recommended processes of reorganization.

James Dutton of Peterborough, chairman of the board of administration, moved that the entire report be sent to the presbyteries.

Debate eventually was cut off by the moderator, Rev. Alexander Nimmo, but it was resumed either today or tomorrow when the motion and amendment will be presented again.

The assembly decided to instruct its standing boards and committees to get assembly approval before creating new offices or making appointments after hearing the report of another special committee.

Rev. James H. Johnston of Fort William reported for a committee which looked into problems of...

...assembly approval.

Rev. Hugh Davidson of Chatham, reporting for the slew-

...ardship and budget committee, proposed a church budget of $6,000,000 for 1954, but Rev. K. E. King of New Westminster wanted that...

...Rev. The 1960 figure reported by Mr. Davidson was $1,800,000.

TITHING COMMENT

The disagreement prompted another delegate to ask where the church stands on collecting money by tithing. Replied Mr. Davidson:

"Tithing is an excellent, practical thing. But as a principle of giving to the church it is a devilish thing, period." Further discussion on the subject was postponed.

Other delegates were riled by the Supreme Court of Ontario decision in favor of delivering sermons indelently.

"It is a lamentable thing when there is a good man in the pulpit with a good sermon, people his congregation to sleep because he doesn't know how to read," one said.

Rev. J. Alan Munro, secretary of the Home Missions Board stated however the matter had been referred to the Presbyterian Council of Churches and it is considered there is no stultification.

Rev. James A. Thomson of Orillia said that contact with Dutch families in Canada leads him to believe many Presbyterians in Holland are concerned because so many of their numbers are emigrating and that it is having a greater proportion of Catholics at home.

Rev. Emlyn Davies, who brought greetings from the Baptist Federation of Canada, said the Protestant heritage is "under renewed attack by Jewish rabbis, Roman Catholic priests and others."

He said this heritage is "imperilled—imperilled most of all by the apathy, ignorance and theological indifference of those who enjoy the benefits of the Protestant Reformation in politics, education and in the area of economic expansion."

AFRICANS CLASH

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) — Eight Africans were hacked and speared to death and many more wounded in savage fighting between rival tribes in the Umbumbulu African reserve Sunday. Police detachments of police have moved into the reserve to keep the peace.

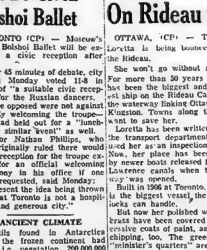
Oshawa Voters Turn Down Bid

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa voters, Monday turned down a Windsor businessman's bid to provide the city with a bus line and also refused a money law to provide a $5,000 grant to the Oshawa Symphony Orchestra.

City officials said only 23.96 per cent of the electorate turned out in the vote on the bus line and voted 4,733 against and 2,323 in favor, according to J. J. Dickson of Windsor.

The Canadian National Railways announced early in July it would terminate its bus service at the end of this year.

Biggest and Proudest Ship On Rideau to Be Scrapped



OTTAWA, (CP) — The old Rideau is being beached from the Rideau.

She won't go without a fight. For more than 50 years Loretta has been the biggest and proudest ship on the Rideau Canal and the waterway linking Ottawa with Kingston. Towns along the way want to save her.

Loretta has been written off by the transport department which used her as an inspection vessel. Now, her place has been taken by newer boats released from the Lawrence canals when the sea way was opened.

Built in 1906 at Toronto, Loretta is the biggest vessel, the Rideau locks can handle.

But now her polished wood and brass have been covered by successive coats of paint, and that's chipping, too. The green plush "minister's quarters" are a little shoddy, the carpets threadbare and the doors warped.

FATE UNKNOWN—The Loretta, largest ship on the Rideau canal system, built in Ottawa with Kingston, Ont., is being abandoned by the department of transport which has used it as an inspection ship for the past 50 years. Towns along its former route want the vessel to save the ship and may enter bids when Crown Assets Disposal Corporation puts it up, for tender within a few months. Town officials at Newboro believe the vessel, whose hull is sheathed in 2½-inch oak and whose bulkheads and superstructure are of steel, would serve as a tourist attraction and training vessel for district sea cadets. The Loretta was built at Toronto in 1906. (CP Photo)

Structurally, Loretta still is sound. From waterline to keel she rested is sheathed in 2½-inch oak. The bulkheads and the superstructure are steel. However, the transport department says her boilers aren't worth repairing.

The fact isn't deterring the effort to save her. The town of Newboro, for one, considers Loretta still sufficiently sea-worthy to serve as a tourist attraction and a training vessel for district sea cadets.

The transport department has turned the Loretta over to Crown Assets Disposal Corporation, which has a policy of allowing municipalities and other government agencies first opportunity on the purchase. But these potential buyers still must equal or exceed the bids from private firms or individuals.

Here the matter stands. Loretta's fate probably will be decided in a month or two.

Says Nicaragua Rebels Crushed In First Battle

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaragua's commander - in - chief today called on rebels against his government to surrender and claimed they had been knocked out in the rebellion's first battle.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, brother of President Luis Somoza, said the insurgents apparently ran out of ammunition in a bloody battle Monday which, he said, "has marked a decisive turn in the revolt that began 11 days ago.

A Nicaraguan rebel radio broadcast heard in neighboring Honduras reported, however, that civil resistance to the Somoza regime was increasing.

Agustin Torres Laso, first secretary of the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington, resigned Monday and aligned himself with the anti-Somoza factions led from Costa Rica by Dr. Enrique Lacayo Farfan.

Gen. Somoza gave no figures on casualties—either for the rebels or the regular National Guard—in the two - hour battle on a ranch 60 miles south known as Cerro de la Guna about 120 miles northeast of Managua.

But he said, "I consider militarily these people (the rebels) have been annihilated." The rebel force, which came by plane from neighboring Costa Rica, has been bombarded about 75 men. Many of them were believed to be sons of prominent Nicaraguan families.

Drivers of 1959 Car Models Should Be Getting Better Mileage Than From Trade-ins

DETROIT (AP) — Drivers should be getting better mileage out of their 1959 cars than they did from the old cars traded in. How much better depends on driving habits.

Actually, there has been no significant increase in the fuel economy of American or Canadian standard-size cars, as measured in miles per gallon, in the last five years. Engineers say most of the greater engine efficiency has gone to improve performance—quick pickup and driving ease.

But in some of the 1959 models the car makers have modified power plants to get more miles out of a gallon of gasoline without any noticeable sacrifice in performance.

Chevrolet says it achieved a 5-to-10-per-cent fuel economy in its six-cylinder engines with a new cam shaft and recalibration of the carburetor. The modifications were designed to get the most fuel economy at speeds in which most driving is done. Chevrolet's Corvair also has sale ratio on some models.

Ford engineers say they put greater economy in 1959 engines by increasing carburetor efficiency, resulting in the drag on engine in the exhaust system and designing the engine to get maximum performance at 30 to 70 miles an hour.

Horsepower has been lowered slightly in some engines and the compression ratio reduced, but the engine can run smoothly on regular gas.

Ford points to a test made last fall as proof the 1959-model car gets better gas mileage. It was a test in which old-timers acclaim as a symbol of economy. The contest, at its Mahwah, N.J., assembly plant and then tested it with a 1959 custom six-cylinder Ford sedan. The model T went 17 miles on a gallon; the 1959 Ford went 28.

Chrysler estimates it has achieved a 10-per-cent fuel economy in cars equipped with V-8 engines. It modified the Plymouth engine's carburetion and manifolding, lowered the axle ratio and made front-end styling more streamlined. It retained an economy choke system installed on 1958 V-8s.

Chrysler ran from Los Angeles to Kansas City, 47 cars averaged 19.2 miles per gallon. They had to maintain an average speed of 45 miles an hour. American Motors' Rambler American deluxe in the compact class was the 25,000 miles per gallon car. But makers of the larger cars claimed their entries also have fuel economy advantages. All had something to crow about in their advertising.

A spokesman for Dodge, whose entry scored 21.7454 mph in the non-medium class, said: "We've always recognized that fuel economy was usually a small factor in the operation of a car. But apparently the public's gasoline mileage has become important. Now we're doing everything in our power to show sure they realize that there is actually only a small difference in operating costs between big cars and the small cars."

Govt. Is Forced Back Into Pork Canning Business Due To Big Flow of Surplus Meat

OTTAWA, (CP) — The government has such a heavy flow of surplus pork that it has run out of storage space for frozen cuts and has been forced back into the pork canning business.

Authorities disclosed Monday that in addition to some 70,000,000 pounds of frozen cuts, the government will have about 25,000,000 pounds of pork in cans by the end of June. This would represent a total federal investment of $30,000,000 in surplus pork.

This is the first federal canning since 1952 when an outbreak of dreaded foot-and-mouth disease threatened Canada's herds. Supplies canned pork was finally dropped behind the Iron Curtain and left a heavy loss.

MAY GO SAME WAY

Officials said some of the current cans may wind up in the same way. They had been trying to find foreign markets for them, but so far few have turned up. Total disposal outlook was not bright.

The government has been supporting the pork industry by buying surpluses at the floor price of $25 hundredweight. Last August Agriculture Minister Harkness said the floor would be reduced to $23.65 a hundredweight effective next Oct. 1.

Surpluses had been stored in the form of frozen cuts. But the stockpile grew so large that officials decided to take up the new offerings in the form of 12-ounce cans. The government has been buying the cans of canned pork at a rate of about 58 cents a pound.

Experts figure that within a few weeks canning will be the only practical space available for frozen cuts and canning can be slowed down or halted.

Mr. Harkness also has given order to his officials to stop subsidizing the pork price-support program into deficiency payments—covering the farmer on his losses but letting him do his own marketing at the market. Until the Protestant heritage is "under the Pacific Ocean, said renewed attack by Jewish rabbis, Roman Catholic priests and others.

States Business Ought to Change Some Attitudes

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Business was advised today to change some of its attitudes.

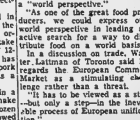
The advice came from A. C. Hall of Montreal, executive vice-president, industrial, A. V. Roe Canada Ltd., in a discussion at the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

Due for revision, said Mr. MacDonald, is the view held in economic affairs government should be virtually a referee and rarely an active participant, and also the "quantitative" concept that increasing must be up to be important.

He termed these "two hoary precepts of conventional wisdom that cry out for review."

His comments were contained in a text made available to the press in advance of delivery.

NEED WORLD VIEW



He urged Canadians to develop a "world perspective."

"As one of the great food producers, we could express our world perspective by leading an active search for a way to distribute them to a world basis."

In a discussion on trade, Walter Latiman of Toronto said he sees the European Common Market as a stimulating challenge rather than a threat.

"It has to be viewed as a step —but only a step—in the inevitable increase by world trade and production."

Mr. Latiman, group vice-president, Massey-Ferguson Ltd., said he feels some form of economic integration is necessary if trade between the United States is more than a possibility.

"Jest a Second"

Communist China

Heavy Program in Education

By Walter L. Gordon

ARTICLE 6

To accomplish their objectives and to build a new industrial nation, the Communists developed a many sided program. They took immediate steps to control the worst of the annual flooding of the rivers which resulted in huge crop losses annually with resulting starvation; they made the first moves in a long and gradual, if at times a bit spasmodic, process to increase agricultural production; they developed the first five-year plan for industry in 1953; they reorganized the educational system; and concurrently they proceeded with the help of propaganda and persuasion to sell Communism to the masses and in the process to strengthen their hold over the people.

These programs were carried out simultaneously, or more or less so. But, of necessity, I must describe them seperately. In my last article I talked about the techniques of propaganda and persuasion. In this one I shall say something about the new educational system. And in succeeding articles I shall discuss the progress being made toward industrialization and the commune system.

Education is given a high priority in New China and, as in other things, it is aimed at more than one objective. China is desperately short of technically trained people of all kinds. And if she is to become industrialized this shortage of trained personnel, engineers, metallurgists, transportation experts and all the rest, will have to be made up. Then too about 80 per cent of the population were illiterate when the Communists came to power in 1949. It is claimed that this figure has now been reduced to 50 per cent; and the Government is committed to wiping out illiteracy entirely as quickly as it is possible to do so. Finally, education will be used to spread the Communist doctrine in the words of Chou En-lai speaking to the People's Congress: "Socialist working class politics and the cause of socialism is the basic starting point of our education. In our schools, socialist and communist ideological and political education must be carried out in the most conscientious way to raise the socialist consciousness of the students . . .

MASS EDUCATION

According to the forecasts, college and university enrolment will be increased to 830,000 this year from 660,000 in 1958. All children between the ages of 7 and 12 inclusive are now supposed to go to primary schools for six years where they will learn to read and write as well as the main principles of communist ideology. Attendance in the middle schools or high schools is for 6 years and at the university or technical institutes for 5 or 5½ years.

We were informed by Chou Pei-juan, vice-president of Peking University, a physicist, who has visited Canada twice in recent years as a guest at Cyrus Eaton's Pugwash conferences, that the problem of illiteracy will be largely resolved in a relatively few more years. The program was introduced in three stages. First it was decided that everyone should be taught the Peking dialect so that eventually for the first time in their history all Chinese will be able to converse with one another. Last year approval was given to the introduction of an alphabet in Roman script.

Roman script. People will be taught to use both the simplified Chinese script and the new Romanized alphabet. It may be that another generation will decide to adopt the Romanized alphabet exclusively but no such decision will be made now; it will depend on how things develop.

We had two long conversations with Professor Chang Lung-hsiang and Tuan Hsie-fu of Peking University, both of whom are graduates of the University of Toronto and with Fan Hung, Professor of Economics, a graduate of Cambridge. The University is situated to the west of the city on the most beautiful campus I have ever seen, with fine attractively designed and decorated buildings both old and new. The land was originally occupied by the Imperial Princes. In 1928 it was taken over for New China University which was financed by Americans, a fact that is not stressed these days. In 1952 the whole site and campus was turned over to Peking University which previously had been located in the centre of the city.

FREE LODGING, TUITION

All the students live at the university where they receive free lodging, tuition and medical care. They pay for their food and miscellaneous expenses if they can afford to do so; otherwise they can apply for grants or bursaries known as stipends to defray such costs. The enrolment at Peking University has increased from 2,000 in 1952, at which time they had a medical school, etc. to 9,000 at the present time when they are restricted to the natural and social science. They believe 10,000 to 12,000 students to be the optimum maximum for efficient administration. This statement was listened to with interest by Jim Duncan, myself, both of us being Governors of the University of Toronto which currently is planning to expand its facilities in order to handle 23,000 students.

Senior members of the staff have their own individual houses to live in and obviously are respected members of society. More junior members of the staff live in apartments owned by the university. One problem, of course, that is common to Peking University and to all other institutions of higher learning is to get enough qualified teachers, however Professor Chang informed us that most of the junior assistants at Peking University have more than years graduate work.

Peking University has a proud history; it has inherited the 3,000 years' tradition of Chinese learning. And, in addition, it has played an important part in the country's revolutionary activities. The 1919 revolutionary movement, which led to the overthrow of the War Lords and resulted in China's refusal to sign the Versailles Peace Treaty which would have given especial privileges to Japan, originated at this university. Mao Tse-tung was on the staff of the University library at that time and is said to have been one of those involved in the revolutionary activities of its staff and students.

BOOK PRESENTED

On behalf of President Bissell of the University of Toronto, we presented copies of Professor W. A. C. H. Dobson's recent book "Late Archaic Chinese," to the University of Peking and to the President of the Peking Academy of Science. The book has to do with the grammatical structure of the ancient Chinese language and Dr. Geery of linguistics, two subjects about which Jim Duncan and I are less than well acquainted. Large Sections of the book are printed in Chinese characters which, while representing a technical triumph for the University of Toronto Press and a clear manifestation of Professor Dobson's qualifications as a Chinese scholar did not help to make the work any more comprehensible to us. Nevertheless we did our best to impress our Chinese friends with the interest in their country and literature and culture now being generated at Toronto University and of the important role Professor Dobson plays there.

The Government gives high priority to the requirements of the universities and to all the other institutions of higher learning. Such institutions have been thoroughly reorganized in recent years with all technical subjects including such things as medicine, geology, coal mining, telecommunications, iron and steel technology, etc., being concentrated in separate institutes. There, are some thirty four of these institutes in Peking alone. We visited one, the Peking Institute of Mining Industry, which has about 4,000 students (if whom about 600 are women) enrolled for 5 years in a concentrated and highly specialized course in all aspects of coal mining. In addition, the students may receive instruction in a foreign language, physics, chemistry and mathematics, as well as a political course. But, we were not taught literature or history or any of the arts at this institute and this, we were told, was reasonably typical.

All students and members of the staff live at the institute. As in the case of Peking University the students receive their tuition and lodging free. They pay for their food, clothing and books if they are able to do so. Otherwise they receive stipends to defray such costs.

NINE-HOUR DAY

Students spend nine hours a day six days a week on their classroom and laboratory work and evening study. One hour a day is devoted to physical exercise of some kind. They get four to five weeks vacation annually exclusive of the national holidays of seven days or so a year.

We were told that timetables have been arranged recently since the policy of combining theory with practical work was introduced. Practical work at this institute includes time spent in its own excellent laboratories and work shops and in outside factories or mines. Such practical work is probably useful for students in such a technical institute, quite apart from its ideological objectives, but it must represent quite a waste of time in other fields which ordinarily are more removed from practical applications.

The salaries of the teaching staff range from 50 to 300 yuan per month. Theoretically at the official rate of exchange this would be the equivalent of 20 to 120 Canadian dollars but such comparisons are relatively meaningless. Staff members pay a nominal rental for their lodgings, of 10 yuan per month for a 3 room apartment with heat and electricity.

TEA TIME—Nothing like a spot of tea to perk one up thinks Wee Willy, pet squirrel of 14-year-old Agnes Merkley, Orillia, Ont., as he dips into the cup (lower photo) for a sip. Willy's table manners prove they're not what they should be, however, as he emerges looking somewhat like a drowned rat (upper photo)—but then, he's still only a baby. Wee Willy, who joins the family at tea time each day, has his own cup. He has also acquired a taste for potato chips. (CP Photo) (Packet and Times)

Scouting activities

By CHRIS F. LEGGAT

FOXBORO GROUP

On Monday, June 15th, at 7.30 p.m., a local delayed ceremony will be held honoring Scoutmaster Harry Ashton and Cubmaster Jim Churchill. Group members and parents are requested to be present this will be their chance to say "thankyou" to the leaders who give so much to the training of their boys.

The Cub camp is planned for July 19th to July 25th at Deerontc. Twenty Cubs with four leaders, two assistants and two service Scouts are looking forward to another wonderful week of camping. Camp Akela Jim Churchill announced that visitors will be welcomed any time.

CHURCH PARADE

A church parade was held at Foxboro United Church. Cubs and Scouts filled the centre of the church and with the congregation left very few vacant seats. Rev. F. F. Darke chose, "Give Unto Caesar" for his sermon, emphasizing the sin of racial discrimination, so common in the world today. This is one thing Scouts understand. In Scout camps there are all races and creeds and no "color line" at any time. Just boys finding from experience how easy it is to agree with the other fellow and have lots of fun doing it. When these boys are men they will have no time for such childish and immature ideas as racial differences.

Foxboro Scouts recently planted 2,500 tomato plants as a good turn to a local farmer pressed for time.

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE GROUP

Miss L. Rush will visit Belleville next week. A group meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 10th, at 8.00 p.m. to arrange a reception. Will all members please attend.

The church parade will be held on June 14th at 7.30 p.m. in the Canniton United Church. All Scouts, now have tickets for the social evening, June 17. Don't forget to get yours from any Scout.

Keep Racketeers From Title, Ring's Big Problem Solved

By JACK STEVENSON

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—If racketeers can be prevented from muscling in on Don Jordan's world welterweight title, one of boxing's biggest problems will be solved.

That declaration came Monday from Jack Urch, executive officer of the California Athletic Commission, who was named last Nov. 19 by the National Boxing Association to head an investigating committee.

"The title is the thing they're interested in," Urch said. "No one ever had had the audacity to talk to them."

Jordan, of Los Angeles, beat Virgil Akins for the crown and successfully defended it against Akins April 26 in St. Louis.

Local, state and federal officials are investigating last Wednesday's slugging in Los Angeles of Hollywood Legion Stadium promoter Jackie Leonard, one of the men who talked back to the racketeers.

Leonard told a hospital press conference Saturday that Frankie Carbo, eastern underworld character, was responsible.

On May 20, Leonard had told the athletic commission in Los Angeles that threats were made against him by Carbo and fight manager Frank (Blinky) Palermo after Carbo demanded a 15-per-cent share of Jordan's contract. Threats also were made against Don Nesseth, the fighter's manager.

Since then there have been a series of mysterious telephone calls to fight figures throughout California. And the scheduled main-event boxers for next Saturday's show at Legion Stadium have backed out.

Must Drop Name "China" In Olympics

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, said Monday the IOC will re-ed mit the Olympic Committee of Nationalist China only if it drops any reference to China in its name.

Nationalist China applied for readmission into the Olympic family Monday in the name of the Republic of China Olympic Committee.

It was technically excluded from the IOC recently because it called itself the Chinese National Olympic Committee, thereby implying it was speaking not only for Taiwan (Formosa), but for the whole of mainland China.

"I am afraid the new proposal cannot be accepted," Mayer said. "It was just because of the use of the word China that the national committee was excluded."

Nationalist China made its re-admission bid from Taipei in a cable to Mayer at Lausanne.

The cable described the IOC's action on Nationalist China at Munich May 28 as "inequitable and unwarranted, to say the least."

Cepeda Shakes 2nd-Year Jinx Now Giants' Biggest Belter

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, defying the so - called sophomore jinx, has replaced Willie Mays as the big belter in San Francisco's drive for the National League lead.

While Mays slumped 18 points to .322 in last week's games, Cepeda climbed 15 points to move into third place in the circuit's batting race with a .333 average. Cepeda hit four homers and drove in 13 runs. For the year, Cepeda has 13 home runs and 45 RBI while Willie has nine circuit blows and 43 runs batted in.

Cepeda won the league's rookie of the year award in 1958 when he batted .312.

AARON, KUENN LEAD

Meanwhile, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee Braves collected nine hits in 23 trips last week. This reduced his pace-setting average one point and he showed a .418 mark after Sunday's action.

Smoky Burgess of Pittsburgh dropped 22 points to .344 with only four hits in 20 times at bat. However, the slugging Pirates' catcher remained in the runner-up position.

In the American League, Detroit Harvey Kuenn opened a 10-point lead over his closest competitor. A week ago Kuenn led Nellie Fox of Chicago White Sox, in second place, by 10 points. Kuenn tailed off seven points to .347 last week while Fox slumped 18 points and dropped into third place at .327. Roger Maris of Kansas City climbed to second with a .328 average.

KILLEBREW ON TOP

Harmon Killebrew of Washington slammed one homer to maintain his American League lead in this department with 19. Ed Mathews of Milwaukee hit three to boost his leading National League total to 19.

Killebrew also paces the American League in runs batted in with 41, two more than Bill Skowron of New York. Ernie Banks of Chicago Cubs drove in six runs last week to deadlock Cincinnati's Frank Robinson for the top spot in the National League. Each has 31.

Details Set For Second All-Star Game

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Details of the second major league all-star baseball game this year will be worked out today when Warren Giles and Joe Cronin, presidents of the National and American leagues, respectively, meet with commissioner Ford C. Frick.

The game, to be played Aug. 3 in the Los Angeles Coliseum, was approved unanimously Monday at a meeting with Frick attended by members of the pension committee and major league player representatives.

Frick said it will be possible to play the game without interrupting the regular schedule, thanks to plane travel. Asked whether the same teams would compete in both games he said that would be revealed after the meeting today. It was assumed the teams would be the same.

Frick said he already had completed negotiations for radio and television rights for the second game. The agreement, with the same sponsor, calls for $250,000,

Phillies Buy Sollie Drake

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies have purchased Solly Drake, 26-year - old outfielder, from Los Angeles Dodgers.

To make room for him, the club returned pitcher Fernando Rodriguez to Buffalo of the International League. Rodriguez was purchased conditionally May 22.

Drake hit .301 for Montreal last year and led the International League in hits, triples, runs and games played.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

Call out the Marines!

It is possible a miniature third world war is due to pop off in Memorial Arena come Friday night.

Maybe the 34th Battery RCA should have laid its reunion over to next weekend. For it looks like a battery of twenty-five pounders may be needed before peace settles over Walt Gerow's sports ballwick.

It is what is known in polite wrestling society as a "Texas Death Match."

Just what that means we are not at all sure. True there will be no hangings or lynchings (or will there?) or anybody shot at midnight. However they could have some pallbearers hanging around, just in case.

Whipper Billy Watson and that Fury of the Foothills, Gene Kiniski, are the principals in this smackdown of mayhem. Hanging around to fit any spare arms or legs that may become misplaced back into position will be two gentlemen in white, better known as referees.

One is the honorable Patrick Flanagan, boss pal of the Whipper. The other is not known at this writing but five gets you fifty it is that amiable youngster Hard-Boiled Haggerty.

Mister Flanagan will see to it that Mr. Kiniski will do what is right by his Whipper. Mr. Haggerty, if it is he, will see to it that everything is done wrong by Mr. Kiniski. It shapes up as a beautiful mutual admiration society with fixed bayonets.

The boys and their assistants, who will, as was mentioned, also act as officials, will have plenty of room in which to play.

Under the "Texas Death Match" rules and regulations, everything is fair outside the ring as well as within it. Up to a certain point, that is.

There will be a ring within the ring. The first two rows of ringside seats will be removed and the area roped off.

The boys can use this extra space as an indoor track, a punching area or a dance floor.

There is nothing mentioned about a time limit or the number of falls. It merely says here "The survivor wins." You figure it out. It could be we'll be around until the small hours of Saturday morning.

HARNESS RACING

If you should drop around the Fair Grounds these balmy June days you will find it's a very busy place. Harness racing men, with the annual fairs and other meets just over the horizon, are readying their pacers and trotters for the various get-togethers.

Some fourteen horses are being trained and readied there and the trac kand stables are hives of activities these coolish mornings.

With the upsurgence in popularity of the sport, city and district owners and drivers feel harness racing should be put on an organizational basis. And with this in mind they are calling a preliminary meeting for tonight at the stables to lay the groundwork for a permanent harness racing association, driving club, or any other name that fits.

Anybody interested in the sport is welcome to attend and add his opinions, suggestions and whatnot on the matter. The meeting gets under way seven o'clock and the racing men at the track are hopeful of a good turnout. The boys will get together at or around the stables. They hope to get away in time to attend the boxing matches at the arena.

BOXING

There's a lot of interest in tonight's starry fight card at Memorial Arena, and promoter Jack Fitzgerald is confident it will be the best show staged by his Belleville Boxing Club this season. Rocky Lucas, Barry Parsons and the rest of the fighting stable are cognizant of the fact they face their toughest opposition tonight, and are fit, ready and rarin' to go in an all-out effort to keep their unbeaten records intact. Four main bouts which bring together the cream of the province's mitmen, should provide the best boxing entertainment ever seen here. The first bout gets underway at nine o'clock.

Select Field To Compete In Ski Trials

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — A select field of top Canadian skiers will compete in a three-week series of trials and training in British Columbia next December for places on Canada's 17-man team for the 1960 Olympic Games.

Mike Guzzell of Port Arthur, president of the Canadian Amateur Skiing Association, made the announcement Sunday night following the association's annual meeting at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

He said Rossland, B.C., will be the site of the main selection camp for 28 Alpine competitors and 19 cross - country racers. Eight jumping team candidates will compete at Kimberley, B.C.

The Olympic team will consist of eight Alpine competitors—four men and four women—three jumpers and two cross-country racers. Four substitute Alpine skiers, two men and two women, also will be with the squad.

Guzzell, who was elected at the meeting to succeed W. G. (Bud) Clark of Ottawa, said four international-approved Canadian competitors already have been named to the junior world championship Anne Heggtveit of Ottawa and Nancy Holland of Quebec with Alpine competitors, and jumpers Jacques Charland of Trois Rivieres, Que., and Garry Gravelle of Ottawa.

These competitors are to go to Europe this winter for six weeks of top competition. They later are to rejoin the Canadian team at Rossland.

Guzzell said the CASA meeting adopted a new fund-raising policy which is expected to raise $40,000 to aid skiing in Canada. Under the plan, every registered skier in the country would contribute 50 cents. Fifty per cent of the money raised would go to the ski zone organization, 40 per cent to the CASA and 10 per cent to the individual clubs.

Whip Bosox for 4th Straight And Comeback Mark of 22-5; Pirates Face Is Relief Ace

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you start talking about relief aces in the National League, let's face it, Elroy Face is your man.

The stubby righthander has been Pittsburgh's right-hand man in the Pirates' climb from obscurity. He hasn't been beaten in more than a year, figuring in 34 victories since he last was a loser, on May 30 of last year.

In that time, Face has won 13 and saved 21 with a 1.51 earned run average, allowing just 71 runs in 100 2-3 innings.

The 31-year-old former Dodger farm hand grabbed his eighth victory of the season Monday night by collaring the slugging San Francisco Giants in a 12-6 Pirate success cited by Harry Bright's three-run, two - out pinch homer in the 11th inning.

TRIED FOR THIRD

That ended the Bucs' skid at four games and pushed them into a three-way tie for fourth place with Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles.

The Cubs were beaten in the only other game scheduled, losing 8-3 at Milwaukee as the first place Braves regained a three-game edge over the second-place Giants.

Face blanked the Giants on three hits in his three innings of relief, walked none and fanned one after the Pirates caught the Giants with a five-run eighth-inning capped by Dick Stuart's two-run homer.

Young lefty Mike McCormick (3-5) was the loser in relief for the Giants.

The Pirates also got a solo first home run from catcher Danny Kravitz, who came on after Smoky Burgess was struck a glancing blow on the head by a thrown ball. Felipe Alou and Willie Kirkland homered for the Giants.

Lew Burdette was almost the whole show for the Braves, batting 4-for-4, driving in four runs and winning his ninth. He needed relief help, however, when he finally gave in to the 86-degree cold in the eighth inning after blanking the Cubs on three hits for seven. Don McMahon retired it.

A seven-run fifth clinched it for the Braves with Burdette's second double scoring three runs. The loser was Seth Morehead (5-3) who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 20th homer, tops in the majors.

Red Storey Status Is Not Changed

MONTREAL (CP) — The status of referee Red Storey, so far as the current National Hockey League annual meeting is concerned, stands today just where it was last April when he quit—unless the club owners decide to do something about it.

"I have had no communication with Storey as to his future," said NHL president Clarence Campbell.

"There is nothing on the agenda about him for these meetings. Any matters can make any arrangements on their own initiative."

Storey quit in Boston during the Stanley Cup semi-final between the Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs, claiming he had been publicly criticized for his work in the Montreal - Chicago semi-final by president Campbell.

TRADE JEFFCOAT

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds traded veteran relief pitcher Hal Jeffcoat to St. Louis Cardinals Monday for right-handed pitcher Jim Brosnan. Jeffcoat has only one decision this year—a loss. Brosnan has won one game in four for the Cards.

Royals Whip Sugar Kings; Leafs Split

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of sluggers who have been making their presence felt lately were at it again in the International League Monday night.

Montreals Clyde Parris smacked a three-run homer and gave Montreal Royals a 6-3 victory over Havana Sugar Kings. Frank Leja crashed a three-run double to help Richmond to its ninth straight victory, a 4-4 decision over Rochester Red Wings.

Miami knocked off last-place Toronto 5-1 in a regularly scheduled game after Toronto won the completion of a seven - inning game called May 2 because of Toronto's curfew, 4-0.

Parris' homer gave him 12, one behind league - leaders Frank Herrera of Buffalo, and Havana's Rogelio Alvarez, who also homered. Parris upped his runs batted in totals to 49, one behind Herrera and his batting average to .315, eighth best in the league.

The homer helped Tom Lasorda (4-2) to the victory, as he scattered eight hits over the nine innings. Sandy Amoros and Bob Lennon also homered for Montreal. Pete Carrillo (0-2) lost.

Leja's double was his second of the night, and third hit. It helped the Vees overcome a 4-3 deficit, as the Red Wings scored their runs in a big fourth inning that knocked out Richmond ace Bill Short.

Jack Reed had a single, two doubles and a triple as Richmond moved to within a half game of league-leading Buffalo. Glen Cox (1-0) gave only two hits after relieving Short in the fourth. Joe McClain (2-5) lost in relief.

Vito Valentinetti (1-1) allowed only three hits but walked six over seven innings for Miami's regular-game decision. Art Kay finished up. Frank Kellert hit his fifth home run and Fred Valentine his fourth for the Marlins. Don Johnson (3-1) lost.

Ed Blake (1-6) got credit for the suspended game victory as rookie Al Pehanick took care of Miami in the final inning.

Bl Wants OHA to Probe Salaries Paid By Kingston; Merchants Say Books Open

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Officials of the Whitby Dunlops want the Ontario Hockey Association to investigate salaries paid last season by the Kingston Merchants. Merchants say the OHA wants an investigation that's fine by them.

Manager Wren Blair of Dunlops said Monday the figures released by Merchants — followed members of the OHA Eastern Senior A series—made no sense.

In a separate interview later in Kingston, Reg Walton, Merchants' president, said: "We have an audited statement that is open for anyone to see. As far as we're concerned, there is nothing to hide."

FEUD CONTINUES

The Whitby protest arises from last week's league meeting at which Kingston reported a deficit which made it impossible to pay at present $2,366.12 owing to the league pool.

Blair said Merchants "claim they paid $25,000 to their arena on a 70-30 split of the gate, and it doesn't take a mathematician to know that they took in $84,000 gross, therefore leaving a revenue to the club of $59,000.

"Last fall the league set a salary limit of $1,550. No team was to exceed this gross amount. Kingston operated for 23 weeks and assuming they paid the maximum allowed of $1,550 this would show an amount of salaries paid of $35,650. All other costs of operating a hockey club are equal."

TOTAL COSTS ESTIMATED

Blair estimated that all other costs are $3,195, making a total operational cost of $44,845.

"Having taken in $59,000 at the box office, the club share of this should indicate a surplus of operations of some $14,000, yet Kingston instead claims an operational loss.

"It is the feeling of the Whitby club that his loss on operation has been created by the overpayment of salaries to players and it is on this basis that we will ask the OHA to investigate whether or not the Kingston team is in violation of the salary limit."

LOSS IN POOL

The Merchants president said his club has "put in $30,000 more than it has taken out of the league pool over the last seven years. Last season, if we had to pay the pool we would have had to fold in December and there wouldn't have been an eastern division."

Blair estimates our other costs at $9,195. I'd like him to show us how we could do it for that sum. We spent about $4,000 on equipment, $3,600 on new players, $2,000 to $3,000 for training camp expenses, $1,766 for advertising, $1,000 for insurance, $1,223 for referees' fees after Jan. 1 and there were other OHA fees as well.

"We pay 30 per cent of our gate to the arena. Blair only pays $100 a night. That's the big difference. But everything is in our audited statement for the OHA or the press or anyone else to investigate."

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — Manassa Mauler, owned by the Long Island restaurant man Emil Dolce, was made a supplementary entry Monday for the $125,000 - added Belmont Stakes at a cost of $5,000.

Trainer Frank Martin made the delayed nomination after Manassa Mauler, who upset First Landing in the Wood Memorial, worked out a mile in 1:42 2-5 at Aqueduct. The colt is named for former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey.

The added $10,000 to make Manassa Mauler a supplementary entry for the Belmont Stakes is a cost of $5,000.

Trainer Frank Martin made the delayed nomination after Manassa Mauler, who upset First Landing in the Wood Memorial, worked out a mile in 1:42 2-5 at Aqueduct. The colt is named for former heavyweight boxing champion Jack Dempsey.

The probable favorite at around 4 to 5 is Sword Dancer, who was nosed out in the derby by Tomy Lee, and then beat older horses May 30 in the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont.

Royal Orbit, who beat Sword Dancer by four lengths in the Preakness, is next at 5 to 2. Black Hills, surprise winner over Royal Orbit in the Peter Pan Saturday, is listed at 4-1.

TORONTO (CP)—Bold Scholar, owned by Alex Chris of Kitchener, defeated Clifton Bay by one length to win the featured Mount Royal Purse at New Woodbine Park Monday.

All six starters in the Mount Royal are nominees for next Saturday's $7,500 Achievement Stakes as well as the $15,000 Queen's Plate, Tuesday, June 30.

Bold Scholar ran the seven furlongs in a moderate 1:24 2-5 as he caught the pace-setting Willowdale Boy on the final turn and withstood the final challenge of Clifton Bay. Willowdale Boy finished third. The heavily-backed Major Flight was fourth.

The winner, ridden by Ernie Warme, paid $7.60, $4.6; and $3.70.

Racing fans will see a preview of the Queen's Plate when Canada's best three-year-olds run in the Achievement Stakes.

Say Pickings Will Be Poor In NHL Annual Grabfest

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The first grab-fest on the agenda of the National Hockey League's annual meeting comes up today with expectations that pickings will be poor.

The price is $20,000 per player from the Western Hockey League, and at that figure no body has worked up much of a sweat.

More important was the fate of the Quebec Hockey League and the possible hook-up of two QHL clubs with the American Hockey League.

Neither minor circuit is meeting here officially but the best guess was that the AHL will stand pat and that's down the Hall of Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces to come into the fold. Preferred Sunday dates by all clubs, plus long train hops, are the main obstacles.

IN A QUANDARY

The QHL admittedly is in a quandary. It can try to persuade Trois - Rivieres and Chicoutimi into going ahead again or can look for new territory. Possible new locations mentioned include Ottawa, Kingston and Sudbury.

Meanwhile, the AHL is still without a working agreement with the major NHL. Without this agreement, the AHL cannot draft from the WHL or the QHL. Nor can the NHL draft from the AHL, a situation the top-ranking minor circuit has long held to be unjust and prejudicial.

The big intra-league draft of NHL clubs is scheduled for Wednesday. It is also a $20,000 deal and its importance could be dwarfed by deals or trades.

The clubs have until 5 p.m. today to name their protected players—16 plus two goalies—who are not subject to the draft.

CANADIENS STAND PAT

Coach Toe Blake of the NHL and Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens said Monday his club will stand pat on its current roster and protect all of them.

General manager-coach Punch Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs said he is willing to go in for wholesale swaps, but nobody so far has offered enough. Imlach said he is prepared to put defenseman Noel Price and Marc Reaume and brother forwards Brian and Barry Cullen on the trading block, but he won't subject them to the draft.

"Everybody wants a battleship for a canoe," said Imlach Monday.

"We'll still protect them against the draft, anyway. We're not going to get caught short. We could still use a new forward line, one defenceman and maybe a goalie."

There were also reports that general manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings is willing to deal off Alex Delvecchio, but wants solid proven talent in return. Rumors had it that Dollard St. Laurent, one-time Montreal defenceman who went to Chicago a year ago, is ticketed for Detroit.

MINOR RULE CHANGES

The NHL rules committee came up with a flock of changes Monday, most minor or technical.

The most important provides a minor penalty for the goalie who goes behind his goal line and falls on or smothers the puck. He can play the puck but not grab it. Montreal Canadiens, whose goalie Jacques Plante is a past master at wandering from the nets, unsuccessfully opposed the change.

The committee also decided to go back to the $25 fine, instead of $100 as invoked in the middle of last season, for players who hop from the bench to get into a ruckus or for other reasons. The automatic misconduct penalty for such infractions was wiped out also, but the NHL president must review the affair and will have power to increase the $25 fine.

Sophia Loren, Anthony Quinn Co-star In Romantic Film drama

Performances that are a pleasure to watch in a motion picture of exceptional quality are entertainment make "The Black Orchid", which opened yesterday at the Belle Theatre, as memorable a production as any this reviewer has been privileged to see.

Co-stars Sophia Loren and Anthony Quinn bring out the very best in each other — and any film fan will admit that their best are indeed superlative. Miss Loren, having recently shown what she can do with comedy in "Houseboat", now turns her charms to illuminate the portrayal of a troubled-beset widow of a slain gangster. The story concerns her romance with the man who is seen as a successful business man who wants to marry her and help bring up her difficult twelve-year-old son. He himself is a grown daughter, who is 5 about to be married. It is the daughter who interferes in the romance and creates the interesting and suspensful plot complications.

Ina Balin, young stage actress, makes her film debut as Quinn's daughter and gives an intensely dramatic and realistic performance. Ina Balin's does a fine job as her confused fiance. The colorful Italian-American atmosphere and interesting character delineations add considerably to the distinction of "The Black Orchid" a wonderful Paramount film in VistaVision.

A program of entertaining Technicolor Featurettes precede the feature attraction including a clever cartoon comedy, "Owly To Bed", a Multiplex-ed color novelette "Cruise of the Zaca" and popular Belle World News-reel. The entire program will be repeated again tonight for the last times at the Belle Theatre.

SPORTS EDITOR DIES

BALTIMORE (CP) — Rodger Pippen, 71, former athlete and long-time sports editor of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American, died at his home Monday in nearby Silcott City. Pippen retired from the News-Post 18 months ago after 52 years in newspaper sports writing.

Grants-in-Aid to Writers Announced Soon by CBS

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In a couple of weeks the CBS television network will announce the recipients of five television writing grants of in-aid of $5,000 each.

There have been thousands of applicants, including professional writers and many who have not published anything.

Louis G. Cowan, president of CBS-TV who initiated the plan which will continue for at least three years, says the program represents "a slight effort to improve the over-all quality of writing for television."

Each writer who receives a grant for the year beginning July 1 will be assigned to a CBS-TV network producer.

"It's expected that each will complete a piece of television work in the course of a year," says Cowan. "It may be in drama or it may be some other creative programming idea. One important aspect is this: It CBS doesn't accept the grantee's work, he's free to take it to any other network or private producer."

Cowan emphasizes that this is not a CBS talent hunt. Rather, he and others in the network wish to contribute to the general cause of better TV writing.

"Television needs more good writers," Cowan says "and this is one way to find and encourage them."

A curious situation exists between television and many of its best writers. Never in the field of the published word has there been anything like the spectacle of numerous writers protesting vigorously against the medium that employs them, calling it repressive and censorious of their best work.

Some, such as Paddy Chayefsky, have abandoned television. Others linger, complaining but glad to take the money. Looking over the past drama season, one must conclude that not all of them are as talented as they claim to be.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD AP) — Alan Young was told recently by the American Embassy in London that he would lose his citizenship if he stayed any longer in England.

The comedian, who had been working in his native land for most of three years, explained:

"I'm here because there isn't any comedy on television in the States. If I went back there, I'd be out of work and collecting unemployment insurance. Think of the money I'm saving the government!"

The officials weren't impressed with his argument, and so he's back in his adopted country.

NOW DRAMATIC ACTOR

It is perhaps a commentary on the state of comedy that Young had returned not to play for laughs. He's appearing in a dramatic version of H. G. Wells' "The Man Who Could Work Miracles."

Young is the same fellow who did a successful comedy series of comedy shows has gone up and up until sponsors get panicky. If they don't get a good rating in the first few weeks, they cancel."

England to work as a laugh-getter. He did many TV shows there, as well as the movie Tom Thumb.

"The English still like their comedy," Young said. "They are intensely loyal to their old favorites, almost too much so. You see some pretty dreadful comedy, all because the public keeps supporting the oldtimers.

"Another thing is that there are only two TV channels in England. With so little exposure, comedians can last longer over there."

It's different in the U.S., as he himself can testify. He was a vic-tim of TV's voracious appetite for performers.

You hear the usual arguments about the difficulty of being funny every week. But Young put his finger on another element: Greed.

"I think maybe the comedy stars ask for too much money. The price of comedy shows has

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTEE

Wednesday, June 10

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Undecided whether to simply enjoy yourself or work at those creative outlets? Wisest Course is to labor diligently, for the pleasures are with you this fine day. P. M. be very affectionate, but oh so gentle.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Here is one of those days when you..can start doing all kinds of rather odd and unprofitable things! If you don't take yourself in hand. Do so quickly or you disrupt tranquility at abode, destroy valuables. P. M. avoid that trouble maker.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Much precaution should be taken in all that you do today in order to avoid having unfortunate loss or accident. Keep well too free time for some special-ized work. P. M. be loyal and co-operative with a good friend.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — You may rightfully feel that your income or funds are insufficient to meet your immediate requirements, but remember that you are not alone in this. Think constructively and positively and soon your problems vanish. P. M. be kind at home.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Feeling quite powerfully distraught and angry, if you do not utilize all this energy in the right way, you could get yourself into quite a pickle now. P.M. remain silent at own fireside and do not upset close tie who is weary.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Much as you would want to run away from your problems, hard work and fall down on-commitments made, if you but tackle them intelligently, you will find they are stepping stones to success. Don't you have time for bigger, better outlets.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — An overly dynamic person could now upset you quite a bit, if you permit. Shut your ears to anything said and keep working diligently at important work at hand. Victory is yours then.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Giving a piece of your mind to a higher up or risking savings and reputation by investing unwisely simply because things are not going so well for you would be foolishness indeed. Let others see you have your feet on the ground.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You would simply love to run off to a new environment, believing you could then forget your obligations and commitments, but this is not good character building. You are bigger than you think. Stand your ground and work.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Your intuition is not reliable today, nor is the advice of one on whom you can usually depend. So merely keep plugging away at practical things and work with method and you will be far ahead of the game.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — A very scheming person today endeavors to get you to commit yourself dangerously, and this does not mean only financially. So, be on your guard. P. M. beware of an executive, too. Give generously to worthy, lukewarm.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Inasmuch as you seem to be making many errors in your work right now, be certain you labor more slowly and recheck all that you do. P. M. forget laboring the fuse is hot the Middle East seems to be expecting a new explosion which will echo throughout Iraq and the world.

The Communists are encouraging unrest in the key Arab country. They control most if not all the mass organizations. They have supporters, if not members, high in the government.

But the Communists seem unable or unwilling to press their advantage to the utmost. Indeed, they seem to be quarreling over the methods and pace to be employed in a gradual attempt to turn the country into a Middle East version of a people's democracy.

LOCAL REDS IMPATIENT

Moscow apparently is insisting on an internationalist approach. This clashes with the impatience of some local Communists who arranged from jails and underground hideouts in July, eager to strike for power as their reward.

Moscow has a bigger goal than Iraq in mind—a long-run slab at a large slice of the Middle East, possibly after disillusioned Arab intellectuals consider themselves produced a unifying cause or leader.

NEW MEDICAL CENTRE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction of a $2,800,000 medical science centre in the University of B.C., will begin Oct. 1, university President N. A. M. MacKenzie said Sunday.

Think Kremlin Checked Iraqi Reds' Power Bid

EDS: William L. Ryan, AP news analyst, is making another of his periodic tours of the Middle East. Because dispatches sent from Baghdad are censored, Ryan waited until he reached Beirut to send the report on Iraq.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BEIRUT Lebanon (AP)—There is a strong suspicion in Baghdad that the Kremlin, in a calculated gamble, checked the Iraqi Communists' bid to grab power.

Some such move apparently aroused disagreement and resentment in the ranks of less disciplined party members. It looks as if there has been a serious split but there seems little question that Moscow has prevailed.

Moscow seems to want to hold Iraq's Communists back so they can handle the country like a chess piece in the game for global power. Thus it may be months, even years, before the Communists try anything akin to a total takeover.

POTENTIAL POWDERKEG

Actually Moscow is toying with a powderkeg. None can say how long the fuse is but the Middle East seems to be expecting a new explosion which will echo throughout Iraq and the world.

The Communists are encouraging unrest in the key Arab country. They control most if not all the mass organizations. They have supporters, if not members, high in the government.

98 PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES SEEK YOUR SUPPORT

A personal message from Premier Frost

On Thursday next, June 11th, you will be going to the polling booth in your own community to cast a vote for the Candidate of your own choosing. Many factors will enter into your decision as to the name against which you will place your all-important "X". As one of the 98 Progressive Conservative Candidates, I may perhaps be permitted to say a word on our behalf.

For ten years now, it has been my privilege to serve you as Premier of our Province. That means that I have had the support at all times of these dedicated and public spirited men and women whose pictures appear on this page. It has been that support—and the support of hundreds of thousands of my fellow Canadians in Ontario—which has made possible the accomplishments and achievements of this great decade of development for our province.

Each in his or her own way, has been a partner of my colleagues and myself in the planning and carrying out of the spectacular advances in the development of our province and in the living standards and Human Betterment of our people which have been unprecedented in these great years anywhere in the world.

All of them join me at this time in pledging to you our dedication to the carrying out of our great program—the planned development of Ontario's wealth and resources to provide the greatest measure of equality of Opportunity for every citizen of Ontario without regard for age, religion, racial origin, or station in life.

Ours is a Party of all the people. It represents all classes. It is beholden to no special interests. It serves the hopes, aspirations, wishes and desires of the average man and woman of our province.

This is our creed. This is our political faith. We ask your mandate on June 11th to carry on the development of our province and the progress of our people in the future as we have done in the past.

Published by the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario.

WEST REJECTS 'DELAY' IN BERLIN

Ontario Voters Will Troop To Polls Thursday

Weeks of Campaigning Grind to Halt Tonight

TORONTO (CP) — It's election day Thursday for Ontario, a Conservative domain for 41 of the last 54 years.

Five weeks of campaigning by 296 candidates grind to a halt tonight, leaving the decision up to a record 3,272,654 voters.

Polls open at 9 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. EDT in 96 of the 98 ridings. Times are an hour later in the northwestern constituencies of Kenora and Rainy River, located in the Central time zone.

Premier Leslie Frost, who took office in 1949, is bidding to extend 16 consecutive years of Conservative government—already a record for his party in the province. His platform is continued progress for Canada's richest region.

OPPOSITION VIEW

The opposing leaders, John Wintermeyer of the Liberals and Donald C. MacDonald of the CCF, have appealed to voters to throw out a government whose major charge has become smug and arrogant.

Conservatives have dominated political life in Ontario since their first election triumph in 1905. Their reign was interrupted from 1919 to 1923 when the United Farmers of Ontario held office and by a nine-year Liberal administration between 1934 and 1943.

The Liberals seek to repeat the 1934 election sweep of Mitchell Hepburn. The CCF have never formed an Ontario government although it was the opposition party from 1943 to 1945 and again between 1948 and 1951.

Two issues which sparked personal attacks during the election campaign revolved on last year's scandal gas stock controversy and the purchase of former Indian lands near Sarnia by Premier Frost's brother, Political profiteering has been charged.

Even the natural gas issue appears to be giving the Conservatives little concern. They say the government fought and won six byelections last year in which the gas controversy was the principal topic.

In the 1955 election the Conservatives emerged with 82 seats, the Liberals with 11 and the CCF with three. An Independent Conservative, James Dempsey, was elected in a byelection last year later died and the seat was won by Progressive Conservative James Maloney in a 1956 byelection.

At dissolution last month the Weather Picture Across Canada

Crazy Quilt of Heat and Snow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Where it was hot, it was very, very hot, and where it was cold, it was frigid.

That about sums up Canada's weather Thursday—a crazy quilt with cold patches at each end and heat in the middle.

It was so hot in Ottawa—81, a June 9 record—that juridical decisions were sacrificed for comfort in Carleton County Court as barristers and judges doffed jackets in courtroom gowns for business suits.

In St. John's, Nfld., it snowed. The weather office said 1½ inches of snow fell on the Avalon Peninsula, the second time since 1942 that a measurable amount of snow came down in June. Monday night's low temperature was 26 degrees. Record low for the day, however, is 27.4, set in 1956.

Toronto was hot—it recorded its first heat-wave death, Zare Ezekiski, 34, who collapsed and died of a heart attack. Coroner Smirle Lawson warned young people to move slowly in the 86 degree heat. The previous record was 88 in 1861.

Mostly cool and cloudy with occasional showers today and Friday. Winds northwesterly 15 today, diminishing tonight. Low tonight 45, high today 70.

Tourist Policy Flailed Anew In Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian government tourist policy was flailed anew by Conservative supporters Tuesday, and the Commons mines committee decided to summon Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton before ending its annual review of the subject.

"Let's leave this for the full treatment," said chairman A. D. Murphy (PC — Lambton West) after the second day of investigation. The surface had barely been scratched, he said.

The Canadian Tourist Association in a brief to the committee renewed its suggestion that a travel bureau offices be established at Sleeton, Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Such bureaus now are maintained in New York and Cleveland.

J. A. Lawson Mackie, director of public relations for the Joint Board of Ontario Travel Associations, told the committee that interest rate as high as 14 per cent have been paid by tourist operators who had to go to the "black market" for capital.

He was plunging for governmental assistance to help finance tourist facilities in low-interest areas.

But, he said, those operators who do spend to provide service should know they can profit.

NEED LONGER SEASON

He also said that too many tourists are crammed into the peak period between July 15-August 15. Ontario associations had managed to get 3,000,000 individual holidays diverted to other periods in the last three years.

Employers were happy to cooperate because they wanted well-rested employees rather than workers exhausted from flocking to get accommodation. He also suggested that today's big spenders for Canada are the wage earners. The employer is off to Europe these days, Mr. Mackie said.

Widen Search But Think Thug Still on Island

AMHERSTBURG (CP) — A province-wide search is being conducted today for one of two men involved in a gunfight early Tuesday on Fighting Island, an amusement centre in the Detroit River opposite Amherstburg.

However, although the search now is province-wide in nature, it is still generally centred on the island in the belief that the gunman, wounded in the exchange of fire with police, is hiding out somewhere in the island's dense undergrowth.

Subject of the search is Leroy Morenzi, 23, of Amherstburg. Police say he is armed and extremely dangerous.

Southern Ontario will have humid weather with thunderstorms later today and a chance of clearing, cooler weather again Thursday.

DOCTORS FIGHT TO SAVE LIFE OF POLICE OFFICER

Tangles With Bandit In Windsor Hold-Up

WINDSOR (CP) — Doctors are today continuing their sound-the-clock battle to save the life of a young Windsor policeman critically wounded in a gunfight with a bank bandit here Tuesday.

Constable Bryan Pickup, 28, the father of three children, is on the critical list in hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Constable Pickup was the first officer on the scene when a general alarm was sounded at an east-end Bank of Montreal branch where a daylight holdup by two masked bandits.

The alarm was sounded unnoticed by the bandits in the bank's chief clerk, Norman Westcott, and the 115 customers and bank employees were being herded into the bank's vault.

When the gunmen realized an alarm had been sounded they started out of the bank with a shopping bag full of money—$10,733 in all—that they had collected from the tills.

CHIEF DISARMS BANDITS

Dawson Ezvik, 49, of Windsor, helped the wounded officer to the rear of the building. Ezvik was driving his truck into the bank's lane to saw the bandit emerge from the building and scuffle with the constable.

"I saw this tall guy come out of the bank and throw himself on the policeman," he said. "They were grappling on the ground when the gun went off.

"I got out of my truck, rushed over and grabbed the gun arm and twisted it right up his back. Then I saw another police officer came along and another guy came out of the bank. They were about going off all over the place and I didn't quite know what was happening."

One of the other officers by then on the scene fought a gun battle at close quarters with the second gunman, subduing the man, the police recovered the money intact.

TWO IN CUSTODY

In custody are Kenneth Coulter, 24, of Toronto, and Nicholas Hamilton, alias Nicholas McCormick, 32, of Vancouver.

Police are checking the possibility that a third man was waiting in a car found near the scene of the holdup. They think the man may have left on foot.

A small suitcase containing a revolver was found in the trunk of the car.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Jerry Bastrell, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Barrett of Shedden, was killed Tuesday when struck by a tractor-trailer on Highway 3 near here.

Premier Frost, MacDonald Fire Final Campaign Shots

By SEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Premier Frost and CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald fired their final shots of the Ontario election campaign Tuesday night.

Then they headed for the quiet of their own ridings to await Thursday's decision of the voters and left the hustings to Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer who is carrying his energetic campaign almost right down to the wire.

Mr. MacDonald drew the biggest turnout of the campaign—nearly 2,000 waving, shouting supporters—at a rally in Toronto's Massey Hall. He said the CCF published his socialist party's platform and declared:

"If we develop the resources of this province there should not be a single soul living in poverty."

Premier Frost, whose closing drive has taken almost all the seats held by the three CCF members of the last legislature, went to Ottawa where his affairs at the Liberals and CCF kept an audience of 300 chuckling through an hour-long speech.

The premier pointed most of his attack at Mr. Wintermeyer and what he termed "the Liberal failure of 1939."

Mr. Wintermeyer swung through five Ottawa-area ridings and told a total of 650 persons at five meetings that he had found a flood of support for his party during this tour.

He stressed the unity of the Liberal party in this election.

Mr. Frost planned a quiet, informal tour of his Victoria constituency today.

Mr. MacDonald planned a similar day in York South, his riding in the suburban Toronto Weston city.

Mr. Wintermeyer planned to fly from Ottawa early today to Hamilton. There he is scheduled to lead a motorcade through the city's streets and then drive to St. Catharines for a parade and night rally.

The premier was in rare form at Oshawa, laughing at the Toronto Star which is alleged to support the CCF or the Liberals despite its long opposition to the Conservative government.

Referring to the Liberal rally at Massey Hall Monday night, he

France Steadily Drawing Away From NATO Allies

PARIS AP) — France appears to be drawing steadily away from her chief partners in the Western alliance as President de Gaulle pursues his course of acting in this city an equal role with Britain and the United States.

Western diplomats are openly concerned over how far the president will go.

De Gaulle has set a course described as resulting France to her lost international prestige and power. His strategy appears to be to establish himself as the top policy maker in the world, to push projects until the United States and Britain accept him as the "grandeur of France" which de Gaulle proclaims.

De Gaulle is asking to be accepted as a bargaining equal to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev Minister Macmillan. His demand for a summit conference is unrealistic since France has no atomic bomb, only two under-strength divisions now under NATO and is threatened with internal dissension over Algeria.

De Gaulle wants the formula on how to put together an A bomb. He can't get it from the United States—present acts of Congress forbid that—and there's no apparent inclination to give it to him.

The French president wants to work out with Eisenhower and Macmillan a global policy including the Middle East and Africa. But both the United States and Britain have misgivings about France's refusal to promise her Algerian independence.

De Gaulle also is opposed to the theory of integrated NATO forces under which NATO members have backed repeatedly.

De Gaulle announced two French Mediterranean squadron would not be put under NATO but would be "at home."

The French president also said he would withdraw some units of France, because he won't have control over the missiles' atomic warheads.

There has been no specific U.S. policy reply to de Gaulle's demands. Each one is handled as it arises — politely but firmly turned down.

The latest development is the prompt hint that supreme allied commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, soon will pass over 200 U.S. fighter - bombers away from French bases.

Reported says that since France won't admit U.S. - controlled atomic warheads for the planes they must be based where they can keep their ammunition.

Pearson Gives Few Proverbs At New School

NEW YORK (CP)—In a speech to the New School for social research Tuesday night, Canada's Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson produced a few proverbs.

For example:

"Diplomacy is largely the art of making an indiscretion sound like a diplomatic communique. The art of making a platitude sound like a profound truth.

"Why is it easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a foreign ministers' conference to reach an agreed solution on problems which, if not solved, may result in universal catastrophe?

"I have no desire to play the role of a 20th-century Canute attempting to stop the no-le-ger waves; but it might not be amiss to remind the long enough to remember that Mount Lisa is not painted in a test tube.

"What is the value of sending monkeys to the moon or scientists to Antarctica if we make life on earth by misusing the mechanisms we have created?"

Mr. Pearson pleaded for an Atlantic community based on the "Canadian political concept of federation, free trade and genuine collective defence.

Mr. Pearson received an honorary degree from the New School. He did Mr. Justice Felix Frankfurter, Walter Lippman and Dr. Edith Bone of England.

Adenauer Fails To Reach Accord With Erhard

BONN (CP) — Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer talked for two hours today and failed to reach agreement over Erhard Adenauer's decision to hold on to the West German chancellorship.

Information said Adenauer invited Erhard to the chancellory. But the 82-year-old chancellor is not taking any initiative about stepping down.

The West German government's portfolio No. 2 man drove to Adenauer's Rhineside home for their meeting since West Germany's 50-year-old leader decided last week not to step up to the article's presidency.

There has been the favorite to take over the government. His decision to fight on his return from a visit to Washington confirmed reports that Adenauer's secret challenge to his political supremacy since he took office in 1949.

Erhard and Adenauer skipped a cabinet meeting to have their private talk.

Two leading officials of Adenauer's Christian Democratic party, Floor Leader Heinrich Von Brentano and parliamentary leader of the important Bavarian branch, also were at the meeting. This indicated that an attempt was being made to patch up the differences between open political warfare tore the party apart.

A spokesman said the talks were "inconclusive."

Adenauer apparently did not meet Erhard's "peace terms." A spokesman for Erhard said his boss demands a solid indication from the party that it supports him as a candidate for the chancellorship in succession to Adenauer.

LEADERS TRAVEL 30,00 MILES IN STIFF CAMPAIGN

Liberal Leader Still on Hustings

By The Canadian Press

It has been a long and arduous grind for the three party leaders in Ontario's election campaign.

In little more than five weeks Premier Leslie M. Frost, Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer and CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald have chalked up more than 30,000 miles in their crisscrossing tours of the province.

Today Mr. Frost and Mr. MacDonald planned easy swings through their home ridings. But Mr. Wintermeyer was still on the go.

More than 100 communities have been visited by one or both of the leaders.

GRUELLING ITINERARY

The most gruelling schedule has been that of Mr. Wintermeyer. He has travelled mainly by car, after rising at dawn and frequently has not gone to bed at midnight after eight or five stops over a route of several hundred miles.

At 42 the the youngest of the three leaders, he appeared able to stand the pace without apparent effects. He says his happy faculty of being able to sleep soundly in a moving car has chiefly responsible for making his itinerary possible.

The Kitchener lawyer told a reporter last weekend that he is confident of logging 15,000 miles by the campaign's end today.

Mr. Frost, who will be 64 in August, has covered about 11,000 miles—8,000 by car, 1,000 by plane and 1,000 on trains.

SHAWNS AHEAD IN HAMMA

The premier's biggest chore has been handshaking. All his campaigns have been in the form of receptions and his organizers have tried to assure that all those attending meet the premier personally.

After shaking hands with 267 in Oshawa Tuesday night he told reporters "one hour more of greetings was a record for him — equivalent to 801 an hour.

Mr. MacDonald has covered fewer miles in his drive to become the province's first CCF premier but he has been staying longer at each stop than have the other leaders.

The 45-year-old CCF leader has done most of his 8,500 miles by car, often doing the driving himself. About two-thirds of the travel was in Northern Ontario ridings where he feels his party stands the best chance of gaining seats.

Since May 11 he has visited 25 communities, 16 of them in the north, to deliver 32 major political speeches. He has visited the rural areas of southwestern Ontario in the most arduous fashion.

Judge Pledges Court Will Function Without Regard to Race or Color

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—(AP)—A veteran North Florida jurist has pledged that his court will function "without regard to race, creed or color" during the Tallahassee rape trial opening today.

Circuit Judge W. A. Shaw Walker told reporters the case of four Negroes charged with raping and robbing a slender Negro college girl is being treated the same as any other criminal case.

There was an atmosphere of tension as the trial began.

The four, if convicted without a recommendation of mercy, would get the death penalty, but no white man has gone to the electric chair in Florida for raping a Negro.

Three women and several Negroes were in the panel of about 170 prospective jurors called for the case.

All four accused pleaded not guilty at their arraignment, although Sheriff Bill Joyce said he had signed confessions.

Defendants are Willie Collins-worth, 23, a fellow prisoner who is married and has two children; Wilbert Lee Dozier, 20, an air force man; David Ervin Boggles, 18, a high school senior, and Charles Thompson, 18, who dropped out of high school.

Prison officials said those given life sentences for rape serve at least 10 years. A white man now at the state prison has served more than 20 years of a life sentence for rape and robbery.

Under segregated seating at the trial, white spectators will occupy the lower floor and Negroes the Soviet Proposal For Moratorium Is Under Fire

Must Have Been Made To Wreck Conference

GENEVA (AP) — Russia has proposed to the Western powers a one-year moratorium in the Berlin crisis provided the Western agrees to begin working out a German settlement as Soviet terms.

A U.S. spokesman said the proposal—which would put the West under a new deadline — was "totally unacceptable" and must have been introduced by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko "in order to bring about the breakup" of the Big Four conference.

Assistant State Secretary Andrew H. Berding, making public the Soviet proposal which was advanced at a secret session Tuesday, reported the Western reaction today at a press conference.

Berding said that "obviously there is no point in going on with the conference on the basis of these proposals."

Gromyko, after his move at the secret session in the conference U.S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter Tuesday, got agreement to a formal Big Four session today. He served notice he would not budge from the Soviet demand meaning he would make it public.

SOUGHT DETAILS

Herter and the other foreign ministers, Britain's Selwyn Lloyd and France's Maurice Couve de Murville, asked for a written statement of the plan. Gromyko refused to provide it.

Western delegations left the meeting Tuesday talking pessimism and saying no progress had been made. The spokesmen fostered a false impression that the Russians had made no new move of any kind.

Why they decided to set the record straight today was not immediately clear. But presumably they had to check with Washington, Washington and Paris and Britain by way to make the play away from Gromyko in advance.

Berding said the proposal "represents a true limit, a true step into the Berlin situation and does not represent any kind of threat."

The Russians originally had proposed last Nov. 27 a six-month time limit which the West called an ultimatum.

RUSSIAN PROPOSAL

Berding said the proposal as presented by Gromyko moreover covered these general lines:

"The Soviet Union would accept the temporary maintenance of certain Western occupation rights in West Berlin for the period of the moratorium.

"During this period an all-German committee of the (Communist) German Democratic Republic and the (anti-Communist) Federal Republic on a parity basis would work out the terms of reunification, agree on the principles of a peace treaty and facilitate the holding of genuine, broadcasting of contracts, between the GDR and the FRG."

Gromyko, Berding said, declared the one-year time limit necessary to prevent the West German government from defacing indefinitely the successful completion of a peace treaty.

TORONTO (CP)—Acting York Township Counsel John Brooke was rebuked Tuesday by Judge Joseph Sweet after the lawyer had an investigation into township land deals in which he conducted like a "semi-star chamber."

"Please do not say that again," snapped the judge. "Never let reaction into a press conference.

Mr. Brooke's allusion came as Reino Creighton, counsel for the investigating commission, asked questions relative to which Mr. Brooke objected.

"We're now beginning a semi-star chamber inquiry," said Brooke said as he claimed questions Mr. Creighton was asking builder Norman McEachren about his profit on the builder made selling vacant land that his daughter, Mrs. Isobel Brisbon, bought from the township were irrelevant.

CREIGHTON ACCUSES

Later Mr. McEachren took the witness stand and criticized official of the inquiry for making accusations against him.

Told he could step down, Mr. McEachren said: "All right, but I'm not finished with the people I want to speak to."

Mr. Creighton assured him that nobody was trying to convict him. "You certainly are," said Mr. McEachren.

Mr. Brooke by he said he had since nothing to be ashamed of in all his land and building development dealings with the township.

"I defy anybody to point a finger of scorn at me," he said. Mr. McEachren added he had given the township "thousands of dollars worth of land for various projects.

"I'm moving out of the township because I'm sick and tired of the class of people living here," he said.

The hearing is continuing.

Raise Ceiling On Farm Loans

OTTAWA (CP)—The ceiling on individual farm loans which may be granted under the government's Farm Improvement Loans Act is to be boosted to $7,500 from $5,000, it was learned today. The rate of interest is to remain unchanged at five per cent.

Informants disclosed this as Finance Minister Fleming will have Parliament customary notice of a resolution to extend the legislation's operation beyond Dec. 31 act is due to expire June 30.

They said the $5,000 definition of a farmer under the act would be expanded to allow fulltime beekeepers to obtain farm loans.

The loans are made by the chartered banks under a federal repayment guarantee. The current individual maximum is $5,000 except in the case of loans for the purchase of farm equipment. These loans must be repaid in five years.

Rodney Sharpe Pleads Guilty To 3 Charges

Rodney A. Sharpe, 19-year-old Belleville youth, was remanded until Friday for sentence following conviction on Tuesday morning on two charges of breaking and entering and one on a charge of being in possession of burglary tools.

The accused youth appeared before His Honor Judge J. F. Smith at the Hastings County General Sessions of the Peace.

The youth was charged with breaking and entering the following offices at Canadian Locomotive and also with breaking and entering a Canadian National Railways tool shed at Belleville and with theft of tools.

Testimony of four Crown witnesses was heard, following which the accused man pleaded guilty to all three charges on the advice of his counsel, Robert Temple.

COW'S KICK FATAL

ORILLIA (CP) — Dan Rogan, 87-year-old farmer who at the age of 80 beat off an armed bandit, died Sunday night from injuries suffered Sunday when he was kicked by a cow. Several years ago Mr. Regan withstood several blows on the head with a revolver to chase a bandit from his home.

Annual Training Night Held By Home and School Council

The Belleville and District Home and School Council held its annual leadership training night last night in Queen Mary School, Isobel Street.

Home and School Association members attending from Trenton, Deseronto, Belleville, Brighton and other points in the district, enjoyed a varied program consisting of "Citizen's Forum" panel discussions, three discussion sessions designed to stimulate ideas on how to interest home and School Association meetings with program, encouraging higher membership and correcting any errors or problems encountered in conducting these meetings; question-and-answer periods on clear up individual problems; and an interesting address on the type of public school education in their own Home and School Association.

The Citizen's Forum was: "What Is A Home and School Association?"

Findings of the panel, moderated by Mr. F. Beeby, past president of the Belleville Secondary School H-S Association, were as follows: teachers should see the benefits of Home Association meetings as "a sounding board" to discuss problems of parents any inadequacies and shortcomings encountered in the school system, and secondary schools are "missing the boat" by not having as active an active Home and School organization, but a different approach to orientation and the Tyendinaga Reserve. Rev. A. J. Semple moderated the panel in the church and the committal rites at the nearby cemetery.

Mrs. Brant died on Friday last, at the Bellecrest Nursing Home in this city. She was 78 years of age, over 100 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Marsden and had lived her entire life on the Reserve. Her illness extended for a lengthy period but she was bright and cheery despite her great age.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Ruby Marsele, of R.R. 4, Belleville, and two sisters, Mrs. George Smart of the Reserve and Mrs. George Bey of this city.

MRS. JOHN LATTONE Plainfield

Stricken suddenly while visiting with friends, Mrs. Catherine Lattone of Plainfield died at Tweed on Tuesday. She was in her 92nd year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lashwa, she was born in Tweed and had lived in the community all her life, taking up residence at Plainfield at the time of her marriage. She was a member of St. Michael's Church in Tweed. Her husband predeceased her.

HEAR SAFETY OFFICER

"Traffic Safety Program" currently being conducted in local elementary and secondary schools, was the theme of an interesting address given by Sgt. Dennis Robson, Safety Officer for the Belleville Police Department.

Sgt. Robson who has been conducting one and one-half hour lectures on traffic safety in regard to walking to and from school, crossing streets, riding bicycles and getting in and out of parked cars, to elementary school classes, and bicycle safety rules, which are in force for automobiles, and safe driving practices to secondary school classes in the city over the past three months, gave a brief description of the type of class he conducts.

During his address, the former R.C.M.P. safety officer from Simcoe, said he was ashamed to be a resident of Belleville because of the fact that the great majority of local citizens are inconsiderate drivers. Many local citizens frequently park on the wrong side of the street, double park, or park too close on the wrong side (particularly Front Street), and fail to walk and walk in between parked cars.

"Adults and older boys and girls should set a good example for the younger people," he said. He also urged parents to "back him up" in his efforts to keep children safe from getting killed or injured.

MENTIONS PROGRAM

The presidential young officer also mentioned a "safety tape program" which is a recording tape donated by the local Lions Club is being applied to the schools in A-1 condition and properly safety equipped for night riding, the speaker explained.

Sgt. Robson was introduced by Mrs. R. D. Sanders and thanked by Mrs. Fort.

During remarks were given by Mrs. C. Fort, who thanked all who participated in the program, Mrs. Sanders, who congratulated by the Council president, Mrs. Fort.

Refreshments, provided by the Queen Mary and Prince Charles H-S Associations, of Belleville, and the A.V.M. Breadner School, Trenton, were served under the convenership of Mrs. A. Hobbs.

Executive committee was composed of Mrs. R. D. Jones, Council president, Mrs. W. Fort, Mrs. E. Rists, Council vice - president, and Mrs. Dudley, president of Queen Mary-Prince Charles Association. Registration desk was manned by Mrs. Bert Stenson, Mrs. L. Rushlow, Mrs. C. Lewis and Mrs. F. Brand. Program chairmen were Mrs. A. Liddle and Mrs. C. Dalton. Display chairmen was Mrs. Ironside assisted by Mrs. G. Digby; publicists, Mrs. A. McKenzie. Pianist was Mrs. W. Ironside.

Towboat's Wash Upsets Elephant On Water-Skis

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A crew of electric power company project was used for a different kind of job Monday. It hauled a water-skiing elephant, weighing 1,100 pounds, over the Monongahela River near downtown Pittsburgh.

Queenie, who puts on a water-skiing show with her trainer, Bill Green, was topsy-turvy for a few minutes in the wake of a passing towboat.

Green was on the shore with Queenie at the time of the spill and held the elephant's head out of the water to make sure she could breathe as they were towed feet back to shore.

Queenie apparently suffered no ill effects from the dunking.

"She's eating hay again—happier than the devil," Green said.

URGES REASONABLE FEES

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Federal Trade Commissioner Tuesday night told the American Medical Association that doctors should charge reasonable fees. "The medical profession, as much as any other, has a vital interest in preventing inflation," he said.

Downtown Area Road Work Is Underway

Typical of the thoughtfulness exercised by the Department of Public Works in the performance of its duties is the road used to plan for road maintenance in the downtown area to be done on Wednesday to insure that there is a minimum of interference with the normal business operations. Today road patching crews were busy completing the work on Bridge and its approaches and at the intersection of Bridge and Pinnacle Streets.

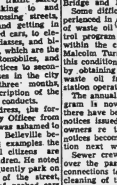
Some difficulty has been experienced in obtaining a supply of waste oil for the dust control program for various areas within the city, City Engineer Malcolm Turnbull expects that this problem will be completely solved by obtaining a new supply of waste oil from local service station operators.

The annual weed control program is now underway and there have been from 45 to 50 notices issued to local property owners in the matter. These notices become effective for action next week.

Sewer crews have been busy over the past period in laying connections to new services. The cleaning of the main sewers is now completed with the exception of a few in the central part of the city to be finished. Sidewalk repairs and improvements are being carried out at Bridge and Ann Streets and along Cannifton Road, Front and Pinnacle Streets.

The city's wheat and grass cutting machine is now in use along the highways 14 and No. 2 and the city has put the city in an effort to control roadside vegetation and render the city's appearance more neat and presentable as possible. Temporary street signs, made up by the department, are being put up about the annexed areas, in accordance with a special ruling by the council.

The department is still awaiting the arrival of the main part of the new equipment which was approved by council earlier this year. Ditching work has been continued along Sidney Street between the Trent Road and Highway 401.



SET CHERRY PRICES

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—First prices to be negotiated under the new Ontario Tender Fruit Growers Marketing Board have been completed for sweet cherries, secretary Keith Hunter said Tuesday. A price of 11 cents a pound was agreed upon for white sweet cherries, the same as for 1958.

Have Raised $775 for Fund For Foreign Y's

The local YMCA's "Buildings For Brotherhood" contributions campaign is progressing well. To date some $775 has been collected toward the total goal of $1,900 this goal was set by the local World Service Committee and the board of directors.

The "Buildings For Brotherhood" is a continent-wide program by YMCA's in Canada and the United States to raise some $5,000,000 — $400,000 to come from Canada — to help support the efforts of the youth in other countries to build suitable Y's facilities for their own communities. Under this program the share allocated to the group seeking financial aid to provide a debt-free site and from about 40 to 50 per cent to help required monies for the building through local contributions. There are 116 such projects currently going on in 33 countries around the world, excluding North America.

The purpose of this program started with the desire of people in foreign countries to help themselves to better their communities and their way of life. The National Council of YMCA's in the United States and Canada then offered to render a partial assistance to these people in under-developed and under-privileged countries. It is felt that this investment will pay big dividends in the training of youth throughout the world in Christian principles in the shadow of the Communist concepts and theory of life.

PREMIER FROST

said that all but 33 minding of the three-hour meeting was devoted to "floor shows or something of the sort."

"All the liberal follies of 1959 were not portrayed in that show, however."

RECALLS 1934 FURORE

He said Mr. Winstermyer had made accusations of political patronage in the civil service. Some of his Liberal colleagues in the legislature could tell him of the "heartless surge" that took place when the late Mitchell Hepburn became premier in 1934.

"They could tell him about patronage running rampant and how it was stamped out by this Conservative government."

Mr. MacDonald had support at his rally from national Liberal Leader M. J. Coldwell and David Lewis, national president.

SOME NOT PAYING SHARE

Mr. MacDonald said the CCF had no intention of taxing those who could not afford it—"it would be economic folly to drive industry out of the province"—but many large corporations were not paying their share. He cited the mining, forestry and brewing industries in particular.

Mr. Winstermeyer told his Ottawa audience that the Conservatives were running on their record and claiming credit for such things as the St. Lawrence Seaway, national hospital insurance and Salk vaccine. "It so happens that a good federal Liberal party had the biggest part in bringing these things about."

"If a government has to steal credits for the accomplishments of a good Liberal government it is time a Liberal government was given an opportunity to bring similar benefits to Ontario," he said.

ATTACKS MAPLEDORAM

He attacked Clare Mapledoram, former lands and forests minister, for "throwing slander at a dead man."

Mr. Winstermeyer said that in Fort William Monday Mr. Mapledoram had referred to former Premier Leslie Frost, Toronto suburb as a drunk, Mr. Hepburn, who led the Liberals to power in 1934, died three years ago.

FOLKSY TONE

Mr. Frost's campaign speeches have been in a folksy tone, invariably opening: "My friends . . ." and leading into a recollection of his last visit in the particular area.

The premier's audiences have included a high proportion of newcomers, many of them numerous tea-and-cookie receptions the Conservatives have organized.

Mr. Winstermeyer has also been given a chance to speak on local radio and television.

The CCF leader has been the backwoods man of the campaign, the only leader to get out to visit the huge but thinly populated northern half of Ontario North. Early in the campaign he almost became lost while travelling through the bush reach tiny Wilberforce in the Ottawa valley to hear Premier Frost's Victoria riding.

Mr. MacDonald's two newspaper reporters following Mr. MacDonald had to hire a guide to find their destination. They got there in time to count the audience of 30 leaving the hall.

ONTARIO VOTERS

Conservatives held 83 seats, the Liberals 11 and the CCF three. One seat was vacant due to the death of Thomas Laird, Progressive Conservative member for Peel.

FIVE FIELD HALLMARK

Only the Conservatives and the Liberals are contesting all 98 seats in the provincial election. The CCF has candidates in 81. Nine Communist Labor - Progressives, five Social Credit, four Independents and two Independent Conservatives are also in the running.

Among the candidates are the Liberals who were once elected members of the now - defunct UFO. Harry Nixon, leader of the three-month term as premier before the Liberals were defeated in 1943, has represented Brant in the legislature for 40 years. He was in the UFO cabinet during that party's brief term of office and later held several Liberal cabinet posts. Farquhar Oliver, who stepped down as Liberal leader last year, has been the member for Grey South since 1934.

The veterans of the Conservative ranks include Premier Frost. The 63-year-old premier has been the member for Victoria for 22 years.

EASTERN PEAKS

The Appalachian mountain chain reaches from Georgia to Peninsula and New Brunswick's 900 miles southwestward to Alabama.

Andrew Burrows, 59, Belleville, C.N.R. brakeman, was fatally injured today in the wreckage of this station wagon struck broadside by a pick-up truck at the intersection of Bleecker and Victoria Ave. Impact was at the right door where Mr. Burrows was seated. Three others went to hospital as result of the crash.

Railroader Killed in Crash Of Vehicles at Intersection

A Belleville railroader was fatally injured and three others are in Belleville General Hospital as result of a two-vehicle collision early today at the corner of Bleecker Ave. and Victoria Ave.

Dead is Andrew Burrows, 59, of 66 West Bridge St., a Canadian National Railways brakeman, who with Philip J. McKee, 48, of R.R. 3, Trenton, was electurning home after completing a railroad run from Ottawa.

Belleville police said the two railway men with Mr. McKee driving were southbound on Bleecker Ave. when at the corner of Victoria their station wagon was struck broadside by a westbound pickup truck driven by Robert Hoar, 22, of 208 Pine St.

Mr. McKee suffered lacerations and a dislocated shoulder, while the driver of the pickup truck and his passenger, John Casey, 25, of 3 Carmen Ave., received multiple lacerations to face and body.

Thompson's ambulance took two of the men to hospital, while the Bush ambulance took Mr. Burrows and McKee.

Mr. Burrows died a few minutes after being admitted to the Belleville General Hospital. The accident occurred about 3.15 a.m.

The entire right side of the station wagon was caved in by the force of the impact.

Bleecker Ave. is a through street with stop signs and a blinker warning light at Victoria Ave. intersection.

Detective Harold Reid who was in charge of the accident investigation said no charges were pending against Robert Hoar, driver of the light pick-up truck.

SOVIET PROPOSAL

Gromyko statement, Berding said:

The Soviet Union would agree to a one-year recognition of certain occupation rights in West Berlin on the basis of the following conditions:

STIPULATIONS

"1. The Western powers reduce the level of forces and armaments to a symbolic number. (There are more than 10,000 American troops in West Berlin now, Gromyko did not specify a number in his proposal, but a few days ago he said a symbolic force would be a platoon each for the United States, Britain and France.)

"2. Hostile propaganda against the GDR and other socialist countries from the territory of West Berlin to be stopped.

"3. All organizations in West Berlin engaged in espionage and subversive activities against the German Democratic Republic and other socialist countries to be liquidated.

"4. The Western powers to assume the obligation not to station atomic or rocket installations in West Berlin.

"If these conditions are accepted the U.S.S.R. is ready to maintain communications between West Berlin and the outside world as now existing.

"This provisional status of West Berlin would be guaranteed first by the four powers on the basis of a protocol of guarantees subscribed by the Soviet Union, secondly by the government of the GDR (East Germany) which has expressed in principle its willingness to respect the agreed provisional status of West Berlin.

"The Soviet Union is willing to make access commitments either in a general agreement concerning the provisional status of West Berlin or in separate agreement as the Western Powers desire. These documents could be registered with the United Nations.

DEMILITARIZE WEST BERLIN

"If an understanding is reached to make West Berlin a free, demilitarized city in conformity with the Soviet proposals, access commitments would be maintained until the reunification of Germany."

Gromyko told the Western ministers that if they did not agree to his proposals the Soviet Union would not give its consent to continuing the present regime in West Berlin.

The three Western ministers decided during their meeting that the Soviet proposition was unacceptable, and Berding left no doubt their cold Grumyko so.

They had a Western strategy meeting following the conference and they met again at Herter's quarters this morning to prepare their counter-attack on Gromyko's proposition.

Trenton News

By ALTON GEORGESON — DIAL EX 2-3829

Town Briefs

TRENTON — Alvin Deschene of Cornwall was sentenced to two months in jail yesterday when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a charge of theft from Woolworth's store in Trenton and another charge of theft from a store in Brighton. He pleaded guilty to both charges. The accused told the Magistrate he was out of work and striving and rode the items, three alarm clocks, memo pad, flashlights and pens, to get money to live on. The magistrate discounted his story when he asked the accused "Why he didn't just steal food instead of these items". Total value of the items stolen was set at $19.54.

In the future, students from Trenton who wish to attend school in Belleville or other towns will be required to have a form from the High School principal to present at the school they wish to attend. This was decided at the last meeting of the Trenton School Board. Students from Trenton may attend other schools if the course they wish to take is not taught in Trenton and in this case the town will pay the student's fee to the other town. However, if the same course is taught in Trenton then it will be necessary for the student to remain in Trenton. If the student does get in another school the parent will be required to pay the tuition fee. The co-operation of other towns and the city of Belleville has been obtained in this matter.

A good pitching arm can be a menace even to an enthusiastic girl pitcher. Yesterday afternoon, Marjorie Jordon, 6 RD Road, pitcher for the Trenton High School team threw a ball which went over the fence and through the windshield of a small car parked on Queen Street. Cost of the windshield was estimated at $75. The car was owned by William R. Weaver of Kingston and the accident was investigated by Constable Sid Vickers of the Trenton Police Force.

An air conditioning unit will be purchased for by Mrs. E. Bedford room and offices of the Trenton School Board in the near future. At present the prices for the unit yet been received, Paul Tripp Board Secretary told the meeting. In his report, Mr. Tripp also reported on the roof of the Queen Elizabeth School saying it would cost $2,900 to repair and over $5,000 to replace. Action to be taken on the matter will be decided at a later date.

An opportunity Class will be started in Trenton just as soon as a teacher can be engaged to teach such a class, it was decided at the last meeting of the Trenton Board of Education, following a report by Mrs. E. Bedford who has investigated the matter and made the recommendation. It was decided that if the class could not be started this September that it would get underway in 1960. W. Carswell, supervising principal and secretary to the school board, was asked to see if he could locate a teacher for this class.

Youth Drowned

SARNIA (CP)—Clifford Brown, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brown, drowned in Lake Huron Tuesday. The boy had been swimming with four companions.

Miss C. Wilson Hired by Board As School Nurse

TRENTON — Miss C. Wilson will be hired as school nurse for the coming school year, it was decided at the last meeting of the Trenton School Board. For the past year or so Miss Wilson has been assisting Miss C. Hasham, who has been with the school board for several years in the capacity as school nurse.

Miss Wilson will be paid a set salary and given a car allowance and her duties will begin in September. Miss Hasham will be approached and asked to remain and assist Miss Wilson in her duties and would be paid exactly half of the salary paid to Miss Wilson.

F. J. Aziz, chairman of the board's management committee, was given power to act in hiring Miss Hasiam if she was agreeable to stay.

A request from the teachers of the Trenton High School for a different system in their pay set-up was rejected by the board and they (the teachers) were given a choice of either having their pay in 12 monthly payments or ten, as is now being done with other teachers in town.

The teachers had asked for a system in which they would be given a pay cheque at the beginning of September, when most teachers coming into the town from the board need the money to get settled.

A letter from the Ontario Municipal Board informed the Board it would not give final approval for the debenture money required to build the new school on Dufferin Street until such time as the land was purchased by the school board. At the present time the purchase of this land is being held up because of the price. Downs and Coulter, who own the land are asking the sum of $37,500 and the school board has offered $25,000. The matter will go to court for arbitration but will delay the commencing of the construction by several weeks.

SHOT IN HOLDUP

Police Constable Robert Pickup was shot in the stomach at Windsor, Ont., Tuesday, when he struggled with one of two men who staged a daring daylight robbery of a branch of the Bank of Montreal. The constable was taken to hospital in critical condition. The bandits were arrested after a gun fight and $10,733 was recovered. (CP Photo).

EDITORS TO REST AT PICTON

This week editors from thirty states of the union are touring Ontario — on the sixteenth annual goodwill tour sponsored by the Ontario Department of Travel and Publicity.

This year the tour started in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., on Monday of this week. It will conclude a week from Saturday in Windsor. In twelve days the editors will cover 2,000 miles, not in itself an arduous touring schedule, but formidable when one surveys the list of dinners and receptions.

We are willing to make a bet, though, that the majority of the editors will find that the best day of the whole tour is this coming Sunday — when not a single breakfast, luncheon, dinner or reception is scheduled. That, in itself, might be an attraction after six days of sitting in buses and at banquet tables — but the Department of Travel and Publicity has shown Solomon-like wisdom in its selection of the location for this pause. You guessed it — it is in the Quinte district, at Picton.

After travelling from Sault Ste. Marie to Elliot Lake, thence to Sudbury, Sturgeon Falls and North Bay, down the Ottawa Valley to the nation's capital, and along the St. Lawrence past the Thousand Islands to Kingston, the editors will reach Picton at 9.30 p.m. Saturday evening. There will be a reception at the Lake on the Mountain, as picturesque a setting as any to be found in the whole province. And then will start that pause that should thrill as well as refresh — when the editors are on their own. They can fish, golf, sightsee or just plain loaf—and we know of no part of Ontario where any one of these delightful occupations can be enjoyed more fully than in Prince Edward County, unless it is just across the bay in Belleville.

So, Mr. Editors, come up and see us sometime.

If any of the editors in the tour were on the last tour that stopped in Belleville, they will do just that, for they will have a memory of the roast beef at the Quinte Hotel, which they declared at the time was a highlight of their trip. Probably came after a whole round of chicken dinners!

TOOK THEM LONG ENOUGH

A West Berlin denazification court has ordered the confiscation of all the Berlin property of the late and unlamented Hermann Goering, now held by his widow. The court valued the property at $189,000.

It is now almost thirteen years since Goering swallowed poison in his cell at Nurnberg, Germany, two hours before he was scheduled to go to the gallows after his conviction on four charges of conspiracy to wage aggressive war, crimes against peace, crimes violating the laws of war and crimes against humanity.

If justice delayed is justice denied, then the West Berlin denazification court knows as little about the proper method of dispensing it as did the Nazis.

One thing at least could be said for Goering - - it did not take him thirteen years to make up his mind about confiscating property.

PHOTOGRAPHY HIS HOBBY

We don't suppose that Jack Paar will mention it, but Polaroid is the ideal thieves' camera.

That, at least, was what Joseph Sylvester of New York thought. According to New York police, after three men robbed a supermarket Sylvester posed two of them holding money and automatic pistols. Sylvester explained to reporters that develops its own film within a minute, reasoning that in this manner he would be able to avoid taking the incriminating film to be developed. Police, however, arrested Sylvester and his cousin, Joseph Sylvestri, two days later. In Sylvester's home they found that Polaroid pictures of the couple posed with money and pistols was Sylvestri. Police are looking for the other man. And they think that the Polaroid is something that every thief should have, just to provide the evidence needed in cases of this kind.

AN ARTISTIC BOOKLET

To commemmorate the inauguration of the St. Lawrence Seaway by the Queen, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has commissioned a booklet, "Pathways to Greatness," with text by G. Herbert Lash, M.C., and illustrations by Albert Cloutier, R.C.A.

"Because of the Great River," commences Lash's story, "Canada was born, grew and prospered."

The illustrations match the appeal of the vigorous prose. The whole, printed by Sampson-Matthews Ltd., of Toronto, is a striking tribute to the artistic uses to which the end product of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association can be put.

THE HARD LUCK MAN

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The tramp along the roadside
Can relate a hard luck tale;
The poorest man among us
Can emit a doleful wail;
The crook that hears the prison door
Swing mighty in his cell
Can always tell a tale of woe,
And tell it mighty well.

For he who tells a hard luck tale,
And tells it every day,
In time believes his skies are doomed
Forever to be gray.
He shuts his eyes to what is fine
And sees only the grim;
There is no glory in the world
But what's a curse to him.

Wanted Someone to Listen

...Oshawa Times

The other day the son of a Kansas City couple wrote his parents from Chicago. They read the letter then sent it with an accompanying note to the Kansas City Star. They said, "It is too late for us because the damage has been done. Our child has a record . . . but maybe we share this letter it will help other parents." The Star reproduced both letters. Here is the boy's communication — and comment is unnecessary.

Dear Folks,

Thank you for everything, but I am going to Chicago and try to start men kind of new life.

You asked me why I did those things and why I left you and much trouble, and the answer is easy for me to give you, but I am afraid you will not understand.

Remember when I was about six or seven and I used to want you to just listen to me? I remember all the nice things you gave me for Christmas and my birthday and I was real happy with the things for about a week or so, but it's the little things, but the rest of the time during the year I really didn't want presents. I just wanted all the time for you to listen to me like I was human and not just things too, because I remember even when I was young I felt things. But you said you were busy.

Mon, you are a wonderful cook, and you had everything you wanted, and you lived so much from doing all those things that made you happy, but you know something, Mom? I would have liked crackers and peanut butter just as well — if you had only sat down with me a little while during the day and said to me: "Tell me all about it so I can maybe help you understand."

And when Donna came I could not understand why everyone but me made such much because that one will really be human inside. And when she is about to take six dozen cookies to make sure first that the kids don't tell her about it so as to have a dream or a hope or something, because thoughts are important; too to small kids even though they don't have as many and often when they tell about what they have inside them.

I think that all the kids who get in trouble is because that the grownups are tearing their hair out worrying about are they happy, but I think for somebody that will have time to listen a little more to them they would not truly will treat them as they are supposed to. You know how polite to them. If you folks had seven girls and a boy around when you interrupted me, I've have dropped dead. If anybody in this family will tell me I have gone looking for someone that will with time because I've a lot of things I want to talk about.

Love to all.

Fateful Gap Grows Wider

New York Times

Now and then, an even often, we should stop to think in these hectic times of the broad underlying developments that are affecting our world. Adlai Stevenson did just that in his thoughtful address at McGill University, where he received an honorary LL.D. degree.

The "most important and fateful fact of the world today," he said, is the widening gap between poverty and poverty between the white Western nations and most of the rest of the world. The United States per capita income is more than $2,000 a year contrasts with an income of $100 or less for most of Asia's humanity. Moreover, as Mr. Stevenson rightly said, this disparity is growing rather than lessening because the rate of population growth in the less developed countries than in industrialized nations with their higher standards of living.

This, he pointed out, is an extension of the great social conflict of the nineteenth century to reduce the gap between the wealthy and the masses. We have the United States, Canada, Western Europe and a few other countries, such as Australia and New Zealand, have licked that problem for the present. But Mr. Stevenson is optimistic in taking it for granted that economic inequalities of the nineteenth century are generally being reduced. The fact is that within most other nations — in the Middle East, Asia — the gap within each country is also increasing.

It is still true that the contrast between the wealth of the West and Hitler used to call the "have" and have not" nations is more striking than ever. In the case of the Axis we know how that led inevitably to world war. One of the wise statesmen of the post-war era, the late Premier Liaqat Ali Khan of Pakistan, said on a visit to the United States in 1950,

"As I let myself ponder over this, I suddenly see the United States of America as an island in a fabulously prosperous land. And round this island I see the unhealthy sea of misery, poverty and squalor in which millions of human beings are struggling to keep their heads above water. At such moments I fear for this island of prosperity as in a sea of dear friend."

This is not a state of affairs that can be easily or quickly solved, and Mr. Stevenson did not claim that it could be. However, he put his finger on the key to the problem when he called for "a long-term program of basic development" to give the masses in underdeveloped countries an opportunity to begin their long climb. For the United States with its traditional reliance on short-term profit-making plans, this would be a departure, but it is one that Americans and the free world at times are unlikely to permit us to avoid very much longer. -

Seamen Lasso An Iceberg

St. John Telegraph - Journal

Roping icebergs isn't exactly sport off the cost of Newfoundland. But this form of sea-going cowboy activity became a major duty at Portugal Cove when a wandering berg interfered with the city dock facilities on that island.

The small intruder spent a night prowling the three-mile "circle" between the island the and Labrador before the crews had rest at the Portugal ferry landing. Meanwhile a larger berg had been threatening three power cables to the island for two days.

In order to clear the ferry ob-struction, seamen aboard the ferry Glenbrook lassoed the berg. Then the ferry Elmer Jones put a line aboard the Glenbrook and together the two ships towed the mass of ice out to sea.

This incident recalls another of many years ago in St. John's harbour. The Sagona, steamer men, refusing to take their ships to sea until a new wage contract had been signed, effectively roped the vessels in-to their berths by running telephone poles and buildings ashore by winding heavy ship's hawsers around them with the aid of the craft and poles. This effectively prevented the ships from sailing with substitute crews.

June 10th, 1919

Last evening at the Ann Street grounds, Belleville, a stirred and brilliant game of baseball was played between two YMCA Junior league teams—the Red Sox and the Tigers. The Tigers played a splendid game and it was only owing to the fact that the Red Sox have such good hitting that the Tigers were defeated. The final score was 9 to 8 in favor of the Red Sox. The following composed the teams: Red Sox: Creiney, Moxam, Stirks, Miles, Marsakas, Joss, Ashley, Herity and Latchford. Spare man was H. Clarke. Tigers: Ashley, Hunter, Holway, Marrany, Lew, Kemp, McKinney, Buskard and Anderson. Spare man was T. Storks. Moxam and Wright struck out 10 batsmen apiece. Wright was the pump leather, or file off a rough spot, or put some grease on it.

With a heart, we can't very well do that. We have to "open heart" surgery.

So what do we do? We listen to the heart with a stethoscope. If we hear an unusual noise, we call it a murmur. Usually when we have of knowing, by a simple examination, whether the heart is performing as it should. No murmur; a good heart. Murmur: perhaps yes and perhaps no.

WATCH AND WAIT

Some murmurs (plus some signs, such as blueness, shortness of breath, etc), we obviously point to a heart defect. Sometimes the sound and location of the murmur, fit, similarly. Other times — most other times — we cannot tell, at the first listening whether the heart is normal or if some peculiarity is developing.

In the latter type of case, we wait and watch. Usually we tell the parents that the murmur is there, and we'd like to observe it in the future. That, I think, is the fair ways to do things.

In young children approximately half will develop some sort of murmur — yet only occasionally does it mean anything serious. Or anything harmful. Or worrisome. Or unusual.

The point is, I suppose, if we could be sure, and never mention a murmur unless there was less it happened to be a serious one. Yet, at the first listening, we rarely can be sure. Yes, Mrs. E. L., we worry a lot of people by mentioning the presence of a murmur. Most murmurs are innocent. But to be frank and honest, we ought (it seems to me!)

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

CHILD'S HEART MURMUR NOT NECESSARILY SERIOUS

"Dear Dr. Molner: My baby was born with a heart murmur. He is now eight months old and at his last checkup I was told the murmur is much softer. Could you explain in your understanding way how serious this is? He is a healthy child and now weighs 20 pounds.—Mrs. E. J."

This matter of "heart murmur" has frightened many parents. Usually it should not, because, in a sort of way, a murmur is like a cough. Sometimes, even usually, it is a casual symptom. Once in a while a cough indicates something serious. That's true of a murmur.

Now what is a "murmur"? The heart pumps blood, and in order to do so it has to have valves which open and close. If there is something wrong with a valve, and it does not operate properly, there will be a sort of gurgle as it closes.

Then may also be some quite minor condition which causes a "murmur" in streams of blood. An ordinary water pump, for example, can make an odd noise. Is it a serious noise? I pumped understand what I mean? Not necessarily, I think, is fairly accurate.

Now we can take a water pump apart, clean it, repair it, or

Note to Mrs. M.: This abrupt onset of periods of sneezing doesn't sound like hay fever. It does sound like some sort of allergy. Somebody, somewhere, is very likely to be allergic to almost anything you might mention. It takes pretty shrewd detective work sometimes to find out what hitherto unsuspected thing is causing an allergy . . . but that's what I'd try to find when such periodic sneezing begins so suddenly.

Mind Refuses Containment

Toronto Telegram

Dr. Wilder Penfield, the Montreal neuro-surgeon, whose skill has made a world-wide legend, suggests that mankind should be better off if more effort were given to exploring the human mind than adventuring into outer space.

He recommends that we leave to the stars to move in their ordered courses. "In the brain of man there is a microcosm no less vast than that of the universe," he let's concentrate on the problem of man and his mind.

It is a good science. Dr. Penfield joins the company of some distinguished men of the same opinion. With so much to do on earth to improve the lot of man, there is a mark of extravagance, discernment and conceit, in this reaching up beyond the confines of this planet.

Is not this the same argument that was used against the first ocean crossing and the first flying machine? Is it not worth while, want to limit the probing nature of the human mind so long as there are unfilled needs in the territory we already own.

But it is foolish to curb the insatiable curiosity that drives men on to explore new areas? Dr. Penfield says that the mind is deep and vast. By very nature, it refuses to be contained.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LEARNING FROM OTHERS

We do not only learn from the good and the bad, but we learn from people who are opposite to this. People who do things wrong are often more helpful than those who do things right, because they stand out more. They challenge a person to give a reason for having nothing to prove. It's all there, as though written in italics, to underlined his oration.

She herself did not go to church, but her husband did, and when he returned, with the fervor of one personally acquainted with the strange minister, she called out before he could mount the steps: "Well, how did he preach?"

From the floor below the answer was shouted. "He might as well have et!"

I quote that statement, attributed to the author of "Pilgrim's Progress," who, seeing a drunkard pass, said: "There, but for the grace of God, goes John Bunyan." The influence of a good person is a silent thing. He may not say anything. His reputation goes on and, unconsciously, acts of kindness and thoughtfulness, no matter where he goes. We all can learn from people never met and never know and love.

Might as Well Have Eaten

Irish Presbyterian

A Belfast minister, who was staying at a house where many good things had been provided for his evening, disappointed the hostess by declining most of her delicacies, giving as an excuse that he never could eat just before he preached, as it interfered his oration.

She herself did not go to church, but her husband did, and when he returned, with the fervor of one personally acquainted with the strange minister, she called out before he could mount the steps: "Well, how did he preach?"

From the floor below the answer was shouted. "He might as well have et!"

Strength for The Day

MAKING THE MOST OUT OF LIFE

Some decades ago a famous preacher called the attention of his hearers to a rocker who always took his bow, put one end of it down beside his foot, elevated the other, and made sure that the bow was precisely his height. If the bow was just the size of the archer, then he would go into battle with confidence. And the point of the minister made was that our power to project goals in the future will correspond directly to our own spiritual stature.

How do we stand with reference to all this? Do we think we can be protected by a little bow and arrow scarcely longer than our forearm? Do we think that we can be ready for battle with little weapons? Sooner or later we all learn that life is a very serious proposition. Some people see more trouble than others, but all people have their problems, and some of these problems are dire and exacting.

Solutions are demanded. But always we have to project these against evils. Our body constantly fights disease, our minds need to be on the alert against false ideas. Our spirits must be in tune with God if we are to overcome the tempting and diverting situations of life and handle them in character and forthrightness.

How large are your weapons of defense against life's evils? They should be the full measure of courage that you can fall in the day of crisis.

At different times each archer required a bow which exactly equalled his height. See that your life is lived to the full limit of your possibilities.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It seems to me that our self-styled intellectuals, in their stern denunciation of our self-appointed prophets, priests and kings who, across the ages, have preached the necessity of law and order upon a naturally chaotic humanity, are wrong.

Where on earth would we be if it had not been for those ancient and modern men who built our best interests, imposed their ideas on the tribe and so made it function as a community? Where would we be without those dim emperors in Babylon, those steel-witted Athenian rulers, those short-sighted Roman consuls, tyrants and from there on all the long list of self-interested dictators and tyrants who beat us into submission to their censorship

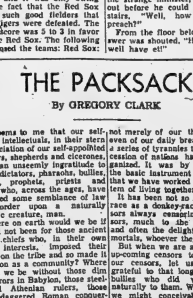
Last evening at the Ann Street grounds, Belleville, a stirred and brilliant game of baseball was played between two YMCA Junior league teams—the Red Sox and the Tigers. The Tigers played a splendid game and it was only owing to the fact that the Red Sox have such good hitting that the Tigers were defeated. The final score was 9 to 8 in favor of the Red Sox. The following composed the teams: Red Sox: Creiney, Moxam, Stirks, Miles, Marsakas, Joss, Ashley, Herity and Latchford. Spare man was H. Clarke. Tigers: Ashley, Hunter, Holway, Marrany, Lew, Kemp, McKinney, Buskard and Anderson. Spare man was T. Storks. Moxam and Wright struck out 10 batsmen apiece. Wright was the pump leather, or file off a rough spot, or put some grease on it.

With a heart, we can't very well do that. We have to "open heart" surgery.

So what do we do? We listen to the heart with a stethoscope. If we hear an unusual noise, we call it a murmur. Usually when we have of knowing, by a simple examination, whether the heart is performing as it should. No murmur; a good heart. Murmur: perhaps yes and perhaps no.

WATCH AND WAIT



Some murmurs (plus some signs, such as blueness, shortness of breath, etc), we obviously point to a heart defect. Sometimes the sound and location of the murmur, fit, similarly. Other times — most other times — we cannot tell, at the first listening whether the heart is normal or if some peculiarity is developing.

In the latter type of case, we wait and watch. Usually we tell the parents that the murmur is there, and we'd like to observe it in the future. That, I think, is the fair ways to do things.

In young children approximately half will develop some sort of murmur — yet only occasionally does it mean anything serious. Or anything harmful. Or worrisome. Or unusual.

Developing Retarded Children Community Task Says Speaker

The problem of helping retarded children develop to the fullest of their capacity is a community one, local Kiwanians were told by Mr. Tom Sioveli, charter president of the Quinte Association for Retarded Children, when he addressed the club at the regular noon meeting Tuesday in the Kiwanis Centre.

In discussing the work being done by the local Association, Mr. Sioveli stated the parents of retarded children (members of the Association) cannot solve the problem alone.

The association which takes in Belleville and Trenton districts now has 6 total membership of 100 parents, representing approximately 50 retarded children with an I.Q. of 60 or lower.

The speaker, who is employed as research technician in the Entomology Laboratory, 228 Dundas St. East, explained the purpose of the association is two-fold — to educate the public regarding mental retardation and to educate the parents of retarded children "to do something about this problem."

In emphasizing the urgency of this problem, Mr. Sioveli quoted the following statistics: one-half million children, or 3 per cent of the total Canadian population, are afflicted with below normal I.Q., and one per cent of the total population of Ontario have I.Q's of below 50.

"There are 60,000 parents of retarded children in Ontario," he said. "According to present statistics we expect about 13,000 retarded babies to be born in Canada this year."

He explained through the Quinte Association which was formed a year and a half ago, two day classes for 19 local and district retarded children between the ages of five and 16, have been established. The morning day classes are being held at Queen Victoria Public School, Pine St., and are administered under the regular public school system. The classes are free, except for a nominal fee per day for transportation of out-of-town children, to all children whose parents are members of the Association, the speaker explained.

PLAN THIRD CLASS

"Purpose of the classes is to teach the child to get along with others and become individuals," he said. They learn to speak properly, read, write, count money, dress themselves.

Mr. Sioveli disclosed the Quinte Association is planning on starting a third class in Trenton this fall.

Other projects include instituting afternoon classes in crafts and social activities for retarded adults in Belleville, Trenton, and district, and a search is currently being held to locate them. Plans are also being formed to start social activities for the pre-schooler, summer camps for school-age children, and counselling for parents of retarded children.

In briefly discussing the causes of mental retardation he emphasized it is a condition, not a disease, caused by a congenital defect before birth, brain damage during or after birth, or in some cases, heredity.

"Ninety-five per cent of retarded children are born that way," he stated. "They can't be cured, but if started early, something can be done . . . To help some become self - supporting and others to at least become good citizens" he added, noting their progress depends upon the degree of retardation. "The only way to attack this problem, (of retarded children) is through research," he said, noting two existing government - run Hospital Schools, one at Smiths Falls and one at Orillia, are located near colleges or universities.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. G. H. Craig and thanked by Mr. John Trafford. The thanks of the club was expressed by vice-president George Tripp who conducted the meeting in the absence of president Gerry Wishart. Mr. and Mrs. Wishart are leaving this week for the Kiwanis convention in Dallas, Texas.

"On to Montreal" chairman, Charles Lusk gave a brief report, and Dick Kuntze gave a brief description of a former O.Q.M. convention which he attended several years ago, in an effort to increase attendance at this year's convention.

Regional So-Ed Conference Held At London

Several members of the So-Ed Club attended an Ontario Regional So-Ed Conference held at the YM-YWCA in London, on Saturday and Sunday.

The Saturday program consisted of luncheon and conference opening. Mrs. H. O. Fourcr, president of YMCA-YWCA, made the welcoming adress. Mr. A. S. Thompson gave a short theme address "Three Steps Forward."

After luncheon two workshops were held. The first one was conducted by Mr. Thompson and the theme was "New Techniques Through Creative Thinking." This workshop was extremely well received as it was a new approach to program planning of any type. Mr. Thompson is connected with Management Research Associates and has assisted in conducting courses for training management personnel at University of Western Ontario. The second Workshop was "Implementing and Developing Membership," which was divided into six sections all conducted by personnel of Peterborough So-Ed.

One room was set aside for displays by different So-Ed groups. Belleville had posters, crests, fencing equipment, colored slides, samples of forms, bulletins and adress books for distribution as well as folders advertising the "Highlands of Hastings," supplied by the Chamber of Commerce.

The evening banquet concluded with an address by Mr. J. J. Halcrow, general manager of the London YMCA-YWCA, which was followed by a conducted tour of the new YMCA-YWCA building. It is hoped that before too long, Belleville will have as nice a one here.

The Saturday evening party took the form of presentations by different So-Ed groups. Skits were presented by Toronto Central (which won the prize for the best), Peterborough, St. Catharines and Welland. A square dance demonstration by London So-Ed; a party game by Windsor, and a grand march with serpentine, maze and bridges by Belleville. Dancing was mixed in and around the foregoing programs and refreshments were served.

On Sunday, chapel service meditations were held in the YMCA-YWCA chapel followed by worship on "So-Ed Mechanics." Section 4 on socials was conducted by Belleville So-Ed. Many delegates adjourned to attend church service at churches of their choice throughout the city, returning to the Y for luncheon and summary adress by Miss J. Campbell, assistant executive director, YWCA of Canada, Toronto.

Interesting Case Being Contested In County Court

A court action in which Holloway district farmer Roy Sills is claiming damages from the Canadian Canners Ltd. continued today in Hastings county court before County Judge J. C. Anderson.

Mr. Sills is suing for recovery of damages amounting to $1,000 for corn grown last year which was not processed by the canning company last fall.

The action is in the nature of a test case against the canning company with a total of 56 farmers in the Foxboro area said to have had canning corn left in the field after frost damage. Thirty of the farmers are said to have been unable to deliver any corn to the factory because of the frost.

The case started on May 29th and was laid over until yesterday when John W. Farley, district supervisor for Canadian Canners in Eastern Ontario was on the stand for most of the day. The case is continuing today with several additional witnesses expected to be called.

Farmers claim that planting of corn was delayed until late in the season with result that early frosts damaged the corn before it was harvested.

On the other hand the court was told yesterday by Mr. Farley that harvesting of the corn was timed to give the grower the advantage of fullest possible corn development.

Mr. Sills is being represented by Ronald W. Cass, Q.C., while counsel for the canning owners is Brendan O'Brien of Toronto.

Christ Church EBWA Holds Final Business

The final business meeting of the Evening Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of Christ Church was held in the parish hall on Monday evening.

Mrs A. Bongard, president, opened the meeting with a devotional service assisted by Mrs. L. Donnely.

Secretary and treasurer reports were given by Miss F. Reid and Mrs. A. McDonald, with notes of appreciation read for the assistance given the Cubs and Scouts banquet; from Mrs. T. Clarke, a former member, following the death of her father; from Mrs. Mitchell, diocesan president and Miss W. Burns, past president, of Kingston, accepting an invitation to attend the altering supper party next Monday night.

Mrs. H. Luttrell, convener of sewing, reported on materials bought and sewing done; Mrs. J. Spencer, social service convener, noted 13 calls had been made to the hospital, county home and shut-ins and a gift will be sent to summer camp. Mrs. E. Bishard, in charge of the Sunshine Fund, had sent out several cards.

DONATION TO BE MADE

A donation of $10 will be made to the Upper Canada Bible Society; a bale will be sent to the Rio Grande and John Jeffrey before the end of June and quilting, knitting and playing cards were requested for this.

The remainder of the pledge, fees and travelling fund money will be forwarded to diocesan treasurer.

Members were asked to keep their camp, and a rally planned in October.

Miss Elinor Newman, now attending the Anglican Women's Training College in...Toronto, gave an interesting account of the day-to-day activities which included academic, social and religious duties.

She spoke of the work the girls will be engaged in during the summer, some as nurses and others will go to the Yukon, British Columbia Coast Mission, to assist Miss Hascil in her vacation, in the Arctic Mission and lend their leadership at summer camps. Another group made of the permanent work they will do when training is completed.

Mrs. J. Goeller graciously expressed the appreciation of the group to Miss Newman for the interesting talk all had so thoroughly enjoyed.

A social period was enjoyed when refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Butler and Mrs. Luttrell.

Kum-Double Club Plans Picnic Supper

The Kum-Double Club of Holloway met for its final meeting of the season at the home of Alvin and June Donaldson.

Worship service was in charge of Lois Morgan, the theme being "Testing Time — Does It Bring Out the Best or Worst?" Assisting in the worship were Irene Wellman and June Donaldson, who gave suitable readings, and Beatrice Soldier and Ruth Reth who contributed poems.

In the business period, it was decided to pay all outstanding bills before the picnic, planned for Perrycille on August 15th.

The club was requested, and agreed, to furnish the choir for evening service at the anniversary services, June 21; the Young Peoples group to sing in the morning.

"Tree Howker," final edition, read by Frances Kelly, reminds all members to "keep your noses side up," and report all humorous incidents at the picnic. — Happy hey-days!

WEDDINGS

MALONEY — DRISCOLL

MARMORA—The Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church, Peterborough, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Beverley Anne Driscoll, Reg. N., of Peterborough, and Joseph Hall Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Maloney, of Marmora, on Saturday, May 30. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Driscoll, of Peterborough.

Given in marriage by her father, the double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. Coughlan.

Miss Marilyn Driscoll was maid of honor for the sister, and Miss Rita Driscoll, Miss Winifred McDougall, Mrs. Robert Lagana, and Miss Agnes Fotheringill, all classmates of the bride.

The flower-girl was her sister, Miss Patsy Driscoll, and Patrick Doyle, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer.

Mr. Leo Maloney, of Minico, attended his brother, and ushers were: Messrs. Carl and Paul Maloney, also brothers of the bridegroom and John Driscoll, Jr., brother of the bride.

Mrs. Cyril O'Donnell was matron of honor. Mrs. D. Canonaro singing "Ave Maria," "Mother at Thy Feet I'm Kneeling," Dr. Lotz, "I'm Not Worthy," "Sacred Heart," and "The Wedding Day" during the ceremony and signing of the register.

The bride silk organza over taffeta fashioned the floor-length bridal gown with Sweetheart neck-line and long illy-point sleeves. Lace applique on the bodice edged the V-line at the waist and the front panel of the skirt was trimmed with lace appliques which also adorned the hem-line of the full Princess skirt. A Juliet cap of organza with appliques of lace and seed pearls held the bride's three-quarter-length veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade of Bettertime roses and stephanotis.

Identically fashioned in embossed white organdy with colonial flowers of pink and green of honor in pink, and the bridesmaid in mauve and yellow. The attendants' dresses were on Princess bouffant lines with bowl neckline draped in the back and enhanced with velvet streamers carrying out the dress colors. They wore velvet Juliet caps in the predominating pink and chantilly dotted face veils, white lace gloves, and white shoes. Each carried a nose-say of chrysanthemums and carnations.

The Hall dining room was made of tiers of pink lace over pink taffeta, with a panel of pink lace and she carried a basket of variegated flowers.

The bride's mother wore a white satin pillow on which were two entwined rings made of flowers.

The reception was held at Drumsnadden Hall, Bon Road, where guests from Detroit, Toronto, Toronto, Mimico, Belleville, Bowmanville Lindsay, Marmora, and Peterborough, were received by Mrs. Driscoll, who was wearing a sheath dress of navy lace over taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

The bridegroom's mother, assisting, wore a dress of white-blue silk crepe with white accessories and corsage of Lenox Hibbard roses. Also receiving was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. McMurrow, who wore a corsage of red Sweetheart roses with her becoming ensemble.

For travelling the bride donned a mint-green suit with lingerie-hat and gloves, white shoes and purse and corsage of Delight roses.

The young couple will make their home in Bloebleeke.

DOSTANKO — BRONSON

MARMORA — A quiet wedding was solemnized in Sacred Heart Rectory on Saturday morning, May 30th, when Blanche Bronson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Murney Bronson, was united in marriage to Nicholie Dostanko, son of Mrs. Dora Dostanko and the late Dostanko, of Marmora township.

The attendants were Miss Annie Dostanko of Parry Sound, and Mr. George Dostanko of Burlington, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The Rev. W. P. Healey, P.P., performed the ceremony.

The couple are honeymooning in New York, and on their return will reside in Marmora township.

WOOD — LUCAS

Pink chrysanthemums, pastel-tinted iris, and gladioli mingled with ferns formed a lovely background in Holloway Street United Church, Belleville, on Saturday, June 6, at 1.00 p.m. for a very pretty double-ring wedding when Lois Ann Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lucas, became the bride of Beryle Donald Wood, of Arden, R. R. 3, Stanhope, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wood.

The Rev. C. W. Coleman, pastor, officiated.

Mr. E. Templer, church organist, provided the wedding music and accompanied Arthur Duby in his rendition of "Because," and "Through the Years."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace over white taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore matching headdress of lace sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins, secured to the shoulder veil of French tulle illusion, and carried a white Bible crested with lace, with cascade of white satin streamers.

Mrs. Barbara Crain, of Belleville, attended her sister as matron of honor, gowned in floor-length satin and all-over lace fashioned on Princess lines, with bateau neckline, with nylon headdress trimmed with seed pearls, and carried a cascade bouquet of pink mums and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Lee Reynolds, of Arden, Ontario, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid, wearing yellow nylon in street-length, with matching headdress edged with seed pearls. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink feverfew and white carnations surrounded by lace.

The junior bridesmaid, Miss Jean Lucas of Belleville, also sister of the bride, was gowned in mauve, fashioned on Princess lines, in ballerina-length satin and lace bodice. She wore a matching seed pearl headdress and carried a Colonial bouquet of pink mums and white carnations with lace.

The little flower girl, Miss Sandra McCaffery, of Belleville, Michigan, U.S.A., niece of the bride, wore a floor-length frock of salmon-colored satin under lace trimmed in white, with nylon net flounce petticoat and carried a Colonial nosegay of yellow mums, intermingled with lace.

The ring - bearer, Master Bobby Crain, of Belleville, nephew of the bride, was natty in his blue sport jacket, cool-grey trousers, and white shoes. He wore a tinted carnation in his lapel, and carried a pillow of white satin.

Mr. Harold Greer, of Smiths Falls attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Ronald Lucas, of Belleville, R. R. 8, and Mr. Ronald Hartwick, of Arden, R. R. 1, ushered the guests.

During the ceremony, the reception dinner was served in the Orange Hall to which the ladies of A.O.B.A. 324 catered.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake topped with horseshoes and cupids associated with white with damask; candles and the bridal bouquets lending a lovely bridal touch.

The bride's mother received, wearing a floor-length gown of light-blue crystalette with seed pearl trim; white picture hat, white accessories, with corsage of pink carnations and white mums.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and points in the United States, the bride chose a light-blue dress flecked with gold, and accented with white sequins, with matching duster. A white picture hat, white accessories with corsage of baby red roses, completed her ensemble. Upon their return, the bride and bridegroom will reside in Belleville.

Guests were present from Belleville, Arden, Smiths Falls, Belleville, Michigan; Toronto, Brighton, Henderson, Mountain Grove, Maberly and Brockville.

The bride, previous to her marriage, was feted with showers, and entertained at a presentation party by the girls of the Stewart-Warner where she is employed.

The bridegroom was also entertained at a presentation party by the men of the C.P.R. Bridge and Building Division.

O.R.M.T.A. Discusses Summer Plans

The Belleville Branch of Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association met at Christ Church parish hall on Sunday afternoon.

The president, Mr. J. C. Wilbers, dealt briefly with business arising from the annual convention report.

Following registration was the prime topic, followed by a discussion of tentative plans to hold a summer course.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr Wilbers presented a most enjoyable half hour of organ music. David Livingston, a choir boy from Christ Church, was the guest soloist.

Following is the program: Adagio and Allegro, 3rd Organ Concerto, Handel; Trumpet Tune and Air, Purcell; solo, "Come Holy Ghost," Atwood; Musette; Daquin; Prelude, Clerambault; Toccata from 5th Symphony, Vidor.

Mrs. T. F. Townsend extended the appreciation of the guests to Mr. Wilbers and Dawid.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

T & T expects that most of us would frown our disapproval of any assertion that the North American continent from the Rio Grande north was not in the aggregate the most enlightened and most educated (not necessarily best) people ever. Probably this is true from a statistical point of view. However when one hears the occasional outburst of prejudice, bigotism and maybe worse about some things it makes you shudder. The negative contentuates the positive" and the alarm one feels is commensurate with and relative to the positiveness.

Every once in a while we learn to our amazement that someone with a pelt hate turns on our childhood fairy stories. The most recent to come to our attention, and no doubt yours, is a movement to eliminate the story of the three little pigs. It seems that the cute little yarn has become contaminated for some segregationists. One of the little pigs, it is feared, happens to be the little wild boar — under the direction of the Gut of Mexico. What concerns us is not which side was running but rather that in an age of "the most" even in enlightenment and education, we still can let such things find a place in our thoughts.

Not long after the end of the last war we listened to some veterans talking about this and that. One of them told a yarn which to him had great significance and much amusement. The story teller had apparently been attending some school for leaders and people of influence. An imperial staff officer was commanding. If we remember the story accurately. In his address of farewell he reviewed some of the battles and wars he had fought in all over the world. The commander was a man of humor because he warned his aspiring young soldiers that they should never forget what the enemy could never understand — the British ability to retreat. "Why," the commandant told his audience with a twinkle, "we have retreated for as long as two years and that's when we've been winning." He went on to say we have yet to run we are just getting ready for that last battle; you Dismissed. You have been fighting for a long time." So the story went as we remember it.

With the world standing at the last Mr. Sulles' brink, T & T suggests that we had better soon do our running and our fighting together and as a team, but of course maybe that is how a woman feels. Regardless of this, we feel either sure when we suggest that for a continent of "the most" it is about time we became "the most." The Rio Grande commandant made his famous comment, Britain was alone and few gave her much chance to survive, but little pigs and triumphs were relegated to the limbo of "the least" whilst "the most" became what it should mean. Some assure us that we again are on the crossroad of survival at the level of bricks and little pigs back in the 1940s but at least while we may once more assumes its literal meaning in education and in enlightenment, and in living.

Women will be interested to know that this summer is a remarkable one when one reflects on the progress made by women in a world of vast expanse and shrinking proportions. In Paris, France, from July 30-25 the International Federation of Business and Professional Women meets to formulate plans for their world-wide organization. At Edinburgh, Scotland, from August 3 to 8 is held the 23rd Country Women of the World meet, and it is a matter of humanitarian interest that this wonderful organization was conceived, born and flourishes in Ontario. From August 4-8, the International Federation of the University Women meet in Helsinki, Finland. So much has been accomplished in so few years. So much remains and will forever remain to challenge the highest ideals of women in understanding, humanitarianism and education. Education is beyond comprehension to grasp the potential contribution, it is hoped, of women to that new woman the world over are organizing for peace in the world.

Weavers' Guild Discusses Plans For Fall Fair

The regular meeting of the Belleville Weavers' Guild met at the home of Miss Helen Sullivan on Monday evening, with a good attendance.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. Hays chaired the meeting.

Time was spent in discussing plans for the weaving exhibit at the Belleville Fair and Mrs. Gilroy told about the exhibition of coverlets, for the Homemakers' at Mrs. H. Graham's. Mrs. Gilroy also told about the conference she just attended at Hamilton. Plans were made for a pot-luck supper in July.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. McCreary.

Surprise Party Marks 40th Anniversary

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Miller Parks were invited to dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Jack Gould, of Foxboro.

They were completely surprised when they arrived to find that all their family, including 14 grandchildren, had gathered to help them celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary.

A corsage of red Sweetheart rosebuds and a white corsage were pinned on the bride and bridegroom by their eldest granddaughter, Sylvia Smith.

Yalah pictures were taken; a telegram was read and at the conclusion of the dinner little Patricia Gould presented her Grandma and Grandpa with a purse of money on behalf of all their family.

Film Depicts Gospel Spread In N. America

A joint meeting of Tabernacle United Church W.A. and W.M.S. was held in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Percy Kerr opened the meeting.

A short business session was held and the W. A. decided to hold a social to help buy a resuscitator for Camp Quin-no-ise.

The Rev. James Eastcott showed a splendid film depicting the spread of the Gospel across the North American continent. Scenes in film showed how the gospel is spread by missionaries, how the natives are taught to read, how the sick are healed, and the people are taught to help lead their brothers and sisters into a better life.

The picture followed the course of study for the W.M.S. during the current year.

After the picture, Mrs. Lockyer had charge of the meeting.

Miss Myrtle Johns read the Scripture lesson from John 17: 1-11, 17-21. This chapter of John's gospel is said to contain the most intimate revelation of the mind of Jesus, in this great prayer in His Father. Jesus pours out His innermost desires. Not only does He pray that His disciples may be one as He and His Father are one, but that the whole world also may be one in the same manner. St. Paul says "We are members one of another." When one really becomes convinced of this he will have discovered true neighborliness.

At the close of the meeting the members enjoyed a social hour together.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

SHOULD BRIDE'S YOUNG BROTHER GIVE HER IN MARRIAGE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I do hope you can help me with my problems, and as soon as possible, please, because so many relatives and friends have voiced different opinions and I must make definite plans soon.

1. We are to have a very large church (Presbyterian) wedding. My father died several years ago, and I say wondering whom I should have give me in marriage. I am in my early-twenties. Would it be proper and in good taste to have my only brother, who is 16 years old, or would it be more correct to have a favorite uncle?

2. The mother of the groom-to-be is not living. Who should stand in her place in the receiving-line — his only grandmother, or possible an aunt? — E.

1. If your 16-year-old brother is a poised and responsible young man, if you particularly want him to escort you up the aisle and give you in marriage, and most importantly, if you have the approval for this from the minister who is to perform the ceremony, this procedure would be entirely proper and, I think, a fine idea for your only brother to be your father's representative. (Last year I went to a lovely wedding where the bride's 14-11, fine-looking, 16-year-old brother proudly escorted her up the aisle and gave her in marriage, and her 17-year-old twin sisters were her only attendants. This family group was most appealing.)

You may, if you prefer, and if the minister suggests it, have a favorite uncle give you in marriage. Or you might consider having either your young brother or your uncle escort you up the aisle, and then have your mother give you in marriage.

2. This choice would, of course, depend on the wish of the bridegroom . . . but it would seem natural to invite the grandmother, particularly if she is the maternal grandmother.

CORRECT TO ENCLOSE RESPONSE CARDS IN INVITATIONS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We're certainly having a terrific argument about whether or not it is correct to enclose "response cards" in formal, engraved wedding invitations, (I'm not absolutely sure we are using the correct name for these, but we mean the small cards sent to guests invited to the reception and or dinner or wedding breakfast or luncheon cards with all the information-details on them and with blank spaces to be checked by the guests as to whether or not they will attend. Usually, addressed, stamped envelopes are sent with these cards.) Do you approve of these cards? — Six Readers

No! In the first place they are not correct, because it spoils the harmonious effect of a handsome, engraved wedding invitation to enclose in it a stamped, addressed envelope . . . the kind of envelope containing a card that is associated with business, not with a social procedure. And in the second place it registers, "on sight," that those issuing the invitations don't believe that their guests will take the thought or trouble to reply to such a fine invitation in the courteous way they should reply. Let's face it, it also may appear to imply that the guests just don't know the correct way to reply, and so, enclosed, is the "crutch" to use.

By defenders of this incorrect procedure, the obvious reason given is, of course, that these enclosed cards-with-envelopes are sent with the kindest intentions, as a most thoughtfully meant for the convenience of the guests. Naturally the hope is that the guests will fill in the cards right away, enclose them in the envelopes to "conveniently" addressed and stamped for them . . . and then the bride and her family will know exactly how many guests to provide for.

But apparently these response cards don't, by a long shot, get the sure-fire response they are intended to get. Recently I have interviewed quite a few stationers whose business it is to know what's what, and they report that the surveys they have made definitely prove that as good results better results are obtained by engraving "R.s.v.p." on the invitations as by enclosing response cards. These authoritative stationers have always advised their customers against even considering ordering response-cards and envelopes (even though, of course, such orders would add considerably to their revenues).

It is well-known, also, that people of taste deeply resent being sent these response cards, which seem to indicate they don't know enough to reply to an invitation, or perhaps don't know how to reply to a formal invitation.

Serviceable Ensemble

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

A true boon to the well-rounded but budget-hedged wardrobe is an ensemble of dress and coat, wonderful together but still complete, each one, on its own. In this ensemble the coat of rayon linen has a stand-up, sway-from-the-neck collar and full-sliown sleeves buttoned on the outer arm with large white pearl buttons. The dress is of the same fabric but in cream white. It is simply styled with a touch of detail at the neck. It closes with the same big white pearl buttons.

How To Cook Pork Cuts

by Mary Moore

This week we work on pork tenderloin, hocks, and smoked or peanealed bacon. Remember? We are trying to reduce the surplus of Government stored fresh pork in Canada.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

Mixed Grill: Crumbed Veal Kidneys, Smoked Sausage, Broiled Mushrooms, Broiled Onion Rings; Duchess Potatoes; Green Peas; Sliced Tomatoes with Chive French Dressing; Rosy Baked Rhubarb; Sugary Squares (see Tuesday); Coffee.

Trained chefs treat economy cuts such as hocks just as tenderly as they would a luxury cut such as tenderloin. So tune in now and see how it is done in chef's circles so you too can take advantage of low cost pork cuts.

SPICED PORK HOCKS

(With sauerkraut or cabbage) 3 pounds fresh pork hocks, 6 to 8 cups hot water, ½ cup sliced onion, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spices, 2½ cups drained sauerkraut (28-ounce can) or 1 small cabbage.

Scrub pork hocks well. Cover with hot water. Add sliced onion and seasonings. Cover closely and simmer on top of stove 2½ to 3 hours. Skim off fat and strain cooking liquid. Add 1 cup cooking liquid and sauerkraut or cabbage to pork hocks. Simmer 10 to 12 minutes. Arrange sauerkraut or cabbage around pork hocks. To pressure cook: Follow above recipe using only 1½ cups water. Cook hocks 30 to 35 minutes in pressure cooker at 15 pounds pressure. Allow cooker to cool slowly. Add sauerkraut and simmer 10 to 12 minutes in about 1 cup strained cooking liquid or add cabbage and cook 1 minute at 15 pounds pressure.

BAKED PORK TENDERLOIN

Split lengthwise 2 whole tenderloins (1¼ to ¾ pound each). Spread open and cover one tenderloin with bread or apple stuffing. Place second split tenderloin on top and skewer or tie. Place 2 or 3 strips of bacon or pieces of fat pork over the top. Roast in crack in shallow pan at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1¼ to 1½ hours.

BAKED BACON WITH GLAZE

Bake 3-pound piece of smoked or pesmealed bacon on rack, uncovered, in centre of oven at 300 deg. Fahr. until well done and fork tender, about 2½ hours. If smoked, bacon may be spread with this Glaze: Combine 1 cup brown sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 3 tablespoons flour and enough vinegar to make a thick paste. Spread over bacon and continue cooking slowly over low heat 15 to 20 minutes, turning once. During last 5 minutes, add slices of green pepper and tomato to top of each chop as a garnish and an accompaniment.

Pork chops are a familiar favorite in most Canadian homes. For a change, have your butcher cut chops 1-inch thick instead of the usual ½-inch.

To plump 1-inch pork chops, brown each side 3 to 4 minutes over moderate heat, pour off excess fat, turn the chops, cover and continue cooking slowly over low heat 15 to 20 minutes, turning once. — Consumer Section, Production and Marketing Branch, Canada Department of Agriculture.

TENDER, JUICY PORK CHOPS

For a change, have your butcher cut chops 1" thick. To panfry, brown each side 3 to 4 minutes over moderate heat, pour off excess fat, turn the chops, cover and continue cooking slowly over low heat 15 to 20 minutes, turning once. Season to taste with salt and pepper and, if desired, add a dash of garlic salt.

G.I.A. Holds Successful Blossom Tea

The G.I.A. tea held recently at the home of Mrs. C. G. Henley, 200 Victoria Avenue, was a scene of Spring loveliness with reception room adorned with baskets of peonies, iris and lemon lilies.

Those receiving at the door included Mrs. J. F. Avery; Mrs. C. G. Henley and Mrs. P. Kerr.

Inviting the guests to the tea room were Mrs. L. Grey and Mrs. R. Boulton, while pouring tea at the attractively arranged tea table with its silver centrepiece cornucopia filled with lilies and pink carnations, mingled with star of Bethlehem, white lilacs, forget-me-nots, and maidenhair fern, were; Mrs. A. Clarke and Mrs. James Reid; Mrs. H. C. Batchelor, and Mrs. D. Fisher.

Those serving included, Mesdames, C. Fisher, R. Jones, J. McCormick, William Hammet, Jr., W. Grey, A. S. Vanstone and J. M. Boyd; while those busy in replenishing the trays of good things, were Mrs. J. Gallagher, Mrs. G. Brenton, Mrs. T. Colyer, Mrs. N. Cathers.

Mrs. W. Morgan and Mrs. F. Crozier were the receivers of the tickets.

Replenishing plates Mrs. P. Welsh, Mrs. E. Spring, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Callaghan.

The homebaking table was convened by Mrs. F. Jerome, assisted by Mrs. A. Buck, Mrs. N. Robb and Mrs. G. McGee, who were kept busy serving the many guests who soon depleted the fine array of pastries, buns, cakes and tarts, as well as jams and relishes and jellies.

A pretty 'blossom tea' nicely convened by Mrs. E. Pigden and Mrs. J. Payne, and pleasingly successful.

Bayside H-S Assoc. Holds Final Meeting

The final meeting of the Bayside Home and School Association was held at the Bayside School on Thursday.

Mrs. Little was voted 1st vice-president; Mr. Cooper, 2nd vice-president, and the executive members chosen were: Mrs. Carter, Mrs. E. Arthur and Mrs. M. Hilham.

Mrs. Fettle, commissioner of the Guides and Brownies, gave an interesting talk on the two groups, saying that of 152 thousand Guides in Canada, Ontario has about one-half of the Guide population.

Mrs. A. M. Haig also spoke on Guiding and expressed the desire to help any leaders who wish to become associated with the group.

The District Commissioner of Boy Scouts of Brighton gave a great deal of information on how to go about forming the group in the area, followed by an instructive talk by Mr. Morris Smith, who is presently a Cub Master and has offered his services to help form one in the Bayside area.

After listening to these informative speakers, it was unanimously decided to vote that 50c be set aside for each of the following groups: Boy Scouts, Cubs, Guides, and Brownies, this amount to go towards the formation of each of these troops for the Bayside area.

Mr. Miller thanked the speakers for addressing the Home and School Association on these worth-while groups.

Women's Institute

MOIRA WI.

The Moira W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Clayton Vandewater, Wednesday afternoon, with an attendance of nine members. The president presided.

A business discussion took place. It was decided to have a strawberry-ice cream social June 25th with proceeds to go to the W.I. and Cemetery Fund. Also a decoration to be held at the cemetery the following Sunday; Mrs. Angus Mumby, Mrs. Gordon Foster and Mrs. Gill Thompson are on the program committee.

A number of letters were read; one from the Institute for the Blind. It was decided to send a donation to the blind; also to send 50 of the souvenir spoons. An invitation had been received from Bethel-Zion to attend a "Lilac Tea" on June 9th.

The meeting was taken over by the convener, Mrs. John Farrel, on historical research, preceded by a sing-song. Each member gave a history of her farm. A solo by Mrs. Angus Mumby, reading by Mrs. W. Collins, "Heat" Mrs. John Farrel, "Locks by Hall."

The topic was given by Mrs. W. Collins in place of Mrs. G. Thompson who was unable to come. It was "Famous Women I Have Always Admired" by Charlotte Whitton.

After the meeting closed lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Milton Vandewater.

MANY TALENTS

Mrs. Charles Clavert, English actress who died in 1921, was a success in both Shakespeare and modern comedy.

Grandmothers' Meeting Held By Harts-Riggs

MADOC — The annual grandmothers' meeting of the Harts-Riggs, W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. Newell Broad on Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of 13 grandmothers and several other members.

The president, Mrs. Percy Broadworth, conducted the business and conveners and committees were named to plan for a joint picnic to be held at the close of the school year for the two schools — Harts and Riggs, and also catering at Hoards community sale in July.

Six new members were welcomed to the Institute.

Several members gave readings appropriate to the theme of the meeting. This was followed by two novelty numbers of the kitchen band composed of nine members attired in appropriate dress and accompanied by a chorus.

The motto was prepared and read by Mrs. Leonard Trotter. Mrs. Broadworth gave a report of her trip to the Guelph Conference.

Each grandmother was presented with a gift and rousing game of "Pin the Tail on the Donkey", brought a happy meeting to a close.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Mother's Helper

WHEN YOU'RE about to embark on a mending mission, your tiniest seamstress will enjoy going along. Give her a generous piece of old sheeting, and a big needle with bright thread. Let her do it her way—and when she's used up a needleful, ask her to choose what color thread she wants next. You may find she's most adept at shirring.

Ladies Attend Zone Rally

MADOC — Comrades Myrtle Lough, Helen Scrutton, Henrika Howard, Lorraine Bremner, Mami Delline, Lizzie Storring and the president, Nina Embury, attended the zone rally of the ladies auxiliary in Deseronto on Thursday.

The meeting was held in the legion hall under the direction of Zone Commander, Nina Jones of Picton.

The march to the cenotaph presented a nice appearance with the various flags of the Auxiliaries and the Picton Band in attendance.

The ladies were served a bountiful turkey dinner in the United Church. Each member present received a corsage.

The group adjourned to the Legion Hall for the evening program.

The rally will be held in Madoc in the month of May 1960.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mary S. — They're trying to hold me back.

Mrs. L. S. — She hogs the limelight.

Mary S. — I am 16 and very popular — or I would be if I did not have a problem sister. My sister Estelle is 17 and is a regular bookworm. She isn't interested in boys at all.

As a result, my parents think that everyone should be like her. They call me boy crazy because I want to go out a lot and dress up. They always tell me I'm trying to make myself older than I am. It's not that. It's just that they compare me with Estelle who looks and acts like 15.

Instead of trying to hold me back I think my parents should do something about Estelle. She hardly ever has a date and at the rate she's going she'll be an old maid.

Mrs. L. S. — I agree that Estelle doesn't go out enough and I would like to see her be more popular. She is an exceptionally intelligent girl and as pretty as can be when she brightens up. But she is usually very quiet and Mary manages to hog the limelight. It annoys me to see this happen because I know I suffered from very much the same thing. My older sister always got everyone's attention while I sat in the background.

On the other hand, I can't see any excuse for a 16-year-old getting herself up the way Mary does. She loves to wear a lot of makeup and low-cut dresses. When she gets dressed up for a movie date, you'd think she was 29 and ready to make the rounds of the night clubs.

The Council: Perhaps it would help matters in this home if Mrs. L. S. tried to stop making comparisons of all sorts — comparisons between her two daughters and comparisons between their situation and hers. A few similarities do not add up to the same total picture.

These two girls are two entirely different individuals — different from one another and different from their mother and her sister. They will grow at different rates and experience life in their own individual ways.

It is possible that the older girl in this case does not feel pushed into the "background." She could be having some rich experiences of her own at this period of life. Mary says Estelle "hardly ever" has a date. That means she does have some. Perhaps these few are enough for her at this time.

The important question is whether or not she seems reasonably content with herself. Does she have a few real friends? Does she get satisfaction out of a few things besides her books? Does she get some credit for good work at school or in extra-curricular activities?

If the answer to any or all of these questions is no, Estelle needs some help and guidance. But these do not have to be related to her sister's activities. She should be encouraged to get involved in activities with others. The boy angle does not have to be stressed.

On the other hand, we see no reason to hold Mary back from the things she wants just because of her sister. It is possible that she is going too far for her age in her style of dress, but this has nothing to do with her sister. Mrs. L. S. should lay down the law about heavy makeup and low-cut dresses. They aren't suitable for a 16-year-old — sister or no sister.

The same goes for the number of Mary's dates. Some limits should be set, but a balance should be struck between what Mary wants and what is suitable for her age. Estelle's lack of dates should not enter the picture.

HAPPY GESTURE

RESERVE FARE DECISION

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian board of transport commissioners reserved judgment Monday on a CNR application for an 11-cent increase per ride on a 10-trip ticket for its Oakville-Toronto run and a 15-cent increase per ride on a 40-trip ticket. The board indicated its decision would be handed down sometime next month.

CHILDREN DUCK IN TIME

HAMILTON (CP) — Twenty-five children escaped injury Monday when the roof was ripped from their school bus. Driver Howard Zoller said his vehicle was discharging passengers when a well - digging machine came around a corner, its beam swinging directly at the bus. The children saw it coming and hit the floor in the aisle.

C.G.I.T. Holds Season's Final Meeting

JOHNSTOWN: C.G.I.T. girls held their last meeting until after the holidays, on Tuesday evening at the home of their leader, Mrs. Douglas Harry, entertaining the mothers and grandmothers.

Beverley Clapp and Rosemary Clapp greeted the guests at the door.

The girls sang "Do Lord" and "Hallelujah". A story was read by Beverley Clapp called "A Boy Scout in Canada". A sing-song of "Little Tommy Tucker", "Rocks My Soul" and "I Stuck My Head in a Little Skunk's Hole", was enjoyed by all.

The all round C.G.I.T. girl of the year was Beverley Clapp who won two plaques: one for best attendance and one for proper dress. Beverley thanked Mrs. Harry saying that if she had not had such a fine leader she might not have been selected.

During the business session it was arranged to have a wiener roast later with Beverley, Rosemary and Joan Vandervoort being conveners.

Mrs. Harry welcomed the guests saying she was glad to have the mothers and grandmothers present to let them see what the girls have been doing at their meetings. They were taken to the hall where there was a table with babies garments on. The girls are to be commended as well as the leader for she is teaching the girls to cook and bake as well as sew. These garments are to be given to the Babies Convalescent Home at Plainfield.

Darlene Harder introduced the speaker, Miss K. Homan for the evening.

Miss Homan's colored slides were beautiful and as she is such a fine humorous speaker she was enjoyed very much.

Rosemary Bush thanked Miss Homan on behalf of the C.G.I.T. and Mrs. Alex Vandervoort thanked the C.G.I.T. girls for asking the mothers and grandmothers to this meeting.

At the lunch hour, Sharon Gilchrist poured tea and coffee with Darlene Harder making it and Pat, Evelyn Harry and Joan served the guests with Beverley and Evelyn keeping the coffee pots and teapots replenished.

It was such a nice evening that it will long be remembered.

Women's Activities

SPRINGBROOK W.A.

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent recently when the members of Springbrook United Church Woman's Association had ladies from Rylestone, Stanwood and Gospel Hall, as guests at their June meeting held in the church. The acting hostesses were Mrs. Percy Bateman and Mrs. John McKeown. With the president, Mrs. Carman Sine, in charge, a welcome was extended to all.

An inspiring worship period was conducted by Mrs. Bert McCoy using the theme 'Forgiveness'. The scripture taken from Luke 7:36-50 was read by Mrs. Frank Cosbey.

A prayer for the Missionary, Miss Gould, was given by Mrs. Beare.

The lesson thoughts and a prayer followed by the Lord's prayer closed the worship.

There were four ladies from Rylestone, five from Stanwood and two from Gospel Hall. Mrs. A. Haslett of Belleville and one visitor from Springbrook.

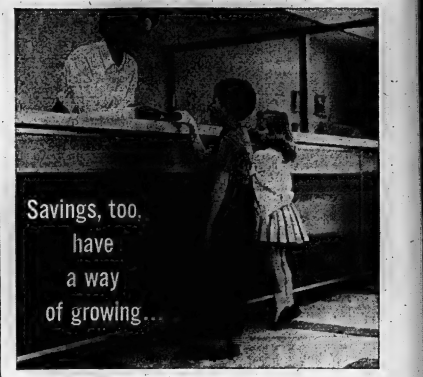
A quotation from the "Observer" was the roll call answered by 25 Springbrook members and the Rev. H. E. Beare.

The members reported 40 cards sent out and 19 calls made. The correspondence read consisted of 5 thank yous and an invitation to the 45th anniversary of Zion W.A. on July 29th at Petherick's Corners. The report of the May Visiting Volunteers was read by the secretary, Mrs. Reg. McKeown, acting convener for the fruit and flower committee, told of one box, one plant, and five cards sent out.

Mrs. John McKeown reported that a piano had been purchased for the church basement.

NEW BUSINESS

The new business dealt with and consisted of approval of the packing of a bale for Overseas relief; and the planning of a pot-luck supper followed by a ball game on June 26 with the proceeds given in aid of the re-auscitator for Quin-Mo-Lac camp at Moira Lake.



The visiting volunteers for June will be Mrs. Reg. McKeown and Mrs. Gordon Webb.

An interesting topic entitled "Women of Jesus' Time", was given by Mrs. Ralph Thompson. An enjoyable program following consisting of readings by Mrs. Clinton Robbins, Mrs. Ray Stewart of Rylestone; solos by Mrs. Gordon Webb accompanied at the organ by Mrs. John McKeown; reading by Mrs. Don Bateman; skit by Mrs. Delbert Fleming, Mrs. Reg. McKeown and Mrs. Murray Mann. Reading by Mrs. Murray Petherick of Stanwood.

Hat contest, arranged by Mrs. Delbert Fleming with the judges awarding the prize to group 3 for the best designed hat modelled.

The collection of $6.80 was gathered by Mrs. Ralph Thompson. The meeting was closed by Mrs. Beare.

Lunch was served in the basement by the hostesses and their assistants. The hostesses for the July meeting will be Mrs. Gerald Broadworth and Mrs. Ralph Wellman, when each member is asked to bring a guest.

VOTE FOR ACTIVE REPRESENTATION

JACK C. LUNDBERG — YOUR CANDIDATE

● A MAN OF PROVEN ACTION—
3 years Dominion vice-president of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada; 4 years as Ontario Command president; in 4th year as president of Lodge 66, Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen.

● A NATIVE OF HASTINGS—
Born in Hastings County, educated in the schools of Belleville, graduate of Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

● A FAMILY MAN—
Married with two children, member of Anglican Church, member of Parents-Teachers Association.

● A CITIZEN FOR HIS COUNTRY AND COMMUNITY—
A Veteran of the Normandy Beachhead landing on D-Day, 8 years service in the Canadian Army, a member of his local ratepayers' association.

To My Fellow Citizens . . .

Tomorrow you go to the polls . . . this is the last chance I have to speak to you before the next representative to Queen's Park for this riding is chosen. I should like to urge that you exercise your franchise . . . your, our community, our country will be the better for it . . . our soldiers did not give up their lives on the battlefields of Europe, Africa, Burma and Korea so that we could sit around the house on election day and let "George do it", when it comes to meeting our responsibilities as a citizen.

It is in meeting my responsibility as a citizen that I appear before you as a candidate for the riding of Hastings West on the ballot you will receive tomorrow. Despite eight years of active service with the Canadian Army during the Second World War I find that there is just as much to fight for to maintain and better our way of life on the home front as well as in foreign theatres of war.

What have we to fight for on the home front? There are many things . . . mainly better assistance and attention from the provincial government. Despite the statements and claims of the party currently in power, the province, under their administration, has been giving consistently less of the percentage of its income to the educational requirements of the municipalities. In 1945, 43 percent of the provincial tax revenue was used for education. Today . . . in the face of rising costs and the need for more facilities . . . the government only gives 40 percent of its revenue to aid the costs of education. I am pledged to do my best to change this situation.

The tourist business has not been supported by the current government.

Last year's revenue from the tourist trade in Ontario was $200 million . . . this figure was down 10 percent — a loss of $20 million from 1957, which, in turn, was down from the revenue recorded for 1956 . . . yet Queen's Park still refuses to make any accommodation to ease or improve the plight of the industry. I am pledged to action to help to build up this industry and especially to its development as a leading industry in the county of Hastings, one of the finest beauty spots of Ontario.

There are other things which we have to fight for . . . a government in power for too long seems to acquire a certain amount of overconfidence in its own decisions and a lack of respect for . . . or perhaps a lack of appreciation for the needs and requests of the people. We must have a government which realizes that it is what the people say they need that should be the guide for the government's actions . . . not what a personable old gentleman says to be necessary for the people. Action and adequate action is required of any constituency's elected representative, I am pledged to give you active and adequate representation no matter what your livelihood may be, or where you live, or what or who you believe in.

I respectfully ask for your support at the polls tomorrow. I deeply believe that this riding requires more active representation and I offer myself as your candidate with every desire to fulfill this obligation to the best of my abilities.

WITH HUMBLEST REGARDS.

Jack C. Lundberg

Servicemen Outside Canada Hit by Family Allowance Act

OTTAWA (CP)—Figures have been given the Commons showing that among Canadian servicemen serving abroad the lowest ranks, with the largest number of children are hardest hit by loss of family allowances.

The allowances are not paid to Canadians outside Canada, servicemen included, although armed forces personnel continue to pay Canadian income tax.

Servicemen abroad in some cases receive allowances which somewhat offset the loss of family allowances. But the lowest ranks lose the most.

Defence Minister Pearkes said in a Commons return that the gross loss in family allowances during a four-year tour of duty abroad is $912 for a serviceman with three children and $1,824 for a serviceman with five children, regardless of rank.

But because he receives more pay, a wing commander with five children would receive an offsetting saving in income tax of $906.40 in his period. The saving to a leading aircraftman with five children would be only $16.80 in four years.

All armed forces personnel abroad receive a foreign service allowance. But it is paid to single as well as married servicemen and has no relation to loss of family allowances.

Married servicemen on some foreign stations receive a cost-of-living allowance. But a couple with no children receives the same cost-of-living allowance as a couple with five children.

The armed forces for years have been trying to persuade the government to correct what they say is this discrimination in the Family Allowances Act. They argue that any person subject to Canadian income tax should be qualified for family allowances.

Personnel of the army brigade and RCAF air division in Europe now number about 11,000 of whom some 60 per cent are married and are accompanied overseas by their dependents.

409 REBELS KILLED

ALGIERS (Reuters) — French security forces last week killed 409 Algerian insurgents and took 211 prisoners, French military authorities said Monday. Thirty-four French soldiers were reported killed during the same period.

Naval Spectacle Greatest Ever Seen in Canada

OTTAWA, (CP) — Spectators will be treated to a naval spectacle never before seen in Canadian waters following the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by Queen Elizabeth and President Eisenhower June 28.

The royal yacht Britannia, with the two heads of state aboard, will take a 21-gun salute from 16 Canadian and United States warships during a sail-past in Lake St. Louis, Royal Visit headquarters announced Monday.

Canadian units participating are the destroyer escorts St. Croix, Athabaskan, Micmac, Cayuga, Crescent and Restigouche, and the frigates Fort Erie and Swansea, all of the RCN Atlantic fleet.

The American ships, part of a 28-unit task force of the U.S. Atlantic fleet to operate this summer in the Great Lakes, include the 17,200-ton heavy cruiser Macon.

Trade Between Canada, Red Countries Envisaged by Cyrus Eaton at CMA Meet

NEW ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—Active trade across the Pacific between Canada and Communist countries is envisaged by Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born Cleveland industrialist, here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

Top-ranking officials of the association agreed with Mr. Eaton about the desirability of such trade.

Canada, Mr. Eaton said, cannot wait to see whether the United States adopts "sounder" policies without Canada sacrificing her tremendous potential for trade with the Far East.

Mr. Eaton addressed the annual dinner Tuesday night, urging Canada to follow a foreign policy independent of that of the United States.

A text was released to the press in advance, but Mr. Eaton spoke without it, and among the passages omitted in his speech was the reference to Canadian-Communist trade.

Asked about the omission by newspaper men, he said:

"I particularly intended to say that, but in speaking from my notes and not wishing to make too long a speech, I overlooked it. I certainly mean it."

W. H. Evans of Toronto, newly-elected president of the CMA and president of Honeywell Control Ltd., was asked by newspaper men about this part of Mr. Eaton's text. He said:

"I see nothing wrong with such trade providing it is confined to materials not strategic. We can't live in the world and ignore the Communist countries."

Mr. Eaton, in delivering his address, turned to Dr. Amazasp Arouhnian, Russian ambassador to Canada and a head table guest, and said:

"If a report of this meeting is being made I hope you will convey to Mr. Khrushchev (Soviet premier) that we regard Russia as a country which will meet her commitments and as a people with whom we can do business."

Mr. Eaton referred to the U.S. as "a country I love and in which I have prospered." But he said he disagreed with the policy of its state department. Canada would be well advised not to accept uncritically the security policy the U.S. put forward.

Carl A. Pollock, of Kitchener, president of Dominion Electrohome Industries, speaking at Tuesday's final CMA discussion session, said:

"Canadian industry can do many things which older industrial societies are deterred from doing because of long tradition. Canadians have the opportunity of the century to develop a new image of business to replace an inherited one."

Propaganda Machine of Reds In Full Howl in East Germany

EDITOR'S NOTE: Michael Goldsmith of the Associated Press was one of 10 Western correspondents who visited East Germany last weekend. Here are some of his impressions.

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP)—A group of youngsters stood crowded around a stand at a fair ground in East Germany, tossing balls at a line of targets.

The targets were faces of three West German officials—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano and Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss. Mouths of all three were wide open. The trick was to throw the ball into the mouths.

"Shut mouths of warmongers" read the banner over the stand.

The stand is part of the Communist propaganda machine working at full blast to convince 17,000,000 East Germans that West Germany and the Western Allies are planning a nuclear war to destroy the German Democratic Republic.

The propaganda drive heavily on German national feeling. East Germany is plastered from end to end with posters, placards and banners, often covering the entire front of a public building. The main themes are always the same:

"Fight for peace . . . Destroy nuclear, Expel saboteurs and terrorists from West Berlin . . . The peace camp will not retreat."

The word "communism" is taboo. The ruling Socialist Unity party was formed by a Communist-Socialist merger. Its policies and an unreconstructed form of Stalinist communism but its propaganda uses only the word "somembers indignantly object to cialism." Hedge-wearing party members indignantly object to the term "Communist."

Communist propaganda pours contempt on the bright lights and luxury of West Berlin. One young Communist woman official, who returned to East Germany after living in the West as a refugee, listed the parking problem among the evils of capitalism.

"You see—that's one problem we don't have here," she said with a straight face as she pointed at an East Berlin street devoid of cars.

LONDON (Reuters) — Greetings poured into the Royal Post Office at Buckingham Palace today—Prince Philip's 38th birthday.

Flags were flown on public buildings throughout the country and Royal Navy ships fired salutes.

Indonesia Again in Throes Of Explosive Political Woes

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Indonesia, where civil war flared last year, is once again in the throes of explosive political problems — as it has been periodically since winning independence from The Netherlands in 1949.

Lt.-Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, army chief of staff, banned all political activity in the 3,000-island republic after a vote in the Constituent Assembly went against the "guided democracy" proposals of President Sukarno.

An oddity of the situation is that Sukarno, the spellbinding leader of the nationalist revolution, was not at home at this critical time, but instead away on one of his many tours.

Nasution's action apparently headed off the danger of immediate violence and was generally applauded by the more moderate Indonesian newspapers. The papers predicted that the general's move would keep things quiet at least until the return of Sukarno, who is completing a world tour with scheduled medical treatment in Japan.

Sukarno has said repeatedly that Western - style democracy will not work in his country. He insists instead on a constitution providing for appointed government members in addition to those elected by the people.

He denies charges from Moslem elements, particularly in outlying islands of the Indonesian archipelago, that he has ever come under Communist influence, and staunchly defends his position of neutrality between the United States and Russia.

Maj. Gordon Higgins of Vancouver (left), mayor of the Canadian community at Soest, Germany, compares his chain of office with that of George Duelberg, burgomaster of Soest. For years the Canadian mayor has had a chain to wear, and there was an exchange of visits. So he had one made — using the regimental badges of the Canadian army units stationed in the area. (CP from National Defence)

4th Canadian Brigade Group Stationed in Germany Brings Economic Stability to Area

SOEST, Germany (CP) — For seven years the citizens of the Westphalian towns of Soest, Hemer and Werl in northwest Germany have been surrounded by Canadian troops. They hope to remain encircled for years.

One reason is that the Canadians form a comforting bulwark against the threat of possible aggression. The border of Communist-controlled East Germany lies less than 20 miles to the east and behind it are powerful Russian forces.

But to the Germans, the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group stationed in the area represents considerably more than a key piece in NATO's defensive chain in Europe. The soldiers and their families have brought a hitherto unknown economic stability to the predominately agricultural communities.

BROADEN ECONOMY

"Your Canadians have become part of the economic lifeblood of our community," said George Duelberg, 70 - year - old burgomaster of Soest.

The burgomaster explained: "This isn't an industrial area. Before the Canadians came in 1953, we depended almost entirely on the crops. When they were bad, we suffered.

"Now the Canadians have broadened the base of our economy. The effect, for us, is much the same as industrial concerns putting up plants here."

Scores of German civilians are employed in the nine Canadian "forts" surrounding the three towns, the majority as laborers doing maintenance work. But there are skilled German machinists in the workshops and others work as interpreters, stenographers and in the various messes.

The biggest boost comes from the free-spending habits of the Canadian themselves. Brigade officials estimate that the soldiers and their families spend about $1,000,000 every month in the area.

Duelberg, who owns a thriving plumbing and heating business, said the Canadians account directly and indirectly, for about 70 per cent of the business in Soest, a community with a population of some 32,000. "It is about the same in Werl and Hemer."

"If the Canadians ever leave here, a lot of our people will feel very sad."

Of the 2,460 Canadian army families in the area, 1,620 live in married quarters located on the outskirts of the towns. The remaining families live in German homes. The Canadian is keep largely to themselves. The soldiers are kept busy with stiff training schedules. And there are excellent entertainment facilities including rinks, theatres, bowling alleys and clubs—for the men and their families.

ON GOOD TERMS

But relations with the local population, say army officials, are excellent. This claim is backed by Duelberg and other civic officials.

"Relations are good at all levels, not just the top," said Duelberg. The amount of intermingling between German and Canadian families is increasing all the time."

Did Canadian soldiers cause his police force much trouble?

"Goodness no. Nothing has happened in years—nothing more than occurs with any group of men, army or civilian. Your soldiers are fine men and you can be proud of them."

The burgomaster ended the interview with a message for the "several hundred" German girls who have gone from Soest to Canada as the brides of Canadian soldiers: "Be true to your husbands, be good housewives and most important of all become good Canadians."

WO 2 Wesley Jantzen of B.C. Crack Pistol Shot in Army

SOEST, Germany (CP) — The German announcer at the 25-metre outdoor pistol range paused in his recital of individual results in the Soest regional competition. Breaking into fluent English, he continued:

"Herr Jantzen, Canadian Army, representing South Soest Pistol Club, 287."

The announcement brought a grin of delight from WO 2 Wesley Jantzen of Vancouver and a roar of approval from South Soest supporters.

Moments later another roar went up as it was announced that the South Soest club's four-man team had won the competition and with it the right to compete in the all-German pistol championships at Stuttgart June 17-19.

Jantzen, 43-year-old company sergeant-major with the 2nd Battalion, The Canadian Guards, is the only Canadian in the club. An ardent pistol enthusiast, he joined the club shortly after his unit was transferred to Germany in November, 1957, for NATO duty with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group.

The stocky Canadian is one of the best pistol shots in the Soest region. His score of 287 out of a possible 300, made under gusty wind conditions, was the second highest of the regional shoot.

MAY GO TO STUTTGART

The winners at Stuttgart will be eligible for the German pistol team competition. The team that later this year for an invitation match against the Russians. The team will be selected on an individual basis and Soest marksmen believe Jantzen stands a good chance of making it.

He has scored in several scores of 290 in local competitions, only four points below the high score at last year's championships.

Jantzen uses a 22-calibre Smith and Wesson revolver in the competitions which include both pre-cision and snap shooting.

At Stuttgart, competitors will be required to get off 15 rounds each in less than five minutes at the precision target, which has a bulls-eye about 1¾ inches in diameter. This will be followed by 15 rounds of snap shots at silhouette-type targets that remain in position for only three seconds on each round.

Jantzen began competitive pistol shooting with the Pacific North West Pistol Club at Nanaimo, B.C., during the Second World War. He is also a crack rifle shot.

Bond Dealers Told to Review Selling Tactics

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Canada's investment dealers were urged Tuesday to reappraise their attitudes and selling techniques with an eye to hitting the public with a harder sale approach.

Selling stocks and bonds is no longer a matter of sitting in an office and making telephone calls, Peter Bell, a Victoria investment dealer, told the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

He said dealers must have a complete knowledge of their business and products or else securities must be sold, rather than allotted.

TORNADO HITS FARGO

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Tornadic winds hammered Fargo Tuesday causing thousands of dollars of property damage but spared the city the devastation it suffered two years ago. There were no reports of deaths or injuries.

CRACK SHOT—Company Sergeant Major Wesley Jantzen of Vancouver levels his revolver as he competes in a pistol meet at Soest, Germany. At left is the president of the Soest pistol club, of which Jantzen is a member. The Soest club, with Jantzen scoring 287 out of a possible 300, won the right to compete in the all-German pistol championships at Stuttgart June 17-19. (CP from National Defence)

CAMPBELLFORD

Anthony Abbott Addresses Liberal Rally at Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — Anthony Abbott, son of Canada's former Finance Minister, Douglas Abbott, was the guest speaker at a Liberal rally here on Friday night. A near capacity audience of about 350 people heard Mr. Abbott and other speakers in the Masonic Temple.

Mr. Abbott said that while he did not consider himself an expert on the present Frost government, and while it was probably not as bad as the present government in the province of Quebec, he did recognize a poor government when he saw one. He said Mr. Frost had done a number of good things for Ontario, but he had stopped supervising his ministers several years ago. "He does not know or is not fully aware of just what goes on inside his own government," he said. "He deserves to be defeated at the polls June 11."

He said the Frost government was robbing the people through taxation, and cited, highway scandals, the natural gas scandal, and property deal scandals, as proof the present Ontario government is not all that it should be.

Mr. Abbott blamed the Ontario Tory government for failing miserably in many things, especially in the field of education. He said one-third of the teachers in the province failed to meet even the minimum qualifications to teach, but that all this would be changed under a Liberal government. He said the Liberal party was a reform party, and would carry out a number of improvements if successful on June 11.

The speaker also blasted the Diefenbaker government in Ottawa, saying they had raised taxes, but had done nothing else, and that the present federal government was "the worst Canada has had in 50 years."

"I've got to give Mr. Frost credit, he has done something, but Mr. Diefenbaker has done nothing," he said.

Mr. Abbott said the opposition party claimed the highway scandals was just a device of the Liberals to try to swing votes, but "there have been 18 convictions registered in the courts of Ontario over it."

"Mr. Winternmeyer does not speak in vague generalities — he has a definite program," said Mr. Abbott.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE SPEAKS

Colin Crews, the Liberal candidate for Northumberland, also spoke, directing his remarks mainly at businessmen and tourist resort operators. He said in 1958 income in the tourist industry was down $25 gillion, or 10 per cent.

"The tourist industry is going behind either through ignorance or a lack ai appreciation of the industry by the Ontario government," he said.

Mr. Crews then outlined a number of points on which his party proposed to lift the tourist industry out of its "present deplorable condition," and put it back on a sound footing.

He proposed government loans —which he stressed would cost the taxpayer nothing—to tourist resort operators in order that they might improve their resorts and make them more comfortable. He said tourist income in Manitoba last year increased 75 per cent because the Manitoba government decided to assist the resort operators.

He also said that Ontario liquor laws were antiquated, and that if an American tourist wants an alcoholic beverage in his cottage or room when he arrives in Ontario, he must give permission to a resort operator to purchase it for him. He cannot buy it at the resort. Legislation has been passed recently, he said, whereby resorts can obtain a banquet licence only for weddings.

Mr. Crews said recently 35 American editors visited Northumberland, and officials tried 62 resorts before they could find accommodation which they considered suitable for them.

The speaker also outlined the inequality of business assessment, explaining that resorts operate only a few months of the year, but must pay a business tax on 12 months, and that 35 percent of the buildings in Ontario resorts are used to house the staff and should not be subject to business tax.

At present, Canada has a $70,000,000 tourist dollar deficit with the United States. Canadians last year spent $70,000,000 more in the United States than American tourists did in Canada, he claimed. He added that under a Liberal government this deficit could be wiped out.

LAUDS PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Mr. Crews said private enterprise was the best way of doing business and that the government should stay out of business. He said the Ontario government had built an ice house in Algonquin Park, putting the government in the ice business and that the government was now considering closing a deal with the Howard Johnston restaurant chain in the United States, for the construction of all restaurants along Highway 401 in the province.

He said while the owners would lease the restaurants to private operators, the owners set the policy and while the restaurants of the chain were clean and up-to-date, he felt their prices were high. Mr. Crews said he did not condone giving a monopoly to such an organization.

"This government ownership is bad. Private enterprise is better," he said.

The speaker took another slap at the Department of Travel and Publicity, saying he did not see how they could have spent only $140,000 in developing Presqu'ile Park at Brighton.

He showed his audience pictures of "cut stone privies," marble snack bars, and parking lots which he said were only 10 percent filled. He claimed the government cost would be closer to one and a half million dollars in his estimation, and invited the audience to go to Presqu'ile and see for themselves.

"In addition they have two trucks and have built five miles of unnecessary roads," he said. He said he thought the money would have been better spent in improving inferior housing conditions in the county instead of going all out on Presqu'ile.

Platform guests, piped in by a kilt band, included Mr. and Mrs. John Funnell, campaign manager for Mr. Crews, who was chairman of the meeting; Mr. and Mrs. Colin Crews and Mayor and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford of Campbellford.

Mayor Rutherford welcomed the guests and the audience to Campbellford, and said the Bata Shoe Company planned to increase the size of their plant by 2,000 square feet.

KILL 2,304 ANIMALS

LONDON (Reuters) — Supply Minister Aubrey Jones says that 2,304 animals have been destroyed in the last six months in experiments at the British chemical defence experimental establishment. He told a questioner in the House of Commons Monday that 10 different types of animals were used: Cats 32; dogs 43; guinea pigs 182; hens 851; mice 349; pigeons 34; pigs 20; rabbits 294; rats 1,708; sheep 31.

Queen to Receive Two Elk Heads, Beaver Pelts

OTTAWA, (CP) —The presentation of two elk heads and two black beaver pelts to Queen Elizabeth during this summer's Royal Visit to Winnipeg will fulfill terms of the charter of the Hudson's Bay Company signed in 1670 with King Charles II.

This was the payment to be made by the company in exchange for fur trading rights in all that area of Canada drained by Hudson Bay. The heads and pelts were to be presented whenever a reigning monarch visited the region.

Royal Visit headquarters, announcing the detailed Manitoba program Monday, said the presentation will be made by the governor of the Hudson's Bay Company in Assiniboine Park Friday, July 24.

The payment was made only once before, in 1939 when the late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth visited Winnipeg during a month-long Canadian tour.

Bishop Evans Dedicates Church Gifts

ROSLIN — On Thursday evening, the Right Rev. Kenneth L. Evans, Bishop of Ontario, visited the Parish of Roslin, and dedicated a number of gifts. There were two services in the evening, the first in Christ Church, Thomasburg at 8 p.m. and the second in St. Paul's Roslin, at 9 p.m.

The rector, the Rev. D. L. Woodward, conducted the services and presented the gifts to the Bishop for the service of dedication. At the service at Roslin, Bishop Evans spoke from the text, "By Faith, Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain", taken from Hebrew 11:4, in which he explained the difference between the two gifts presented unto the Lord, and why the one was accepted and the other rejected.

Following the services, a reception was held in St. Paul's Hall, where the ladies of the parish served refreshments.

Wings Trade Johnny Wilson For Leafs' Barry Cullen, Plus

MONTREAL (CP) — Johnny Wilson, the iron man of the National Hockey League, finds himself with a new club today as the NHL swings into final sessions amid rumors of new deals before the draft call.

Detroit Red Wings announced Tuesday night they had traded Wilson and farmhand Frank Roggeveen to Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for Barry Cullen.

It was the first full-fledged deal announced. New York Rangers said they had made "a couple of deals," with details to be made known later.

Other clubs disclaimed any swaps but made it plain they are receptive to offers up to the minute the intra-league draft, at $20,000 a player, gets under way this afternoon.

Only four players were picked up by NHL clubs Tuesday in the draft from the Western Hockey League.

AHL MAY EXPAND

Meanwhile, representatives of the American League went into a night huddle with top officials of Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces with the result that prospects were reported brighter for admission of the two Quebec League clubs into the AHL.

The deal for Wilson came as something of a surprise. With the end of last season he rounded out 318 consecutive games in the NHL for a league record. His string started in the 1951-52 season with Detroit. He served two seasons with Chicago Black Hawks before returning to the Red Wings in the 1957-58 season.

Roggeveen is a dual defenceman - forward who played last season with Edmonton of the Western League. It was reported that the Leafs promptly dealt him off to Springfield of the AHL in exchange for an unnamed forward who will go to New Westminster of the WHL. But president Eddie Shore of the Springfield club said it was all news to him.

Lynn Patrick, general manager of Boston Bruins, said he is ready to talk deals "but all I've been offered is Brian Cullen of the Leafs."

HOLD DINNER

Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces tossed a dinner for the AHL representatives Tuesday night and all hands came out smiling. Nothing is settled yet but can't be until the AHL meeting June 24 in Sherbrooke, Mass., said one man of the AHL delegation.

"We like the idea of an eight-club circuit but we are faced with a geographical problem."

Three AHL clubs—Springfield, Hershey and Cleveland — go heavy on Saturday dates for weekend games. But only Springfield would be able to make a fast train jump to Montreal or Quebec for Sunday games. The league rules out travel by air.

At the informal get-together Quebec Aces said they would be willing to fork over 10 cents a ticket to visiting clubs. Currently the AHL operates on a log-est-dog basis, with nothing accruing to visiting teams from ticket sales.

TO PREPARE SCHEDULE

As a further move toward possible inclusion of Montreal and Quebec, the AHL directors' secretary-treasurer Jim Ellery to draw up a tentative schedule for an eight-club circuit. It will be considered at the AHL annual meeting.

As anticipated, the NHL draft from the WHL created little excitement. Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens passed on the first round and nobody stayed for the second round.

SET RYDER CUP SITE

LONDON (AP) — The 1961 Ryder Cup golf matches, involving professionals from the United States and Great Britain, will be played on the Royal Lytham St. Anne's Course 200 miles north of London, it was announced Tuesday. City Commercial Softball League

Mead-Sportsmen racked up their fifth win of the year against one setback last night by defeating the Bankers 11 to 8 in Commercial Softball League tilt.

The winners scored twice in the initial frame and never looked back.

"Bruno" McCurdy, making his first start of the season, battled a strong three-hitter for Mead-Sportsmen. He struck out half a dozen and walked only two.

Perry started and took the loss for the bankers, being relieved by Jimmy Jones in the fourth inning. They gave up seven hits, whiffed two and passed six.

Huck Reeves paced the victors with the bat with a brace of singles. Larry Lougheed hit a triple, Don Kumpf a double while singles went to McCurdy, Dan Belange and Gordon Blaker.

Chalmers collected two of the Bankers' safeties while Goodfellow had the other one.

In another Commercial softball fixture at Prince Charles School Bishop Seeds scored an eight-run victory over Plane's Construction.

Fine relief pitching by Jack Reid, taking over from Andy Knott in the fifth with bases loaded in the sixth, saved the tilt for Bishop's. They built an early 4-0 lead with Plane's chipping away one at a time.

Knott and Reid allowed nine hits between them, fanning seven and walking six, five by Knott. Leveque started for Plane's with Bill Dickey coming on in the fourth. They loaded the bases

Last Bastion of Musical Culture is Sullivan Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — With the Voice of Firestone silenced, the last bastion of musical culture on television is the Ed Sullivan show.

At least, Sullivan often hires opera stars and permits them to take an aria into his weekly potpourri of acrobats, animal acts, ex-dancers and standup comics.

Demise of the popular musical hour, which the networks felt wasn't popular enough, was loudly mourned by its fans.

But one more blow absorbed the minority of viewers who like their Beethoven neat and their classics pure. And it closed one of the few doors through which classical musicians could enter TV.

"What we really need is creative people behind the scenes who are interested in doing something with the talent and with musicians," says Robert Merrill, the Metropolitan Opera baritone who is one of the few performers with opera-trained voices to benefit much from television.

"We need somebody in television who wants to do what a few directors, including Ernst Lubitsch, did for people like Grace Moore, Lily Pons, Nini Martini and Mario Lanza."

Merrill is not only concerned about the dearth of classical music on television, but about the lack of opportunities for new talent to develop.

"It's hard to find a place for them to start," he says. "They can't do much with records any more — disk jockeys are stuck with plugging the top 40 records, and only kids are buying the records in quantity — which doesn't mean buying even the nice popular singers like Como and Tony Martin."

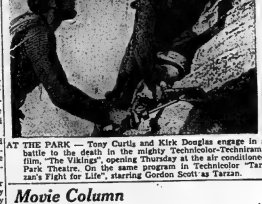
Cornwall Seeks Two Speed Boat Drivers

CORNWALL (CP) — Cornwall is trying to persuade two outstanding speed boat drivers to come here for speed trials on Lake St. Lawrence.

Alex Gilbert, manager of Cornwall Board of Trade, said Tuesday he has written to Donald Campbell, holder of the world's water speed record of 258 miles an hour, inviting him to try out the man-made lake in the St. Lawrence River.

The Cornwall board and the Chamber of Commerce of neighboring Massena, N.Y., also have invited Guy Lombardo, orchestra leader and speed boat owner, to try out his jet-powered Temp Aicoa on Lake St. Lawrence this summer.



No reply has been received from Campbell, who is in England. Lombardo plans to visit the area this month to examine the lake.

Schulman Says Commuting Creating Matriarchial Society

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Commuting—that's what is creating a matriarchial society, says Max Schulman.

"Nearly every man today is a commuter," reminisced the humorist, whose books on manners and morals have touched many a nerve. "After fighting the traffic in the morning, working all day and fighting the traffic again, he comes home beat.

"But his wife—she's got the automatic washer and dryer, so she doesn't work the way her mother used to. When her husband comes home, she's just as fresh as if she'd had 30 days in the country.

"She starts throwing these questions at him about straightening their daughter's teeth and giving their son dancing lessons. The husband is too weary to concern himself with such things, so she takes over. She rules the family by default, but I don't think she really likes it that way.

"Now when I was a kid, the father was still the symbol of authority, like a cop. And I think we were better for it."

FILMING TV SERIES

His observations were evoked by his present assignment, overseeing the filming of a TV series based on his tales of an ingenuous youth named Dobie Gillis.

Schulman started writing the Dobie Gillis stories in 1943 but the series starring Dwayne Hickman will be brought up to date. So the author has done extensive research on today's teen-agers and finds them different from his own. And not for the better. The cause, he firmly believes, is mother's ascendancy to family domination.

This is his first foray into television. He did some original scripts at MGM a few years ago but had no part in the script of his The Tender Trap and the recent Rally 'Round the Flag, Boys.

He feels this was a mistake, and he'll stay here to watch the first 13 scripts filmed on his top Dobie will get off to a proper start.

Would Back Another Team For Gotham

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says today that Mrs. Charles S. Payson, sister of John Hay 'Jock' Whitney, is one of a group that would finance New York's entry in a proposed third major league.

The names of others in the group which is said to comprise five or six persons, will be disclosed by Mayor Wagner's baseball committee within 10 days," The Times says.

Mrs. Payson has long been a baseball and turf enthusiast and effered to buy the Giants to prevent their transfer to California. She still is a stockholder in the club. She also is co-owner with her brother, ambassador to Britain, of Greentree Stable.

It was also disclosed. The Times adds, that five cities, in addition to New York, were certain to be included in the new league—Toronto, Houston, Denver, Dallas-Fort Worth and Minneapolis - St. Paul. Among other cities being considered are Atlanta, Montreal, Buffalo, Seattle, San Diego and Miami.

William A. Shea, chairman of the mayor's baseball committee, expects to submit a proposal for the makeup of the new league to baseball commissioner Ford Frick in two or three weeks.

If the plan is accepted, the new league could begin operating by 1961, Shea claimed Tuesday.

Roy Harris Whips Powell

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Roy Harris returned to army duty today after using a fancy left to bolster his heavyweight comeback.

The Cut and Shoot, Tex., schoolteacher cut loose with a barrage of left jabs and hooks Tuesday night to take a surprisingly easy unanimous 10-round decision over Charley Powell.

A crowd of nearly 6,000 paid $29,353 to see Harris score his fourth straight victory since losing to champion Floyd Patterson in a title match last August in Los Angeles.

The defeat was the first for Powell since he quit the football's San Francisco 49ers for a heavyweight career.

Governor Asks Probe of Hood-Boxing

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Governor Edmund G. Brown has asked Attorney-General Stanley Mosk to investigate hoodlums in California boxing and the beating of boxing promoter Jackie Leonard.

"We're determined that type of activity will find no place in California so far as we're able to prevent it," Brown told a press conference Tuesday.

Leonard was slugged last Wednesday after he testified before the commission that Frankie Carbo and Frank (Blinky) Palermo tried to gain control of world welterweight champion Don Jordan. He said he had been threatened over the telephone by a man who identified himself as Carbo.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Saturday will be "Hyde Day" at Belleville Lawn Bowling Club.

That is the day that Mayor Gerald Hyde shakes off the shackles of city officialdom, his father temporarily forsaken business, and both combine to play host to the second best city and district function on the lawn bowling calendar.

Bowling is the top sports pastime of the Hyde family. For many years the mayor and his father have been familiar figures, not only on their native greens but many of those in the district.

Five years ago they decided to go into the game a little "deeper" than merely playing it. They inaugurated what is now known all over the district as the Hyde Trophies Tournament. It was an immediate hit. Since then near-capacity entries from all parts of the bowling countryside have gathered here to vie for the honors and awards.

Veteran bowlers say that the Hyde Tournament is now rated the second to the famous Corbin Gold Trophy Tournament long an outstanding Civic Holiday bowling event here.

On Saturday it is expected sixty-four teams of mixed doubles will enter the lists. The popularity of the tournament is widespread and teams from Toronto, Hamilton and possibly Montreal will be here.

There will be plenty of incentive for the city and visiting keglers. Handsome prizes valued at $500 plus the cup and Hyde trophies which go to the tournament winners, Twenty of the 64 entries will receive awards. These include eight three-game winners; six two-game winners; four one-game winners and two no-game winners.

There will be two draws, the first starting at 10 a.m. sharp and the second getting under way at twelve noon.

Tournament winners during its four years of operation were: Gord and Joan Waikin, 1955; Gordon Edwards and Mary Collins, 1956; Dick, Edsel and Marion Reid, Kingston, 1957, and Gordon Watkin and mother, Mrs. George Watkin, 1958.

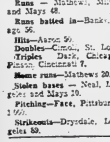
CLOUDY IT'S SHROUDED

There's a sportswriting swami up around Sudbury way who has the biggest and cloudiest crystal ball hockey On-tario can boast. Not only has it been a freaky, too. It's pictures show up mostly because of the yogi's wishful thinking.

It has insisted, off and on, during and since the late lamented hockey season ,that Billy Reay will be the coach of the Sudbury Wolves team next winter. "The team," it said, "wanted Reay and was still negotiating with him. Reay had agreed to come to Sudbury but the salary question was the roadblock." or words to that effect.

This reporter questioned Billy about it at one of the post-world-tournament receptions here, just after the Sudbury crystal ball blurbed another picture that he was their "coaching boy."

"Tsk." Billy said, "is a lot of newspaper talk and likewise a lot of bunk. I have no intention of going to Sudbury. If I accept a coaching position next year, it will likely be with the Quebec Aces."



Speaking of salary, the Sudbury scribe points out the Wolves paid John "Peanuts" O'Flaherty $300 a week "as long as the team was alive." The club lasted some 20 weeks. But the season before, he adds, the Wolves took part in 20 games and that meant O'Flaherty gathered in some $9,000. It seems Mr. O'Flaherty was working for "Peanuts" and then sells he wasn't.

The scribe goes on to say "the Wolves haven't announced what salary it has offered Reay, but indications are it is considerably under $300 a week. However the club has offered him a bonus clause under which if the team makes a profit he will get a substantial percellage of it.

High-Flying Orioles Belt Indians; Tied For To Split Lead With White Sox While Yankees Whip Kansas; Cards Wallop Milwaukee

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Baltimore Orioles are tied for the American League lead! Never since Baltimore returned to the majors in 1954, have the Birds been in first place after the first few days of a season. But now manager Paul Richards' collection of castoffs have made it.

They did it by belting Cleveland's suddenly-dead Indians 7-3 Tuesday night while Washington beat the Chicago White Sox 7-6. That left the White Sox and Orioles with a 1½ - game lead over third-place Cleveland.

New York's defending champions finally reached .500 with a 9-5, 12-inning victory over Kansas City that hoisted the Yankees from sixth into a fourth place tie with Detroit, beaten 3-2 at Boston. Both are only 2½ games behind the leaders.

Kansas City, now sixth, trails by only three games. Seventh-place Washington is five games behind with Boston last, 5½ back.

The castoffs, players labelled expendable by other clubs, have the job at the Orioles handed the Indians their ninth defeat in 10 games. Jerry Walker, who once Richards once traded away, and Chico Carrasquel stifled by the White Sox, Indians and As, each belted two-run homers. And Billy Loes, once the Dodger fall guy, the guy Baltimore tried to dump this spring, saved it with another fine relief job. Ernie Johnson (5-5) the right-hander Milwaukee didn't want, won it, his first start (3-2) lost.

Hoodoo Allison drove in three of Washington's first four runs with his 13th and 14th homers. Then the Senators won it with three in the eighth against Luis Arroyo (3-3). Gene Woodling opened the inning, singled and scored on Allison's double. Pinch-hitter Ed Fitzgerald walked and Jim Busby singled to load the bases. Pinch-hitter Jim Lemon forced Busby at the plate, but Fitzgerald scored on Reno Bertoia's infield out. Then Bertoia scored on Roy Sievers' single.

Shaw pitched with the bases loaded in the fourth when J. W. Porter lofted a long fly ball to left. Porter left the game, but was not injured seriously. Tex Clevenger (2-1) was the winner with two innings of three-hit, shutout relief.

The Red Sox shaved the fast-moving Tigers with five runs on six hits and an error in the first inning against rookie Jerry Casale (4-4), whose two - run double capped the game inning. Casale gave up four hits, one Charlie Maxwell's two-run 12th homer.

Herbie Lopez (7-1) led and scored a tying run for the Yankees in the ninth, then singled home the clincher in the 12th against Tom Sturdivant (11-3). Sam Esposito, the Yankees' sixth hurler, won it. Norm Siebern and Elroy Mantle homered for the Yanks, who had 11 hits.

Yesterday's Stars

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitcher — Billy Loes, Baltimore, came on with the bases loaded and none out in the seventh inning, got out of that jam on a pop-up and two strikeouts and finished with three innings of hitless, shutout relief that saved 7-3 victory over Cleveland and gave the Orioles a first-place tie.

Hitting — Hector Lopez, New York, tripled and scored tying run in ninth, then singled home the winning run for 9-8, 12-inning victory over Kansas City.

PRIZES BOOSTED

TORONTO (CP)—Prize money in the Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling Tournament has been increased to $4,500 and bourse event officials say this makes it the richest event of its kind in North America. The 1959 competitor will be held in Toronto Aug. 10-14.

Royals Take Two From Kings; Leafs Beaten

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The skeptics who wondered whether lefthander Chris Short was good enough to come from the class A Eastern League into the triple-A International League have their answer today.

Short Tuesday night carved a three-hit, 4-2 victory for Buffalo Bisons over Columbus as the International League - leading Bisons hiked their first-place lead to 1½ games over second-place Richmond.

The Vees had a slug-game winning streak snapped by Rochester Red Wings, 13-7. Montreal Royals swept a doubleheader from Havana Sugar Kings, 8-6, and 2-1 in 10 innings. Miami Marlins knocked off the last place Toronto Maple Leafs, 9-2.

SHORT'S RECORD 5-1

Short, who had an 0-0 record in three games with the parent Philadelphia Phillies earlier this season, has been in six decisions for the Bisons. It was his fourth complete game in seven starts and his 11 strikeouts gave him 45 in 36 1-3 innings this year. Pancho Herrera's 11th homer was Buffalo's victory margin. It came off loser Paul Giel (4-5).

Charley James led Rochester's 13-hit attack on three Richmond pitchers with a single, double, triple and two home runs as Cal Browning won his seventh in 10 decisions with relief help from Bill Greason. Ben Flowers (0-3) got the nod for the Vees and Frank Lejia homered for the losers. Luke Easter, Chuck Essegian and Chuck Staniland also homered for the Red Wings.

PITCHERS TOSS COSTLY

Miguel Cuellar's wild pitch with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning helped rookie Ed Rakow win his fourth win in nine decisions on a two-hitter. Cuellar, who had struck out Sandy Amoros to score the second-game clincher.

The Royals scored six times in the sixth inning to put away the first game. Earlier they had scored in the big inning to give Werner Perez (2-3) victory. Cuellar, Parris homered (No. 13) for the Royals.

Fred Valentine led the Marlins with two singles, a triple and scored four runs while Leo Burke smacked a grand-slam home run off Toronto reliever Jack Crimian. Archie Wilson hit his sixth homer off winner Bunky Stewart (2-3). Charlie Rabe (6-4) got

Moon's double broke a 2-2 tie, Stan Williams (5-4) was the winner with a five-hitter, but received 2-for-3 effort from Sonny Koufax in the

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Thinks Civil War Brewing In Minor League Baseball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Is a "civil war" brewing in minor league baseball?

George M. Trautman, head of the minors, in referring Tuesday to the recent Independent Baseball Clubs Association, called it "a maverick organization which clearly has the capability of doing much more harm than good."

In Portland, Ore., Clyde Perkins, IBCA president, replied that his association does not intend "in any way to impede the operation of baseball or do anything detrimental to its interests. But we believe the majors are shortsighted in letting the minors continuously, one after another, go broke."

BY KILLING MINORS

"They are driving our customers from our ball parks," Perkins continued, "especially with their Saturday and Sunday TV's. But if he referred to major league baseball being televised into minor league territory,

"For this lore of patronage we feel they majors should divide with us the minors; the money received, and in there anything rebellious, revolutionary, threatening or maverick to that?"

Trautman said the IBCA's organizational meeting in Seattle last week had an upsetting effect upon work being done by officials of both the majors and minors to create a new fund "of up to a million dollars" for minor league clubs.

Perkins had termed the fund offer "a whitewash and a 'top to satisfy the minors for this season."

H. PRESIDENT'S VIEWS

In Montreal, Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, said he had talked with some of the men named as being members of Perkins' group.

"They told me that they had no part whatever in the meeting that Perkins stated was held in Seattle.

Shaughnessy said the minleagues feel the majors agree to television restrictions.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick has guaranteed schedule further meetings at the major league television and radio committee, Shaughnessy said.

SWING YOUR PARTNER — Barry Parsons of Belleville and Joey LeRoy of Hamilton appear to be getting well tied up in an intricate dancing manoeuvre during their bout on last night's Belleville Boxing Club card. The bout, however, was pretty furiously contended with Parson's seconds stopping the fight in the second round when Parsons got a serious cut near one eye.

Lucas, Parsons Lose Verdicts By Technical Knockouts

The unbeaten string of the Belleville Boxing Club's pair of aces came to an abrupt clipping in Memorial Arena last night.

It was not so much as they were defeated from a boxing or fighting point of view. Both had plenty of guts and punching ability but both showed they were "bleeders," for the time being, at least.

Rocky Lucas, the Belleville club's ace, faced a fierce punching foeman in Sam Peranich of Hamilton and it was a bitter toe-to-toe slugging match for a round and a half when Peranich opened a wide cut over Lucas' right eye. Trainer Mark Storms lost little time in stopping the fight after he saw the damage done to the starry Belleville fighter.

The same thing happened to Barry Parsons in his sizzling bout with Joey LeRoy of Hamilton. It, too, was a slug fest with both boys tossing everything they had at each other until LeRoy opened a big slash on Parson's nose in the second round. Trainer Storms threw the towel in the ring to avoid further damage to his ace lightner in the last of the second round.

It was a good show all round and Manager Jack FitzGerald deserves a lot of credit for bringing in a stable of topflight fighters to give his stable a chance to prove their worth.

Grant O'Reilly and Johnny Bay went all out in a wild swinging bout that had the fans on seat edge. Two judges gave Bay the nod and the other called the fast and furious bout a draw.

Paul Daniels of Peterborough, the Ontario lightweight champion, and Omer Secord of Hamilton staged a fast and furious match with two judges giving Secord the nod and the other calling it a draw. It could have gone either way and the big crowd of fans gave both boys a well deserved ovation.

Bob Cole, one of the Belleville club's most colorful fighters, won a technical knockout decision over Cabana Art Robineon. The referee stopped the bout after 1:33 of the third round. It was a thrilling battle with Cole's longer reach winning him the verdict.

Tommy Cross of Belleville lost to Bennie Gendron by a unanimous decision while Jerry Bennett won over Jerry Blodgett of Peterborough via the same route.

The two half-joints, Donnie Rich and Gary Hughes, opened the colorful show with their usual midget tactics. They again fought to a draw.

The big crowd appeared to be pleased with the show albeit the Belleville aces showed they can be beaten. Both Lucas and Parsons put up bang-up scraps and it is unfortunate that both were cut by opposture punches. However, neither Lucas nor Parsons lost any prestige in the way their bouts ended.

The judges were Harry Robinson, Bert Wells and Fred Parry, with Fred Lewis a standing job of refereeing. Mac McGrimmon was his own masterful self again as a topflight announcer. They don't come any better than this guy.

READ THIS CAREFULLY BEFORE YOU VOTE TOMORROW

The Mixture as Before

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

A maxim of George Santayana's must be applied to the two Opposition parties in Ontario — "Those who do not remember their history are condemned to repeat it". The Liberals and the Socialists do not remember their history. They have been running the same kind of campaign in this election as they ran in the 1955 election—which in turn was the same kind as they ran in the 1951 election. Can the results be anything but the same?

In the 1951 campaign, the Liberals threw lavish quantities of mud, the nastiest kind of mud, at the Conservative Administration. They charged it with callously neglecting the mentally ill, giving "shabby treatment" to crippled children, railroading old people of sound mind into mental hospitals, and bringing about the deaths of cancer victims through indifference and neglect. The Toronto Star vilified Premier Frost with eight column headlines. The Socialists shrieked scandal over Ontario's lack of low-cost housing.

The result in 1951 was that the Conservatives increased their standings in the Legislature from 53 seats to 79; the Liberals fell from 13 seats to 7; and the CCF was virtually wiped out, seeing its 21 seats reduced to 2.

Did the Liberals and CCF learn from? Not at all. They changed leaders following the 1951 debacle, but their election tactics remained the same. In the 1955 campaign the Liberals tried to capitalize on the irregularities found in the Highways Dept. the year before. The Frost Government, they said, was "the worst ever," it was "riddled with scandal". The Toronto Star bemoaned "the state of public morality in Ontario". The CCF charged that the Frost regime was in the clutches of "big business" and against "the common people."

The result in 1955 was that the Conservatives increased their standing in the Legislature from 79 seats to 84; the Liberals edged up from 7 to 11; the CCF from 2 to 3. (Following the 1951 election, the number of seats in the house had been increased from 90 to 98).

Did the Liberals and CCF learn from this? Not at all. Once again they changed their leaders — but not their tactics. At the tail-end of this year's campaign, Liberal Leader Wintermeyer has come up with a charge that the Frost Government levies a political percentage on all contractors doing business with it. Massive headlines in the Toronto Star allege that the Ontario Hydro paid more for some land at Sarnia than it was worth. The CCF, resting its main case on last year's natural gas furor, has conducted such a scurrilous campaign as to draw fire from the even-tempered Mr. Frost. Belatedly, the Liberals have taken up the CCF's hue-and-cry, demanding a Royal Commission investigate what has already been investigated to the full.

THE RESULT IN 1959? WE DO NOT KNOW. BUT WE DO NOT THINK THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO ARE ANY DIFFERENT FROM WHAT THEY WERE IN 1955 AND 1951. WE DO NOT THINK THEIR OPINION OF SMEARING AND SCANDALMONGERING IS ANY DIFFERENT THIS TIME FROM WHAT IT WAS THE LAST COUPLE OF TIMES. WHAT IS NECESSARY IS THAT THEY TRANSLATE THIS OPINION INTO ACTION—BY VOTING FOR THE FROST ADMINISTRATON.

CHATHAM, N.J. (AP) — Reports that Ingemar Johansson appears to be strictly a right-hand puncher make no impression at all on heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

As far as Patterson is concerned, the Olympics Swede could very well be a terror with his right and a killer with his left.

"I've heard talk that his power is supposed to be only in his right hand," said Patterson at his training camp. "But I'm not going to pay any attention to that. I never do.

WILL WATCH BOTH HANDS.

"Don't think for a minute I'm just going to watch his right," continued Floyd. "You do anything like that and the next thing you know you could get caught by a left hook. My idea is not to get caught by anything. I'd rather do the hitting.

"I'll be prepared for anything. That's what I do for all my fights. You really can get crossed up if you listen to a lot of talk. I'll be properly trained boxing after a one-day layoff because of the official signing for the fight at the New York Athletic Commission offices Wednesday.

MACHEN TURNED DOWN

The signing took place after federal Judge Irving Kaufman, in New York, refused to halt the fight. He denied an application by Eddie Machen for an injunction to prevent Johansson from fighting Patterson on the 15th. Swede gave Machen a return bout. Machen claimed a return bout contract gave him first rights. Johansson knocked out Machen in the first round last Sept. 14.

All of the principals, especially promoter Bill Rosenzohn, were breathing a lot easier today. Rosenzohn stood to lose in the neighborhood of $100,000 if the judge stopped the fight.

"These things don't bother me," said Patterson, "but it's a relief to get it out of the way."

Johansson said the same thing at his Greenwich, N.Y., camp.

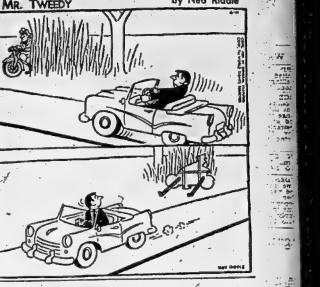
Here's the Chance to Beat Champs

TORONTO (CP) — Duffers and would-be pros alike are out in full force this week for their annual chance to match scores with the champs of Canadian golf.



The Royal Canadian Golf Association said Tuesday that Henry Mariell will chalk up his score for National Golf Week at his home course of Highlands Golf Club in Edmonton on Saturday. Mariell is 1958 runner-up Professional Golfers Association champion.

The ladies wanting to try their luck against a top-calibre golfer will have to better the score Mrs. Marlene Dhuvert Strelit of Toronto shoots. Mrs. Strelit will play her 18 holes overseas Saturday and cable her score to Canada.

Golfers bettering the scores posted by Mariell and Mrs. Strelit receive an "I beat the champ" button.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Thursday, June 11

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Fine day to visit the beautician, barber and put your best foot forward. Be among those who mean the most to you and show affection they justly deserve. Tonight you must guard against getting jealous or envying others.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Get an early start putting home in order, repairing where needed, settling differences with kin, etc. P. M. don't be taken in by dynamic associate who would give you a set of facts far different than the correct ones.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Ideal day to get your wares before the public, talents to the attention of right people, promoting advertising, etc. P. M. use excessive energy cleaning and polishing, putting things in order, getting papers straightened, etc.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — If you get in touch with the right expert and financier, you can get considerable support secretly for your special enterprises. Listen to advice, also. Get real-estate in order, too. P. M. don't spend foolishly for amusement.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Whatever you desire most is almost for the asking today, if you contact the right friends. Also, be sure you meet interesting people at the right group meetings. P. M. smile your way through imminent fracas at abode.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21) — Though you must take the first step, a heart talk with higher up, Bigwig will help solve your problems ideally. P. M. drive carefully, and be sure you use the right words in any letters you write, or telephone calls you make.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Morning is just fine for picking up a fine new idea either in casual conversation or by being with experts. P. M. don't overwork making plans, or you spoil them. Take it easy.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Plenty of data is at your fingertips right now concerning an early advancement and how to increase abundance, and so spare. Even fame is possible through right action. P. M. take it easy! Don't try to make decisions.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — A. M. very fine for meeting influential person or going to new site with associate. If you avoid meeting obligation during latter part of day, trouble may ensue. Keep your word and be happy, full of cheer.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Laboring diligently at commitments made will bring the desired results, put you on the road to real success. P. M. steer clear of that pal who is full of problems or you get into a peck of trouble yourself.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Endeavor to go to some delightful spot with clever and generous executive today and talk over your joint aims. However, do not be forceful on some rather unimportant point lest you spoil everything.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — By doing efficient work in A.M., you get approbation of family ties who later extend the favors you covet. P. M. do not as yet present your plans to financier since they need further revision and work.

If your child is born today ... The brilliant child born today should be trained early for some specific occasion, since there is great mental power and balance in this child — especially in the entertainment field. In fact, so much money can be earned at this time that the latter years can be set aside for ease and the pursuit of philosophical studies toward which there is a natural bent.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Hundreds have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of over 10 to 20 years standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous Scientific Institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue in all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Communist China

Growth of Industrialization

By Walter L. Gordon

(Chairman of the Ecomi Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects)

(Article 7)

We were told by several non-Chinese observers that some of the official statistics, especially those on agricultural production, are not at all reliable and that, in some cases, they are published before the crops are harvested. It was alleged by these same observers that in 1958, for example, the year of the Great Leap Forward, there were serious food shortages. This was due in some areas to transportation break-downs and in others to the inability of the peasants to harvest all the crop because of their preoccupation with the small furnaces for smelting iron that were established throughout the country. Perhaps also there were disruptions in some places resulting from the introduction of the new Communne system.

It seems probable that too much was attempted both politically and in terms of increased production in 1958. Because following a meeting of the Communist Party in December of that year, the program of the rural blast furnaces was virtually discontinued and the pace at which the Communne system was being implemented was slackened. However, despite these criticisms and reservations it is clearly evident that great increases in production were achieved last year.

It should be noted that statistics in New China are used to serve a double purpose. They are required naturally as a basis on which to plan for the future in the annual and five-year production plans. But they are used also and to great advantage for purposes of propaganda. Statistics, both in figures and in form of elementary charts and posters appear everywhere. And the figures and percentages of increases in production both to date and for the coming year are quoted in every speech and conversation.

STARTLING STATISTICS

These published statistics are somewhat startling both in their scope and variety and also as evidence of the credibility of the people of the apparently complete acceptance of anything that is published with official sanction. During a tour of an excellent agricultural exhibition, we were surprised by placards showing the statistics of the millions of rodents and crop eating birds destroyed throughout China in 1958 and the quantities, by weight, of both flies and mosquitoes that were exterminated in that year. Surely the accumulation of statistics showing the weight of all the mosquitoes killed in one year by a nation of 650 million people must leave something to the imagination! But the propaganda effect does not seem to be weakened by any uncritical questioning.

The platform showing these particular statistics was placed beside a model of a peasant village in which everyone was out with flags and whistles, up in the trees and on the roofs of the buildings, scaring the sparrows and similar birds. The birds fall dead after flying for an hour or two without rest. The message was quite clear and the statistics were intended to show what had been accomplished by this policy.

One afternoon we spent several hours with Yung Ling-kwei, director of the research department of the State Planning Commission, during which we discussed the present and the prospective structure of the nation's economy and the accuracy of the many statistics. Yung, an economist of perhaps 45 or 50, struck me as one of the most intelligent men we met in China. He speaks English and I gave him a copy of the final report of the Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects pointing out that in our advanced society we go in for not 5 year plans. He laughed and offered to give me a job with the Planning Commission or at least I thought he did. Jim Duncan seemed to think that if I stayed in China I would be more likely to end in the salt mines or on a Commune.

PRODUCTION COMPARED

Yung informed us that the division of the total estimated value of production between industry and agriculture for 1959 — when they are planning for a 40% increase over 1958 — will be as follows:

Output value of Industry (including handicrafts, 185 billion yuan, 57%.

Output value of Agriculture (including consumption on the farms) 122 billion yuan, 43%.

Total 307 billion yuan, 100%.

Agriculture in which about 80% of the population are engaged now accounts for less than half that total output of the country in value terms. This is explained by the much lower productivity in agriculture than in industry.

Yung stressed that the above figures are very rough, particularly those showing the value of agricultural output. There is some doubling up in the figures for industrial production (e.g., steel is included in the output of steel and again, for example, in the output of machine tools). He said their national income figures also are still very rough. But he claimed that broadly speaking the basic statistics are reasonably accurate and informative and that they are improving all the time.

Yung answered our questions freely and without hesitation. Understandably he placed considerably less emphasis on shortcomings and difficulties than did the critics referred to at the beginning of this article. He agreed, however, that there were some bottlenecks and upsets in 1958 but asserted that these were only temporary difficulties and perhaps to be expected in the light of the great increases in production that were achieved that year. He said the metallurgical industries are developing quickly but are still short of steel. The country's program calls for steel production of 18 million tons this year, which, if achieved, will represent a 60% increase over the published figures for 1958.

NATURAL RESOURCES

Yung told us that the Chinse have been doing a great deal of prospecting in recent years and it is clear the country is very rich in natural resources, which will be developed in the years to come. In fact it is well known that China is one of the few countries — the others being Russia, Western Europe, the United States, Canada and perhaps Brazil — that has all or nearly all the natural resources that are needed by a modern industrial nation. These include electric power, as yet in China largely undeveloped, coal, iron ore, oil and other metals and minerals needed by an industrialized society. In addition China has a people who are intelligent, are physically strong and who are accustomed to work incredibly hard.

There was little industry in China when the Communist Government came to power ten years ago. In those years it has increased very considerably in the interval. But in view of China's tremendous population, the size fo the nation's industrial output is still small indeed computed on a per capita basis. However, the original five-year plan placed the main emphasis on the production of raw materials, steel and machine tools and the development of transportation. Thus, plus the training of more and more technical personnel under the new education system, should ensure that industrial growth will continue to increase in the years that lie ahead.

Hot And Sunny Weather Faces Ontario Voters

Record Turnout at Polls Appears to Be in Making

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Progressive Conservative government went to the polls today in a general election, asking for approval of its 16-year record.

Forecasts called for generally hot and sunny weather in the province and a record turnout of voters appeared to be in the making.

Polls opened at 9 a.m. EDT in 90 of the 98 ridings and close at 8 p.m. EDT. Two ridings in Northwestern Ontario, Kenora and Rainy River, open and close polls an hour later because they are located in the Central time zone.

Premier Leslie Frost's Conservatives, campaigning under the slogan "Progress Ontario," are bidding to extend a term of office which is already the longest for that party in Ontario.

FIVE ELIGIBILITY

The alternative for a record 3,212,454 eligible voters was a return to the Liberals who were defeated in 1943 after nine years in office on a socialist administration platform, the CCF.

In the 1955 election 80.6 per cent of the province's voters, figures cast ballots, the lowest percentage in the province's history. Today would mean 1,924,472 voters, passing the record of 1,919,000 cast in 1955 by 65 per cent voted.

There are 296 candidates—third highest total in the province's history—with the Conservatives and Liberals fielding a full slate of contenders. The CCF has 81 candidates along with nine Communist; Labor - Progressive, five Social Credit, three independents and one independent Conservative.

LEADERS AT HOME

The party leaders planned a quiet day in their home ridings after swing tours which took Premier Frost was at Lindsay, Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver Kitchener and CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald in the Toronto suburb of York Township.

They are resting after a vigorous campaign in which handshaking and personal contact played the biggest role. The leaders amassed a collective total of 20,000 miles in five weeks, reaching more than 100 communities.

Mr. Frost, whose party held 83 seats at dissolution, based his campaign almost entirely on a record of Ontario's progress under the policies of his government. He said he would be re-elected, he said, in the next decade.

The premier rarely varied his quiet folksy approach, diverting only occasionally into gibes, at the opposition parties.

Mr. Winterbergur criss-crossed the province with a theme of the Liberals' 15-point platform which included faster highway development, provincial acceptance of all education costs, a department of aid and the abolition of revision of liquor laws and other pledges.

Mr. Macdonald called for public ownership of natural gas, government auto and medical insurance, low-cost housing, free university tuition and a policy of full employment.

GAS CONTROVERSY

Mr. MacDonald hammered particularly at the gas issue. The campaign issues slimmed at the Nicaragua Gov't. Refuses Rebels Safe Conduct

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—Nicaragua's government today held out for the unconditional surrender of rebel invaders from Costa Rica after rejecting an offer from 45 of the insurgents to give up if given safe conduct out of the country.

Encouraged by eyewitness reports of rebel disintegration, the commander of Nicaragua's armed forces, Gen. Anastasio Somoza, said he believed the 45 would surrender today. They face trial, with nine-year prison terms the maximum penalty possible.

Two reporters who visited the rebel band and brought out their spokesman said 16 of the group refused to give up and marched off into the mountains to continue their defiance of Gen. Somoza and his brother, President Luis Somoza.

A Nicaraguan rebel radio heard in Honduras said insurgents killed in Nicaraguan national guardsmen in fighting for the past two days some 60 miles southeast of Managua. The broadcast added that small newly formed pilanes were bringing ammunition and weapons to the rebels in the Boaco area.

Mario Bassitt of the Columbia Broadcasting System and Rogelio Caparros of the Havana magazine Bohemia said the insurgents were in pitiful condition—tired, hungry, frightened and eager to give up.

The rebels delegated Rev. Fedérico Argüello, a young Roman Catholic priest who had joined them as chaplain, to negotiate surrender terms with the national guard, Nicaragua's army.

Hoffa's Rule Of Teamsters In Jeopardy

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa faces an unhappy choice today. Either way, his continued rule of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters is in jeopardy.

Under a new court order, Hoffa must use either lead a thorough cleanup of his union or face a possible jail sentence himself for contempt.

He told a teamsters rally in Newark, N.J., Wednesday night that the union would respect the court order "although we may not like it in its entirety."

But he added:

"Be assured, though, it's only a matter of time until we file an appeal with the Supreme Court."

If Hoffa espouses reform, ringing disciplinary and ouster proceedings against some of his closest lieutenants are ordered, he loses support of key men who helped him move to the union's leadership.

OTHER SIDE

If Hoffa continues to balk at union reforms — only recently he said there was no teamsters' corruption to investigate — he is bound to run into difficulty in the federal courts.

Today's Chuckle

"Would you mind repeating what you just said?" the psychiatrist asked his new patient.

"I said," the man roared, "that for some reason nobody seems to listen to me. Why don't you pay attention to what I'm telling you Fathead?"

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — The early June heat wave continues into the fourth day in most of Ontario and the end is not yet in sight for southern regions. Variable cloudiness and scattered thundershowers are expected to accompany the high temperatures over the province today and Friday.

A disturbance moving into Northern Ontario this morning will spread eastward into the province by Friday morning and with its passage, cooler, drier air is expected in Northern Ontario.

CCF HOUSE LEADER CLAIMS SEAWAY BUILDING FAULTY

Says Cornwall Bridge Over Canal 'Doomed'

OTTAWA (CP)—Hazen Argue, CCF House leader, says the St. Lawrence Seaway construction shows "substantial faults" and the Cornwall bridge, over it is "doomed" through faulty engineering.

Mr. Argue called in the Commons Wednesday for a parliamentary inquiry into his list of seaway construction defects which he said were pointed out by inspectors but not remedied.

However, Transport Minister Hees gave him no sign of agreeing to his demand, replying that the seaway authority had advised him that on so big a job work isn't always satisfactory and money is withheld until specifications are fully met.

Leonard Chevrier, former Liberal transport minister and first president of the seaway authority, told the house that the Cornwall bridge is in danger.

"There is absolutely nothing wrong with it," he said.

STUDY SPENDING

Mr. Argue's charges came as the Commons spent the day considering the transport department's 1959-60 spending program. He said he based his attack on reports made by a seaway inspector and by an engineer friend who had been a seaway inspector.

He mentioned bulges in the walls of the Eisenhower, Colle Ste. Catherine and Beauharnois locks, "a most unpardonable error in engineering and construction." There also were leaky lock gates and apparently-porous cent blocks.

The Cornwall bridge, he said, sank in parts that were not supposed to sink and only to glacial till. His engineer friend, whom he declined to identify, had said the bridge is "doomed." He said the engineer is ready to back up his statements under oath in parliamentary inquiry.

During study of his estimates, Mr. Hees exempted the Liberals with trying to lend a "cloak and dagger atmosphere" to the expropriation by his department of certain lands around Malton Air-

Would Outlaw Misleading Advertising

OTTAWA (CP) — Misleading advertising would be made illegal by government legislation introduced in the Commons today by Justice Minister Fulton.

The legislation also would make legal certain competition-eliminating business mergers, as called for by earlier legislation to operate against the public interest.

On misleading advertising, the proposed new section in the criminal code would read:

"Everyone who, for the purpose of promoting the sale or use of an article, makes any materially misleading representation to the public by any means whatever, concerning the price at which the article or like articles have been, are, or will be, ordinarily sold, is guilty of an offence punishable on summary conviction."

No Break in Sight for Heat Wave Which Covers Most of Ontario

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The grim words "No definite break in the heat wave is in sight for Southern Ontario" clattered from public weather office teletypes today.

They put the finger on Canada's hot spot—an area where temperatures have hung in the 90-degree range for three days, mostly sunny. Some 3,000 car passenger line workers at the General Motors car Oshawa plant were sent home early Wednesday night. The move came at least in part because of the paint division walked off their jobs because of the heat.

The painters pulled out about 5 p.m. About 20 minutes later, the assembly workers were told to knock off.

Columnists Say Macmillan Source of Story on Lloyd

LONDON (Reuters) — Two newspaper columnists claimed today that Prime Minister Macmillan was the source of a story last week indicating Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd might be moved to a new post.

The story in the influential Times touched off a heated outcry in every on the effects the report would have on Lloyd's usefulness in the current Geneva foreign ministers conference.

Because of quick backing for Lloyd from Macmillan and doubts that there were any plans to shift him, the foreign secretary emerged more strongly entrenched in his job than before.

The columnists were commenting on an editorial in The Times Wednesday in which it said that it would not "alter or withdraw" a word from the report favorable to Lloyd's replacement. It stressed that the report said any move for Lloyd was "still several months ahead."

Michael Foot, columnist in the Daily Herald, Labor, commented that the editorial meant that the editor of The Times, Sir William Haley, was "saying that Macmillan had talked to Selwyn Lloyd, that he had told his foreign secretary 'Enough is enough.'"

Foot asserted: "Only two people could have leaked that information from that intimate tete-a-tete. Mr. Selwyn Lloyd has hardly leaky to do so. And that leaves only one other—Macmillan himself."

Leslie Day, columnist in the News Chronicle, Liberal, said Macmillan never had publicly denied that he told Lloyd there would be a change in foreign ministers.

He speculated that Macmillan probably wants to give Mr. Lloyd a rest from the heavy load at the foreign office and soothes this to be known now so that when the change is made it will not seem to be because the Geneva conference has failed."

The Daily Mail, Conservative, commented editorially that it believes the original Times report may be substantially correct—because of The Times' standing—and said that printing it during the Geneva talks was "deplorable timing."

Find Man Without Country Really an Egyptian Citizen

OTTAWA (CP) — Christian George Hanna—a man without a country who found a haven in Canada for fifty months—broke off one of the biggest hoaxes in the history of Canadian immigration, it was disclosed today.

The immigration department said that Hanna was not a stateless person, as he claimed, but a citizen of Egypt. His real name is Ahmed Aboud and he was born and spent most of his life in Alexandria.

Hanna arrived at Port Alberni, B.C., in December, 1956, as a stowaway aboard the Norwegian freighter Guvdeig. He told a story of more than a year of lonely exile on the high seas and asked that he be permitted to make a life for himself in Canada.

His bid to enter Canada was supported by thousands of Canadians after they heard his story of world wandering. He received free legal help, money, job offers and three Vancouver women offered to marry him if it would help his cause.

Finally he was allowed to remain. He later had several brushes with the law. He was convicted of possession of a gun and peddling without a permit. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

Canadian authorities were on pins and needles because Hanna had a Canadian certificate of identification granted to him in March, 1957, to enable him to travel. Officials say the certificate was returned three was a possibility that Lebanon might send Hanna back to Canada.

While Hanna was in jail, an Lebanon learned an Egyptian who had been deported from the United States. This Egyptian —not identified to Canadian authorities—was a man of Hanna's size and slowed away together on the Gudveig at Beirut.

The Egyptian eventually wound up in the U.S. under circumstances not known to Canadian officials. Meanwhile Hanna—Hanna's true identity and Hanna Nasrallah from Lebanon to Egypt after his release from jail last March.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATION

The research on the Hanna case was conducted by officials of the External Affairs department in Beirut.

As a result of Hanna's deportation to Egypt his Canadian certificate of identification became worthless, the Commons was told.

Hanna arrived in Montreal on an Egyptian passport Wednesday night en route to Egypt.

ARMY WILL FORM 70 MOBILE UNITS FOR CIVIL DEFENCE

50,000 Troops Will Be Involved

OTTAWA (CP) — The army plans to form as many as 70 mobile columns for its new role in civil defence. About 50,000 troops will be involved.

Some of these "triple-R" columns — radiation detection, reconnaissance and rescue—will be of battalion group size, some 800 men. Some 45 columns will be drawn from the militia and the others from the regular army.

On Sept. 1 the army will become directly responsible for warning civilians of enemy air attack, determining the location of nuclear explosions, assessing the damage, carrying out initial entry into radioactive areas and conducting rescue and evacuation.

These new army responsibilities were discussed here earlier this week at a conference of 10 top army officers, including all chiefs of the five army commands across the country.

Previously, civilian agencies had been primarily responsible for civil defence operations and the army was to aid them on request.

WAR TAKES OVER

But a government order — in council of May 8 established that the army responsibility has been given to the army. It will have power to control fire and traffic, call municipal services in contaminated areas and to control movement of traffic and people.

Headquarters of the various mobile columns will be located in towns and villages outside main target areas.

The troops will require equipment to give them mobility and they will have to know how to use instruments to detect radiation.

The mobile columns will not have a fixed strength but will be made up of a number of reserve companies of some 150 men each, with supporting units and staff, quarters company.

There are some 80,000 army troops in Canada, half of them militiamen. More than half of these will be organized into the mobile columns, though continuing their role as militia training as well. The militia will lose some of its heavier equipment such as tanks and artillery but retain enough for training purposes.

Indians Ask Ban On Use of Land In Hydro Project

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Tuscarora Indian nation has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to ban the use of its land for construction of the Niagara River, N.Y., hydroelectric project.

The Indians petitioned the court, Wednesday not to review a lower court order calling for construction of the reservoir off Tuscarora land.

That decision was "so eminently correct and so devoid of legal error as to require no discussion nature" that review is unwarranted, the Indians declared.

Just Tried to Cut Liberace Down To Size - - as Preposterous Clown

LONDON (AP) — Columnist William Neil Connor said today he thought an article he wrote about pianist Liberace "would result in Parkyn Lee writing me applications—as a preposterous clown."

Connor was testifying in a libel suit under which the American pianist against the columnist and Daily Mirror.

Liberace contends a column by Connor which The Mirror published in 1956 implied he was homosexual.

The article in question was written, was it not, to express your opinion that Liberace was a bad example to the entertainer's chief counsel, Gilbert Beyfus.

"Obliquely," Connor replied. "I did not detest Mr. Liberace, in my opinion he presents a relatively unknown to me, but I strongly dislike what he does on the stage, in the concert hall and on television."

"Was it your intended to hold him up to hatred, contempt and ridicule?"

"I don't know whether it was. I wrote what I thought about it. I can't accept any legal in-

Canada's Gift To Queen Will Be Million For Fund

Money for Research Into Children's Diseases

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government's gift to the Queen on the occasion of her visit this summer will be establishment of a $1,000,000 fund for research into children's diseases, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today.

He said in the Commons that Her Majesty has clarified that she will be happy if any provincial or municipal governments planning similar financial gifts contribute them to the same fund.

The fund will be known as the Queen Elizabeth II Fund for Research into Children's Diseases, he said.

It will be used to provide financial aid to institutions and individuals in Canada doing research in this field.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Queen has always shown a personal interest in and concern for the physical well-being of children.

As a result, the Canadian government had suggested that instead of some other gift to mark her visit—beginning a week—it would establish fund "the proceeds of which would go to such children."

Opposition Leader Pearson decided the gift as "most imaginative and constructive."

He said that the Queen will get a great deal more satisfaction in this than in another fur coat or piece of jewelry," he said.

Russians Seem Ready to Modify Berlin Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — Under a barrage of Western criticism, the Russians in a week some signs Wednesday night of willingness to modify their demand that the Western Allies get out of Berlin in a year.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko denied Western charges at the Big Four conference that the Soviet proposal is a take-it-or-leave-it ultumatum.

Other Soviet spokesmen said the one-year deadline is open to negotiation. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, at a press briefing, called on the West to make counter-proposals so that the negotiations would proceed.

SHARP REACTION

The Western foreign ministers, however, remained adamantly opposed to any deadline on their occupation. U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter told the Geneva conference that the Western occupation rights were "inherent in the situation and "they are not rights which the Western can cancel, assign or modify."

Herter and Gromyko scheduled a private session today to reconsider the future of the conference. It appeared likely the Geneva meeting would break up in disagreement within a few days unless the Russians revised their proposal drastically.

There was some talk of a long suspension of the foreign ministers talks while deputy foreign ministers of the four powers carry on some negotiations.

(Reuters news agency said unofficial reports today said the West may suggest a two-week recess to the talks beginning about the middle of next week).

Western officials believed Gromyko had advised Soviet Premier Khrushchev of the violent British - French reaction to the new Soviet proposal and had discussed with him the possibility of modifications.

WOULD AVOID SUMMIT

President Eisenhower and Herter were understood likely to scrap all consideration of a summit conference unless the Soviet terms were sharply modified.

The foreign ministers conference met in private for one day, with another semi - public formal session set for Friday afternoon.

REDS GOGGLE-EYED

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russian customs officials stared goggle-eyed at a 6,100 strong Boy Door models arrived here Wednesday with the Paris fashions—in trunks full. Their arrival from Paris created a sensation. Normally models arrive singly to a halt and Russians gaped as the Parisian models filed past in twice-daily, four-day show that is the Russian capital's first taste of French haute couture.

Presbyterians Vote $35,000 Toward Hostel

TORONTO (CP)—The 85th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Wednesday authorized the spending of $35,000 towards cost of a hostel in Kenora as an immigration centre for Indians.

"Such a centre is urgently needed in Kenora," said Rev. J. Alan Munro of Toronto, secretary of the assembly's "We provision is made in the town for a gathering place for Indians as a place of recreation, apart from the beer parlors."

Dr. Munro said he had already received private gifts totalling $4,200 and the assembly authorized additional funds as long as other work is not jeopardized.

After a great deal of discussion the assembly referred the matter back to the board of missions and social service.

WOULD RAISE SALARIES

It was proposed that all ministers, lay and missionaries should have their basic salaries raised to $4,100 annually from $3,000, beginning Jan. 1, 1960, as a first step toward a minimum of $5,200. An amendment to increase salaries by $200 from $3,000 was carried by a vote of 167-165.

Approval in principle was voted to spending in any year only the amount received from the church budget the previous year.

One Good Drink Each Week Best For Young Tree

Like young children, recently planted young trees have insistent water demands.

Thirsty woody youngsters, whether they are evergreen or deciduous trees or shrubs, respond best when put on a regular watering schedule for the growing season.

So says G. R. Elliott, field representative of the Dutch Elm Tree Expert Co., who, in effect, points out that some trees show their displeasure when offered "short snorts." Small drinks on a daily basis encourage shallow rooting with all its associated woes.

Nobody can really specify just how thirsty a tree really is or how much extra waterings are required to slake this desire. However, a watering schedule of one good drink every week for the 31 most situations. The first treatment and a fall in the particularly critical time.

With the dog days there may come warning landscape signals that your newest tree pets are in trouble. Leaves curling or writhing flower heads undoubtedly would be among the early soaking devices. This assures penetration to the lower soil where water or roots are greedily for it.

Some of the more dedicated weekend gardeners now use various types of hydropenes, slim watering cans that can be inserted into the soil at points where water is needed most. In any event, there is no short cut to doing the job properly.

Trial in Nature Of Test Case Is Adjourned

The damage action of Hollow-way district farmer Roy Sills against Lt. Lieutenant Lawrence at Foxboro, being heard before Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson this week has been adjourned until October 14th.

The dates of October 12th and 13th have also been reserved for completion of the case.

The case commenced on May 29th and was adjourned until June 8th and was again adjourned yesterday after hearing of witnesses.

Mr. Sills is suing the canning company for the value of corn grown last year which was frozen before it was picked. The hearing is in the nature of a test case and is receiving considerable interest on the part of Foxboro district farmers.

Trees Suffer Heavy Damage From Porcupines

During the past winter, porcupines have caused considerable damage to forest trees throughout this area, according to Lands and Forests officials. Small trees and plantations have been particularly susceptible to this type of damage. It has been estimated that one porcupine can destroy up to 20 trees in a year by feeding on the tender bark.

Porcupines are also very troublesome around summer cottages. In search for salt, these animals chew up axe handles, paddles, chairs or any other wooden material where perspiration or salt has been deposited.

Contrary to common belief, porcupines are not protected under the game laws. They may be killed by any means at any time by any person in defence or preservation of his property.

13TH BELLEVILLE GROUP

Over 160 people sat down to a turkey dinner at the Tabernacle Church hall on Monday, June 8th. The occasion was the annual Father and Son banquet. Long tables glowing with beautiful chinaware, silver, and decorated tastefully, with centre pieces and vases while lilies tablecloths, matched the wonderful meal served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Grace was said by Rev. L. A. Page. He group's Padre. After dinner, Rack Shaw, of "2" Pack (Mrs. M. Russell), led the community singing.

EFFICIENT LEADERS

The chairman paid a well deserved tribute to the Scouters — Scoutmaster Bud Bateman; A.S. M., Jim Hollingsworth; Cubmaster Pack, Al Halenudi; A.C.M. Arnold Welch; A.C.M. Lewis Cline; Cubmaster Pack, Bill Chalmers; Russell; A.C.M., Miriam Russell; A.C.M. Ken Ray and A. C. M. Clare Azar. Mr. Walters thanked the auxiliary (there were 21 present), not only for the excellent banquet but also for their splendid help throughout the year. Ladies do occupy a very important place in Scouting and it is always pleasant to know their efforts are appreciated.

CERTIFICATES AWARDED

The District Commissioner presented Bud Bateman with Group certificates to Group Scoutevs Timothy Ronawell and Bud Bateman, and to Cubs Graham and Alan Halenski, commending them for their work with the boys. Mr. Allcorn also congratulated Cub George Mason for having earned membership in the exclusive "13" badge club. In a lighter vein he suggested:

What a wonderful bird the frog would be,
When he stand be sit almost;
When he hop he fly almost;
He ain't got no tail hardly
He ain't got no tail hardly at all.
When he sit, he sit on what he ain't got almost.

On par with the classic, the "Purple Cow", or the "Three Little Pigs" comes — who never wore shoes and never wore socks.

Enough! Back to the Banquet.

Group Scoutmaster Bateman spoke briefly on father's responsibilities and appealed to them to join a group committee.

District Rover Leader Don Dickson outlined Rover Scouting. The ages of these young men are from 18 to 22. It is hoped several crews will be organized soon.

EXCELLENT ENTERTAINMENT

Slicer Ron Banting and Cubs of "3" Pack presented some very entertaining skits. Ron, with his famous old ballad "Grandpa's Whiskers" — very touching.

Scouter Bateman and Alan Sutherland followed Queen's Scout Barrie Simpson with the "Three Little Pigs" — who never wore shoes and never wore socks.

Donate Trophy To New College For Firemen

TRENTON — The Weddell trophy, presented to the Trenton fire department by Mrs. Weddell as a symbol of hose and reel championship, will, in the near future, be presented to the Fire Marshal's College in Gravenhurst, a city official said today.

The decision was made at last night's meeting of the Trenton Aid group held in the armouries at Manning Corners. Members of Trenton besides Fire Chief Cecil Ellis made the proposal that the trophy, now encased in glass at the local fire hall, be presented to the Marshall College and in turn present it to the Fire Chief of the town where the trophy will be returned to Trenton. This was agreed to at the meeting.

The trophy had last been won in 1916 and has remained in the Trenton fire hall and has not been competed for since that year.

It was also decided at the meeting that a smaller duplicate of the trophy would be purchased and set up for annual competition among the volunteer fire departments within the Mutual Aid group.

Smoke Scare

TRENTON — Heavy smoke rolling from a chimney behind Yeates, Block on Front Street brought Trenton firemen on the run last night, only to find a fire or danger of fire. One of the residents said he had been burning waste in the cost stove and that was the cause of the smoke.

The heavy night air, around 11 p.m., held the smoke down and it circled across the top of the building, giving the impression that the whole building was smoking.

On Tuesday night firemen fought a grass and bush fire north of the CPR tracks and south of the 401 highway, on the west side of Sidney Street. They reported the fire was burning heavily when they arrived but there was no danger as it was rolling towards the highway and there are no buildings in that section of Trenton. Firemen stayed with the fire for almost two hours. It was the second such call they had been called to that spot for the same purpose.

Toronto Citizen Dies of Injuries As Auto Upsets

TRENTON — George Beaurt, 24, of 30 Melbourne Ave., in Toronto, died in the Trenton Memorial Hospital of a fractured skull less than two hours after he car went out of control on 401 Highway yesterday morning.

In the car with Mr. Beaurt were two other passengers who were injured but not seriously. The mishap occurred at 11.30 a.m. and Mr. Beaurt died in the hospital at 11.50 a.m. after being rushed there by Weaver Ambulance.

James Leadrer of the same address was treated for cuts and treated at the hospital for lacerations of the left arm and discharged.

A hitch-hiker on the way to his home in Scotia, Nova Scotia, Vela Hibberta, was also a passenger in the vehicle and escaped with the scare.

It was reported the three were on their way to their home in Scotia and were between Brighton and Trenton on the new 401 Highway when the accident happened. No other cars were involved in the accident.

It is believed the car went onto the shoulder of the highway causing the driver to lose control, and turned over several times before coming to a stop. The vehicle was a complete wreck.

Officers from the Brighton detatchment of the Ontario Provincial Police investigated.

Poppy Fund Group Selects Chairman

TRENTON — A re-organizational meeting of the Trenton Legion Poppy Fund Committee was held at the Legion hall on Tuesday evening. In attendance were Branch President W. T. Lawes, honorary past president J. C. Farrell; branch padre C. W. Bryce, Bill Taylor and branch treasurer W. J. McLaren.

Legionaire Bill Taylor was elected chairman of the committee for 1960.

All monies received from Poppy Fund Campaign are used for benevolent purposes, the relief of veterans or their dependents in times of dire need.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Golds and base metals were the leaders as the stock market inched forward today in light morning trading.

The 11 a.m. volume was 663,000 shares, somewhat higher than Wednesday's 560,000 at the same hour.

Golds and base metals were quiet. In golds Aunor added 10 cents at 83. International Nickel led base metals, up ⅛ at 91½. Noranda, however, lost ⅛ at 59⅝. Consolidated Denison was up ⅛ at 13¼ among uraniums.

In industrials, aluminium was the most active and had the big gain, up 2⅛ at 39⅝. Walker-Goderham added 1⅛ at 36½, after announcing its regular 35-cent quarterly dividend, plus an additional 35 cents.

Goodyear Tire rose 5 points at 195. Of 20 index stocks, three lost fractions, 15 gained.

International Nickel sparked a base metal recovery, up 1⅛ at 91. Falconbridge added 1 at 25½ while Hudson Bay was up ⅜ at 35 and Noranda added ⅛ at 59⅝.

Final volume was 2,522,000 shares, somewhat better than Tuesday's 2,452,000. Three speculatives traded more than 100,000 shares. Orchan was the most active, off 16 cents at $1.05. Tombill had the big gain, up 20 cents at $1.40.

In golds, Dome, Kerr-Addison and Campbell Red Lake added fractions. Western oils were quiet but Calgary and Edmonton was up ⅞ at 28⅛.

Index gains: Industrials 5.51 to 331.68; golds .41 to 92.94; base metals 1.67 to 173.75; western oils .71 to 122.46.

RCMP BADGE

The motto on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police badge is "maintiens le droit," or "uphold the right."

Robert Paul, partner in the World Champion Figure Skating Pair (centre), was guest of the Belleville Figure Skating and Tennis Club yesterday evening. With Mr. Paul are Mel Talbot, club president (left) and John Rodway, skating pro with the club. All pitched in to help out with the duties normally allotted to the ladies at such functions, as did the other gentlemen members of the club.

Sgt. Denis Robson, lower right, is seen instructing King George School pupils on the correct manner of applying safety Scotchtite tape as two members of the Lions Club and school principal look on. Left to right are: pupils Bruce Heidt, Norman Miller and Ronald Rushnell, with Sgt. Robson. Standing are: Alf Bryant, safety committee chairman for the Lions Club; Bill Owen, incoming club president, and King George School Principal John Bacon.

Quinte Skating Club Party Well Attended

The Quinte Figure Skating and Tennis Club held a very well attended dessert and coffee party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. McCutcheon yesterday evening in an effort to raise funds for the club's activities next winter. Mr. Robert Paul, partner in the World's Figure Skating Championship Pair for 1957-58-59, was the guest of honor for the occasion.

The male members of the club took an active part in the serving of the refreshments and the other duties incumbent to the event, with the exception of the preparation of the fare, which was prepared by the lady members. The refreshment tables were well and attractively laden with a great variety of delicious dishes. The guests gathered in the garden behind the McCutcheon home were the tea and coffee were served.

Highlight of the occasion for the junior members of the club was a "fish pond" for various favors and knick-knacks with the raffle of a man's and a lady's jacket for the patronage of the adults in attendance.

Mr. Paul also gave some very interesting information on the life of those who compete in the figure skating World Championship and Olympic events. He and his partner, Miss Barbara Wagner, will be competing next March in the World's Championship event to be held at Vancouver, B.C., and in the Olympics event, which is being held at Squaw Valley next February.

In talking of the routine of the top competitors in figure skating, Mr. Paul mentioned that the summers are spent trying out new techniques and movements and perfecting old ones. He and Miss Wager practise for seven to eight weeks during July and August at Timmins, where there are three ice sheets available.

HEAVY SCHEDULE

During the winter a very stringent session of practice and preparation for the big events is maintained for six days a week with from seven to eight hours of skating required each day. Figure skating is a young people's sport, stated the Canadian amateur, by the time you're over 21 there people start referring to you as an old man in sports.

The young World's Champion also joined in the duties of the evening by lending his hand to the serving of tea together with Messrs. Court Miller, Allan Drydale, John Rodway, Peter Acton and Dr. Peter Lorry. Receiving guests were Mr. Mel Talbot and Dr. William McCutcheon while serving as hosts for the evening were Dr. William Beattie and Messrs. Doug Dunnink and Ken McKinney. Conveners for the party, which was attended by some 300 guests, were Mesdames Mel Talbot, Jack Joblin, Muriel McKinney and Doug Addley.

The evening's activity was well favored with good weather and everyone enjoyed themselves and the fare and the pleasant company.

Evening Clinics Being Held For Polio Shots

The Belleville Health Department is holding several evening clinics at which local citizens may receive their polio immunization shots during the next three weeks. The last clinic, held on Tuesday evening, had a turnout of only 135 people at the department's new quarters at 266 Pinnacle Street. Last fall about 2,500 local residents received their first and second of the three-shot series of immunizations.

The summer months are the most serious for contraction of the disease and it is the feeling of the Health Department that there should be more people making use of the offer of free vaccination. It is expected that about 5,000 adults and children will be handicapped by the crippling disease this year. Over 4,000,000 doses of vaccine have shown the immunizing agent to be remarkably safe and free from associated reaction.

The next immunizing clinics will be held at 7.00 o'clock on the evenings of June 16th, 22rd and 29th.

2,000 Bicycles Will Receive Safety Tape

It is bicycle tape time, at Belleville elementary schools with an estimated 2,000 bicycles to receive the safety tape within the next week or so.

The tape application is under the direction of Sgt. Denis Robson, safety officer with the Belleville Police Department who has now completed the first phase of his safety program which has seen him lecture to over 5,000 students in the various elementary schools.

Since the school safety program commenced on March 12th, Sgt. Robson has visited 148 classes in 14 public and separate schools in the city and has given one and a half hour talks to 5,139 school children.

The Belleville Lions Club is supplying the tape — $500 worth — and with the completion of the first phase safety lectures, the tape started going on this week.

Sgt. Robson emphasized, however, that tape will be provided only for safe bicycles which meet the standards demanded by highway department standards. This is in contrast to other years when tape was provided for all bicycles regardless of condition.

To help raise funds for their various club activities the Lions Club this Friday and Saturday is sponsoring a tag day, while on June 19th they are staging a teen-agers dance at the Armouries.

BRUTAL SLAYING

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Discovery of the brutal-beaten body of Mrs. Bruhn Ross Grieving, 66, Tuesday has started an intensive search by police. The woman's body, found which had been sexually assaulted, was found by Peter Zubach of Lethbridge, on a vacant lot immediately south of his business establishment.

French-Speaking Canadian May Be Given Honor

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's next governor-general will be a Canadian, and probably a French-speaking Canadian, it was learned today.

Informants said Prime Minister Diefenbaker has decided to follow the lead of the former Liberal government in having a Canadian in Government House.

Governor-General Massey, 72, who is expected to end next September his lengthy term of office which began Feb. 28, 1952, was Canada's first native-born representative of the Queen. Previously, Canada's governor-general came from the United Kingdom.

Identity of Mr. Diefenbaker's choice has been kept secret.

Heart Attacks Increase at Certain Times

TORONTO (CP)—The effects of weather on heart conditions were described to the Canadian Federation of Biological Societies Wednesday by Dr. G. A. Mayer of Kingston.

Dr. Mayer said he has discovered a direct relation between barometric pressure and the body's clotting ability, and added that a sudden break in the weather can increase chances of a heart attack.

By using the barometric pressure principle, said Dr. Mayer, it had been possible to cut the death rate for certain heart conditions in Kingston hospitals from 30 per cent seven years ago to seven per cent today.

Heart attacks increase during periods of unsettled weather or early spring, Dr. Mayer said.

The Kingston doctor said research has proved that the anti-clotting ability of certain drugs has been somewhat impeded by atmospheric conditions.

Dr. Mayer said it is not known what mechanism in the body governs the rate at which the blood clots, although some doctors believe the liver is involved.

"Alcoholics seldom die of heart attacks, though," said Dr. Mayer.

SET MILL RATE

THORNBURY (CP)—The mill rate for Grey County for 1960 was set Wednesday night at 17 mills on an assessment of $32,317,316, an increase of one mill over 1958 and 1958. The added mill is to provide $43,600 as yearly payment of principal and interest on debentures for the new county building to be built at nearby Owen Sound this year.

WHAT ATTRACTS TOURISTS?

Art Smith, the Progressive Conservative member for Calgary South, thinks that a wrong impression of Canada is being given by tourist promotion literature distributed in the U.S. and other countries.

Mr. Smith asked what was the mention of large Canadian cities, night clubs and entertainment; fishing attractions had been exaggerated; he said.

We think Mr. Smith is half right. Fishing is exaggerated. Not all men, and comparatively few women, are interested in fishing. When it comes to cities, night clubs and entertainment, though, Mr. Smith may be missing a point. Most of the people who read this tourist literature come from places where cities, night clubs and entertainment are no novelties. Nobody who lives in Philadelphia is going to drive to Canada to see what kind of a city Toronto is. The Chicagoan resident of Montreal when a night clubs is not going to be induced to visit Montreal by any description of night life in that city.

Alan Field, director of the Canadian government travel bureau, said that more emphasis is being placed on cultural and entertainment attractions, but he added that thousands of Americans come to Canada for a "different" holiday. Aside from the Stratford Shakespearean Festival and the Canadian National exhibition, both of which are bigger shows than many Canadians realize, it seems to us that the best tourist attraction Canada has to offer is the very fact that it is "wooden," that it is possible for the visitor to get away from crowds, to enjoy seclusion. But there is a difference between "wobbly" and "backwoodsy" and this should be stressed. What makes Canada so attractive to many U.S. residents - - what attracts the residents of our own large Canadian cities - - is that quiet lakes, long stretches of sand beach, rolling hills and deep, shaded valleys close to town which offer every modern convenience.

The picture which would best attract a U. S. tourist, we suggest, is not "a moose looking over your shoulder" but a cottage beside a lake, with sand on the shore, a few other cottages at just the right distances to promote comradeship without invading privacy - - and a hydro line providing light, heat for cooking, refrigeration and running water!

Such a picture would not only prove pleasing - - it would also be as accurate a presentation of average Canadian vacation spots - - in eastern Canada at least - - as could be wished. No tourists would have any difficulty in discovering precisely the kind of resort he had been led to expect.

We are not so sure that every U.S. visitor would be equally well satisfied if we started to stress our big cities, night clubs and entertainment as attractions.

NYLONS FOR WART HOGS

Ever see a wart hog wearing nylons?

They are all the style these days in the Kariba Dam area in Southern Rhodesia.

The waters trapped by the big dam threatened to drown a variety of animals, baboons, impalas, bushbucks, wart hogs, anteiope and ant bears. Game wardens were given the task of rescuing them from the rising Zambesi River. Back rescuing a wild animal against its will can be vigorous work. Once caught, they have to be bound. It was found that ordinary rope used to tie them was injuring the animals' legs.

Then the game wardens discovered that nylon stockings, loosely plaited or braided, were ideal. They are security as rope in the handling of the animals and did no injury to the animals' legs.

As a result the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, sent out an appeal for nylon stockings. The response was surprising. A thousand nylons a day, many in wearable condition, poured in. In connection with the appeal, the Southern Rhodesia Game Department reported 800 animals actually carried ashore, besides a thousand others guided or driven to safety. Included in the animals carried were 300 baboons, 150 impalas, 70 bush bucks, 60 wart hogs, 50 small antelope and 20 ant bears. We are not told how many of these were still wearing their nylons when released.

CANT DISCARD WISDOM

When the first fine flights of fancy have died down, it should and probably will be remembered that Britain and France are and have been in the forefront of the movement to bring independence to many Africa states. The known worth of their long experience cannot be discarded overnight.—(Montreal Star.)

THE BRAVE MAN

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The happiest man on earth today
Has some cruise to wail;
And if he were disposed to, he
Could tell a hard luck tale.
Full many an hour of anguish and
Of bitterness he's had,
Beginning through it all he finds
Some problem to be glad.

And to this reason to rejoice
The brave man ever clings.
He's lived his hard luck stories, but
In spite of them he sings.
His heart has felt the sting of grief,
In sorrow he has wept,
But still his faith in God and man
Throughout it all he's kept.

Strange Street Names

By John Bristow in Freedom and Union

Have you ever addressed a letter to The Lane of Green Ginger? This sounds like the setting for a fairy ballet by Tchaikovsky, but in reality it is a perfectly ordinary street in the busy port of Hull in Yorkshire, England. And there is a perfectly ordinary reason for its name: in the sixteenth century the streets known as of green ginger, produced from ginger and lemon juice, was made for the neighborhood.

Equally logical is the origin of what is perhaps the best-known of the many curious street names in Britain — that of Piccadilly in London.

This has nothing to do with gaiety, brilliance or, for that matter, mentally-minded would have us believe; instead, the name is derived from Piccadilly Hall, a house built in the early years of the seventeenth century by a tailor who specialized in making ruffs known as "piccadils".

In Southeast London there is a street known as Ha Ha Road. A "ha-ha" is a sunken ditch which prevents cattle straying from one field into another. View. Originally there must have been one near the present Ha Ha Road.

In medieval times it was a common practice to name streets after the trades which were carried on in them. Hence Bread and Milk Street in London, for instance; Capdlemaker Row in Edinburgh; Shoemaker Lane, Gloucester; the Shoplatch street in Shrewsbury. We might include in this category names that of the Bloody Hole Lane at Chichester, so-named because of the carnage that took place when smugglers on their forty-mile journey riding from the Isle of Purbeck across coast on moonless nights to deposit illicit kegs of brandy in some safe hiding-place.

In Bristol there is a lane called Pitch and Pay, which is said to never have got its present name in the way that it.

seventeenth century when the city was stricken with the plague. The country people, afraid to carry their products through the infected streets, "pitched" their milk, cheese and butter at the top of the lane. Then they walked at a safe distance until the citizens collected the goods and paid the money.

Also in Bristol there is a flight of stairs known as Jacob's Steps. It was there that charitable gentlemen gave to the poor and needy used to take place at Christmas time.

Surely one of the oddest street names is Whipmawhopmagate in York, where in former times malefactors were whipped and then exposed for three minutes. Hather grimmer in its origin is the name of a certain thoroughfare in Cornwall, Bessie's Beesie, which recalls the former practice of burying suicides at a crossroads.

Yorkshamire sounds like the name of some imaginary English county, on the model of the "Shiretire" of Anthony Trollope's novels. In actual fact, it is a street in Bournemouth, Hants, and the name is derived from a brook which seems to have had a somewhat fierce reputation. The brook is now known as the Hurstbourne Priors, but original name was the Fokene — from the Old English fiorweg, meaning "four streets".

Frogham was a later corruption, and the "there" in the name of the street name simply meant "district".

Many unusual street names, however, are simply descriptive of the dirk as to their possible origin. Were there — as there certainly is in the village of South Cerney in Gloucestershire — a Thatched Road in Norwich commemorate the ingratitude of a former inhabitant of this historic cathedral city.

Or Feather Bed Lane on Dartmoor, Devonshire, it is a stony track which even a pony would shy at.

"Madam, congratulations! - - - You just said the secret word - 'Seram' - - That entitles you to 40% discount on - - -."

Khrushchev Is Busy Man

Brockville Recorder and Times

Who is the most-widely travelled of the world's leading statesmen? General de Gaulle, Premier Khrushchev, Premier Macmillan, Mr. Khrushchev, or Dr. Adenauer?

Certainly not Mr. Eisenhower who seldom gets Washington area days except to take a brief holiday. Of the others the two French, British and German leaders have done a fair amount of travelling, with a specialty by Mr. Macmillan in reporting his Moscow visit to his Western colleagues. Before his death Mr. Dulles perhaps had seen further afield than any of them.

This leaves Mr. Khrushchev. The activities of the other statesmen are known when we consider a survey of the Soviet leader's travels during the past year. The French newspaper Le Monde recently compiled a list of his journeys and visitors.

They include 97 major public speeches, one of them 15 hours long, and 50 other messages to heads of state (nobody can accuse him of not getting around to touch); five visits abroad — to Hungary, Rumania, and two to East Germany, to these may be added his recent visit to Albania; 106 talks with Communists, including Nasser, the King of Nepal, Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Menshikov. He has spent 30 days in theatre, or literary evenings, 13 days in concerts, with heads of foreign governments; 27 receptions and banquets at the Kremlin; two press conferences.

Mr. Khrushchev has great vitality. He is a strong man, physically and mentally. It would be interesting to know the hours he has worked and if he ever spends much time at home. It would seem that virtually all his time is devoted to affairs of state.

Shrimp Case - A U.S. View

Baltimore Sun

The edible shrimp is a small and placid organism, quite lacking in the sanguinary qualities that one associates with the ocean. Some of course, grow large, and some truck drivers hauling cargoes of shrimp and other fish have arrived at the Food and Drug Administration for help in getting refrigerated vehicles on existing Canadian roads.

The answer is simple — there isn't any. Canada has a law which says, absolutely, the state of uniformity must exist by 1960, after which any and all trading with Canada is prohibited — unless the Canadians change their laws or we change ours. It is not to say that, in 1958, current reasons do not continue to justify a strict insistence by the federal part of Canada that we be willing to deal with the Provinces of the United States, by and large, it is not.

And after the principle has been restated and reaffirmed, it is time to take a look at the common-sense smile at the picture of the State and Treasury Departments, with all their barricading, frontiers against a cocktail item that is only passing through in bond.

The idea that America may be made easy for contraband by the passage of a few trucks through one little part of Canada to another part of Canada with bonded cargoes is just about as absurd as any bureaucratic idea ever was.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHEN WE ARE ALONE

In the Book of Daniel we find these words: "I was left alone, and saw this great vision." (Daniel 10:8).

If there was ever an age when we needed to learn the value of being left alone occasionally, a while, it is this age in which we live. Some people appear positively terrified to be left alone. They must hunt up companions. They must try to arrange a party. If this is not possible, at least they can take up the telephone receiver and talk to someone or a series of intimate friends and get and give all the news.

Yet the great characters in the world have been made by men who were alone. Wisdom comes to dawn upon us more when we are alone than when we are in the company of others. This age of ours is positively starving for reasonable periods of meditation, self-examination, and contemplation. We are an activist age. We must be doing something or hearing some place. Our favorite Bible text is "He went about doing good." We emphasize the going about.

It is hard for us to realize that some of the wisest men who ever lived gained their wisdom in solitude. Also, in solitude we often gain our deepest peace.

It is a dreadful thing to be lonely. It is a more awful calamity to be so burdened with affairs, events, the burden of ourselves, and the continual presence of others.

Try being alone for a change.

Police Find Wanted Man in Roslin District

A posse led by Cpl. Gordon Stout of the Provincial Police, Belleville, at noon today arrested Douglas Radley, 25, of Sunbury, Ont., in the Roslin area. Radley is wanted by Kingston police on a charge of breaking and entering. He was found on the banks of the Moira River. Police were alerted yesterday and to be on the lookout for the man and his car was spotted in the Roslin area last evening about 8.30. The man, however, abandoned his car and disappeared into the bush.

This morning a Roslin district farmer's wife phoned officers that she had seen a man leave their barn about 7.30, leading police to believe that he had slept in the barn overnight. The search for the wanted man was therefore resumed.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Thirty-one traffic officers and engineers from police departments across the province have registered at Huron College here for the fifth annual Ontario Traffic Conference.

Cadet Corps Of Navy League To Be Inspected

The Navy League Cadet Corps "Chaleur" will be having its annual inspection on friday evening, June 12th, at 7.30 in the Sea Cadet Barracks on South Front Street. The Navy League Cadets are a new group sponsored by the local Navy League for boys between the ages of 12 and 14, who are not yet old enough to join the Sea Cadets.

The officers in charge of the corps are Lt. Ed Richards, commanding officer; Lt. Sterling Shandrow, executive officer; Sub-Lt. Pat Brown, Sub-Lt. Francis Shandrow and Instructor Bob Travers.

The corps currently has a strength of thirty boys and has its own band and guard. These will be performing tomorrow evening and a signal display will be held as well. Parents and friends are invited to attend the inspection.

Ian Taylor, 2½, and Father Robert Are Rescued From Muscote Bay

Ian Taylor was the luckiest fisherman on Muscote Bay last night. He did not catch any fish, but he survived a half-hour immersion in the water and came out of it still hanging on to his fishing pole. When one considers that Ian is only 2½ years old, this represents quite a feat.

Ian owes his life to a happy combination of luck, a life-jacket, his father's courage, swimming ability and strong voice, the sharp ears of Mrs. Lillian Gray of Crofton, and prompt action by William A. Miller of Mountain View, and his son, William.

At 6 p.m. yesterday, Ian's father, Robert Taylor, of Mountain View, rented a boat from the Millers. They were given two life-jackets. Robert put one on his son. The other he left in the bottom of the boat. Then Robert rowed across to Fox Island, some 600 yards from the shore, and he and his son started to fish.

Ian fell overboard. Robert, a strong swimmer, jumped in after his son and quickly grasped Ian as he floated in his life-jacket. But then he found that he could not reach the boat, which was drifting away in the light wind.

Robert started to swim to shore—and to yell.

About this time Mrs. Lillian Gray, who lives on the high shore road about a mile away, decided to go outside and sit in the shade. She heard cries. Looking over the bay, she saw a boat which appeared to be empty and drifting. She promptly telephoned the Millers.

Father and son jumped into a car and raced to the shore. There they saw the empty, drifting boat and Robert Taylor, swimming on his back and holding his son, Ian.

William Jr. manned the oars; his father, in the stern, used another oar to paddle.

"I never rowed so hard in all my life," said the son afterwards.

"I'm just about all in," gasped Robert Taylor when they reached him.

Ian did not say a word; nor did he whimper. He just hung onto his prized fishing rod.

The empty boat was some 200 yards away from the Taylors by the time the Millers reached them.

The father, exhausted, later received medical attention.

FREIGHTER DAMAGED

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — An ocean-going freighter damaged in a collision on Lake Huron may be repaired and ready to load grain Monday. Officials of N. M. Paterson and Sons said the Bahama Courier might be seaworthy by the weekend. The English-owned vessel arrived here May 31 after being in a collision with a United States Coast Guard vessel in a fog.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. McQuaid, Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Ann, to Norman Edward Thompson, B.Sc., Guelph, Ontario, son of Mrs. Thompson, Guelph, and the late Mr. Stanley Thompson. The marriage will take place on Saturday, July 11th, 1959, at 3 o'clock in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

* * *

Mrs. F. Garfler, of "Coral Gables", Florida, is spending the summer months in the city.

'Open House' Attend by Well-Wishers

More than two hundred well-wishers gathered at the Bridge St. United Church parsonage recently to extend their congratulations to the minister of the church, the Reverend Harry M. Davis, on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the Christian ministry.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis were "At Home" to the members of the congregation and their friends, some as far away as Kingston and Brighton. The rooms were tastefully decorated with an abundance of flowers, roses and carnations making a beautiful setting for such an eventful occasion.

ATTRACTIVE TEA TABLE

The tea table was attractively appointed with a lace cloth and centrepiece of pink carnations and white 'mums.

The following assisted at the "At Home" during the afternoon and evening:

Receiving in the afternoon, Mrs. C. Morgan; pouring tea, Mrs. C. Andrews of Kingston, and Mrs. A. R. MacKenzie, wife of the principal of Albert College; serving, Mrs. N. O'Neill and Mrs. J. M. Sherry; Mrs. R. Fralick and Mrs. A. S. Robb. The dining room hostess was Mrs. George McIntosh and the living room hostess, Mrs. F. I. Sherwin.

Those who poured from 4 to 5, were Mrs. W. H. Finkle and Mrs. S. J. Hibbard, while those who served Mrs. Gordon Lockhin, Mrs. A. R. Schryver, Mrs. Harold Mott and Mrs. David Ross.

Receiving at the door in the evening was Miss Ethelwyn Morden. The dining room hostess and living room hostess were Mrs. Carman Massey and Mrs. John E. McArthur.

Those presiding at the tea table included Mrs. Clayton W. Burr and Mrs. Newton C. Thompson; Mrs. Donald G. Williams and Mrs. Arthur Clare; while those who served, Mrs. William Simpson, Mrs. D. W. Maclellan; Miss Muriel Johnson, Miss Margaret Hillis, Mrs. Grace Anderson, Mrs. E. S. Fairman, Mrs. W. J. Musgrove and Miss Helen Sulman.

WOMAN GANGSTER

LONDON (CP) — A smash-and-grab gang which included a woman broke a plate-glass window in the Bayswater district to steal six tins of salmon.

St. Michael's P.C. Plans Tea, Views Films

St. Michael's parish council of the C. W. League held its monthly meeting on Monday at St. Michael's Academy. The president, Mrs. R. Brown, presided.

The Very Rev. Dean Garvin opened the meeting and Mrs. F. Domeraon outlined the final plans for the "Lawn Tea" and Bazaar to be held at St. Michael's Rectory, Wednesday June 17th. All members were asked to come and bring their friends.

Mrs J. V. Boyle accepted the convenorship of the bazaar to be held in November and will be assisted by Mrs. G. O'Brien as co-convener. Members were requested to continue sewing and knitting for this coming event.

Mrs. J. Belanger convener of tickets for the bazaar, gave tickets to councillors to be distributed.

Mrs. J. Boyd, League magazine convener, gave a short talk on the magazine and expressed the hope that the league would have a 100 per cent enrollment for 1959.

Mrs. D. Flagler reported on the recent "Peg Day", thanking all who helped in making this a success.

Dean Garvin thanked Mrs. E. Logan and all who helped to make the dinner, given for the workers in the Diocesan Catholic College Campaign, such a success.

Mrs. H. Brown and Mrs. E. Logan were delegates to the Kingston Diocesan convention held in Kingston May 31 and June 1st. Mrs. Brown gave a most interesting report on the highlights of the 37 councils represented at the convention.

The next meeting will be held on the second Monday in September and will open with a potluck supper.

SAFETY FILMS

Two timely safety films from the National Film Board, were shown by the education convener, Mrs. A. F. McFadden.

The film "Don't Drown", dealt with useful, simple tips on correct swimming covering all activities in or near water.

The film, "Driving Without Tears", stressed the need of expert instruction to those who drive plus a full knowledge of the rules of the road.

Mrs. McFadden gave a short talk on safety and Mrs. Hart read the prayer on safety by His Eminence, James C. Cardinal McGuigan.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. B. Root and her committee.

HEN VI — KNIGHT

PICTC - Lilacs and tulips decorated 3 First Pentecostal Church i sonage when Rev. Charles R ter united in marriage Wilma Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Knight, R. 9, Picton, and Frank Elwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Hennessy, R. 1, Bloomfield.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Peter Hennessy, while Miss Ruth Harring, son sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was lovely in a street-length gown of white satin taffeta featuring a balloon hemline and long white taffeta bow at the back, three-quarter-length sleeves and bodice in lace. Her fingertip veil was held by a net and sequin headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses, pom-poms, lily-of-the-valley and stephanotis.

Miss Sandra Knight attended her sister. She wore a street-length dress of coral cotton, with cummerbund style waistline, embroidered bodice and front panel, and tiny bows on the sleeves. She wore a flowered headdress and carried white chrysanthemums.

Ronald Hennessy was groomsman for his brother.

The reception was held at Maple Inn, where pink and white decorations were used.

The bride's table was centred with the wedding cake, flanked by pink tapers and spring flowers.

For travelling to Portland, Maine, the bride donned a grey tailored suit with pink straw hat, pink scarf and gloves and black accessories, with a corsage of pink roses.

They will reside on Bloomfield Road.

SOOTY WINDS

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. S. Berezowski complained about the sooty deposits on her house resulting from smoke from a nearby brickyard. "I'm almost praying for that wind to change," she said, "but then some other poor souls would have my troubles."

Bride to-Be Feted With Cups-Saucers

Yesterday afternoon a group of friends met at the home of Mrs. F. Cooke, 189 Foster Ave., in honor of Miss Mellissa Reid, bride-to-be of this month. The rooms were prettily adorned with white peonies, and fragrant orange blossoms making a lovely foil for the tea table with its dainty cream damask cloth and lace doilies which included an exquisite bridal cake topped by a tiny doll bride in white with veil and flowers.

During the afternoon a bride's book, "This Is Your Life," was compiled, and a shower of cups and saucers presented to the guest of honor, who most graciously thanked the donors for their kindness and the hostess for the delightful afternoon accorded her.

Rev. Sid Larman Gives Views to WCTU Meet

PEMBROKE (CP) — The Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union has been told that its work in the past has been hurt by the fanaticism of its members.

Rev. S. E. Larman of Wesley United Church, Ajax, told the provincial convention, that even Wrong church supporters have turned away from the union because of its demand for absolute abstinence.

He strongly supported the doctrine of temperance, but suggested that too strict a policy only alienates those who might support the movement.

Made world life members were Mrs. Alice Thorn of Sarnia, Mrs. G. E. Newman of Brantford and Mrs. W. A. Powers of Pembroke.

Mrs. James Nelson of Hamilton, president of the Ontario WCTU, said it is the members' duty to encourage new adherents.

Many Parents Attend Open House at School for Deaf

A year of progress and achievement was displayed to the many parents and visitors who took advantage of the "Visitors' Day and Open House" held yesterday afternoon at the Ontario School for the Deaf.

From 1.30 p.m. to 3.15 the superintendent, Mr. G. C. Ramezza, B.A., B. Paed, and teachers conducted groups of visitors through the new junior building with its fireproof construction, colorful tiled floors, and attractive furnishings, pointing out the salient features of each division, recreation rooms, dormitories, and study rooms, dormitories, and study rooms, stressed the methods used in instructing the deaf children.

Following the tours, an attractive program was held in the main auditorium of the old building lasting from 3.15 to 3.45 p.m. and consisted of the senior Rhythm Band and its presentation of the "Overture to the Flying Dutchman", the "Pied Piper of Hamelin," which was preceded with finesse and precision under the direction of Mr. Alec Gordon at the piano, and the "Fashion Show," modelled by the girls of the senior sewing room in charge of Mrs. M. Vincent.

TWO SKITS

The fashion show was presented in the form of two skits, afternoon in the park, showing a soft drink stand well attended by teen-agers, each modelling sports wear, and a "Teen-age Salon," with Miss Betty Moore, who graduates this year, as hostess of the salon, prettily attired in brocaded cotton in a lovely cool shade of green. Pink carnations were seated on the divan, and viewed the many gowns and dresses presented. At the close, seven of the girls standing, mostly party styles, were again modified for their selection.

The "in the park" styles, modelled showed a teen-age couple, the girl in bright floral print blouse with navy slacks, and the boy in black slacks and plaid blouse; a basketball team was next in navy blue play uniforms with white blouses; others in shorts and red blouses, and red blouses with brown checked slacks; a female child in pretty uniforms made in the school's sewing room. These were the forerunners of the 150 uniforms to be completed.

The "pop stop-over" tea merriment as he stepped from behind his soft drink stand attired in white shirt and green B-Q ensemble, which consisted of a split skirt apron gathered around the ankles with a ruffle effect greatly resembling pantaloons, such in vogue in grandmother's day!

TEEN-AGE SALON

The dresses shown at the teen-age salon were in styling style with removable overskirts of nylon tulle or net, worn over pretty satin or taffeta gowns of blue, green and pink, thus making a two-purposed gown. Another dress was of white eyelet and others of salmon ruffled net. A floral print, the Piper of Hamelin," which was preceded with finesse and precision under the direction of Mr. Alec Gordon at the piano, and the "Fashion Show," modelled by the girls of the senior sewing room in charge of Mrs. M. Another dress was of white eyelet and others of salmon ruffled net. A floral print, the same; an old-fashioned print with puffed sleeves, and pink satin cummerbund was most attractive; a party dress was fashioned of green satin with bodice and bouffant white tulle skirt over a white underskirt, matching pale green 'satin ribbons from waist to near hemline; a grey two-piece ensemble was also distinctive with straight skirt and the pink blouse with back harem panel was quite 'chic'

All the dresses modelled were made and worn by those who had fashioned them, done in the sewing room of the school.

YEAR'S WORK DISPLAY

In the girls' gymnasium a splendid display of the year's work was on view, much yet better than the former year. This time in the Metal Work and Horticulture display, under the direction of Mr. J. W. Hodgson, there were several new exhibits: a pig nursery, in red, made from strong steel or wrought iron material, consisting of a place where the mother pig entered and fed, down to the piglets to curse, without being able to roll over and smother them. The stall was large enough for the piglets to get out and in.

This outstanding display in this section was a wrought-iron ornamental fence with step handrails, truly a work of art. There were also magazine racks, coffee tables, lovely size mitzum trays, aluminum bookends made with jeweller's saw depicting animals, one teaching the sya was of a dog trying to reach a butterfly-tailed, hanger-backed fire-spitting cat on the roof; vases for flower, copper roasters each with its own individual decoration, portable smoked trays in various designs, useful for sort drinks or fruit, and wall brackets. A fine array of gardening tools was included, wrenches, plumb-bob, sample of threading, nut crackers, and others. A farm trailer, made by a Burlington lad, was sturdy and work-worthy.

WOODWORKING

In the woodworking, under Mr. F. H. Vaughan, his "Waterfall" design was eminent in the chest of drawers; plywood cabinet and basswood desk; a "gossip bench," china cabinet and linseed-oak buffet were fine examples of careful workmanship.

The industrial art comprised fern stands; bookracks; wall bracets; bird boxes; garden furniture, coffee tables and desks. Those were constructed under the direction of Mr. A. C. Burton.

A few samples of printing were shown, programs; calendars and hand compositions. Mr. L. E. Morrison was the teacher.

In the home economics department, directed by Miss K. R. Daly, there were posters depicting, "Feed Your Children", showing the value of orange juices, nourishing lunches, fruits and vegetables and cottage cheese in the menu. The regular books were neatly compiled with fine penmanship and colored pictures.

ART SECTION

The art section showed some pretty maple leaves with sparkles, pictures of maple syrup making; and finger printing, designs in oil of food stuffs; leather work, plastic jewellery; masks; woven paper baskets; puppets; dancing dog; and picture showing from the seed to the full grown plant.

Guides and Brownies also has a nice badge display, flags, log book, while the Cubs showed various knots, reef, sheet band; clove hitch, bowline; as well as peasants. The Hobby Club had Christmas cards, fabric painting; paper beads; aluminum trays; tea cloths and jewellery.

The academic work comprised penmanship; social studies; language and carpetering mathematical readings and literature, maps and country descriptions. All well done, and exceptionally nicely displayed.

NEEDLE CRAFT.

The needle craft was outstanding showing plain sewing, embroidery, smocking, aprons in red and blue and white check with smocked waistbands; knitted sweaters; one perfectly made without an error or loose end on the wrong side; weaving placed quilt in duck pattern; pillow slips, dresses, middies and smocks and some cushion tops, showing the individual and original touch and a beautiful white christening gown.

Previous to the afternoon entertainment, Mr. Ramezza extended a cordial welcome to the many guests who packed the auditorium, and especially to the parents, some from Ottawa and to the Reverend Robert Rumball, pasto- of the Evangelical Church of the Deaf, Wellesley Street, Toronto, who, in deaf language, interpreted the superintendent's address to the deaf adults.

Thanks were also extended to Mr. Gordon for his assistance, to all who had assisted in the open house presentation.

Tea was served.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

CHILDREN IN THE RECEIVING-LINE?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When there are children in the wedding party, do they stand in the receiving-line at the reception? — S. R.

Usually they do not stand in the receiving-line . . . and this seems more appropriate.

IF SHE ATTENDS THIS SHOWER, SHE MUST TAKE A GIFT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle this discussion. I have been invited to a second shower to be given for the same girl. I attended the first shower, and gave her a gift. Is it necessary for me to take along another gift to this second shower? — S.

If you accept the invitation to this second shower and attend the shower, it is definitely a "must" that you take a gift to the bride-to-be. I warn you that you would feel very awkward, out-of-place if you arrived at the shower empty-handed. However, if you don't want to give the bride-to-be another shower present . . . and showers are certainly becoming quite a financial problem nowadays! . . . send a note to the shower-hostess telling her you won't be able to attend the shower. Then you needn't send a gift.

HOW HOST GIVES THE ORDER IN RESTAURANT

Mrs. Beeckman:

When a man and his date are dining together in a restaurant, can he is giving their two orders to the waiter, how does he refer to his date as he gives the order? She has very much puzzled me. — Eob.

When giving his date's order to the waiter (and, incidentally, he should mention her order before he mentions his own), he says "the lady." For example: "First, a fruit cocktail for the lady — and I'd like a shrimp cocktail."

FRIDE'S MOTHER DOESN'T WANT TO WEAR A CORSAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My mother has never liked to wear flowers — as a matter of fact, I agree with her that a corsage is most unbecoming to her type and style, and I'm sure she would be most unhappy if my groom and I ordered a corsage for her when we ordered a corsage for his mother. What to do, Mrs. Beeckman?

— Bride-to-be

Why not ask her if she would like to have one small orchid (not white or purple), or a short spray of tiny yellow or brown or green orchids to pin on her purse? This is sometimes the plan when a woman doesn't like to wear flowers. Or perhaps your mother would like to follow the idea of the bride's mother at a beautiful wedding I attended recently . . . in a handsome and distinguished way she carried a small white Bible (actually, it was the one she had carried as a bride).

PLANS FOR SECOND MARRIAGE IN GOOD TASTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. A friend of mine, a divorcee, and a widower are to be married soon; they are both in their early forties. She can be married in church, and so they would like to have a small church wedding with the members of both families and a few relatives present. Following the ceremony, there will be a reception in the Church Social Rooms for all the wedding guests. Do you approve of these plans?

2. What would be the proper procedure for sending the wedding invitations?

3. The bride would like to carry a Bible with a flower on it, instead of carrying or wearing flowers. Would this be proper?

— Reader

1. Since the bride-to-be has authoritative permission to be married in church, she and her prospective bridegroom are making excellent plans to have this small church wedding, with members of the families and some close relatives present. And I hope they will be able to invite some intimate friends who will want to be with them on this important occasion. These plans are proper, show good taste, and will m sure, make for a charming and memorable wedding. They a good and friendly plan is to have the reception in the Church Social Rooms, following the ceremony.

2. Under the circumstances, and for such a small, informal wedding, it is entirely proper for the bride-to-be to invite the guests verbally, or by telephone, or by handwritten notes. Then if the couple wish, they may send formal announcements of their marriage, these announcements to be issued in their own names.

2. Yes.

Commuter Special

By VERA WINSTON

Adding up to a grand commuter number is this brown and white checked cotton twosome. The unlined jacket is smartened up with brown binding and buttons. The skirt is slim. With the suit there is a sleeveless brown linen blouse. The suit fabric is crease-resistant, for an extra bonus.

Trinity Church Family Makes Farewell Gifts

MADOC — On Wednesday evening representatives from all the organizations of Trinity United Church gathered in the church to tender a farwell party to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Howse and family, and also Miss Josephine Smith.

Rev. W. Milley was master of ceremonies.

The program opened with Community singing led by Mr. Ivor Hughes, followed by a piano solo by Doug Duffin. The next number entitled "This Is Your Life," depicted, in lighter vein, incidents past and present, from the life of the guest of honor. Those taking part included: Mrs. Doug Figden, Mrs. Harold Pigden, Mrs. Archie Adams, Mrs. Vea Embury, Mrs. H. Stickwood, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fleming, Mr. Doug McGowan and Mrs. J. McGowan.

Surprise guests on this part of the program were: Mr. and Mrs. H. Vesser and Henne, of Picton, former neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Howse.

Walter-Kincaid favored with a piano solo, which was followed by a vocal solo by his grandfather, that veteran entertainer, Mr. Archie Kincaid.

A group of vocal selections by Miss J. Smith included "Tura Lura-Lura," and "The Bwid Jigging Ground." A humorous reading by Mr. Ross Fleming concluded this part of the program.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Ivor Hughes, on behalf of the choir, presented suitable gifts to Miss Smith, Mrs. Howse, Jim and Rupert Howse.

Miss Smith was also presented with a wool blanket on behalf of the church.

Mr. Gregor Murray, in an appropriate address presented Mr. and Mrs. Howse and family with a pair of table lamps for which Mr. Howse made a fitting reply on behalf of the family.

Refreshments and a social hour concluded the evening.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

Editor's Note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mr. N. P. — I need her in the business.

Edna P. — What would it do for me?

Mr. N. P. — I am having a serious problem with my only daughter, Edna, who is 23.

I have always wanted her to come into my business. It is a successful business and once she really understands it she will have a good living out of it without working too hard. Her fiance is interested in it and would help out, although he is already successful in a different career.

I wouldn't mind if Edna said she just doesn't want to work, she wants to be a housewife. But it happens that she works very hard in a job that doesn't pay her as much as the business would. She takes this job very seriously although there is no future in it.

Recently I had a heart attack and I must take things easier now. It would solve so many problems if Edna would be reasonable.

Edna P. — Yes, it would solve many of Dad's problems if I would only "be reasonable" — but what would it do for me?

Dad always talks of the easy living I could have from the business, but every time I have tried to work for him he drives me harder than any outside employer ever did. He gives no consideration to hours, holidays or things like that. He has always driven himself like that.

Also, Dad has the most old-fashioned ideas about business practices. He has superstitions that are strictly out of the Middle Ages? I know of at least ten different things he can do right now that would allow him to take things easier and would actually boost business, but he won't even listen to me.

Now that I'm about to be married he suddenly insists all this on me.

The Council: Edna, like many other young people, appears willing to accept the position of beginner in the employ of a stranger, but when it comes to Dad's business, she'd like to start on the policy-making level.

It is natural and human, perhaps, but it does complicate matters, for parent and child. It might make things a bit easier if both would recognize that the young person just beginning life as an adult is terribly anxious to prove himself. Having just emerged from a position of dependence upon the parent, he is uncertain of his own wings. Any parental criticism at this stage is likely to be interpreted as a statement that he will never make the grade.

It is, therefore, a good idea for that young person to get away from the teaching-scolding parent for a while. It is quite a chance to test those wings, he will gain a little confidence and possibly be able to return to the parent's business in a better frame of mind.

In Edna's case, things seem to be complicated by the fact that she is also short to start life in her womanly role. With marriage just ahead, it is possible that she resents the fact that her father appears to expect her to take the place usually reserved for a son. At the same time, her sharp criticism of her father's tactics methods suggests that she has long sought this role. Perhaps this further certain loss of her femininity if she takes on these responsibilities.

In this case, it might help if Mr. N. P. agreed to ease Edna into the business by employing her as he would an outsider. He should respect her hours and holidays — but she must remember that she is just an employee, not the boss.

Educational Advance Topic W.I. Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Canafton-Corbyville W.I. was held in the township hall at Canifton, on the evening of June 8th.

The president, Mrs. D. Windsor, was in the chair and opened the meeting.

There was a lengthy business session at which time it was decided a $5 donation be sent the Salvation Army; $5 to be paid Mr. A. Palmer for caretaking service; 100 souvenir spoons be purchased for resale; the secretary is to write the National Institute for the Blind re fall canvass. Profit of Cherry Blossom Tea, $256.34 is to be divided $100 to General fund, and $156.34 to Community fund.

When the W.M.S. receives the government grant of $13 it plans to purchase the book, "Life in the Clearing", to be donated to the local school and $5 the balance to be sent as a donation to the school for Retarded Children.

Mr. G. Boyce, of Belleville, president of the Hastings County Historical Society was a guest speaker. It was unfortunate such a small crowd was present to enjoy this young talented speaker on this interesting subject, "Historical Research".

Mr Boyce mainly spoke on the great progress made in education over the past 100 years, notably during the latter ten years, which all have witnessed in this district.

The speaker displayed a copy of the "Intelligencer" of 1830. Various pictures of early Belleville and a number of the first text books used in the schools. Any interested person may become a member of this organization for the fee of $1 per year.

Mrs. G. Shorey thanked Mr. Boyce and presented him with a gift of appreciation.

Refreshments were served by those in charge.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

WALLBRIDGE W.M.S.

The June meeting was held on the 3rd at the hall, with a fair attendance. The theme was "The Fellowship". The call to worship was read by Mrs. M. Phillips, after which the "Prayer of Approach" was reviewed. The scripture, Ephesians 2:11-22 and Acts 10:1-20, 22, 24; 30-44 was read by Mrs. E. Nicolson the comment by Mrs. F. Ellerd.

The fret saw and blades previously agreed upon to purchase, has been bought from the birthday box funds. It is to be sent, along with donations of articles from other groups to a foreign mission, to help in their work there.

Mrs. Neita Ketcheson gave her report on the treasury. Two W.M.S. envelopes were handed in.

A Christian stewardship reading was given by Mrs. H. Garrison.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD

The June meeting of St. Andrew's Guild of Wellington met at the home of Mrs. Colin Lane. Mr. Rogers opened the meeting with prayer.

A discussion followed regarding the catering to a wedding in the fall. Thank-you cards were read from the sick. It was decided that a bridge and sale of home cooking and a tea to be held in the town hall on June 17th. Make your bridge reservations with Mrs. W. Devern, phone 68, before June 15. The bridge will start at 2.30 p.m.; tea at 5 p.m.

For the months of July and August, latest money will be collected.

Mr. Rogers closed with prayer and Mrs. Lane served delicious refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Herrington.

Strawberry Season— Short But Oh So Sweet

by Mary Moore

From the Continent comes a slightly different glazed strawberry pie than the one we know and love so well. The crust is biscuit-y and the filling calls for a little lemon juice.

minutes. Add remaining strawberries and stew until tender. Make a puree by rubbing the mixture through a sieve. Mix the cornstarch smoothly with a little cold water (about 2 tablespoons) and stir into the strawberry puree. Cook over medium heat until thick and clear, stirring constantly. Pile the whole strawberries into the pie, pour the hot glaze over evenly and allow to cool. Decorate with swirls of whipped cream before serving.

STRAWBERRY MERINGUES

To Make Meringues: 3-4 cup egg whites, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Put all ingredients in large bowl and beat 30 minutes or until extremely stiff. Spoon in neat shapes onto slightly greased cookie sheet, allowing 2" between meringues. Bake until a very light crust has formed on the outside. These meringues will be white in color and very delicate and require about 1 1-2 hours at 225 deg. Fahr. Let cool slightly before removing from pan. Makes 12 medium-sized meringues. When cold fill centres with ice cream and cover generously with sliced sweetened strawberries.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

Spiced Pork Hocks with Sauerkraut or Cabbage (see Tuesday); Mustard Relish; Hot Homemade Tea Biscuits; Tomato Aspic on Lettuce with Cottage Cheese; Chilled Coffee Custard; Tea.

SUNDAY

Citrus Fruit Cup; Baked Stuffed Pork Tenderloins (see Wednesday); Spiced Crabapples; Cauliflower with Cheese Sauce; Oven French fries or Parsnip Croquettes; Strawberry Meringues (see Thursday); Coffee.

Meringues filled with ice cream originally were a French creation but have become well known here. How many of you try them? — especially topped with sweetened sliced fresh strawberries? A color photographer's delight — to say nothing of the expectant diner.

STRAWBERRY PARTY PIE

Biscuit Crust: 1 cup sifted flour, 1-3 cup sifted cornstarch, 6 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg yolk, water (about 2 or 3 tablespoons).

Sift flour and cornstarch together and then rub in the butter until crumbly. Add sugar and mix to a firmish dough with egg yolk and water. Roll then line a flan ring or layer cake tin with the pastry, pressing it well into the tin. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. until the pastry has set, then reduce the heat to 350 deg. Fahr. and bake until barely tinged with gold.

Strawberry filling: 1¼ quarts strawberries, 1 1-4 cups water, 3-4 cup sugar, juice of 1-2 a lemon, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, whipped cream.

Reserve approximately 3-4

Foam Rubber Articles Shown At W.I. Meeting

The June meeting of the Stirling Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. D. Montgomery on Wednesday afternoon with a splendid attendance of members and visitors.

The president, Mrs. B. Reid, opened the meeting.

The reading of the bills and correspondence followed and the treasurer, Mrs. W. C. West, gave the financial report which was encouraging. The final details of the pleasure trip was completed with the W.I. treating its members to a holiday.

Birthdays were in order for June with Mrs. M. Ayerhart, and Mrs. Luella Bronson, sharing with the birthday box.

The hostess carried out the duties of chairlady for the program, introducing Mrs. Jay Gee of Thurlow, who, in turn, demonstrated the various articles that can be made from foam rubber. A display was shown, which was indeed lovely from the plainest article to the most elaborate and all skillfully made.

Several articles was purchased by the members.

The speaker firmly believes everyone, young or old should have a hobby, idle hands and idle minds brings no one contentment. Members were requested to bring needle and thread. Material was passed around to them. Mrs. Clare demonstrated, how to make earrings from these sponge pieces the ladies were pleased with their efforts.

Mr. Clare was presented with a gift from the hostess for her kindness in coming and helping so greatly with the afternoons program.

Stirling Women's Institute delegate to the conference in Guelph was Mrs. Williams who brought back to the members a vivid picture of the activities of this conference. Mrs. Williams said she was so delighted with the friendliness of everyone instead of feeling you were a stranger, it proved a family group. All there with one idea in mind, for the betterment of the Women's Institutes of the world and returning to their own branch with an educational report of good things to be practised in their own community.

Mrs. Williams passed around pictures of interest as well.

Mrs. Earl Luery voiced appreciation to Mrs. Williams for this splendid report.

A spelling match was put on by Mrs. West with Mrs. Ayerhart winning the sweets.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the social chit chat was enjoyed during lunch.

On behalf of the members a vote of thanks was extended to the hostess speakers and all who took part in making this an outstanding meeting, by Mrs. Morley Ayerhart.

Mrs B. Reid will be hostess for the July meeting.

Mrs. Watson Gives Speech At W.A. Meet

WELLINGTON — The W.A. of St. Andrew's Anglican Church held a pot-luck supper in the town hall last Tuesday evening, prior to their regular meeting.

Guests were Rev. and Mrs. Page, and Mrs. Watson, the Prince Edward County Deanery President of Belleville.

Immediately after the supper, the regular meeting followed, with the president, Mrs. Godfrey Upton, in the chair.

The opening hymn, "This Is My Father's World," was followed by the Lord's Prayer, and special prayers for the prayer partner, and also the Members' Prayer. Mrs. Tripp read the Scripture from St. Luke, Chapter 16.

Mrs. Tripp, leader of the G.A., pretty pleased her girls won first prize at the Festival in competitive work. Mrs. Blower, leader of the J.A., told of the work being done by her group and their plans for the future.

The corresponding secretary read a "thank-you" note from Mrs. Hurdy. She was asked to send cards to Mrs. Charles Bailey, Mrs. George Guernsey and Mrs. Tritton.

Plans were made for a food sale on June 27th at 3 p.m., on Mrs. Davern's lawn.

At the September meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Lavender, members will be asked to contribute one cent per inch of their waistline, in order to augment the funds.

The highlight of the meeting was the address by Mrs. Watson who, from her rich experience, told many interesting stories, which all appreciated.

She was thanked by Mrs. Upton and Mrs. Pritchard.

Mrs. Page also brought a message of good cheer.

The meeting closed with prayer and the singing of the hymn, "The Love of Christ Constraineth." Mrs. Dayton Murphy was the pianist.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

JOHNSTOWN W.A. MEETS

JOHNSTOWN — The Women's Association of Johnstown Church hheld its June meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp on Thursday afternoon with a large attendance.

Mrs. C. J. Brunt welcomed the visitors and members, opening the service with the theme song and prayer. A donation was made to the Retarded Infants' Home. Plans were concluded for the tea and sale sponsored by Johnstown W.A. on June 11th at Glen Miller club house.

There will be no church or Sunday School through the month of July at Johnstown Church as Rev. G. A. Puttenham will be taking his holidays then.

Mrs. Arden Gilchrist and Mrs. A. Meyers were in charge of the devotional. This was opened with a short poem, "In Thine Own Heart," by Mrs. Meyers, followed by prayer. The lesson was found in St. Mark 8:31-42, with the theme being "Rest." Mrs. Gilchrist read "On Earth As It Is In Heaven," followed by a short prayer.

A reading called "The Observer" by Mrs. Meyers told of men tiring themselves in pursuit of rest. "A psychiatrist who treats several hundred patients yearly says, 'All of my colleagues agree with me that the greatest loss in the past fifty years is the abolition of the old rocking chair. The first question I ask them is if they have a rocking chair? None has ever said yes, yet.'

"His belief is that when grandmother sat down in the old rocker, for her afternoon knitting or her evening reading, she rocked away many of the tensions and troubles that bother us today. Perhaps it would be a wonderful thing if, as in Italy or Spain, we brought back the siesta period after the mid-day meal. You would accumulate no $30,000 home and a cabin at the lake, but neither would you be as likely to drop dead from a heart attack or wind up in a nervous collapse at forty," she stated.

The history of Johnstown Church was given by Mrs. Meyers. Mrs. Earl Sickle read "Problems," and Mrs. Grant, "Flowers." Mrs. Brunt gave a fine report of the W.A. Convention held at Belleville on Thursday.

The meeting closed with the benediction. A social half hour was enjoyed.

11-Woman Expedition Will Attempt Assault on Peak

By RUKMINI DEVI
Canadian Press Correspondent

BOMBAY (CP)—An all-women mountaineering team has begun operations for an assault on Nyc Mountain, a grim 26,750-foot peak in the Himalayas which thus far has defied conquest by the most hardened of mountaineers.

The 11-woman expedition will consist of three French women, three British, three Indians, one Swiss and one Belgian. The leader is Mrs. Claude Kogan, France's world-famous mountain-climber.

The three Britons are Miss Margaret Darvall, principal of a secretarial training college at Hampstead, London, Mrs. Eileen Hamstead, London, Mrs. Eileen Wesley and Mrs. Dorothea Gravina. Mrs. Wesley participated in a Himalayan expedition two years ago, when she gained much valuable experience in the higher regions of the Himalayan ranges.

The Indian trio is made up of two of Everest conqueror Tenzing Norkay's daughters and a niece. Miss Pem Pem and Miss Nimi Norkay as well as the niece, Miss Nima, have been permitted by their father and uncle to join the expedition on what will be their first major assignment in the Himalayas.

TRAINED BY TENZING

The three girls have been receiving training in mountain-scaling from Tenzing, known as the tiger of the Himalayas, who is currently heading a mountaineering school near Darjeeling. Pem Pem and Nima already have done some mountaineering with their father in Italy, France and Switzerland.

Miss Darvall says the purpose of the expedition is solely "for the fun of the thing."

But the Tenzing girls appear to have taken it much more seriously. Pem Pem is quoted as saying: "Father is very anxious that we should set foot on the peak. He is certain to be disappointed if the attempt ends in failure."

The expedition is scheduled to start from Katmandu, the capital of the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal, later this summer.

Mrs. Tenzing attributes at least part of the success of her husband in climbing Mount Everest in 1953 with New Zealand's Sir Edmund Hillary to her "constant prayers to the great gods who reside on the Himalayan peaks." She has asked her daughters and Miss Dorje to participate in special prayers for their expedition.

WEIGHT IS PROBLEM

One of the problems facing the all-woman expedition will be the weight of the equipment each member must carry. Since the women could not carry as much as do male climbers, they are considering dispensing with oxygen equipment.

The base camp will be set up at an altitude of 18,000 feet and the initial attempt on the peak is expected in early fall. The European members of the team are scheduled to be back at their jobs in December.

There is a suggestion the expedition take with them at least two three-Sherpa women as porters—to symbolize the femininity of the assault.

DROPPED RING

DEREHAM, England (CP)—An engagement ring found in a milk bottle recently in the dairy in this Norfolk town, was handed back to the owner the same day.

Women Pass On Potatoes At Banquet

ST. ANDREWS, N.B. (CP)—The ladies didn't eat their potatoes and the ambassador was surprised.

The ambassador was Russia's Dr. Amazasp Aroulunian, a head-table guest at Tuesday night's annual dinner of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

He turned to F. D. Mathers of Vancouver, the CMA's second vice-president, sitting beside him, and said:

"The ladies are all slender but none of them are eating potatoes. Why is that?"

Mr. Mathers didn't know either so he wrote down the ambassador's comments and sent them to the ladies, sitting at a table for the wives of head-table guests.

The ladies passed it around among themselves, chatted about it, wrote a "Thank you" note to the ambassador, saying they had been to a tea and ate cakes and chocolates. So they had decided to forego potatoes — just to make sure.

"You should give that to your wife," Mr. Mathers said to the ambassador.

The ambassador replied, "I shall."

Trinity WMS Enjoys Slides Of Europe

MADOC — Trinity United Church Women's Missionary Society held its June meeting on Friday evening and had as its guests the members of the various W.M.S. and W.A. of the neighboring societies. The resident, Mrs. A. Empey, extended greetings to the visitors and read an appropriate poem on the work of the organizations.

The Hazard's W.M.S. conducted the worship service with Mrs. D. McCoy and Miss Moorcroft taking part.

Three young ladies of Cooper W.M.S. contributed a trio.

The highlight of the program was Miss Joyce Fleming who showed her many colored slides described vividly and beautifully scenes of the cities and towns and countries she passed through.

Words of appreciation were extended to her by Mrs. P. E. Nayler. A very pleasant social time followed.

Miss Fleming is teaching in Toronto at present and spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fleming.

Young-Looking Grandma Heads Real Estate Firm

By DUNCAN HOLMES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WEST VANCOUVER, (CP)—Mrs. Muriel May was 15 when she matriculated at King Edward high school in Vancouver, ending her formal education.

Today she is sole agent for one of Canada's most beautiful and most exclusive housing developments—British Properties, that will spread some day over 5,000 acres of this municipality's mountains.

A handsome, young - looking grandmother who retains her unmarried name in business, Miss May began working in the real estate field in 1947. She landed in the business with a bounce. Working as a stenographer in a downtown office, she was offered a job with a city real estate firm as a saleswoman on commission.

"I spoke to my mother," she recalls, "and borrowed $1,000. With that I bought a 1930 car—the best-looking on the street—and someone taught me to drive."

FAST RESULTS

Within a month she had repaid the debt to her mother and since then, she says with a smile, "I haven't made less than $1,000 a month."

Muriel May has two offices, one on the 10th floor of a city building and the other at the entrance to the Properties. In the morning she works in the city, and by 2 p.m. each day is at her sales office—by herself. She had a secretary once, but found she could work better alone.

She lives in a city apartment, choosing not to live in the real estate development because that's too close to her job.

The firm Miss May represents has property assets valued at nearly $20,000,000. The land was purchased early in the century by the Irish brewing family, the Guinnesses.

SCENIC AREA

The "Properties" climb to the 1,250-foot level on the slopes of Mount Hollyburn. Most of the houses face southwest with a view of the Lion's Gate bridge and the harbor entrance, and on clear days a glimpse of Vancouver Island across the strait.

Lots sell from $3,900 to $7,900 in the area Miss May manages. One house was built there for a reported $225,000. The restrictions state that houses must be between 1,300 and 1,500 square feet "exclusive of garage or carport, open entries and patios."

A career woman like Miss May has a philosophy, as a saleswoman and citizen.

She believes men will go out of their way to help a woman so she has no fears competing in what is normally a man's game.

"You must have personality and a good heart," she says.

"Other things can be taught."

Miss May, a brunette who wears her hair in a bun, smiles constantly as she talks.

"It's not work for me," she said. "I don't know how much longer I'll be selling."

She wears up - to - the - minute clothes and drives a big car. "I like watching fast sport, like hockey, baseball or soccer. Football is a dull, slow game," And, she said, she likes dancing.

SUPER SELLER — Muriel May, a real estate agent for 12 years, now is sole agent for British Properties, a $20,000,000 housing development in West Vancouver. The development, described as beautiful, luxurious and exclusive, will eventually cover 5,000 acres. Here Miss May — she's a grandmother but uses her unmarried name in business — is shown in front of a sign showing some of the development's streets. (CP Photo.)

TAKE NO CHANCES

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP) A weekend trip to Paris for Portsmouth dockers drew 27 applications, but only 27 from men. An organizer said: "There are 2,000 men in the dockyard. I think the wives have stopped the men from going."

CASUAL VISITOR

PALMERSTON, N.Z. (CP)—A former near here saw a light aircraft plane land in one of his fields and out stepped a slim girl. She collected a basketful of mushrooms, got back into the plane and took off again without even waving goodbye.

Young Couples Feted by Community

On the evening of May 30, a number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bird, R.R. 3 Madoc, in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blackburn (nee Mavis Bird.)

A social evening, highlighted by a number of contests and riddles, was enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn were called to the seats of honor and presented with a step-up end table and two dresser lamps. An address on behalf of the Cooper and Remington friends was read by Miss Elizabeth Rollins, in which the young couple were wished many years of happy married life, and the bridegroom cordially welcomed into the community.

Don and Mavis expressed their thanks and appreciation for the lovely gifts and party and invited everyone to visit them in Cobourg. Everyone joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Refreshments were served which concluded a special occasion.

Last Saturday evening many friends and neighbors gathered at the Eldorado Orange Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blackburn, recent newlyweds.

An evening of dancing was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present.

Towards the close of the evening Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn were called to the platform and presenting with a hostess chair and step-up end table, identical to the table received at the previous party.

An address was read by Miss Carol Bailey, and signed by Allan Franks, Cyril Shaw, Mrs. Robert Hannah and Mrs. Alex Hamilton, in which the newlyweds were wished every happiness in their new home as recently established in Cobourg.

Don and Mavis expressed their thanks and appreciation for the lovely gifts and party and invited everyone to visit them in Cobourg.

This was followed by everyone singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Delicious refreshments were brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

HOT AND SUNNY

government—last year's controversy over gas stock purchases by three cabinet ministers and the deal in which Ontario Hydro bought former Indian lands near Sarnia for allegedly inflated prices.

He charged political profiteering occurred in both cases.

Mr. Winstenmeyer, who bought stock in the same gas firm on the invitation of one of the cabinet ministers, promised a royal commission would be named by the Liberals to investigate the situation.

Conservative spokesmen, citing the six byelections won by the party last year after the gas stock revelations, said they doubted whether either issue would have much effect on the voters. The Sarnia deal, they said, involved land which Hydro decided badly for power development and which it was not feasible to expropriate.

One indication of a good turnout was an increase in applications for ballots from Ontario servicemen stationed outside the province. About 8,000 of the 45,000 eligible servicemen applied, compared with 6,000 of the 40,000 eligible in 1955. The figure was 18 per cent, up from 15 per cent in 1955.

OPTIMISTIC

Mr. Winstenmeyer has been the most optimistic of the leaders. He says the Liberals will win at least 38 new seats to go with the 11 held by that party in the last legislature. That would put the Liberals in power.

The premier has called for increased support for his party to bolster "good government for Ontario." Conservative spokesmen say they expected to take five or six ridings from the Liberals.

Mr. MacDonald has declined to talk about the outcome. But the CCF is known to be looking for several new seats in Northern Ontario. There were three CCF members in the last legislature.

Campaigning ended Wednesday night, highlighted by the several leader's windup rally in St. Catharines. Mr. Frost and Mr. MacDonald spent the day in their home ridings.

Mr. Winstenmeyer told an audience of about 300 in the St. Catharines High School auditorium that he was confident of a Liberal victory. He outlined the party's program and criticized the government for its highway and education policies.

He went to St. Catharines after a motorcade through the Hamilton area ridings.

REPLY TO COLDWELL

Mr. Winstenmeyer objected to a statement earlier this week by M. J. Coldwell in which the national CCF leader criticized the Liberal leader for saying his party would use the same resources for its campaign funds as the Conservatives if it were in power.

"Denying he ever made such a remark, Mr. Winstenmeyer said Mr. Coldwell had apparently misinterpreted a comment of his made at Sudbury last week.

Mr. MacDonald spent the day visiting various sections of his urban riding of York South. He kept an afternoon dentist appointment—"the doctor couldn't find any cavities" — and attended a garden party and bazaar staged by a hospital auxiliary.

When a teacup reader offered to tell his fortune Mr. MacDonald politely declined, saying "I think I'll find out my future soon enough. It lies with the voters of York South riding."

VISITS FRIENDS

Premier Frost walked along the main streets of Lindsay dropping in on friends and stopping passersby for a brief chat. He went to Little Britain, 10 miles away, to open the village's annual school track and field day.

It was a sweltering day and Mr. Frost strolled about the village park in his shirtsleeves, pausing here and there to chat with groups of farmers and their families. Most of the conversation was about crops, the weather, local happenings and the ball game which was to follow the children's events.

On the way back to Lindsay he gave newspaper reporters the slip and visited several local industries. He shook hands with workers and spoke confidently about the election prospects.

port. There was "nothing to hide."

He was questioned at length by Mr. Chevrier and Mr. Pickersgill about references to him in an Exchequer Court judgment arising out of the expropriation. The judgment says John Pallett, chief government whip and MP for Peel, where Malton is located, has alleged by a land appraiser that he has given instructions that a generous a valuation as possible be placed on the lands.

The court also said Mr. Pallett maintained that Mr. Hees agreed to be named for the appraisal of J. E. S. Clare of Port Credit, appointed by Mr. Hees on Mr. Pallett's recomendation.

Mr. Hees denied making such an agreement with Mr. Pallett and also said he did not know that Mr. Clare was a political organizer for Mr. Pallett.

He said he agreed only to give fullest consideration to a so appraisal by Mr. Clare, whose recommendations for payment were rejected by both transport officials and the staff of treasury board, a cabinet committee which examines plans for expenditures.

Relieved Upset Stomach, Tired Rundown Condition

Like a different person since taking Syntona. Also relieved rheumatic pain, backache and headaches.

Many people suffering from faulty digestion, nervous, run-down conditions, backache or rheumatic pains say that for effective relief there's nothing like Syntona Herbal Compound. For example, Mrs. Mary Hodgman, 133 St. George Street, London, Ontario, said recently:

MRS. HODGMAN

"But Syntona has changed all this and it is wonderful how much better I feel. It relieved the rheumatic pains, and backache, and now I also feel well rested all the time afterwards. My nerves are calm, relaxed and I sleep soundly at night and I awaken refreshing rested and refreshed.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

RESULTS SURPRISED HER

"I was rundown and my nerves were all on edge. Often I couldn't get my proper sleep at night. Food that I ate upset my stomach giving me gas. I had backache and pains in the shoulders, tingling and numb nerves, my back and rheumatic pains and soreness in my head, joints and muscles. Many days I felt so tired and worried it seemed I'd have any ambition to do my work.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES WITH WOOD ROT

USE "PENTOX" PRIMER-SEALER WOOD PRESERVER before you paint!

You can make any exterior wood—doors, sashes, porches, fences, garden furniture, whatever—last 3 to 5 times longer with "Pentox", brushed on easily like ordinary sealers. "Pentox" preserves wood against moisture and rot with a synthetic resin and powerful wood preservative. Economical "Pentox" costs less than the prime coat of paint it saves. Meets C.S.A. spec.

DESERONTO

Meat, Grocery Merchants Want Closing By-Law

DESERONTO — As the result of a petition of the merchants of Deseronto the Council will pass a by-law at their next regular meeting calling for uniform closing of all those engaged in the sale of meat and groceries. This petition was presented at a recent meeting by Councillor Thrasin one of the local merchants.

The hours as outlined are to be from 8.30 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday with the closing at 6.00 p.m. On Wednesday the stores will close at 2.30 and on Saturday 9.00 p.m. It was brought to light that the previous by-law had been passed in 1943 with an amendment passed in 1953. The new by-law is to be prepared by the town solicitor and given the three readings at the next meeting. It was noted that seven out of the nine merchants affected signed the petition.

Another item that took some consideration was in regard to the taxation of house trailers parked on private property, previously there had been no provision for taxation of such quarters but as the result of a letter asking for permission to locate a trailer council referred the matter to the property committee who are to submit their recommendation at the next meeting.

Mr. D. Bruce of Oshawa asked permission to open another barbershop in the town and the clerk was instructed to advise Mr. Bruce o fhe business tax which must be paid.

WANTS CANCELLATION

The Department of National Defence asked for the cancellation of the agreement whereby the town was to furnish fire-fighting facilities at the Mohawk Airport. The Department have turned the Airport over to the Indian Council and have no further interest in the Airport.

The Water Resources Commission made a survey of supply, of Main water north of the town and, while their official report has not yet been received the Engineer advised that in their opinion the supply is limited.

A. H. Stubbs of the Board of Health submitted a complaint regarding the drainage from the septic tank at the Public School running into the open ditch on Maple Avenue. Council referred the matter to the Board of Health as it is a matter for them and the Board of Education.

The Library Board reported to Council on the condition of the floor and roof at the Library and advised that the repairs would cost over two thousand dollars. The Board felt the town should assume the cost of these repairs and advised that unless the repairs were made the library would have to be closed to the public.

The police committee reported on the condition of the stop signs on a number of streets and advised that the police could do nothing regarding the parking on Main St. until the street was properly marked and suitable signs erected. As a result the Streets and Police Committee are to have a joint meeting with power to act. Council were also advised of a considerable patch of poison ivy growing in the ditch on Dundas St. W. The weed inspector is to be advised to take action to have this eradicated.

Two members of the council were absent from this, meeting which should have been held on Monday night but was postponed because the mayor could not convene the necessary quorum.

HARASSED SALESMAN

HANOVER, Ont. (CP) — A car salesman in this town near Owen Sound gave a demonstration ride in a new model to the police chief. Two miles outside town the car stopped. The gasoline gauge showed full, but the gas tank was empty.

MARMORA

Marmora Couple Entertain on 60th Wedding

MARMORA— Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their home, 8th concession of Marmora Township, on Sunday, June 7, with their family and many others.

Mr. Davidson is 84 and Mrs. Davidson 81.

They attended divine service with their family, George Henry, William, John on the homestead, and Mrs. Henry Wilman Marty), all of the township, following which they enjoyed the anniversary turkey dinner with large anniversary wedding cake which was made by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Davidson.

The tablecloth was of Madeira lace from Scotland, a gift on their 50th anniversary and floral arrangements were by their daughter and other daughters-in-law.

The Reverend J. Maurice McLeod proposed a toast and Mr. Davidson responded with a suitable blessing. Twenty-six sat down to dinner, and were served by Mrs. Lloyd William, nee Nellie Davidson, a niece, and by a friend, Mrs. Leland Richardson.

Those present besides their children for the dinner, were: Mr Davidson's brother and sisters, Mr. Henry Davidson, of Marmora; Mrs. George Lee, Madoc; Mrs. Earl Rombough, Foxboro. Mrs. John Wilman, Madoc, and Mrs. Davidson's brothers and sisters, Mr. Joseph Lee and Mr. Ben Lee, of Madoc; Mrs. Fred Lee, Marmora; Mrs. Percy Bronson, Madoc; Mrs. Fred Ethier, Belleville, Mrs. Albert Bronson, Madoc, with their several spouses, and the Rev. J. McLeod, made up the dinner party.

TELEGRAMS RECEIVED

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Premier Leslie Frost, Senator While and many others.

Among those for afternoon tea were ,Senator and Mrs. George S. White, Madoc; Mr. Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., and Mrs. Sandercock, Belleville.

Around 200 signed the guest book during the afternoon and evening. Miss Avis Turner, a great granddaughter, was in charge of this.

Mrs. John Davidson received the guests and Mesdames George and William Davidson escorted guests to the tea room where tea was poured by sisters of both bride and groom. The grandchildren served refreshments and anniversary cake.

The floral centrepieces were golden roses and Damask roses.

Among the several gifts was a purse of money from their children, also a purse of money from neighbors, and floral tributes, one from Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Davidson were married in the Methodist parsonage, Marmora, corner of Burnsall Street and No. 7 highway, by the Reverend Robert McCullough, in 1899.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Toronto, Oshawa, Peterborough, Belleville, Foxboro, Madoc, Stirling, and Marmora.

First Atomic Power Plant To Cost $30,000, 000, Nearly Double Original Estimate

CHALK RIVER, Ont., (CP)—Canada's first atomic power plant will cost about $30,000,000-nearly double an original estimate—but research and development work on the project will reduce considerably the cost of future nuclear stations.

The plant—an experimental station known by the code name NPD—is being built at Rolphton, Ont., near the Des Joachim generating station of the Hydro-Electric Power Comission of Ontario on the Ottawa River, it is 18 miles northwest of the crown-owned atomic establishment of Chalk River and some 150 miles northwest of Ottawa.

When plans for construction of NPD were announced in 1955 it was estimated the cost would be about $15,000,000. The new forecast of $30,000,000 takes into account redesign of the original plant and a large volume of research which will cut development costs of future plants.

NPD is being built jointly by Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, Ontario Hydro and Canadian General Electric CO. Ltd. The $30,000,000 includes $2,000,000 to be paid by the latter and the cost of the steam turbine and electric generators built by Ontario Hydro.

The plant will develop 20,000 kilowatts of electric power which will be fed into Ontario Hydro's distribution system in June, 1961. It will not produce power at a cost competitive with coal-burning electric plants but will provide the information needed to make future plants economic.

The final design of NPD now is about 85-per-cent complete. Most equipment for the nuclear reactor, which will produce steam for the turbines and electric generators, now is on order or being built by General Electric.

About one-third of the concrete foundation for the plant has been poured. Structural steel work will be under way next month and the building should be up by fall.

It is expected that construction and installation of equipment will be completed by the end of 1960. The following six months will be spent on special tests in preparation for the start up of the plant by mid-1961.

Canada is banking on NPD to prove that this country has taken the right approach in the development of large-scale atomic power plants capable of producing up to 200,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Such a plant now is being designed. It is expected to go into operation by about 1965 and will incorporate information gleaned from the operation of NPD.

This big plant—known by the code name CANDU—may be able to compete with coal - burning electric stations. To do so it must produce electricity at a cost of five to six mills a kilowatt hour.

The Canadian concept for large nuclear plants involves the use of natural uranium as a fuel. Heavy water will keep the plant cool, make the atomic fission process possible and carry off heat from the reactor to ordinary water.

The heavy water will leave the reactor at a temperature of about 230 degrees Fahrenheit—under pressure to keep it from boiling—and heat ordinary water until it turns to steam to drive generators.

Heavy water looks like ordinary water but has a different chemical composition. It costs $28 a pound at the moment. Canada's loss of heavy water valued at $4,480,000.

Atomic Energy of Canada says the big reactors being planned by Canada on the natural uranium-heavy-water concept are "expected to give cheaper power" than any other kind of reactor we might use for large power stations.

The company also is considering other types of reactors but they are of a small type suitable for small communities or remote Arctic areas.

"Chalk River has led the development of reactors moderated by heavy water and fuelled by natural uranium," says Dr. G.C. Laurence, director of the reactor research and development division of Atomic Energy of Canada.

"Here there is a greater fund of knowledge of their technology than anywhere in the world. But it would be wrong to say that we prefer these reactors because we know them best.

"We prefer them because we know of no other kind that can produce cheaper nuclear electric power in Canada."

Jury Chosen To Hear Story From Negro Girl

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—A jury of 12 white men has been chosen to hear today a Negro college girl's testimony of being forced away from her escort at gunpoint and raped by four white youths.

State attorney William D. Hopkins said he planned to get right into the major part of his case against the four, who would draw death sentences if convicted when out a recommendation of mercy.

NEWSPAPER WOMEN'S CONVENTION

Canadian Staff Writer

It coincides with a number of problems, large and small, besetting relationships within the Western alliance.

The West Germans are squabbling over Chancellor Adenauer's insistence on remaining in office. France is demanding possession of nuclear secrets. Selwyn Lloyd's future has been a subject of controversy and, more important of all, John Foster Dulles is dead. Even the Secretary of West Berlin has intervened at a crucial moment with a jolt that helped restore the West's sense of perspective. Fear of Soviet power is the old, reliable cement which has always had a magical effect on splits in the alliance.

In the face of the new threat to the occupancy of West Berlin the West can be reasonably expected to work out temporary compromises on all subsidiary issues and stiffen into the familiar and exhilarating posture of collective defiance.

SOVIET MOVE PUZZLING

There appears to be no obvious explanation for the Russian move to freshen the West into unity or to launch a gentler approach would have appeared to offer greater opportunities.

If there are urgent reasons why Nikita Khrushchev wants the Berlin problem settled in a hurry, they are not evident to the outside world. Up to now, the chief purpose of his manipulation of the Berlin issue appeared to be the anxiety to have a summit meeting. Gromyko's latest proposal for recruitment appears to have the reverse effect.

Unless Khrushchev is impelled by internal troubles unknown to the West, it would appear that he is simply following the established Russian diplomatic pattern.

If the form holds true, Western statesmen can look forward to a few welcomed days, weeks or months of relief from their troubles with one another until the pendulum swings back.

Seaway's Advantage Sharply Reduced by Tolls Is Claim

TORONTO (CP)—St. Lawrence Seaway tolls have sharply reduced the seaway's advantage over other transportation media as a route to the interior of the U.S., the Engineering Institute of Canada was told Wednesday.

Dr. Huet Massue of Montreal, general manager of the Lower St. Lawrence and Gulf Development Association, said that under present tolls the seaway's advantage "is so slight it could be removed by stiffer railway competition.

Dr. Massue was speaking in a panel discussion on economic prospects of the seaway, which highlighted the closing sessions of the EIC's 72nd annual meeting.

The recent announcement by the Association of Eastern Railroads in the U.S. of reduced rates for certain comodities is an indication of the threat to the industry, he said.

But Dr. Massue added that he expected tolls would be adjusted to allow for maximu utilization of the seaway.

Another panelist, Donald J. Forgie of St. Catharines, said the Welland Canal toll levied on each fell ch the consumer and taxpayer in the form of increased transportation costs. Mr. Forgie is economist for the Ontario Paper Company.

He said the canal's toll policy is "discriminatory against Ontario industries, seriously affecting the shipping pattern and regarding the growth of established industries."

Squeezes Heart For 146 Minutes To Save Brother

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — For two hours and 26 minutes human hands squeezed and released the failing heart of a Miami dentist and kept him alive until he could rally.

Quick action by the brother of Dr. Raymond J. Smith, 45, was credited today by medical authorities with saving his life in what is believed as one of the most remarkable cases of its kind on record.

Smith should recover and may return to his practice, said Dr. Robert S. Litwak, chief of thoracic surgery at the university of Miami medical center at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The incident occurred Saturday but was not made public until Wednesday night. Hospital attendants said this is what happened:

HAD CHEST PAINS

Smith returned home from water skiing and complained of chest pains. His wife called in Dr. Donald W. Smith, a surgeon and older brother, who took him to hospital in an ambulance.

The stricken dentist was placed on a hospital room while a doctor rode out an order for his admittance. Dr. Donald Smith started outside the door.

Litwak said Dr. Raymond Smith suffered "a very severe stroke." The heart specialist was summoned from his office while the brother ran to get a scalpel.

The surgeon quickly opened his brother's chest cavity and began massaging the heart. Litwak and others joined him, and they worked for what they said seemed an eternity before the heart showed a faint pulse. Finally, the heart began to beat rhythmically and the dentist breathed again.

FEW COMPLICATIONS

"There were some complications," Litwak said. "Due to the low blood pressure the kidneys did not respond perfectly, but he has shown definite improvement."

Litwak said the case probably will go down in medical history as the longest time on record for keeping a heart pumping by hand massage.

The hospital said the stricken dentist still is on the "critical" list.

Fell Into Hole

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Keith Fitzsimmons, 14, was drowned Wednesday night when he fell into an underwater hole while walking in four feet of water in Lake George, 15 miles east of here.

Police said he and two friends had been wading 200 feet off a crowded beach when all three suddenly dropped into 20 feet of water. The other boys were able to swim to shore.

Uranium Miners Claim Collusion In Certification

OTTAWA (CP)—A charge of collusion—employer collusion in a tangled fight for control of labor in uranium diggings has been made by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Wednesday.

It is denied by the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and Northgan Uranium Mines Limited, which operates in Ontario's Elliot Lake district.

Hervey Murphy, mine - mill vice-president, made the allegation at a hearing Wednesday before the Canada labor relations board, which is adjudicating on certification rights for about 1,900 Northgan employees.

The board reserved decision in a three-way application for certification.

Mine-mill wants to be designated as bargaining agent for a unit of 1,921 men, claiming a majority of them as members.

The Steelworkers also made application on the ground that it took over a charter held by a local of the Canadian Labor Congress. Alternatively, it wants certification by the board in order to re-certification is necessary. It also claims a majority.

Not to be outdone, the fight between the two big unions, the International Union of Operating Engineers (CLC) seeks certification for 18 hoist operators. This is opposed by the company and the two other unions.

The case is one more episode in a fight between steel and mine-mill, stretching over several years, for supremacy in Elliot Lake uranium field. Steel has won most of the rounds at Elliot Lake against the left-wing opponent.

In an earlier scrap over this issue, neither the company nor steel were able to qualify for certification. The CLC organized a local and got certification.

Brother, Sister Drown in Creek

OAKVILLE (CP)—Diane Bailey, 10, and her brother William, 5, were drowned Wednesday when they swimming in Sheridan Mile Creek at Drumquin, five miles north of the town midway between Hamilton and Toronto.

Trafalgar Township police said the two had been wading in the creek when one stepped into a hole. It is believed one child tried to rescue the other.

Got in Difficulty

WILCOX LAKE (CP) — Barbara Anderson, 12, was drowned Wednesday night while swimming in Wilcox Lake near this community about 20 miles north of Toronto. Police said she was only able to do the dog-paddle stroke and apparently got into difficulty in water too deep for her.

EXECUTIVES MEET

TORONTO (CP)—Ninety electrical industry executives met Wednesday to form the Electrical Heating Association of Ontario, first of its kind in Canada. Object of the new body is to improve industry standards of workmanship, design and operation.

Most Take 'Brand New Look' In Promoting Tourist Trade Hamilton Tells Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton says the federal government and the provinces must take a "brand new look" at the things they are doing to help promote Canada's tourist industry.

He told the Comons mines committee Wednesday that many government officials now believe it isn't enough merely to conduct an advertising campaign to attract American visitors and to urge Canadians to travel in Canada.

Governments would have to go beyond that and see if they could assist the tourist industry in establishing "plant" to accommodate tourists.

Mr. Hamilton was replying to suggestions made earlier to the committee by government aid in the form of low-interest loans to tourist operators.

J. Lawson Mackie, director of public relations for the joint board of Ontario Travel Associations, told the committee Tuesday that interest rates as high as 14 per cent have been paid by tourist operators who have had to go to the "black market" for capital.

Meanwhile, greater federal financial help for Canada's tourist industry was supported by Wednesday as it heard the Canadian Tourist Association lay down a six-point program for improvement of the Canadian vacation plant.

James McAvity of Montreal, association president, drew the whole-hearted support of senators in spelling out a program that called for:

1. More advertising through the Canadian government travel bureau, which last year spent $1,500,000 of its $2,900,000 budget selling Canada through United States publication.

2. Expansion of effort in following up advertising through additional sales offices—the bureau now has one in Chicago and one in New York.

3. A government scheme to provide operators of tourist facilities with improvement loans. Banks had been unsympathetic to this sort of loan.

4. A training scheme for the hitherto, management, hotel keepers and others who come in contact with tourists.

5. Consideration of the travel association's need for more staff and facilities in view of encouraging Canadian operators and industries to cater to the country's guests. The federal government now contributed only $2,000 to the association's annual budget.

6. Expansion of the resources department of $1,500,000 to develop the country's parks and camping grounds.

Did Indian Band at Sarnia Get Scalped in Land Deal?

OTTAWA (CP)—Did a band of Indians at Sarnia get scalped in a land deal approved by the federal government?

The Commons didn't get around to settling the question Wednesday but it had quite a stirring little pow - wow over procedural problems after J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista - Twillingate) raised the matter.

He proposed that the House adjourn its scheduled business for an emergency debate on the "failure" of Citizenship Minister Fairclough "to protect the interests of the Sarnia band of Indians."

The motion of the former citizenship minister was eventually pushed out of order.

Mr. Pickersgill said Mrs. Fairclough's failure was in approving the sale of the Indian lands for about $2,000 an acre, when part of them were forthwith resold to the publicly - owned Ontario Hydro Electric Commission for between 5% times the price received by the Indians.

SETS PROFIT

The result: A profit for Dimensional Investments Limited of between $900,000 and $900,000, said Mr. Pickersgill.

External Affairs Minister Green, in his capacity as government House leader, commented: "This is in effect nothing more nor less than a propaganda motion."

And at another point: "The only element of urgency in this matter is the Ontario election tomorrow."

In ruling the motion out of order, Speaker Roland Michener said the sale was an accomplished fact.

"We could accomplish very little by debating whether the price is or is not adequate and in a motion to adjourn the House [non-emergency debate] we could not correct the situation."

Later, Mrs. Fairclough issued a statement outside the Commons saying the Indians "requested" the sale

Communist China

Modern Factories Visited

By Walter L. Gordon

(Chairman of the Ecoeni Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects)

(Article 8)

James S. Duncan and I visited six large factories during our stay in China, the largest being the Anshan Steel Complex, a fully integrated operation with its own iron ore mines, coal-mining plants, coke ovens, blast furnaces, rolling mills, seamless and welded tube mills, sheet mills, etc. It has been almost completely rebuilt and very greatly expanded since the Japanese occupation. It produces pig iron, steel ingots and a great many different rolling mill products including sheets, tubes, plates, "I" beams and one million tons of rails per annum. The total estimated production in 1959 will be 5½ million tons or double an increase of 30 per cent over 1958. (Canada's total steel capacity is just over 6 million tons.)

Anshan is a huge undertaking with 175,000 employees including those employed in the mines. We asked to see one of the heavy rolling mills, the sheet mill and the seamless tube mill. In each case the equipment was new, modern and with some exceptions to be sheet mill, fully automatic. We were impressed with the quality of the equipment and the apparent efficiency of the whole operation.

We saw another large iron and steel works with a capacity of three million tons on the outskirts of Wuhan in Central China. This plant is still under construction but is expected to be in full production by the end of 1960, at which time it will require 45,000 employees. This plant has fine new modern equipment and appears to be well laid out We were informed that another undertaking of similar size is under construction at Paotow to the West of Peking and that a number of somewhat smaller plants are being built in various parts of China.

INSPECT TOOL PLANT

While in Wuhan we inspected a heavy machine tool plant which has been in full production since July 1958. This is another tremendous plant laid out in Soviet style with separate buildings; the material is moved between them on railway cars and within each building by heavy overhead cranes. Altogether the plant occupies about one and half million square feet of floor space and employs 10,000 people. The foundry and what was described as the heavy assembly plant were both very well equipped and fully operational. I quote from a note I made at the time of our inspection: "This is a first class factory. Well designed and equipped and very well operated and managed. Quite up to North American standards — with better equipment than most of ours."

We saw another factory in Shenyang in North East China with 8,000 employees producing light types of machine tools. Here my notes read, "By no means up to the best North American standards but they are turning out a lot of stuff."

We saw a second plant in Shenyang that also has 8,000 employees which produces numerous kinds of wires and cables. It is large, well equipped, efficiently operated good looking show.

The automobile or rather truck plant at Changchun in the North has a floor area of nearly two million square feet and 20,000 workers. It is very well equipped; laid out in Soviet style with separate buildings and large open spaces in between. The stated capacity is 20,000 trucks per annum but it looked to us as if it should be capable of producing far more than that. It has been in production since 1956 but last year because of steel shortages, turned out less than 20,000 four ton trucks.

DIA. ENGINE

Unlike the other factories we visited, this plant gives the appearance of being new and is untidy with parts piled in all directions. The engine plant which, at the time of our visit, was engaged on a crash program to turn out urgently needed engines for irrigation pumps and combines — these are almost the same as the engines used in the trucks. — was in an unholy mess. The only possible explanation we could think of was that truck production must still be relatively far down in the list of priorities in China's industrial planning.

While we were travelling in north-east China we scored a win over our two Chinese hosts who accompanied us and who were expert at debate. They had been pressing us for our views of the communist system and finally they firmly believed that eventually it would be adopted everywhere including Canada. We asked if missionaries had been popular in China in the past. Somewhat guardedly they answered "No". All right, we said then, how did they justify such proselytizing on their part. Did they intend to send their kind of missionaries to Canada? After a pause they asked if we would care to discuss in terms of wages, etc. We accepted this a minor triumph.

The factories we visited had many things in common. In each case most of the heavy equipment was supplied by the Soviet Union within the last two to five years and is modern and of excellent quality. Soviet engineers helped in laying out the plants and Chinese engineers and technicians received training in similar plants in the Soviet. On the basis of what we were able to see on a short visit, it is clear that the Chinese are going to start towards industrialization. It is true the Chinese paid or will pay for the equipment they received. But in more general terms, they owe a big debt to the Soviet Union and they acknowledge this at every opportunity.

The average age of the workers in the factories is very young — between 22 and 25 in the ones we visited. These young men and women were recruited from the countryside without difficulty as the standard of living of factory workers is substantially higher than that of the peasants.

The wages of all factory workers are laid down by the Central Government and are provided into eight categories depending upon the skill and experience of the operator. The ranges are from about 33 to 110 yuan per month based on an eight hour day and a forty-eight hour week. Apprentices get less and trained engineers may earn up to about 300 yuan per month and even as high as 345 yuan in the largest plant. In addition to their wages, the workers in heavy industry can earn an incentive bonus based on production of up to a maximum of 35 per cent of their basic pay.

Nearly all factory workers and their families, including the engineers and other officials, live in company operated apartments, all of which have been constructed since 1953 and many of them more recently than that. We visited two apartments in the new settlement for 150,000 people which was built in 1955 and 1956 in connection with the Wuhan Steel Works. A family of three living in one quite large room and shared a kitchen and bathroom (toilet, shower and basin) with another family who lived in the adjacent room. The rent for this was 4.4 yuans per month including electricity and running water. We saw another apartment in which a family of six lived in two bedrooms with common kitchen and bathroom. In this case, both the man and his wife worked in the plant; one child was in middle school, one in primary school and a third in kindergarten; all the children came home at night.

In addition, we visited in a similar block in Shenyang was less "palatial" but clean and comfortable. This one consisted of a single room about 16 feet by 12 feet for a family of four together with the joint use with another family of a small kitchen and toilet. Public baths and showers were available elsewhere. The monthly rental for this was 3.20 yuans plus an additional 1.90 yuans for gas and electricity. The rental for single men and women who live in dormitories is less than one yuan per month.

The apartment blocks are organized in building centres complete with dining halls, shops, clubs or community centre. Each building centre may house as many as 10,000 people. We visited some of the kindergartens for children between the ages of 3 and 7. In each case they were spotlessly clean and bright and the children seemed healthy and well cared for. There are not enough kindergartens to go around and we were told that only children of working mothers are admitted. It is probable that party members get priority in some kindergartens but the children go home at night; in others they go home for the weekends only.

We find it difficult to make an accurate estimate of the cost of living but it is a monthly expenditures. The average monthly wage earned by the plants we visited was about 55 yuans exclusive of incentive bonus. In addition the workers get free medical service. We were told that the cost of food would be about 12 yuans per head and rentals might average about 4 yuans per family. This would not leave much for clothing and other expenditures if the family was large unless the wife worked also. But she probably would do so. However, it must be repeating that the living standards and conditions of the factory workers are much superior to those of the peasants. It is the policy of the Government to wipe out such differentials eventually but this will take a long time to accomplish.

Bruins Get Gamble, Burns Rangers Grab Brian Cullen

MONTREAL (CP)—Draft day came and went in the National Hockey League Wednesday with only a brief flurry of dealing for second-string or untested players.

In contrast to last year's bargain-day rush when New York Rangers left some of their established players unprotected, this year each team played it close to the vest and no big names were among the eight players who changed hands.

Officials had apparently come to the annual meeting hoping to exchange five-goal forwards for 20-goal stars and despite a series of post-draft meetings it was expected any major trades would be announced later when club officials were forced to loosen up.

Reports were circulating that Detroit Red Wings hoped to get forward Leo Labine from Boston and that New York had something cooking with Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League but neither club announced any progress.

Only Detroit, Boston and New York picked up players at the $20,000 draft price; Toronto, Chicago and the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens passed on each round.

Detroit picked up forward Gary Aldcorn, who has bounced between Toronto and Rochester Americans of the AHL; and forward Jack McKenzie from Chicago.

Boston got netminder Bruce Gamble, a Ranger farmhand who played with Vancouver of the Western Hockey League last season; rearguard Autrey Erickson, a Chicago property with Calgary of the WHL last season, and Detroit's rookie centre Charlie Burns.

BOLSTER DEFENCE

New York grabbed two defencemen, Irwin Spencer, Canadiens' property; Ian Cushenan of Chicago, who played with Canadiens last season, and Toronto forward Birkes Cullen, whose brother Barry was traded to Detroit by Toronto Tuesday.

Bruins probably got two of the biggest names in Gamble and Burns. The latter, a big factor in Whitby Dunlops' drive to the world championship in 1958, got some support for rookie-of-the-year honors last season, and Gamble was at one time regarded by Rangers as a successor to Lorne (Gump) Worsley.

Boston coach Milt Schmidt feels Gamble may give regular netminder Don Simmons, injury-prone and something of an in-and-outer, a real run for his money next season.

Defenceman Spencer may turn out to be a bargain for New York, but observers wondered why no one had grabbed Canadiens' farmhand Billy Sutherland, a high-scoring rookie in the Quebec Hockey League last season.

BLAME LEAFS

Some officials blamed Maple Leafs for the lack of deals. Among the 20 players each team is allowed to protect Toronto named seven defencemen, though it was known Detroit was looking for rearguards.

The three-day meeting ended without any official announcement on the status or prospects of former referee Red Storey, who quit in the semi-finals last season after league president Clarence Campbell publicly criticized his work.

Though no official statement was made it was authoritatively learned Storey can probably have his job back if he lets the league save face by making the first move himself.

On the Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Roundency, owned by Mrs. R. S. Chris of Kitchener, won the feature race at New Woodbine Wednesday in 1.10 3-5 for six furlongs. It was an appropriate victory because the afternoon's feature was named in honour of the Kitchener-Waterloo Press Club, the members of which were the guests of the track.

Roundency, ridden by Alfonso Coy, disposed of Red Over Red after two furlongs and went on to a handy win by more than four lengths. Gal Gal closed a big gap to defeat Red Over Red in a photo - finish for second money. The winner paid $8.70, $5.20 and $4.80.

Boxing Board Fines, Suspends Brian London

LONDON (AP)—Brian London was suspended for six months and fined $2,500 Wednesday for going to the United States to fight heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. London said he would appeal although he did not intend to fight in England again.

The British boxing board of control, ruling body for pro boxing in the British Isles, took the action after London defied its ruling. The board had refused to give London permission to go to the U.S. For his May title match. London was stopped in the 11th round.

"I will probably go to the states and never fight in England again," said London after the hearing. "It is one of those things."

Juniors Maintain Unbeaten Record With 19-0 Win Over Shannonville

Cuffer Noakes' Belleville Juniors ran roughshod over Shannonville team in a South Hastings Baseball League game last night, swamping the village crew under a 19-0 score.

Behind the four-hit hurling of Larry Soden, the city youngsters pounded out 14 hits, including a triple and several doubles.

Shannonville had a runner on base in the last half of the final frame wit htwo out but he failed to touch the plate following a team-mates hit and run and the side was retired.

The Juniors won it going away in the first inning salting away seven runs. They buried it in the second coming up with five. They added two in the third, four in the fourth and a single in the fifth.

The Shannonville team was very loose in the field coming up with eight errors some of them good for Belleville runs, while the city crew played flawless defensive baseball.

Soden was master of the situation all the way. He scattered the four clouts the villagers got off his delivery. He struck out seven whiffing the first three men to face him and did not issue a walk. He banged out a double for good measure.

Bill Moxon and Glenn Clarke, each with two doubles and a single, paced the Juniors' attack. Jim Lloyd had two doubles, Larry Mavety had a triple and single, Larry Westfall a double, Soden a double, Gordy St. Louis a double and Moe Hunter a single.

George Reid started on the mound for Shannonville but went to the showers in the second after being touched for six hits. Bill Hill followed him and went the rest of the route. Hill whiffed three and walked one.

Hill, Gary Goodfellow, Gordon Green and Rodney Green were the Shannonville hitters. Goodfellow's clout went for a double.

The teams: Shannonville Don Sherry, Gord Green, Bill Hill, R. Green, Goodfellow, John, Payette, Reid, Bennett.

Belleville: Lloyd, Westfall, st. Louis, Hunter, Moxon, Clarke, Morris, Mavety and Soden.

New Design In Speedboats

DETROIT (CP) — Robert E. Evans, Detroit sportsman and industrialist, introduced a revolutionary new unlimited class multi-plane hydroplane Wednesday. Miss United States III, at the Detroit Yacht Club.

The sleek new boat is designed to shatter existing propeller-driven records and perhaps also Donald Campbell's jet speed record of 260 m.p.h.

A floating laboratory, the 11,000-pound craft—designed as a reversed three-pointer—is 36 feet long with a 13-foot beam and powered by a pair of 1,800 horsepowe. Packard P.T. boat engines.

Evans stated that the design of the new boat is such as to avoid the chief trouble spots of existing Gold Cup hydroplanes. If ready in time, Miss U.S. III will be entered in 1959 regattas. The boat cost an estimated $100,000 and was built at Bay City, Mich.

"She could be the biggest flop ever created," Evans said, "but we are confident that she will be able to break any existing propeller-driven records."

The propeller - driven record, currently held by Hawaii-Kai V Seattle, is 184.6 m.p.h.

CRICKET TEAM SET

TORONTO (CP) — Vic Walker of Toronto Yorkshire will captain the Ontario cricket team which will defend its title against the annual two - day match for the Athelstan Trophy July 4 - 5 at Brantford. Team members include C. Weir, Guelph and A. Howe, Waterloo.

HIGH SCHOOL STARS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Dodgers have announced the signing of two high school players and one college star. High school star shortstop Waldastel (Pee Wee) Oliver, St. Petersburg, Fla., was signed to a St. Paul contract.

Right - hand pitcher Bithel Price, all-city high school selection in Wichita, Kan. and outfielder Joe Unterberg of the University of New Mexico were assigned to Odessa, Tex., in the sophomore league.

First Ten-Pin Bowling League Organized Here

Meet the Mugs, Lugs, Thugs and Bugs!

They're not a bunch of street-corner hoodlums or a juvenile delinquency squad on the loose.

They're something new on the bowling front. In fact they're the first ten-pin bowling league to be organized in the city.

They have blisters on their fingers and thumbs and perhaps not too much on the bowl at present. But they're keen and enjoy the ten-pin game.

The four-team league is "on trial" for three week night stands. However there is little doubt as to its popularity and veterans say there will be a big swing to the game next winter.

Their inaugural scores would not win "All-Star Bowling" awards but they were not bad for "beginners" so to speak.

The Lugs (1953) took seven points from the Thugs (1833), while the Mugs (1743) took a similar number from the Bugs (1521).

High triples were scored by R. Vanderroort, 449; C. Hardwick 434; L. Rumleskie, 431; H. Saylor, 431, and C. Hart, 407. High single went to L. Rumleskie with a 159.

Soccer Results

Northern Electric handed Belleville Wilson's a 6-0 whitewashing at the Fairgrounds last night in a Bay of Quinte Soccer League game.

Northern scorers scored three times in the first half of the game and doubled that score with another trio in the second half.

H. Facey starred for Northern booting four of his team's goals. The other two were scored by M. Gans.

SIGN BONUS BABY

DARIEN, Con., (AP) — Baltimore Orioles have signed Bob Saverine, 18, hard - hitting high school shortstop, for an undisclosed bonus. Saverine batted .531 and hit eight home runs in 17 games. He is expected to be sent to one of the Orioles' farm clubs.

AT THE BELLE — Tony Randall wonders whether he is up to facing romance with Debbie Reynolds with a hangover in this scene from "The Mating Game." MGM's fun-filled farmyard comedy, in beautiful Color and CinemaScope, Paul Douglas, Fred Clark and Una Merkel add to the laughs. "The Mating Game" is continuing at the Air Conditioned Belle Theatre.

AT THE PARK—Tarzan Gordon Scott and Jane Sherri Taylor have new adventures in "Tarzan's Fight for Life," 3rd Jock Mahoney Production, in color, released by MGM opening tonight at the Park. Also showing is Walt Disney's latest two-gun in CinemaScope and Color, "The Shaggy Dog" starring Kirk Douglas, Tony Curtis, Ernest Borgnine and Janet Leigh.

AT THE PARK—Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh share top billing with Kirk Douglas and Ernest Borgnine in the adventure epic, "The Vikings," which opens tonight at the air-conditioned Park Theatre through United Artists release. The same program is Technicolor, Tarzan's Fifth for Life," starring Gordon Scott as Tarzan and Eve Brent.

AT THE McCARTHY — Marilyn Monroe is at her sexiest best as a vocalist and ukulele player with an all-girl orchestra in Billy Wilder's comedy of the twenties, "Some Like It Hot", a United Artists release now playing at both the McCarthy and Belleville Drive-In Theatres.

Foxboro Nips Cannifton 10-6 In SHL Tilt

Foxboro exploded for six runs in the fourth inning last night to overcome a 6-3 deficit and defeat Cannilton Clippers 10-6 in a scheduled South Hastings baseball league affair.

The teams battled on fairly even terms, both committing three errors and having six runners stranded. One of the chief factors in the Foxboro win was that five Cannilton runners were cut down on the base paths.

Ralph Flane who relieved starter Dennis Ray in the first frame, pitched the victory. Ray was driven out when Cannilton scored four in the initial inning. They allowed seven hits and walked three, two by Ray.

John McFaul starred for Cannifton with Norm Stoliker taking over in the fifth. They gave up nine hits and issued no free passes.

Jerry Mann sparked Foxboro with the hickory, collecting a double for the game's lone extra-base hit and adding a single. Other Foxboro h. were shared by Morris Chumbley, John Robinson, Glynn Reynolds, Jack Stewart, Ian Cooper, Ralph Flane and Dennis Ray.

Clapp picked up a pair of base hits for Cannifton. Locke, Harvey, Forsythe, Cole and Shefield had one apiece.

Says Promoter Not Beaten By Hoodlums

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Chief William H. Parker says boxing promoter Jackie Leonard was not the victim of a slugging by hoodlums last week.

Leonard suffered a blackout and apparently hurt himself in falling in the garage of his suburban home, Parker said at a press conference.

The chief's revelation came after exhaustive investigation by several police agencies.

Leonard was quoted as saying when confronted with the finding:

"I can do nothing but go along with you."

Leonard, recuperating in a local hospital from a brain concussion, had maintained two unidentified men jumped him and inflicted the beating.

Last month Leonard testified before the California Athletic Commission that he had been threatened with harm by mobster Frankie Carbo and Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Philadelphia fight figure, after they had tried unsuccessfully to muscle in on the contract of world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

JOCKEY BETTER

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Ralph Neves, injured in a race May 30 at Hollywood Park, left hospital Wednesday.

Neves suffered two fractured vertebrae, a basal skull fracture and had to undergo brain surgery for removal of a blood clot.

"They can't get rid of me; I've got too much to live for," said Neves.

Felt No Pressure' Coly Says After Blasting Four Homers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rocky Colavito in a slump?

You'll get no takers from fans here. Not after witnessing the 25-year-old strongboy with Cleveland Indians belt three four home runs out of spacious Memorial Stadium Wednesday night to lead a major league record accomplished only seven times previously. Cleveland beat Baltimore Orioles 11-8.

Rocky entered the game with four hits in his last 30 times at bat and only one homer this month. When the one - man carnage was over, Colavito had increased his homer total for the season to 9 — behind American League leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington Senators.

Only two other players in major league history had hit four homers in consecutive times at bat, Lou Gehrig, New York Yankee immortal, was the last to do it on June 3, 1932. Bob Lowe of the Boston National League team swatted them May 30, 1894. Five others hit four in one game but not consecutively, with Joe Adcock of Milwaukee Braves the last to do it July 31, 1954.

"I felt no pressure whatever," a grinning Colavito said after the game as he accepted congratulations from his teammates. "I wasn't trying to hit the ball out of the park on any of them. I was only trying to get base hits."

After walking in the first inning, here's how Colavito's performance went:

Third inning—a 360-foot drive into the leftfield bleachers off Jerry Walker with a man on base. "It was a slider down the middle. I didn't think it too good."

Fifth inning—A 425 - footer into the bleachers off Arnie Portocarrero, bases empty. "A slider or curve, inside and up a little bit."

Sixth inning—a 400-foot line shot over a wire fence in leftcentre, also off Portocarrero with one on. "A sinking fast ball, down and away a little bit."

Ninth inning—Another blast about as long as the second, off Ernie Johnson with the bases empty. "A fast ball, up and in."

Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager, joined the clubhouse well-wishers.

"I had ordered a bunch of tennis rackets for those guys of ours," he said referring to the Indian slump which had seen the team lose nine of 10 games before Wednesday night. "But I've cancelled Rocky's order."

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

At the recent meeting of the Eastern Ontario senior "A" hockey league, the Ottawa-Hull Canadiens withdrew their entry and the Whitby Dunlops, through their dynamic mouthpiece, Wren Blair, stated his Dunlops would not enter the loop unless it was a five-team circuit.

Yet the other day Blair went out of his way to request the Ontario Hockey Association to probe the expenses, salaries, etc., of the Kingston Merchants team. He made several serious charges, repetitive of those made at the meeting, whereby he claimed the alleged loss of the Kingston club was mainly due to players' salaries.

This department, in lieu of what has happened, is in no position to criticize any team in the league. But at least we are entitled to an opinion.

We do not for one moment condone the Kingston club's action in not paying its pool "debt". The Merchants, regardless, should have honored this. Even the McFarlands did this up to three or so games. Give them credit for that.

The Kingston club, through its manager and president, Reg Walton, rapped Blair sharply on the knuckles after he stated he would ask the OHA to probe the Merchants' expenses.

First of all he does not know whether Kingston, Belleville or Cornwall will enter teams next season. He stated, as we said before, that he would not enter the Dunlops in less than a five-team circuit.

He does not know yet whether there will be a five-team loop. Why doesn't he make sure of this before he starts tearing other clubs to pieces.

According to a Kingston source, the Merchants' prexy, Mr. Walton, has released a statement of profit and loss and declares the "audited figures are there for all to see."

He also stated that Blair had not at that time (Tuesday night), contacted the Ontario Hockey Association and asked for the investigation. OHA business manager Bill Hanley said he had yet to hear from Blair. "When he makes an official request, then our salary contracts, on file with the OHA, will be shown him."

Blair told Kingston sports editor Don Soutter in a phone conversation that he was not asking for the investigation to embarrass the Kingston club directors. "I don't feel there is anything out of line except that they overpaid their players."

Blair contended that Kingston's seasonal payroll should have amounted to $35,650 and apparently, basing figures on the operation of the Whitby club, felt "all other costs of operation are equal, an amount of $9,195."

Blair claims by asking these questions it will be brought out that other teams beside Kingston in Ontario were paying their players too much money.

"It's a shame," he said, "that Kingston fans should pay in $84,000 in one season and then be in danger of losing senior hockey."

Walton said the Kingston club had nothing to hide but "our figures show it is impossible to operate a club on the basis Blair has suggested.

In explaining some of the expenditures shown by the club, which resulted in a loss of $5,339.46, the club president revealed that training camp meals on the road during the season, expenses for players to get to games and other related items amounted to $6,031. Walton also made it clear that the salary limit of $1,550 "only covered the actual players."

Only $30 a game of the playing coach Bus Gagnon is included in this amount," he said, "and on top of that there were our payments to Wally Brahin, the general manager, to the trainer, an assistant trainer, to players when they were injured and so not included in the weekly payment."

"Blair," he said, "has not mentioned any of these contingencies in his summary of the expenses of the Kingston club."

DECKS CLEARED

The decks have been cleared for action and the heavy artillery moved into position for the anticipated fury and fireworks tomorrow night when Whipper Billy Watson and Gene Kiniski, former Edmonton Eskimos' football star, tangle in the famous "Texas Death Match." The boys will be at it until there is a lone survivor — and he will be declared the winner. There will be plenty of fireworks and fun for the boys are allowed to frolic in a large area outside the ring. The first two rows of ringside seats have been removed. There will be two referees, including Pat Flanagan, who will wrestle Karl Kulaski in another bout. Popular Don Jardine will mix it up with Hard-Boiled Haggerty.

Colavito's Four Homers Blast Birds Out Of Lead

Tribe Fielder Blasts Quartet To Tie Major League Record; Braves' Lead Sliced to Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore's Memorial Stadium is the toughest home run park in major league baseball.

In the five years it has been a big league ballyard, only seven visiting sluggers had hit as many as two home runs in one game there. No one had hit three in one game.

Yet Rocky Colavito of Cleveland Indians tied a major league record there Wednesday night by becoming the eighth player to hit four homers in one game. He also became the third to do it with successive shots, tagging drives of 360, 400, 400-plus and 425 feet as the Indians blasted the Orioles out of the American League lead with an 11-8 win.

LIKES RIGHTHANDERS

Colavito, 25, has hit 18 homers this season, one behind league-leader Harmon Killebrew of Washington Senators. These were his first of the year against left-hand Orioles and they came against three right-handed pitchers. Colavito, a righthanded slugger who should prefer southpaw pitchers, has hit all but three of his 18 off righthanders.

Wm. Ballinger jolted loose from a deadlock, Chicago White Sox took a one-game lead by beating Washington 4-1. New York Yankees climbed above .500 for the first time since April 29 by defeating Kansas City 12-5 in ties 6-4, gaining control of fourth place by one percentage point over Detroit Tigers despite a 10-9 home victory against Boston Red Sox.

Colavito, who walked in the first inning, drove in six runs and scored five in his 4-for-4 exhibition. His homers came in the third with one on, against loser Jerry Walker (4-3), in the fifth (bases empty) and sixth (one on) against Arnie Portocarrero, and in the ninth (bases empty) against Ernie Johnson. Minnie Minoso and Billy Martin also homered for Cleveland.

Only Lou Gehrig of the Yankees (1932) and Pat Seerey of the White Sox (1948) had hit four in one game previously in the American League. Six have done it in the National League.

Righthander Gary Bell (5-3) was the winner with Mike Garcia's help in a four-run seventh inning.

WYNN WINS

Early Wynn (8-1) won it for the White Sox, beating the Senators with a five-hitter. A hit batter and an error by catcher Hal Naragon, allowing Al Smith to score while attempting an inside-the-park homer, gave the Sox two runs in the first inning against Hal Woodeshick (0-1). Killebrew beat out an infield hit and scored Washington's lone run in the fourth.

Elston Howard's two - run double clinched it for the Yankees as they scored four in the seventh inning. Art Ditmar (4-4) was the winner against Bud Daley (5-4).

Al Kaline drove in four Detroit runs with four hits, bringing in the winning run in the eighth with his second single. Reliefer Tom Morgan (4-1) was the winner, while Mike Fornieles (0-1) lost in relief.

Leafs Split With Marlins; Bisons Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The last-place Toronto Maple Leafs had little to cheer about in the International League until last week when they got infielder Bobby Wilson from Montreal Royals.

Wilson, the league's leading hitter with a .355 batting average, has injected a bit of baseball acumbalin into the Leafs. They have split 13 games since Wilson filed his club to keep within hailing distance of first - place Buffalo Bisons, 9½ games in front.

Wilson supplied the spark Wednesday night as Toronto took the first game of a doubleheader from Miami Marlins, 12-5. The Leafs lost the nightcap 3-1.

Buffalo spoiled Columbus Jets a four-run lead then drove back for a 9-4 victory. Richmond Virginians resumed their winning ways with a 7-1 victory over Rochester after the Red Wings had broken the Vees' nine-game win streak the previous night. Havana Sugar Kings and Montreal were not scheduled.

Leafs, playing at a .278 pace with 17 victories and 28 defeats before Wilson came to town, are going at a .404 speed, with 8 23-34 record.

HOME RUN SLAMMER

They had their biggest run production of the season in the first game as Archie Wilson hit a grand-slam home run in a seven-run fourth inning. Bob Wilson added a homer in the second and chipped in with two singles. Rudy Minarcin won his first for the Leafs. Harry Byrd (4-5) was the loser.

Jack Fisher beat Ron Negray in the nightcap as Leafs found two in the seventh on two hits, a walk and an error. Frank Kellert added the third run with his sixth homer.

Tom Burgess and Jim McDaniel each struck two-run homers to give Columbus the lead but the Bisons came back with four in the fifth to go ahead for good. Bobby Gene Smith homered for Buffalo as Dick Bunker (4-2) took over for starter Hank Mason and scattered six hits in eight innings. Dave Lemay (4-5) lost.

Bob Wiesler (1-1-3) got only four hits—one Gene Green's solo homer—and drained five as he held Rochester to one hit for the first six innings. Joe McClain had his sixth-in eight decisions while the Vees won their 10th in the last 11 to stay in second place, 1½ games behind Buffalo.

Boxing Commission Suspends Licences of Manager, Son

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The California Boxing Commission today suspended the manager's license of Sam Boardman and the boxing licence of his son, lightweight Larry Boardman, pending further investigation of a fight cancellation.

Boardman of Marlboro, Conn., testified his son was withdrawn from a Hollywood fight scheduled next Saturday because of a nose ailment and a bad right hand.

Boardman testified after the co-manager of heavyweight Rueben Vargas told the commission he had been threatened with death if Vargas didn't give Tony Ambuehl a return match.

Commission chairman Dan O'Leary said the Boardman suspensions were indefinite pending study of the circumstances under which Larry withdrew from a bout with Art Ramponi of Oakland.

Ramponi also pulled out. Commission physicians verified the boxer's statement that he was ill.

Ralph Gambina of Los Angeles and promoter Don Chargin of Oakland also testified.

HAD SUBSTITUTE

Chargin substituted for Jackie Leonard at the Hollywood Legion Stadium last week.

Chargin testified Gambina had been representing Boardman in California.

He said Gambina asked him to pull Boardman off the card, and quoted Gambina as saying Broadman told him Larry wouldn't fight there because Leonard was a stool pigeon.

Gambina was asked repeatedly by the commissioner whether he had said that. He replied he was "not sure enough to testify."

Sam Boardman denied that he ever called Leonard a stool pigeon.

Tony Anthony is seeking a rematch with Vargas, who unexpectedly defeated Anthony in New York in January.

Leading Bobcats Get Sixth Win, Defeat Cementmen 7-5 in Eleven

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Belleville Bobcats gained revenge for their lone seasonal setback at Point Anne last night by scoring two runs in the 11th inning to defeat the slipping Cementmen 7-5 in a weird B and D softball league contest.

According to all standards the Bobcats should have lost. They had two of their mainstays ejected from the game, were outhit by the Cementmen, made more errors than the opposition and had two untried rookies and the semi-retired coach in their line-up. And yet the leaders picked up victory number six.

Umpire Al Kelleher ejected the centre left side of the Bobcat infield. He tossed third baseman Jean-Paul Lamiranda out of the game in the bottom of the first frame after Lammy argued about a call. Shortstop "Wiener" Brown got the gate in the ninth for remarks directed at Kelleher. The official said after the game that both men were ejected for using profane language.

Bobcats scored their two decciding runs in the top of the 11th with the benefit of only one hit, a knock. A walk to Hall started the ball rolling. Denny Hayden banged a single to right field and Hall raced all the way home when the throw in get away from Jones at third. Cousins sacrificed and Carkner wild pitched the Cats' seventh run home.

Bobcats had scored their other five markers in the second frame while the losers netted two in the first and third and one in the fourth to tie it 5-5.

Bobby Hull, off to a shaky start, settled down to toss an eight-hitter for his second win of the year. He never allowed a hit after the fourth inning, retiring 18 men in order at one point. Doug Hull drew a walk in the 10th to become the only base runner to the last 22 Oz-point batters. Hull issued four and walked only one man.

Al Carkner had control trouble on the Cementmen's hilltop while giving up seven hits in defeat. He handed out eight free passes and whiffed three.

Wiedmeyer by Carkner helped the Bobcats score five in the second frame. He walked the first three batters before Sunke's fly ballplated one. Rookie Jack Hughes, who had replaced Lamiranda at third, slashed a scoring double to centre and another newcomer, Dave Walker singled to right for two more runs. Another walk and "Wiener" Brown's two-bagger made it 5-2.

The Cementmen had scored two in the first on a pair of miscues, one following Jones' infield safety and leading to Lamiranda's ejection, and a solid single by Johnny Batchelor.

Batchelor drove in two more runs in the third when he pulled a Hull slant deep to left for a home run after Jones had singled, Carkner singled in the fourth and scored on Dave Jones' third consecutive base hit, the last one given up by Bull.

Bobcats announced that Cobourg had requested a postponement of Friday night's game here at CNRA Park.

Denny Hayden paced the winners with two hits. Jack Hughes and Brown doubled while Bert Faulkner, Bob Hull, and Dave Walker had singles.

Best in defeat was Dave Jones with three one-baggers and Johnny Batchelor with a homer and single. Claude Carr, Doug Soule and Carkner had a hit each.

Lineups:

Bobcats: Crawford 2b, Faulkner cf, Brown ss, B. Hull p, Hayden 1b, Cousins c, Soule rf, Lamiranda 3b, Walker lf, Hughes 3b, ss, Goegan lf, Temple 3b.

BRAZIL WINS

GELEEN, The Netherlands (AP)—The Brazilian soccer club Botafogo defeated the Dutch top division club Fortuna 4-3 Wednesday night in a flood-lit match played before some 25,000 fans.

"He didn't knock you out. You got your hand in the way when I threw in the towel!"

Albion Beats Montreal 4-0

MONTREAL (CP) — West Bromwich Albion prepare to sail for home Friday after a six-game soccer tour of Canada in which they lost only one game.

West Brom made it five wins Wednesday night in a hard fought 4-0 victory over Montreal all-stars. The Montrealers gave the visitors a rough ride all the way and despite the score, it wasn't an easy win for the English First Division club.

"The boys have enjoyed their tour here," said manager Vic Buckingham following Wednesday's game. "The standard of football isn't what it is at home, but on the other hand it isn't a Canadian game.

"The boys we played against were certainly keen and it looks as though soccer will grow with the population."

West Brom lost 3-2 against British Columbia all-stars in Vancouver June 1. Why, Buckingham was asked.

"It's like any other game. You have bad patches. I suppose we hit one of them. And anyway that team was quite a strong one."

English centre-forward Ronnie Allen scored twice for West Bromwich Wednesday night. Other scorers were outside left Derek Hogg and Brian Whitehouse.

Bobby Hull Presents Trophy To Junior MVP

The presentation of the Bobby Hull Trophy, donated by the Chicago Black Hawks' young NHL star in memory of Bill Foster and Art Culloden, was made at the Belleville and District softball league game at Point Anne last night.

Dennis Kerrnish, hard - working forward with the Belleville Lambert - Rollins Junior "B" hockey team, was named the first annual winner. The beautiful trophy is to be presented each spring to the city's junior hockey player judged the most valuable to his team.

Foster and Culloden were prominent in both hockey and ball circles in this city for a number of years prior to their untimely death in a car accident this past winter. Hull donated the trophy and a smaller one which the Junior MVP receives as his permanent possession.

Kerrnish was one of the Juniors more consistent players during the past season. He scored more than his share of goals but was most prominent for his hard-working, digging style of play.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A BUNGALOW? Then here's the high tax area, yet within easy commuting distance from the city? We have just what you want. Only 3 years old, three bedrooms, tiled bathroom, dining room, living room. 3-piece bath in colored fixtures. The price is just $6,500, and we can probably fit the terms to suit to your purse. Call today. Don't be sorry you missed it!

REDUCED

BRAND NEW 3-BEDROOM ON THE SOUTH SIDE. The owner is very anxious to sell and has just reduced the down payment and the price. Big living room, tiled bath, full basement, fenced-in landscaped lot. Call today. Maybe your down payment will buy it.

LOW DOWN PAYMENT

IF YOU HAVEN'T VERY much for a down payment, but can afford large monthly payments, it will pay you to investigate this new 3-bedroom home on Bell Blvd. East End. Tiled 4-piece bathroom. Large living room. Beautiful gleaming hardwood floors throughout. Full basement. Gas furnace.

LOOKING FOR SPACE?

DO YOU HAVE A LARGE FAMILY and feel cramped for space? Would you like 4 bedrooms plus a sleeping porch, 2 bathrooms, 2 fireplaces, 2 oil furnaces? Then this home is a handyman! Then you should make an appointment to see this fine home on the West Hill. Besides all this, it has a big 25' living room, kitchen and dining room. Part of the third floor is used as a den or sitting room. There is a large basement that the kids could work in to their heart's delight, and a playground within easy distance, and many other features. You will consider a reasonable offer and we say today to see this valuable property.

3,212,454 People Eligible to Vote In Election

TORONTO (CP) — A check of Ontario's 36 constituencies shows 3,212,454 persons eligible to vote in the provincial general election Thursday. The total exceeds the previous high of 3,205,795 in the last election in 1955 by 306,664.

In 1955, 1,781,325 votes were cast for a 60.4 - per - cent turnout of eligibles. A 60-per-cent turnout Thursday would mean a total of 1,924,472 votes, well over the previous record of 1,775,749 in 1951, 85 per cent of the 2,750,709 eligible in that election.

York - Scarborough in the Toronto area has most voters, 100,589 compared with 62,332 four years ago. Rainy River in Northwestern Ontario has the fewest, 12,850 compared with 13,350. Outside urban metropolitan areas, Algoma-Manitoulin showed one of the sharpest increases, up to 31,-764 from 18,554 due to development of the uranium mining centre of Elliot Lake.

In 1955 Progressive Conservatives captured 83 of the 98 legislature seats by polling 642,582 votes, 48 per cent of the total. The Liberals took 11 seats with 585,079 votes, 39 per cent. The CCF, which elected three members, got 293,139 votes, 22 per cent. Other candidates drew 38,-735 votes, two per cent, and one seat elected — an Independent Progressive Conservative who subsequently ran as a Conservative won the seat in a byelection.

Vote in the last two elections as compiled by The Canadian Press (percentage of total vote):

	1955	1951
PC	846,582 (48)	860,898 (49)
Lib	585,080 (33)	551,794 (31)
CCF	391,119 (17)	350,376 (19)
Others	38,754 (2)	22,961 (-1)
Total	1,761,525	1,775,749

STUDENT INFLUX
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The University of Mexico now has 47,000 students, highest enrolment in its history. The increase is by about 2,000 over 1958 is mainly in medicine, engineering, law and commerce departments.

KILLED BY PROPELLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Flight engineer Dante Lugano was fatally injured Tuesday by the propeller of a Trans World Airlines Constellation as he was sitting in a veil, 46, son of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt, was belted behind the wheel of his parked car. His lawyers contended Roosevelt's condition was the result of fatigue.

ACQUIT ROOSEVELT

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A jury took just a half hour Tuesday to find Elliott Roosevelt innocent on a charge of drunk driving. Roosevelt, 46, son of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt, was arrested April 4 when found asleep behind the wheel of his parked car. His lawyers contended Roosevelt's condition was the result of fatigue.

CONSERVATIVES ROLL TO ANOTHER WIN

District Bloc Votes True To PC Form

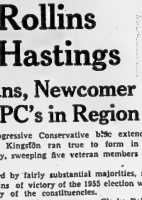
E. Sandercock, Clarke Rollins Win In Hastings

5 Veterans, Newcomer Win for PC's in Region

The traditionally Progressive Conservative bloc extending from Northumberland to Kingston ran true to form in the Ontario elections yesterday, sweeping five veteran members and one new one into office.

While all were elected by fairly substantial majorities, successful candidates' margins of victory of the 1955 election were decreased in the majority of the constituencies.

In Hastings East and West ridings, newcomer Clarke Rollins and veteran W. Elmer "Sandy" Sandercock carried the P.C. standard to victory.



In Prince Edward-Lennox, Norris Whitney was returned to office while in Frontenac-Addington the sitting member J. R. Simonett was returned. In Kingston, W. M. Nickle retained his seat while in Northumberland the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow was elected to another term.

In Hastings West, Mr. Sandercock, seeking his fourth term, swept to victory over Jack Lundberg Liberal, and Fred Bretlhour, CCF. Mr. Sandercock took a lead with the first returns and was never headed. He gradually built up a majority until his election was conceded fairly early in the evening.

It was a closer battle in Hastings East where Mr. Rollins and Liberal Leslie McLaren waged a fairly close fight until the later returns when the PC candidate pulled away to his majority. Charles Turner, CCF, was never in the running.

In Prince Edward-Lennox, Norris Whitney increased his jority. Charles Tuiner, CCF, ung Napanee lawyer, Mr. Whitney polled 2199 votes set against 4450 for his youthful opposition. This gave Whitney a majority of 2749 as against a 1955 margin of 2226. There was no CCF candidate in the riding.

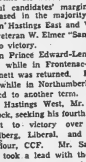
In West Hastings unofficial the last elections, some 16,000 going to the polls as against 18,167 in the previous election.

Some 7307 city voters went to the polls here, roughly about 60 less than the previous election. However, Mr. Sandercock polled 4309 votes as against 4925 in 1955 while Mr. Lundberg polled 2583 as against a Liberal vote of 2350 in the last election. This indicates a Liberal gain of 849 from city voters.



Mr. Sandercock won in practically every polling division at the time of going to press. Mr. Lundberg did not take one division from the Conservatives and was on Faraday and Bancroft to the CCF candidate by seven and 23 votes respectively.

Mr. Bretlhour polled his heaviest votes in these divisions, getting 94 in Faraday and 150 in Bancroft. Mr. Lundberg polled 87 and 128 and Mr. Sandercock 134 and 138.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — The hot spell which has continued since Monday through much of Ontario appears due to end. Cool air moving in from the west and northwest will drop temperatures 10 to 20 degrees by Saturday, with the changeover starting today in Northern Ontario and lasting in Southern Ontario.

Afternoon temperatures today will again rise to the 80s and 90s in Southern Ontario and to the 70s in the north with varying amount of cloud producing a few showers and thunderstorms.

In the cooler air Saturday, mainly sunny weather is expected except in the most northern sections.

SHIP PILOTS MAY PUT CRIMP IN SEAWAY OPENING

Threaten Walkout If Demands Not Met

MONTREAL (CP)—A threatened walkout by pilots may put a crimp in plans for ceremonies formally opening the St. Lawrence Seaway June 26.

Ship pilots who work the seaway and Montreal harbor threatened Thursday night to walk off their jobs June 19 if the federal government doesn't clear up complaints about working conditions.

The royal yacht Britannia is to nose into the multi-million dollar seaway to formally open it to the ships of the world. But if the pilots are not working June 25, the ships may be idle or will bring to take her through.

The Queen and President Eisenhower are to officiate at the ceremonies.

VOY SUCCISSED

Jean Guy Charitier, president of the Montreal Harbor Pilots' Association, said pilotage of the Britannia hasn't been discussed. The Montreal group and the St. Lawrence-Kingston - Ottawa Pilots Association announced the walkout Thursday following meetings in Ottawa with transport department officials.

In the seaway and Lake Ontario itself, ships are to take no pilots. But a similar walkout two years ago by lake pilots hampered shipping severely.

WANT PLAN CHANGED

Among other demands, the pilots want Mr. Chartier to be given the authority to take the royal yacht from Montreal to Massena, N.Y., instead of from Massena to Kingston as is planned now.

Other demands included:

A shelter at the seaway's St. Lambert locks in Montreal where pilots can wait to pick up boats; transportation when town they have to travel to meet ships; establishment of a tariff for pilotage on the seaway and provision for probationary pilots using the seaway.

Motorist Can Expect Some Traffic Delays

TORONTO, (CP) — The Ontario department of highways says motorists can expect traffic delays in some areas during the weekend:

Queen Elizabeth Way at Bronte Bridges Highway 28, seven miles south to Peterborough: Highway 33 Bloomfield to Wellington; Highway 89 Nobel to Shawanaga; Highway 69 Parry Sound to Highway 11 at Baysville; Highway 12, from McKellar to two miles north; Highway 401 at Port Severn.

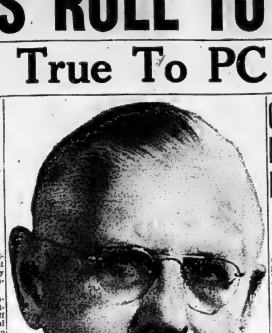
Defence Tries to Stop Introduction Of Confessions by Four White Men

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Defence lawyers were prepared to battle today to block introduction of confessions the state says were made by four white men accused of raping a Negro college girl.

The statements, which state prosecutor William D. Hopkins said were given voluntarily, were offered in evidence Thursday night at the trial of the four. They were put in at the end of a day of testimony in which the victim told the jury that she wept and begged in vain while the four raped her.

Sheriff's Deputy W. W. Slappey, one of the first law enforcement officers to come to the girl's aid after her abduction, had testified he found the girl crying and incoherent.

When Hopkins attempted to question him about the reported confession obtained from the youngest defendant, 16-year-old Ollie Stoutamire, lawyers for the three other youths protested. They said the purported confession was obtained away from the presence of their clients.



Slappey said he had taken William T. Collinsworth, 22, oldest of the defendants, to a hospital in Tallahassee and had Collinsworth point to a place in a wiregrass where the attack took place on May 2.

The state offered in evidence shirts, shoes, wiregrass and pine needles which another deputy, 21-year-old Joe Cooley Jr., said he scraped off the girl's torn dress after she was taken to hospital. The garments, introduced in testimony, the rape victim told of Thursday, will be submitted to the four because of fears for her life. She said that Collinsworth had once had oral relations with her twice. She testified she was on the ground with them for two or three hours.

Under Florida law she may not be identified.

S. Gunter Toney, lawyer for Collinsworth, asked whether she had told Collinsworth, "You can have it if you want it if you take back to the school."

"No," she replied.

THE WINNAH — AND STILL CHAMPION! — Premier Leslie Frost not only won an overwhelming personal victory in his riding of Victoria yesterday, but also saw his Progressive Conservative followers elected in 70 other of the province's 98 ridings. His government's majority, however, was pared by the success of the Liberals in doubling their representation, from 11 to 22 seats, and by the increase in the CCF seats from three to five.

38 Hurt by Bomb Explosion In Boston 'El' Train Station

bomber" was sought today in the wake of an explosion that shattered a rapid-transit train station to fires above a busy Boston intersection.

Thirty-eight persons were injured Thursday, three severely, in the 6-blaek, block investigators said was caused by a homemade bomb planted in a public room locker.

Police officials said the bombing apparently was the work of a lunatic, bent on destruction.

A police detail under Capt. Joseph B. Fallon, head of the homicide squad, was assigned to the job of learning his identity.

Investigators said the bomb went off with the explosive force of 500-pound wartime bomb.

The blast blew apart the big 58-year - old pagoda - tyne waiting room on the elevated North Station of the Metropolitan Rapid Transit Authority.

It caught several persons within the waiting room and on the outdoor station platform. Some of them were blown 30 feet to busy Canal and Causeway streets below.

Six were injured as they sat in a train approaching the station. The blast stopped the train 200 feet away. There seconds later pilot the train would have been in direct line of the explosion.

Others were injured on the street below—by the terrific concussion and by flying debris.

Scene of the blast is directly across the street from the North Station railroad terminal which also houses the Boston Garden sports arena.

Eight hours after the 2 p.m. explosion, the switchboard operator at North Station received an anonymous telephone call that a bomb had been placed in that structure.

The operator said the caller also said that the afternoon blast "was meant for McGinnis." Patrick B. McGinnis is president of the Boston and Maine Railroad.

Police said there have been at least four warnings of secreted bombs at North Station within recent weeks.

They recalled the mad bomber who terrorized New York City for 16 years. He planted 33 bombers before police caught him in 1957.

New York's bomber — George Metesky, 57, is in an institution for the criminal insane at Beacon, N.Y.

Boston detectives said that tests by police chemists indicated a bag of black powder weighing 20 to 25 pounds caused the explosion.

By morning, all but 11 of the injured were released from hospital.

Police Hunt Man Who Raped, Strangled 12-Year-Old Girl

CLINTON (CP) — Police said today they are seeking a car with yellow license plates in connection with the strangle slaying of 12-year-old Lynn Harper whose body was found Thursday in a wooded glade near here.

The girl was last seen Tuesday night getting into a late model car which stopped when she thumbed a ride on Highway 8 near this town 30 miles northwest of Stratford, police said.

An autopsy showed Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Harper of Moncton, N.B., had been beaten, raped and strangled with her own blouse.

Thursday a 200 - man search party from nearby RCAF station Clinton found the body with a blouse wrapped twice around the neck. Other articles of clothing were strewn around the body.

The body was found near where Steve Truscotte, 14, told police he dropped Lynn after giving her a ride on his bicycle. She walked the rest of the way to a stream where she planned to swim. Steve said.

On the ride back along the same route he dismounted and looked back.

"Lynn was still on the highway with a model-sized yellow plate."

Mrs. Shirley Harper, the girl's mother was put to bed under heavy sedation. Her father, a police officer, took part in the search.

A pretty, willowy girl of five-feet-three and 100 pounds, she had two brothers, one 16, the other six.

When she left home she was wearing a white print blouse and blue shorts, her parents said.

CHIEF PC WHIP DRAWS PRAISE, BLAME IN HOUSE

Expropriation Case Aired-in Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — John Pallett, chief Conservative whip, drew praise and blame Thursday in the Commons for his conduct with a government land expropriation case.

The praise came from the Progressive Conservatives and the blame from the Liberals and CCF.

The argument began a week ago when the Exchequer Court said in a judgment that Mr. Pallett had instructed appraiser E. S. Clare of Port Credit to put as generous a valuation as possible on properties expropriated by the transport department at Malton.

Mr. Clare was a political candidate for Argenteuil - Two Mountains and was appointed on the latter's recommendation. He was paid $3,711 by the transport department for 12 valuations, one of which was thrown out by the Exchequer Court in a test case.

NOT IN HOUSE

Mr. Pallett, MP for Peel, wasn't present during the heated debate.

Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) maintained the court's judgment was a "reflection on condemnation" of Mr. Pallett.

Transport Minister Hees said Mr. Pallett had tried only to obtain a square deal for some of his constituents. He charged the Liberals with "smear and witch-hunting."

"The Liberals seem to think that if an MP tries to get a deal for his constituents, in some way he's getting a kickback or some piece of nefarious award," he said.

"It's false and base implication," Opposition Leader Pearson retorted.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused the Liberals of innuendos, imputations and inferences—"I don't call it McCarthyism"—for which they would not take responsibility.

Mr. Pearson said this remark was unworthy of the prime minister.

PUTS LETTER ON RECORD

Mr. Pearson read into the record one of 13 letters tabled earlier in the day by Mr. Hees at the request of the Liberals.

Mr. Pallett had suggested to Mr. Hees that the minister send up and throw away the letter.

In this letter, Mr. Pallett complained that A. A. Spears, transport department land agent at Malton, had put a price of $2,000 "Clare be taken off the job."

He suggested that Mr. Hees dispatch "be held in no uncertain terms that Spear is to get off Clare's back and let him do the valuations in his own way; if not, I cannot see the purpose of appointing him."

BOOK "OBSCENE"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield Thursday ruled out any U.S. mailing of a new controversial novel, Lady Chatterley's Lover. The postmaster general said the book by D. H. Lawrence, "taken as a whole, is an obscene and filthy work."

Frost Voices Regret at Defeat Of Two Who Bought Gas Shares

TORONTO (CP)—Two former cabinet ministers who profited in the Ontario Northern Railway Natural Gas Company were defeated in Thursday's Ontario general election.

Former lands and forests minister Lorne Maguire and former public works minister William Grieve lost out in the election although it was CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald who started the Grieve-Maguire gas deal in the legislature in 1957.

Mr. Maguideram, 56, who had held Fort William since 1951, was defeated by John Chapple, 48-year-old dairy farmer and member of a pioneer family that established a chain of creameries and chain in Northwestern Ontario.

Mr. Grieve, 52, Conservative MP for Col. Bill to his constituents of 14 years in Windsor-Sandwich, was beaten by Maurice Bevanger, 46-year-old school teacher and Windsor alderman for nine years.

Premier Frost Thursday night congratulated the new MPP-elect. He said: "They are two very fine fellows in my book and they have given very great service to their provinces. I regret their loss."

Mr. Grieslenger resigned from the cabinet after the Leader Speculorum quit a month or two later after a government-sponsored investigation disclosed he had bought promotion stock in the gas - distribution company in his brother-in-law's name.

Both got their shares through former mines minister Phillip Kelly, who resigned from the cabinet in February, 1957, before CCF Leader MacDonald opened the issue in the legislature.

Majority Cut; Liberals Double Former Standing

CCF Party Also Picks Up Couple of Seats From '55

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's Progressive Conservative party rolled to its sixth straight election triumph Thursday on a record vote. But its majority was reduced somewhat by both Liberal and CCF inroads.

Premier Leslie Frost, a small-town lawyer whose folksy campaigning has led the party to three resounding election victories in his ten years as leader, said in a victory speech:

"We lost a few to the fortunes of war, but I'm pleased with the results."

The final standing, with standing after the last election:

	1959	1955
Prog. Cons	71	83
Liberal	22	11
CCF	5	3
Ind-PC	0	1
Total	98	98

Thirteen ridings held by the Conservatives during the last legislature fell to the Liberals and CCF, almost doubling opposition strength in the House.

The Liberals, who campaigned behind leader John Winter-meyer, took 11 Conservative seats to scoring their sharpest gain in 22 years. Four of their gains were in the Toronto area where they had been shut out since 1937.

One of the two CCF gains also was made in Toronto, a traditional Conservative stronghold which gave Premier Frost 20 of 20 seats in 1955 and 14 Thursday.

CABINET CASUALTY

Premier Frost, who will be 64 Sept. 20, scored an overwhelming personal victory in Victoria, where he has been a solid favorite for 22 years, and saw all 20 members of his cabinet re-elected.

Soft-spoken, silvery - haired Conservative leader said he had expected the party to lose some seats and was happy with the outcome which left him with a thumping 64-seat majority to start the new house.

It was the third time in a row that the premier, who took office in 1949, has come up with a poor first party election night. His first campaign in 1951 saw the government lose 20 to 31 seats from 53 in a 90-seat house. In 1955 his party won 83 of the 98 seats at stake.

Both opposition leaders won personal victories. Mr. Winter-meyer, elected Liberal leader last year, was elected in a seven-way in Waterloo North. CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald of York South, which first elected him in 1955.

He got 16,106 votes.

A Canadian Press compilation showed the Conservatives received 49 per cent of the vote, compared with 48 per cent in 1955. Liberals had 27 per cent, up from 33 per cent. The CCF got 17 per cent, the same as in 1955.

With 97 per cent of the polls in, the Conservatives had 1,772,-282—about 57 per cent of the eligible vote. The province's voters list numbered 3,113,249 in 65-per-cent turnout in 1951.

Voters emphatically turned down election bids by nine Communists, four Social Creditors and five Social Credit. Five unaffiliated candidates also met crushing defeat.

The Conservative re - election sweep included the first two Tories, by 9:05 p.m. EDT, 65 minutes after the polls closed, The Canadian Press reported the government victory.

Mr. Winternieyer congratulated the premier and said the Liberal party would strive to make its their 15-point election platform adopted by the next legislature. Mr. Frost and his party were elated with their gains which proved the party was far from extinction in the province.

Mr. MacDonald said the election proved that while the CCF organizational structure needed improvement it was "in good company about with the linking of the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress is a party."

EX-MINISTERS LOSE

Two Progressive Conservatives who resigned from the cabinet last year over natural gas stock purchases were down to defeat.

Former lands minister Clare Gordon lost Fort William to Liberal John Chapple. William Griesinger, who quit the public works portfolio, was beaten in Windsor - Sandwich by Liberal Maurice Bevanger.

The premier received the news about his former cabinet mem-

Rodney Sharpe Given 15 Months For Break-ins

Rodney A. Sharpe, 19-year-old Bellville youth, was given 15 months detention and six months indeterminate when he appeared before Judge J. F. Smith this morning for sentence on two charges of breaking and entering and for possession of burglary tools.

Earlier in the week at the current Assizes and the Hastings County General Sessions of the Peace, Sharpe had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Thurlow township office and also a CNR toolshed in Belleville. He also pleaded guilty to the charge of being in possession of burglary tools.

Several Crown witnesses were heard at the trial following which Sharpe was advised by his counsel Robert Temple to enter a plea of guilty.

In passing sentence Judge Smith warned Mr. Sharpe that he was in danger of impaired driving against Jack Sharpe of Frankford was proceeded with.

Mr. Sharpe was charged with drunk driving arising out of a motor accident on Glen Miller East August in which 19-year-old Sheila Emerson was killed. The drunk driving charge was reduced by the Grand Jury to one of impaired driving.

PUC Waters Its Own Lawn Out of Hours

The value of setting a good example is apparently not appreciated by officials at the city public utilities water filtration plant on the Front Road.

Or maybe it was all just an oversight.

In any event domestic users of water are asked to adhere to the filtration set down for lawn watering during the early morning and late afternoon and evening.

This week during the heat wave residents have been warned to adhere to hours set down for lawn watering, but yesterday afternoon at two o'clock a sprinkler was seen in operation on the filtration plant lawn.

But, as we said, maybe was an oversight.

High School Activities

As the school year draws to a close on the hill at Q.C.I. it often seems that those things which are last on the year's program are certainly not least, but often the best things of the year. Although hardly tense possible, the assemblies have been better than ever as we neared the end of the line. Even the examinations loomings up in some minds can be regarded as the best—at least they're the last and that's good.

Ever take a tour of New York City and Washington, you ask? The students of Quinte were taken on such a tour at the Kenmore Air Base on Wednesday, May 27, as were the Schickingchen family, who saw the highlights of the city, escorted by their guide, Joanne Hansen, G12B. These countries saw the slick city slickers of New York and Washington's socialites and 'hoods'. They toured both Broadway and Harlem where they saw the actual scene told of the famous 'Step Sisters'. The scene of the famous Broadway musical "South Pacific" was then played by the band. A trip to a famous night club was next where chanteuse Marsha Dovray sang and she celebrated Cha Cha Cha was presented in colorful rendition of "Tea for Two". Then it was back to your hotel as Broadway play and cues were thrilling by the performances of Julie Andrews and Mary Martin in the unique version of "The Day Big Bill Tilden Played Golf." The second big death scene was unsurpassed in its dramatic qualities.

At Greenwich Village, our group of Beatniks enjoying an afternoon of dancing and poetry and the girls displaying their privy-like rooms. The highlight of the tour was the visit to the Moulin Rouge where the Can Can dancers squealed and kicking their way through the colorful skirt swirling Can Can. Incidentally, one of the Can Can girls and tap-dancers from Harlem travelled to Kingston for an appearance on the Can Can dance Party. Their versatile choreographer, Miss Hunter, whom I guess much of the credit for the success of this assembly, accompanied the girls and was interviewed by Ted Curl. Miss Hunter, High School Secretary, merit our thanks for a wonderful assembly.

HAIL AND FAREWELL

This was the theme of the last mammoth assembly of the year when students and staff paid for achievements gained and goodbyes were said to members of the staff who are leaving. It seemed that almost every student in the school had won an award of some kind and there were great streams of students making their way to receive awards for perfect attendance, athletic achievements and commercial prizes.

The Library Club announced a special award — the prize of an all expense paid trip to Stratford next fall on the Stratford Safari. A new original contest is being held to determine the lucky winner. Library Club seemed to be in a generous mood that day as it announced several other awards, among them the award of an annual scholarship, a donation to the Student Council project of a new showcase, and a contribution to Peter Valks and Mike Pitcher to help them finish their mural on the second floor.

The Students Council then paid tribute on behalf of the student body to members who are leaving Quinte this year, and Mr. Reid spoke of the contributions that each of the teachers had made to life at Quinte, whether his stay had been long or short. The following teachers were called to the platform to receive their gifts from members of the council and affectionate applause from the student: Miss McEwen, Mrs. Fishers, Miss Rose, Mr. Brownell, Mr. Boyce, Mr. Jones, Mr. Cody and last, but not least, Mr. Boyle. Mr. Boyle who, after a five year tenure at Quinte, is leaving to become principal of Madoc High School, then gave a few farewell remarks and expressed the appreciation of all the staff members not only for their duties but for the fine teaching experience and the excellent relationship with students and staff alike that has been theirs at Quinte.

SEMINAR

Seven students who have been chosen to attend the United National Seminar at Queen's University this week are Ann Hansen, G12B, and Caroline Daugherty, G12B. These students are being sponsored this year by the Rotarians and the Student Council for the three day seminar.

THE LISTENING SHADOW

That dark cloud looming above us like the shadow of Alice as she holds up the sky is the shadow of examinations darkening the thoughts and dampening the spirits of the students, especially with this week's hurricane which will more than dampen our spirits that are dampened. The pencil sharpenings in the halls are rapidly being reduced to soggy sacks in this heat and humidity. The boys are busily finding a substitute in stiff starched shirts for a week to begin examinations. We hope that the weather turns cooler by then to relieve the sweating the papers. It might help to lessen the severity of that slashing red pencil.

PUBLICATIONS

Another last item that is also a big part of the graduation festivals, hot off the presses, of course, is Quintessence. It is a first because it is the first time that the yearbook has been extended to a 48 page book and year's grade 13, and what more appropriate time than for those who are the first five-year graduates in Quinte's young history. We congratulate and extend special congratulations and thanks to Editor Ann Hansen, her plans, and to the editors, staff advisers and general workers of Quintessence. Quintessence is for a yearbook that is spendid in form in format and contents. Quintessence gets better every year, and we should all work hard to see that Quintessence gets bigger. Let's pledge our support to next year's staff when this year's Quintessence is put the last.

Another publication that has been a first this year is this Listening Shadow with News and Activities. Teachers, parents and students alike have reported finding this column to its new format, Jamie Gill. And we'll be flourishing next year by contributing school news items to its new reporter. And with the passing of the Listening Shadow for this year, the present author wishes to say goodbye and good luck to all Quinte students and to formally bequeath with her blessing

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials led the stock market lower today in light morning trading.

The 11 a.m. volume was 535,000 shares, compared with Thursday's 863,000 at the same hour. Orchan was up 14 cents at $1.09 but few other speculatives had gains of five-cents.

Among industrials gains and losses were generally less than one point.

Seniors lost in base metals. Hudson Bay dipped ¼ at 54½ while International Nickel and Consolidated Denison were off ¼. Opemiska lost 35 cents at $8.80 among junior coppers.

The market covered a narrow advance Thursday.

Golds had their best gain in three weeks. Final volume was 3,013,000 shares, somewhat better than Wednesday's 2,622,000.

Among industrials, Aluminium dipped ¼ at 21¾ after touching a 1958 high of 35 in the first hour. Massey-Ferguson lost ½ at 16.

The big industrial win went to National Lead, a rare trader, up 8¼ at 118½ on a single sale. Steel Company of Canada gained 1½ at 79¼ while National Steel Car added 1 at 18½.

Melntyre was the leader, up 1¼ at 90. Dome added ¾ at 19½ while Gullinger gained ¼ at 31½.

International Nickel, up 1 at 82, was the feature among base metals. Falconbridge and Noranda added fractions but Hudson Bay and Consolidated lost small losses.

In western oils, Royalite gained 20 cents at $8.25 and Pacific Petroleum ¼ at 13¾.

Industrial Acceptance .05 to 53.75; gold .1.06 to 94.02; base metals .10 to 173.85; western oils .15 to 122.59.

Eighth Scout Group Holds Annual Father-Son Banquet

By CHRIS LEGGAT

On Wednesday evening some 100 Scouts, Cubs and their dads came out together to be the guests of the 8th Belleville Ladies' Auxiliary at the annual father and son banquet at Prince Charles School.

The tables at the head table were: Miss M. Gelsthorpe, Cub leader; Mrs. L. Ashley, Brownie Cub Master; Mr. H. Smith, District Scout Master; Mr. M. Mc-Clelland, Scout Master; Mrs. Mr. M. Chubb, guest speaker; Mr. Hamilton, chairman, and son, Bob; Mr. P. Alcorn, District Commissioner; Mr. C. Boyle, Belleville District Commissioner; Mr. B. Collins, vice-president Local Association; Mr. Loren, president of the Home and School Association and son.

A toast to the fathers was proposed by Rodney Reid and replied to by Mr. Loren.

Mr. L. Ashley, who as well as being a member of the district staff, has been actively working with the Scout group spoke of the glowing terms of the boys' accomplishments and made reference to their second place standing at the recent Camporee among 21 patrols.

PRESENTATION MADE

A presentation was made to Mr. Boyle by Mr. Sterling, on behalf of the group, the Ladies' Auxiliary, the parents and the boys, on his departure from the Belleville district to take over duties as principal of the Madoc High School this fall. Many references were made to Mr. Boyle's service to Scouting and, in particular, his contribution to the 8th Troop.

The guest speaker, Mr. M. Chubb, Field Officer and Secretary of the Moira, Napanee and Crowe River Conservation Authorities, was introduced by Mr. Boyle and thanked by Mr. J. Devlin. Mr. Chubb's talk was illustrated by colored slides and movies and he spoke with authority in different locations.

Of particular interest was his reference to work being done, and also that carried out by provincial river drainage during the summer resulting in the condition in which the river now is in the Moira at Belleville. He also spoke of the investigations which have been and are being carried out to prevent flooding in the spring thaw. He spoke of the possibility of a filter dam being placed across the Moira at College Street to hold the ice back. Reference was made to the 27-acre property set aside by the Authority at Thomasburg for Scouting.

The District Commissioner was asked to present the following proficiency badges to the Cubs: swimmers to Bobby Hamilton and Graydon Findall; collectors to Graydon Findall; Pet Owners to Jonco, team players to Brian Frederick, Bobby Hamilton and Rodney Reid; house orderly to Glenn Vallean; homecraft to Bobby Hamilton and Rodney Reid, observer to Bobby Hamilton, gardener to Bobby Hamilton; cyclist to Jim Nokes; artist to Graydon Findall; pet owner to Graydon Findall; Peter Helm and Peter Jones.

Mr. Ken Chubb, the former leader of the pack, now on district staff, presented Jim Nokes and Graydon Findall.

Mr. Alcorn presented a Six-Year Star to Miss Fay Hamilton, and a One-Year Star to Miss Janet Fralick, her two assistants, and spoke of their loyalty and devotion to Scouting.

CHALLENGED TO LAMB

The District Commissioner spoke in serious terms of the challenge to the boys and the Scout group to make their group committee active so that it can be the inspiration for the boys which it should, and particularly mentioned the need for the welfare of the troop which would not be maintained on Mr. Boyle's departure unless the group committee support them and come to the adequate assistance and leadership. Representation of the 8th Group in Belleville Scouting was also pleaded for through the Local Association so the group could be helped with the organizations established for the Scouters with the rest of Belleville Scouting and Cubbing.

A wonderful evening for the boys and dads came to a close with singing of the Cub and Scout Vesper.

Columnist Hits Election Results Right on Nose

WINDSOR (CP) — H. L. MacPherson, feature columnist for the Windsor Star, is smiling today. In his column he predicted the opinions of the Ontario election as "22 Liberals, five CCFers and 78 PCs."

For those who haven't read it already, he hit it right on the nose.

Deficit Financing Given as Cause For Inflation

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's farmers and others of the country's money investors gave conflicting testimony Thursday on the cause of inflation.

The Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association in a brief to the Senate finance committee, placed its main emphasis on the need for a balanced federal budget.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture in another brief said deficit financing by government is "is not a sound means of fighting inflation."

Both groups said higher wage demands by labor and the "phenomenon of shortages" in some industry seemed to be important factors.

The life insurance officers, represented by A. Ross Poyntz, president of the Canada Life Assurance Company of Canada, also appeared to see these as factors in inflation. But they are to deal with them at later committee hearings.

BLAME DEFICIT FINANCING

The insurance men recommended that deficit financing by federal government in the last year has been a major factor in inflation.

The Senate committee also heard a suggestion that the federal government set up by statute a national economic board made up of some 25 well-informed persons representing government, labor, industry and finance from all provinces.

Committee members generally approved of the proposal submitted by D. E. Kilgour, president of the Great-West Life Assurance Company, and supported

Bolshoi Ballet Gives Superb Performance in 'Giselle'

By R. H. TANNER

The opening night of the famous Russian Bolshoi Ballet's three-day visit to Toronto proved to be a gala occasion as a capacity audience of around 8000 watched a performance of "Giselle" with Galina Ulanova dancing the title role. This popular and colorful romantic piece is a favorite with ballet connoisseurs all over the world, and at each new viewing it is interesting to compare the versions and variations from the classical original.

Here it must be said that in the first act, the Bolshoi version appeared a little slow, with acting, miming and general preparation taking up time that one felt might be better devoted to purer forms of dancing. However, the balance was to a large extent restored by the introduction of a delightful series of peasant dances with grace, lightness and dash by Ekaterina Maximova and Gleb Evdokimov. The former is a charming little 19-year-old making her first visit to the company in leading roles.

The first act, too, gives the great Ulanova plenty of scope for her superb acting as well as fantastic command of the dance technique, which even at 49, appears to be close to perfection. Whenever she is on stage she dominates it completely, and makes her Russian title of Ballerina Supreme seem almost an understatement.

It is the second act that the real dancing begins, and here the corps de ballet demonstrated a wonderful unanimity of excellence, though under such subdued lighting (due to a then any distance from the stage (which in the Maple Leaf Gardens installation the great majority of the audience) much of the finer detail was lost.

The solo dancing in this act was of a very high order indeed, with Irina Kolpakova as perfectly poised and majestic as the Queen of the Wilis, and Nadia Surina and Nina Chistova equally satisfying as her assistants. Vladimir Levashov, the short role of Hilarion, the remorseful gamekeeper with a great deal of controlled feeling into his dancing. But it was Ulanova again, partnered by Nicolai Fadeyechev as Count Albert, who provided the highlights of the evening with spectacular arabesques, lifts, and elevations, and such lightness and control in their pas de deux as to verily seem.

All in all this was a performance which could come only from a company with a long and glowing history, a fully established ballet school and generous financial support. Its excellence was such that it was all the more unfortunate that in Canada's two largest cities it could find no more suitable home than converted hockey arenas with all their aural and visual drawbacks. We look forward eagerly to the day when both cities will have more suitable accommodation for the world's finest theatrical and artistic groups.

Boy Suffers Broken Leg, Struck by Car

TRENTON — Eleven - year - old Harry Bobbis of 15A Quinte Street suffered a broken leg and lacerations and abrasions to his arms yesterday afternoon when he ran into the side of a car on Dundas Street West in front of the Beamish Stores.

The youngster was taken to the Trenton Memorial Hospital by Weaver's Ambulance, where he was treated by Dr. R. J. Campbell. It is expected he will remain in the hospital for a few weeks.

The driver of the car, Lloyd Northern Canada, 17 of Ivy Crescent, 38, of 93 Bay St., told the police he was proceeding west on Dundas Street when the boy ran out from between two parked cars on the south side of the street and into the side of his car.

The accident was witnessed by several passers-by, and was investigated by Provincial Constable Westfall of the Trenton Police Department.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

John Chowrenk, 17 of 17 Bay Street, had a narrow escape when he drove his bicycle into the side of a car on Elgin Street yesterday afternoon.

Henry Tulford of R. R. 2, Carrying Place, said he was driving his car westward on Elgin Street when he fell to the pavement.

The incident was investigated by Constable Mark Holden of the Trenton Police Department.

Stake Truck Breaks Hydrant Causing Flood

TRENTON — Water only seeped out yesterday afternoon after a stake truck owned by the Trenton Dairies and operated by Stanley Hearns, of R. R. 3, Frankford slammed into a hydrant and kept breaking it off near the bottom.

Damage to the front bumper and grille of the truck was estimated at about $45 but it was reported it would cost $300 to replace the broken hydrant.

Mr. Hearns told police he was proceeding south on Front Street and when he approached the corner of Chapman Street his steering wheel stuck and would not turn. He said he applied the brakes but they failed to stop the truck with into a skid and swerved to the right before striking it off.

There were no injuries and the accident was investigated by Constable Mark Holden of the Trenton Police Force.

NEW CAR DAMAGED

A 1959 model car being driven by Donald E. Jewell of 21 Lafayette Street in Belleville was damaged to the estimated $150 when it was in collision with another at the C.N.R. Subway on North Trent Street, yesterday afternoon.

The other vehicle involved in the mishap was being operated by James A. Mancarrow of R. R. 2, Trenton, and suffered an estimated $30 damage to the front bumper.

The Belleville car was reported to have been driven into the side of the other by after the cars had hit and thus causing more serious damage. According to the police report the point of impact was about four feet from the white line with the Belleville car proceeding north. Patrol Sergeant Bruce Westfall of the Trenton Police investigated the accident.

$10,000 Reward Offered by Govt. For Information

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario attorney general's department has offered a $10,000 reward for information leading to conviction of whoever murdered Const. Allan Lynn Harper, 12, whose strangled and raped body was found Thursday near Clinton.

Attorney - General Kelso Roberts said today he hopes the reward will "help to solve this revolting and savage crime as soon as possible."

"The usual terms apply—the information has to lead to the conviction or apprehension of the person and he has to be proven guilty."

If the guilty party was killed while in process of the commission of the crime, the reward would still be given, the attorney-general said.

"The old saying was 'dead or alive.'"

Mr. Roberts said this is the largest reward ever offered by the department.

He will demand the greatest penalty for the culprit of this "terrible crime," he added.

Gromyko Tries To Break Link Between Parleys

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko opened a drive in the Big Four conference today to break the Western-German link in the personal meeting of foreign ministers and a later economic conference.

Gromyko's attack could foreshadow a final refusal by the Soviet Union to budge on its West Berlin demands, even under pressure from Western premier.

He told the foreign ministers of Britain, the United States and France that their insistence on a link between the present conference and a summit parley is artificial and "altogether invalid."

WANTS SUMMIT SESSION

In effect, Gromyko argued that even though there was a failure here to ease the Berlin tension and make progress toward East-West agreement, there should be a summit session anyway. President Eisenhower has said he would not attend a two-by-two summit meeting under such conditions, and that now is basic Western policy.

Cooler Weather Headed This Way

TORONTO (CP) — Cooler weather is headed for Southern Ontario Saturday—but temperatures were expected to reach 90 today with high humidity readings.

The Toronto weather office reported the only relief from soaring temperatures and humidity will come from scattered thundershowers.

Weekend Livestock Review

TORONTO, (CP) — Slaughter cattle prices were steady to firm, were generally steady this week in the Ontario public stockyards. Cow prices were 50 cents a hundredweight lower and bull prices were unchanged. Most calves sold steady to unevenly lower, heifer and veal prices unchanged. Sheep and lamp prices were steady.

Receipts were some 1,600 head less than last week and 1,000 more heifer and veal than the same week in 1958. Western cattle receipts totalled 275 head, an increase over last week of 55 head. Shipments to eastern Canada showed four single-deck carloads, a decrease under last week of two loads. There were 25 shipments to United States. Slaughter cattle: Choice steers and heifers sold fairly active to 25.85 and one small lot at 26; good 24.25; mediums 23-24; common and medium 20-22; good heifers 23.50-24 with an odd choice at 24.50; mediums 21-23; common 19-21. Choice cod fat cows 22; good 24-26; good steers 19-21; mediums 16-19; common and medium 16-20.

Consecon Youth Drowned in Outlet Creek

PICTON (Special) — John Kaminik, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Kaminik, of R. R. 1 Consecon, was drowned in Outlet Creek, Consecon, while swimming with friends.

The young man was missed by his friends after eight o'clock and dragging operations headed by Ontario Provincial Police were successful in recovering the body about 9.45. Artificial respiration performed by Dr. A. A. Thompson of Wellington failed to revive him.

Loyalists Seek Museum Exhibits For New Home

The hopes and plans initiated three years ago for the inauguration of the Bay of Quinte Branch of the United Empire Loyalists' Association, are now beginning to bear fruit.

At a recent meeting of Ontario St. Lawrence Development Commission officials and executive of the U.E.L. Branch, held in Adolphustown, assurances were given that the site of Adolphustown (now UEL Memorial Park) is undergoing preliminary work to make the lower floor suitable to house a U.E.L. museum.

Five county committees of U.E.L. members have swung into action to speed up collection of suitable items used by Loyalist ancestors. Exhibits are sought by outright donation or lifetime loan, with assurances that adequate protection and care will be provided for their safe keeping.

Co-conveners of Prince Edward County are Claude Young of Wellington, and Mrs. Dorsey of Redmersville, with the following committees already pledged to act: Harry G. Blakely, Picton; Dunam R. Foster, Bloomfield; Ward Warner Mc-Faul, R.R. 2, Consecon. A short meeting of this committee has been called for June 14th at 3 p.m. at the home of Mr. Young in Wellington.

NO SURPRISES

If there was anything surprising about yesterday's election, it was that there were no real surprises.

An election that runs true to form is the exception rather than the rule. Not this one time.

"Progressive Conservatives re-elected with a reduced majority" was a forecast heard on all sides before voting day.

It was plainly spoken by independents, most of whom were happy at the prospect of the province's affairs continuing under the guidance of able and genial Premier Leslie Frost, but happy, too, at the outlook for his majority being sufficiently reduced to make the Opposition's task of watchful vigilance somewhat easier.

The same prediction was whispered by Progressive Conservatives, who did not want to admit publicly that their support had weakened, and by the Liberals and CCF-ers, who were reluctant to accept the obvious truth, that they had no real hopes of upsetting the government.

We are not at all sure, however, that an exhaustive analysis of the election figures, by an expert qualified for this task, might not reveal some unexpected trends. There were some indications that voters in some ridings were ready for a change, but were unable to find an acceptable alternative. Votes against the government in some ridings were fairly evenly split between the Liberals and the CCF.

If there was any surprise in the results, it was in the Toronto area, where the Liberals, shut out in the last election, succeeded in winning four seats and where Donald C. MacDonald, CCF leader, had a comparatively easy time in winning re-election in York South—There were those who thought that Mr. MacDonald had been too vigorous in his criticism of the Government. The voters of York South seemed to think otherwise. There was, of course, no surprise in the easy victory of Premier Leslie Frost in Victoria, nor in the return of Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer, whose re-election in Waterloo North was one of the first results to be announced.

Opponents of the government may attempt to make much of the fact that over half the voters cast their ballots for opposition candidates. But this result was no different from that in the elections of 1955 and 1951, although the Conservatives' share of the vote was slightly lower and the Liberal share slightly higher this election.

In this district congratulations are in order for the three Progressive Conservatives elected, to W. Elmer Sandercock in West Hastings, -whose re-election was never really in doubt once the counting of the ballots had started, to Norris Whitney, another easy winner in Prince Edward-Lennox, and to Clarke Rollins, who won in East Hastings in his first bid for a seat in the Legislature.

WEATHERMAN MAY BECOME INFALLIBLE

Not infrequently in recent years one has heard favorable comment on the success of the weatherman in his forecasting for the future. Some people, we would think, today's forecaster is able to give a reasonably accurate picture of the weather ahead during the next 24 or 36 hours. There are, however, still occasions when the weather which arrives is the exact opposite of that predicted - - when it pours bucketfuls of cold rain on a day which was supposed to be a scorcher, or when a sudden cloudburst comes when there is not a cloud in the sky. Or less; when the caps dance on the bay at a time when the sea is close, humid weather was predicted.

The trouble, we learn, is not with the forecaster and his knowledge of what makes the weather, but with the machines he uses to analyze the facts he has gathered. They are too slow.

UNESCO reports that a recent heat wave over part of Western Europe, coming at a time when most meteorologists had predicted cold, wind and rain, calls attention to the fact that soon errors of this proportion will no longer be possible. "Powerful and ultra-rapid calculating machines are reaching point where they can manipulate enormous quantities of information in record time and produce foolproof forecasts," it says.

"The time factor," we are told, "is one of the main obstacles at present to accurate forecasting, for most meteorological stations are unable to cope sufficiently quickly with the enormous quantity of complex data which arrives them from observation posts all over the world. Added to this data, the information recorded in the upper atmosphere by rockets and artificial satellites gives a picture of nearly infallible accuracy, provided it is compiled in time."

"Infallible accuracy" - - that phrase has an impressive ring to it. But when this accuracy is attained we shall lose one of our most familiar similies - - as unpredictable as the weather.

GARDENING

By EDGAR A. GUEST

The garden is a splendid joy
There is no doubt.
Man gets as gleeful as a boy
When sweet peas sprout.

One radish showing through the earth
Delights his soul
As though this tender shoot were worth
Its weight in gold.

And down upon his bended knees,
To make it brief,
He shouts with joy if he but sees
One lettuce leaf.

And when one cabbage sprout he spies
He laughs to think
How he has put those farmer blues
Upon the blink!

Birds Team With Ants

Smithsonian Institute Bulletin

One of nature's strange partnerships — between millions of foraging army ants and flocks of insect eating birds — is being studied at the Smithsonia Institution's jungle reservation on Barro Colorado island in the Canal Zone.

During the past winter Dr. Robert Barth of Harvard university has been investigating the feeding habits among the fallen leaves by the approach of the army ants.

The nucleus of such a flock is composed of the black and white jungle babbler, so called because they follow ants not because they eat them. A flock also consists of a dozen or more other species, which attach themselves around the army ants' followers, mix freely with the main flock and are tolerated. Among these "true" followers are antbirds, ant-thrushes, ant-wrens, flycatchers and tanagers.

The arrival of army ants causes the appearance of the antbirds in the jungle preserve. Suddenly they are seen hopping and twittering as if a light shower were falling from the leaves of the forest floor. This is due to the frantic fluttering of countless insects trying to escape from the pot column. The birds fall upon the fleeing insects — scorpions, centipedes and devour them.

If one can get a glimpse of such a flock it is almost certain evidence that a major ant column is moving along the jungle floor below with a front varying in width from 3 to 5 yards and with foraging columns branching off in all directions.

The same bird group follow the same ant columns day after day. If one of the swift world of feathered creatures descend fearlessly among these "lions and tigers" of the insect world apparently are not molested by them.

Once Brides Had It Tough

World Book Encyclopedia

The groom and the bride sweep down the aisle with all the self-satisfaction of a modern Diana returning from the hunt with a stag slung over her shoulder.

But this spirit hasn't always been the victory celebration of the female. And everything about the wedding — including the world itself — is designed to remind the bride that the groom was, at best, a marketable commodity . . . and at worst, fair game for any unattached marauder.

The next man, for example, is believed to be a relic of the days when a man simply carried off a girl who had wandered too far from home. The husband-to-be usually brought along a muscular friend to fight off pursuers. The attendants now had to hide out for a while until the girl's family got a full day's searching for them. This was the beginning of the honeymoon.

Even then these tactics didn't foster togetherness . . . and may have started the continuing battle between a husband and his mother-in-law.

The custom of buying a wife left a girl with fewer bruises. But it didn't do much more for her position, especially since some African tribes thought she was worth about one ox.

Simple Words Can Be Vivid

Windsor Star

Children of 10 amaze adults by the range of their English. They can use a very limited vocabulary only to express what they mean. The same is found among new Canadians, just learning English, and among those in the apparently, to primitive peoples.

Shoenukiuk, an Eskimo visiting Ottawa on a hot, humid day, said he would have liked southern Canada. He replied that his mind thinks he might like it but his body tells him no. What professor of English could have put it better?

There frequently is conflict between mind and body. Often the body has triumphed which the mind rejects. Or, the mind may want something to which the body is not equal. All of us have felt such contradictions, but Shoenukiuk did the simplest. He scribes it simply but eloquently.

Strength for The Day

POWER IN THE WORD

"In the beginning was the Word."

The Gospel of John opens with this majestic sentence. And majestic it is in every sense of the term. Sometimes people read this declaration with only a very hazy conception of what it means. It is one of the most arresting statements found in the entire Bible.

For "word" in the Bible means something different than it does in modern parlance. It is by His word that God creates. In the beginning He said, "Let their be light, and there was light." It was His word that brought about this marvelous beginning of creation, and as one goes through the creation story he finds that everything was created simply by the word of God.

Now what the Evangelist John meant when he began his Gospel with the statement, "In the beginning was the Word," was simply that before there was anything else in the created universe, there was the eternal God. He put this power to work by the utterance of words. Then for before is God's power in creative action.

This Word became incarnate in a human body, namely, the body of Jesus Christ, Scripture tells Him was God the Creator at work; not as the beginning of creating a material world but as the creator of new life in men's souls.

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was God." The spiritually creative power of God became flesh and dwelt amongst us.

Urbanization, which means the movement of populations into cities, issues and organized municipalities, is going on at such a rate all over the world that it is almost infuriating and exciting about it. In Ontario, for example, in 1901, there 2,246,963 people living on farms and only 933,929 living in cities, towns and villages. By the 1951 census there were only 1,546,349 in the rural areas, a gain of a measly one hundred thousand. But the number in cities, towns and villages had leaped to 3,251,009, an enormous gain. It was roughly 60 per cent on the land and 40 per cent in communities in 1901. And in fifty years, it was down to 30 per cent on the land and 70 per cent in urban centres.

There are many angles to be thought out in this matter. But the one that appeals to me is that when I was a small boy in 1901, all our rich relatives lived on farms. It is funny in the city we had indoor plumbing, hot and cold taps and electric street cars. We took what we wanted and paid out of these. But it was always a great social event when we were invited to visit our wealthy cousins in the country. And what a feast it was when our wealthy relatives came to the city to visit us. We all had to put on all the side we could muster, from mother's food to us children's behavior at the table.

In the mechanics and amenities of social living, during the fifty years, the cities and towns have far ahead of the countryside.

But I have a hunch that what is happening now is the end in increase in amenities of every description available to the farthest countryside, our country cousins are fairly soon to be, if not our wealthy relations, at least our pleasantly comfortable elite relations when we are invited to visit them.

Romance In Brazil

Stratford Beacon-Herald

This, dear reader, if you like a story of romance in the autumn of life, is one that will tear your heart-strings in the best movie style.

Sizenando Busarque is a watchmaker in Rio de Janeiro. He could look back on 87 years of bliss with his Idalina. She was fair to look upon and was an excellent cook as well — a grand combination.

Although they had never found time for a wedding ceremony, there was ample testimony of their mutual love and devotion. They had 20 children. And, crowded though it was, theirs was the happiest house in Rio Bay. Perhaps the only weak point in this love match was the disparity in ages. Idalina was a plump, clear-eyed 42. Sizenando, at 75, was getting a little scraggy.

Then one day, Mandel dos Santos, a sprightly salesman of 64, called at the love-nest and introduced her to an easy way of making money. It was on the spot. She wrote a little note for Sizenando, put a flower in her hair, and left with Mandel for Mandels and off they went.

Sizenando did not give up easily. He found their address and told Idalina their youngest daughter, Mirtes, was very ill. She was not her children or her puppy, but Sizenando figured that might help. Unfortunately, it did. But Mandel was not the kind of fellow to run away with either. He went to the Busarque home, yelling "I love you" many times over. To give weight to this declaration he brought a pistol along with him. And that is what he had in the hand. Then Mr. Busarque ripostied by shooting Mandel in the hip.

Idalina bandaged Sizenando's hand and Mandel's hip.

Then she went home to mother.

Play Farms In U.S. Cities

Washington Post

It will come as a surprise to children of the future that their best companionship with calves, colts, lambs and chicks was to be found in farms. Many children today are now being ejected near large cities to learn at first hand the production in such strange animals as cows. Since only about 12 per cent of the American population now lives on farms, most city children are unfamiliar with cows, pigs, animals and with park pigeons and squirrels they are inclined to look on as a stranger. When cooked where milk comes from, they think it comes from cans, not the milkman.

At these play farms children can see the raising of cows and can scold and play with smaller animals. Each experience probably will seem tame indeed to the lucky children who have had the adventure of finding a wobbly calf in its pasture, carrying it in a baby lamb, of trying to hold a Bobtail cow colt on a rope, or of being chased by an angry turkey gobbler, of living with a goosepimpled rooster and of being spoken to by a hen.

A synthetic farm life nevertheless is better than none, as well that the next generation will at least know that eggs are not purple.

Any Connection?

Hamilton Spectator

We see that a former army officer is a provincial candidate for one of the political parties in the June 11 election. Probably hopes to show skeptics that there really is an association between intelligence and politics.

SKIN-DIVERS ADVISED TO AVOID UNNECESSARY RISKS

Skin-diving, anyone? All I know about skin-diving is what I've read, or sat people have told me. But that's quite a bit.

Just as a doctor, I can see certain dangers attached to the sport. These dangers will not exist if the people who enjoy the sport will only take a few precautions. But, I regret to say, they will be some who will not take proper precautions. Some people will be lucky and get away with it, and thus encourage others to be fool-hardy. The others will not be so lucky, and they will be dead, or hurt, as a result.

First of all, if you aren't in good physical condition, don't try skin-diving. For one thing, the energy required is considerable. For another, a person incapacitated in some way, like a plump, clear-eyed 42. Sizenando, at 75, was getting a little scraggy.

Then one day, Mandel dos Santos, a sprightly salesman of 64, called at the love-nest and introduced her to an easy way of making money. It was on the spot. She wrote a little note for Sizenando, put a flower in her hair, and left with Mandel for Mandels and off they went.

Time Payments Under Fire

Winnipeg Free Press

Mr. G. R. McGregor, president of Trans Canada Air Lines, tells the transportation Competition has forced the air line to adopt the time-payment plan for air-selling flights, where the purchaser pays one-tenth of the fare in advance and the balance over a period of months.

This is commendable in just about every line of merchandising. But although it has brought additional passengers to TCA, Mr. McGregor does not like it.

Taking the customer's, rather than the merchant's, point of view, the plan is excellent and out the other day that the buyer is not paying for his trip months after it has become only a memory; and that by not paying cash he usually buys a little more.

These objections are, of course, more or less applicable in just about everything we buy on the time plan. Nevertheless we are urged on every hand to buy now and pay later, it is indeed refreshing to hear a business man sound the disadvantages of this method of buying.

TODAY'S TALK

By George Matthew Adams

YOU ARE OPPORTUNITY

I have known many who have made the decision to start and stop waiting for opportunity to stop at their place but whose voice they did not know. Opportunity, however, is always around, ready and waiting for us to start working, and the one with courage, faith and ideas.

Opportunity is no friend of the indolent, though, nor the one who stays away from the opportunity is the friend of those who are waiting for opportunity to call their names. You, who read this Talk, are opportunity! Think this fact over. Befriend it and you will make it your own. Do not let it pass you, for then you will be surrendering, as has many another.

Think, opportunity may knock at your door this moment. Call it in to enter at once. Your voice will bers with regret, commenting: "They are two fine fellows in my books and they've given great service in the province. I regret their loss."

Another prominent Conservative failed by the Liberal upsurge was white W. J. Stewart, beaten in Toronto Parkdale by James Trotter who ran him a close second in 1955.

Other Liberal conquests over Conservatives:

SPORTS FIGURE WINS

Leo Trov, a high school teacher prominent in Northern Ontario sports circles, defeated John Chapui in Nipissing.

Joseph M. Gould took Toronto Bracondale from Harold Menzies, a new Conservative candidate.

Elmer Sopha ousted C. J. Monaghan who was bidding for a second term in Sudbury.

Vernon Singer, former reeve of North York Township, won York Centre from Tom Graham;

George Bukator had a wide margin in Niagara Falls over Keith Lougheed who sought to hold the seat from which Arthur C. Lolley had retired after two terms;

Bernard Newman, coach of internationally-famed gymnast Ernestine Russell, captured Windsor-Walkerville against a bid by Dr. H. Hicks;

Ray Edwards beat out two-time winner Art Childs in Wentworth.

PEARSON EX-AIDE WINS

Andrew Thompson, former special assistant to federal Liberal Leader Pearson, squeezed home the winner in a tight race against Rev. D. M. Kerr who was trying to win Toronto Dovercourt for a third time.

The CCF triumphs over Conservatives were in Toronto Woodbine, where Ken Bryden, the party's provincial secretary, defeated Harold Fishleigh's three-term run and in Hamilton East, taken by Norm Davison from Robert Elliott who was also after a third straight win.

The gains appeared to reflect voter acceptance of the opposition leaders' campaign for them a stronger voice in the Conservative-dominated legislature.

For the Liberals it was their most successful campaign in 25 years. The party dropped to 15 seats from 63 when the Conservatives came to power in 1943, skidded to 11 in 1945, took 13 in 1948, slipped to seven in 1951 and then rose to 11 in 1955.

The CCF showing was the best since 1948 when it and Labor-Progressives formed the official opposition. It lost all but two of these in 1951, and built up to three in 1955. For the CCF fortunes came in 1943 when the party had 34 seats, only four fewer than the reigning Conservatives. The total dwindled to eight in 1945.

VETERANS DO WELL

Harry Nixon, who holds the House service record of 40 years, went back easily for the Liberals in Brant.

Farquhar Oliver, former Liberal leader who was first elected in 1926, coasted home in Grey South.

Premier Frost shares the Conservative long service record with Rev. A. W. Downer, speaker in the last legislature who retained Dufferin-Simcoe. Both entered the House in 1937.

Results of voting by Ontario servicemen stationed outside the province will be announced next week. Only about 8,000 of the 45,000 eligibles applied for ballots and their votes are not expected to change the outcome in any constituency.

THE PLATFORMS

THE PLATFORMS

Premier Frost stressed the province's growth during 16 years of Conservative administration. He asked voters to return the government on this record.

Mr. Winstanley expounded on his platform which pledged faster highway development, a study of liquor laws, provincial payment of all education costs and aid to small business among its major planks.

Mr. MacDonald offered increased taxation on rich corporations to finance new social benefits and promised government auto and health insurance, increasing housing aid and development of a natural gas utility.

Both opposition leaders emphasized the natural gas stock controversy and criticized a land purchase in the Sarnia area by the publicly - owned Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

CANADIAN SKIPPER — Lieut. Sam Tomlinson, 31, of Calgary, only Canadian in command of a submarine through the periscope of HMS Trespasser as she slips along under the English Channel. Tomlinson is one of 175 Canadian sailors attached to the Royal Navy submarine service. (CP from National Defence.)

Canadian Skipper of RN Sub Enjoys Life Aboard the Divers

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PORTSMOUTH, England, (CP)—HMS Trespasser sliced through the murky waters of the English Channel. Lieut. Sam Tomlinson of Calgary, Alta., skipper of the big black-hulled submarine, sat in his cramped quarters and surveyed up his job in a few words.

"This is a great life. You really work closely with your men."

When the 31-year-old Canadian gave the dive order and the submarine begnn sliding silently through the depths, he proved his point. He had to make his way through the crew in the control room as he moved around to survey the array of dials, levers and valves that cover the slanted walls.

When he locked his eyes to the periscope and pulled the instrument around he had to shunt more men out of his way. On one side was Chief Petty Officer Harry Parson of Halifax who kept the vessel on an even keel by manipulating the front fins. On the skipper's other side was Lieut. Clamoe Charron of Quebec City, the navigation officer.

CANADIANS IN RN

The three Canadians are part of the 175 RCN officers from which the RN has spread throughout its 49 submarines. Tomlinson is the only Canadian to get his own command.

"I prefer submarines to anything I've ever been on," said the stocky young skipper. "While it's safer than walking across the street, it still is exciting experimly from a command aspect."

As Captain Tomlinson is mainly responsible with attack procedures.

Liberals Take Four Seats in Tory Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The Liberals clicked Tiny Tywhite Thursday's Ontario general election, racking up their first provincial election victories in the area in 23 years.

Progressive Conservative strength in the 20 Toronto and York ridings was cut to 16 from 19. The Liberals took four seats. The CCF also won a seat from Trinity-Spadina when party leader Donald C. MacDonald was re-elected easily in York South.

The Liberal wins were in Parkdale, Dovercourt, Bracondale and York Centre. Not since 1937, when they won nine seats, had a Liberal been elected in Toronto.

In Northern Ontario the Conservatives lost Fort William. Lindsay Hilpaing to the Liberals, reducing their strength to nine from 12. Albert Wren retained Kenora for the Liberals.

In the 29 Central Ontario ridings Conservative strength was cut to 15 from 18, losing Hamilton to Liberal Ken Farnsworth and Niagara Falls to the Liberals.

In Western Ontario, for years the strongest Liberal region, Conservatives lost Windsor-Walkerville and Windsor-Sandwich to the Liberals. CCF also defeated elected Conservatives and 11 Liberals.

In Eastern Ontario held firm for the Conservatives. The region's 18 ridings unchanged, Conservatives retaining 17 and Liberal Peter Mawley winning re-election in Dundas.

3579 in the last election. Mr. Sandercock's plurality was cut from 310 to 231. He polled 1311 as against 1838 previously, while the Liberal candidate had 1080 votes as against the previous number of 1518.

Conservative Sidney ran true to form with only a few votes' difference in the Sandercock majority of 501. He polled 1346 as against Mr. Lundberg's 823. However, Mr. Brethour showed an increase of 31 votes over the 1955 CCF candidate's figure.

The remainder of the subdivisions in the riding gave the Conservatives majorities of more or less the same size as those of the last election, although the total vote was smaller.

HASTINGS EAST

With returns from all of the riding's 38 polls heard from in Hastings East, Clarke Rollins in his inaugural bid for political honour, polled 5,131 as against Liberal Leslie MacLaren's 4,254, Charles Tupper, CCF, polled 402. Rollins' unofficial plurality was 1,887.

While the total vote was more or less close, 10,787 as against 9,917 in 1955 going to the polls, the difference was practically the decrease in the Conservative majority of four years ago.

Mr. Rollins polled 6,121 votes as against 4,234 for Mr. MacLaren, or a plurality of 1,887. In 1955 Roscoe Robson polled 5,304 as against 3,530 for Dr. McVicker, Liberal or a plurality of 1,774. There was only one vote decrease in the CCF vote in the two elections. In 1955 the party candidate received 403 votes. This election Mr. Tupper was given 402.

It was the closest provincial election race in its earlier history in the riding in years. Mr. Rollins took a scant lead with the earlier returns but it was no race away at any time and the later ballot boxes decided the issue.

One of the biggest upsets from a Conservative point of view occurred in Tweed village where the Liberals polled 418 votes as against the Conservatives' 273, a margin of 88. In 1955 Mr. Robson polled 297 votes as against 267 for Dr. McVicker, Liberal Dr. McVicker's P.C. margin of 105.

The Liberals upped their majority in Tyendinaga where MacLaren was given 562 against Mr. Rollins' 284, a net decision for McVicker was six of Mr. Robson's 654.

Huggerford wiped out Conservative plurality of 11 votes, MacLaren who polled 71 for Mr. Rollins.

The village of Deseronto, in the CCF vote as against Rollins 376 votes as against 341 or a Con. plurality of 135. In the section the villagers gave a Victor 284 to 284.

The election in the was one of the quietest in There were no outward demonstrations before the and few afterwards while the day candidates' ar tert quietly drove voters t

Mrs. Hodgins will be having as her theme: "Living for Christ in the Space Age". Mrs. Palmer succeeded the great need of getting the gospel to the children, and asked for prayers to that end, as well as for practical assistance, both financially and spiritually.

The next number was a solo by Mrs. Sills, "Sweet Rosie O'Tree", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Wilbur Leonard. This was followed by the highlight of the evening, a tape recording from the Reverend Cecil and Mrs. Smith, missionaries from the Alliance Tabernacle, who are laboring in Ecuador, with their two little ones.

Mr. Smith told of his labor of love among the Indians as he sought, day by day, to bring

WEDDINGS

ABBOTT — HYDERMAN

Christ Church, Belleville, was the setting for a recent very pretty wedding when Eileen Beatrice Hyderman, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hyderman, became the bride of Arnold Richard Abbott, of Kingston, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott.

White chrysanthemums and yellow daffodils adorned the sanctuary.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, church organist, furnished the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of white satin, fashioned in ballerina length in formal style featuring a lace bodice, a floral redingote, and shoulder-length veil set over satin. She wore a matching Grace Kelly headdress, shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of deep red roses.

Miss Carol Ann Pearce of Belleville, attended the bride, wearing a yellow formal in ballerina-length, with matching accessories and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Max Weir of Consecon, attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Kiwanis Committee, Dundas St. east where the guests were received by the mother, wearing navy blue white accessories and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore beige with accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table was prettily appointed in the traditional theme of the three-tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The bride chose a white satin navy blue accessories and a corsage of orchids.

For a wedding trip to Lake Ontario, the bride donned a navy blue accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. Palmer, in the absence present from Sir- half of the bride, Mr. Cornwall, Bath, and Mrs. Christ Church, Kingston, was entertained at a banquet the night before her marriage, at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. A. Hyderman, on Bleecker Crescent.

REID — PARKS

Plainfield United Church was the setting for a recent May-time wedding when Marian Gravada Parks, of Plainfield, became the bride of Lorne Douglas Reid, of Toronto. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parks of Plainfield and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reid, Rosebank.

The Reverend R. W. T. Middleton, of Bayside, Ontario, officiated before a lovely background of lilacs, tulips, iris and daffodils. The guest pews were marked by white satin bows.

Mrs. Harry Harrison presided for the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Bernice Moore, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Clarence Parks, the bride was charmingly gowned in a floor-length Chantilly lace over taffeta, accented by a deep front panel. The fitted bodice featured long sleeves, and a scalloped boat-shaped neckline adorned in pearl and seed pearls, as was the panel front. Her finger-tip veil of French tulle was held by a wreath of white organza flowers trimmed with seed pearls and she carried red Sweetheart roses on a white Bible.

Mrs. Harold Treverton, as matron of honor, sister of the bride, was attired in white nylon in street length, embossed with yellow flowers and yellow underskirt and cummerbund. She wore a white flowered bandeau and carried a bouquet of white mums centred with yellow Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Clifford Belch, Jr. of Belleville, and Miss Dorothy Parks of Plainfield, were the bridesmaids, also sister of the bride, gowned in white nylon in street length, over orange-ice slips, embossed with orange-rose flowers, and carried nosegays of white mums centred with orange-ice Sweetheart roses and wore white flowered bandeaux.

Mr. Harold Reid of Roslin, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Donald Reid, also of Roslin, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Harold Parks, Plainfield, brother of the bride, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Plainfield Orange hall, where the bride's mother received, wearing a navy and white ensemble, white lace straw hat, shoes, purse and gloves, with corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother assisted, gowned in blue crepe, white accessories, with corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

For travelling to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a white linen sheath with embossed orange flowers and matching duster, white accessories, and corsage of white feathered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid are residing in Port Hope, Ontario.

Guests attended from Peterborough, Picton, Port Hope, Bellecille, Toronto, Corbyville, and Shannonville.

Previous to her marriage the bride was entertained at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Jack Salmon, of Plainfield. Also at a presentation of a sandwich toaster and waffle iron from the staff at Carm's Beverages.

Montrealers Find Coffee Bar Is Hard

LONDON (CP)—Two Montrealers who converted a London greengrocery into a profitable coffee bar are discovering that success can be strenuous.

"The pace of working seven days a week at peak hours is killing" says Michael van Bloemen, who, with his wife, Sheila, started the operation from scratch five years ago.

Although the couple is considering converting a country windmill to a guest house for a somewhat quieter life, they are reluctant to abandon their enterprise.

It was after they married in 1952 that they decided to set up a home and business in London. But money was solo they went to Goose Bay, Labrador, where Michael, violently ill, helped build airport runways. Ice by saved hard.

RETURNED IN 1955

They returned to London duet by and opened the Tuscan, father coffee bar. ...eam and a piano. "We chose Mellquham, because they thanked the end and did.

Guests were conducted by Howard Thomson, followed by a Bar-B-Q on the church lawn. Jean Thomson thanked the men for the nice lunch, which everyone enjoyed.

Lindsay Lady Slips Quietly Into Retirement

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Louise Margaret Barr, 65, has slipped quietly into retirement after one of the longest public service records in Canada.

She was only 17 when she started work at the Victoria County registry office here. Her recent retirement gives her more than 43 years of service with the provincial government.

Miss Barr entered service when her father, the late C. D. Barr, was registrar of deeds and titles.

Her friends recall how Premier Frost in 1951 called on Miss Barr to assist him in the official opening ceremony of the new registry office.

This, they say, is perhaps the most striking tribute to her long and faithful service.

Registrar Dan McQuarrie has paid tribute to her remarkable memory regarding the thousands of official records which go back as far as 1852.

And one of her most ardent admirers is Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, who, like many others of the legal profession, has required her services on countless occasions.

Said Mr. Jordan: "She knew every book, file and abstract in that office."

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The June meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the Church auditorium on Tuesday afternoon. The president presided with Mrs. Mantle at the piano.

The Welcome and Welfare committees reported 35 hospital calls and three calls to sick in homes.

Mrs. Weir gave a brief talk and showed slides on "Sickle, the Bright Blue Vast" of the North West. This was with the mission-ary driver in the only contact that many people in remote places have with the church all year. Owing to road conditions in the country, means these missionary calls just last through the summer and the four months by fast and they must wait until another summer.

Mrs. Weir had the worship period with Mrs. Boody, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Murray and Miss Mycklotsh read the Scripture and Mrs. Weir led in prayer.

Mrs Weir and her helpers covered two chapters and so finished the study book on this last meeting for the first half of the year. Mrs. Boody read a paper on some of the synods, beginning with the Western synod.

As a church family all are concerned with people and their spiritual needs and where there are more people the greater is the responsibility to reach them with the gospel of Christ.

MONTREAL-OTTAWA SYNOD

This is a synod of many languages in addition to English and French. There are 60 those stand German speaking people in Montreal alone — ninety per cent of whom came over from Germany since 1948.

It is estimated that by 1980 the population of Toronto area will be three million and the population of the whole world will enlarge greatly with the increasing immigration and the expanding economy of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The church must prepare to meet this opportunity. There will be need to sacrifice with time, talent and mostly prayers, taking full share in bringing the message of Christ to the people.

After the president closed the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Weir and her group.

The Experts Say

Tests Show Women Faster Drivers Than Men on Road

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, (CP) — She won't say whether women are better drivers than men, but Mrs. Ethel McLellan—director of the women's activities division of the Ontario transport department—says 95 per cent of all Ontario drivers are women, and they are involved in less than nine per cent of accidents.

"I do feel that women are, by their nature, very cautious and this tends to annoy men," she says. "Women look before they act, and that is what gives them a bad name."

She feels that this sense of precaution is the result of the hazardous conditions under which women drive. Most men travel the same route each day when driving to work. They are familiar with all the street signs and are usually driving at a time when there are few children on the street.

SUBURBAN CAUTION

A great number of women drive in suburbs crowded with small children, which tends to produce extra caution.

"However, on the highway, cars have shown that women are faster drivers than men," Mrs. McLellan says.

She urges women to wear comfortable clothing for driving. She needs an old pair of shoes in her own car to slip into when she's not driving. "It's not only more comfortable, it saves the wear and tear on my good shoes." Women drivers should not wear white cotton or nylon gloves, pretty though they are.

"Leather gloves afford better control of the steering wheel," she says. "Scarves on the head are all right, but a flowing scarf around the neck could blow across the driver's face and impair her vision."

USEFUL MISSION

Mrs. McLellan, the only woman in Canada employed as a director of women's activities for highway safety, says that safety work "satisfies the missionary complex that most women have."

Her job is to promote interest and understanding of traffic problems among women's groups in Ontario. The program is directed at both drivers and non-drivers.

These programs are as varied as the centres where they are held. London is producing a driver education program through its television station and its high school safety patrols.

But the first aim of all these groups is to instil safe traffic practices among its members before developing a project. In many cities, such as Toronto, the local council of women has undertaken traffic safety as a major aim.

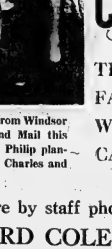
Girls' Work Board Names New Officers

The annual meeting of the G.C.I.T. Girls' Work Board for the city of Belleville was held at St. Andrew's Church on June 1st.

Annual reports showed it had been a busy year for G.C.I.T. work in the city. Regret was expressed that three members, Mrs. V. Weir, Mrs. D. Kane and Mrs. L. Van Osten, who had rendered many years of service to the board, had tendered their resignations.



The slate of officers for 1959-60 was brought in by the nominating committee and approved by the meeting, as follows:

Hon. chairman, Mrs. H. R. Varcoe; past chairman, Mrs. R. Berry; chairman, Mrs. S. W. Campbell; vice-chairman, Mrs. R. Ellis; secretary, Mrs. B. Stenson; treasurer, Mrs. C. Brown.

Committee chairmen: girls' friends, Mrs. G. Trill; camp, Miss M. Hillis; finance, Mrs. J. Payne; leadership, Mrs. H. Sills; publicity, Mrs. J. Aitchison.

Alliance Tabernacle Holds Banquet in Christ Church P.H.

Wednesday evening saw a group of the members, friends and adherents of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle assembled in Christ Church parish hall for the church banquet.

The tabled centred with rose and Celtic peonies, mingled with lacy yellow roses and white, spires-like flowers met the gaze, holding a position of the delightful repast to come, served by the ladies of Christ Church Guild.

Those at the head table included the pastor of the Tabernacle, the Reverend and Mrs. Sackville Palmer; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Millard, Mrs. Mary Baragar, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Simmons of Trenton, and Mrs. Mrs. W. Sills, of Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dixon, and the pianist.

Following the invocation by Mr. Palmer, all proceeded to enjoy the bounteous good things and the friendly camaraderie with those nearby.

The program consisted of a fine humorous solo by Mr. Simmons, "There is Power in the Blood"; an explanation by Miss Daily of the Bible School work begin in the near future, the objective and having a full time theme: "Living for Christ in the Space Age" and which, in fact, was the great need of getting the gospel to the children, and asked for prayers to that end, as well as for practical assistance, both financially and spiritually.

The next number was a solo by Mrs. Dixon, "The Old Apple Tree", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Wilbur Leonard. This was followed by the highlight of the evening, a tape recording from the Reverend Cecil and Mrs. Smith, missionaries from the Alliance Tabernacle who are laboring in Ecuador, with their two little ones.

Mr. Smith told of the labor of love among the Indians as he sought, day by day, to bring the old, old story of Jesus and His love.

The little ones sang "Jesus Loves Me" in Spanish, as also did Mr. Smith, and Mrs. Smith with well known, varied hymns choices. (Mrs. Smith is the younger daughter of Mrs. Emily Veley, R.M.T., of this city, one of the first members of the Alliance Tabernacle.)

Then the Good News. His day by day itinerary was a full one, going from tribe to tribe, telling.

It was both eye and heart-opening to hear a voice almost from the mission field, and especially from one of the Tabernacle's own people, and to have an already missionary-minded church a new lift. Mr. Smith is assisting pastor in the Ambato Church, from which recent meetings are held. Prayer was requested for their lifting from hospitals, who is suffering from hepatitis.

Miss Grace Veley favored with two solo selections, "Praise the Lord Jesus," with variations, which concluded a full round of applause.

CHURCH EXTENSION

Mr. Palmer then spoke on needed church extension more vividly to the minds of those present, the amazing presentation of the facts of the case, to which Mr. Palmer added his own findings, which were also pointed, but not amusing, clearly pointing out the church's obligation to press onward and upward.

Mr. Palmer tendered, on behalf of those present, appreciative thanks to the ladies of Christ Church Guild for the fine banquet they had provided.

GOOD MANNERS

TODAY'S COURTESY HINT . . .

ABOUT RELIGION

This truth you should remember! It is never slightingly or contemptuously of another person's religion, you inevitably show that you are a poor representative of your own religion.

SEPARATION-ETIQUETTE:

CONCERNING NAME, WEARING RINGS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm seriously considering applying for a legal separation after a long, and about this I have two questions in my mind. Should I when I get this separation, continue to wear my rings, both engagement and wedding? And should I continue to use my married name (Mrs. John Brown, for example)? — H.

Yes, you may continue to wear your engagement and wedding rings, or anyone your wedding ring. And you should continue to use your married name, Mrs. John Brown. Don't think these etiquette suggestions is, I realize, a terrible possibility of reconciliation, and perhaps, to protect the wife from being asked embarrassing questions. In other words, these suggestions can be safeguards.

SHIPBOARD DINING-ROOM CUSTOM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend and I are going to Europe soon on a large liner. We have been told that it is customary for passengers to "dress" either the first or the second night out. Is this true? If so, why? — W. H.

Yes, this is the custom . . . and the reason is that, on the first night out, you presumably have not found your clothes, and on the last night out you presumably have already repacked. However, when packing is not such a chore as formerly, and passengers don't need so much service-attention, ironing or pressing particularly, you can easily change into a simple daytime dress if you wish, but it would be appropriate to wear a more or less formal dinner dress or an evening dress. Better ask that for the Captain's Dinner, which usually is held the night before landing.

RELATIVE OF FRIEND TO ACT AS HOST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband died several years ago, and since then I have a wonderful friend. He, after renting our house here, NOW I am living in our house again, and am planning to give small, rather informal dinners, to renew friendships.

Would it be proper for me to ask my brother, when he is in town, or a cousin, or one of the long-time friends of my husband, to act as host in opposite me at table? — MARION E.

Yes.

SUGGESTED GIFTS OF THE FLOWER GIRL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My pretty little niece is to be my flower girl. What would you suggest I give her as an "attendant present"? — Bride-to-be

A gift very popular with flower girls is a delicate gold chain with a tiny locket on it . . . or it may be a tiny heart with her initials engraved on one side and your initials on the other. Or, you might give her a small pearl bar-pin. She will wear either of these, proudly, to the wedding. You may also get a good-looking pocketbook, perhaps one for "dress-up." Or perhaps desk set, or one article for her desk, something that can be engraved with her initials or monogram.

Montrealers Find Running Coffee Bar Is Hard Work

LONDON (CP)—Two Montrealers who operated a doughnut-and-greengrocery into a profitable coffee bar are discovering that success can be strenuous.

"The pace of working seven days a week is far worse than wearing." says Michael van Bloemen, who, with his wife, Sheila, started the operation from scratch five years ago.

Although the couple is considering converting a country windmill to a quiet house for a somewhat quieter life, they are reluctant to abandon their enterprise.

It was after they married in London in 1952 that they decided to set up a home and business in London. But money was short. So they went to Goose Bay, in Labrador, where Michael helped build airport runways, and they saved hard.

RETURNED IN 1954

They returned to Britain in 1954 and opened the Troubadour coffee bar.

"We chose the Earls Court area because it is a student district and didn't have a coffee bar at that time," says Michael.

Next, they decorated the shop in their own ways—while walls hung with ancient gardening implements, pots and theatre posters and a Victoria Gothic church door which fits into a niche in one of the walls. A Victorian version of a juke - box, which plays the hit tune of 1868 "up your hair powers whiter," is fixed to another wall.

Cane-topped tables complete the furnishings.

"When we first started, the place was a riotous success," says Sheila, an attractive brunette.

"Two policemen had to come down nightly to control the queues."

Now there are eight coffee bars in the neighborhood and, although business isn't as brisk as it was, things are going well, "in a quieter way."

DO OTHER JOBS

The van-business, both 30 and parts of 10-months-old' Simon, manage to combine other jobs with the running of their seven-days-week restaurant.

Sheila designs and makes suede and leather clothes and Michael acts as an agent-distributor for the United Nations magazine, Courier, his mornings are taken up with shopping for food.

"It's hard work," says Michael, "but when I see other people queuing for the buses to go to work I realize how lucky I am."

In the basement, members who have paid a 10-shilling subscription fee, can listen to jazz or skiffle, and there is room for dancing. There are 1,000 members.

Both agree they have found their investment exciting.

"We've met a tremendous number of interesting people through it," says Michael.

Now they're churning over the windmill idea.

"Or perhaps we'll go and live in Mexico for six months," says Sheila. "That's something we'd like to do, too."

Getting Along With Building

ST. ANNE, Que. (CP)—Mrs. W. Rankin Nesbitt of Toronto, chief commissioner of the Canadian Girl Guides, told the annual guide association meeting Wednesday night that 185,000 inches of the 2,500,000-inch headquarters has been purchased.

The proposed building, bought by the 1inch by members of the guide movement, will be situated in Toronto.

Interprovincial camps for guides and rangers are being promoted at stepping-stones for international camping. Last year nearly 40,000 campers, an increase of 9,000, attended guide camps.

Lucille B. — I have been married just a year and I have a 3-year-old son and twin daughters by a new marriage.

In order to help me out my mother came to stay with me for several months. Of course, I'm glad to have her help, but things are not working out too well. For one thing, I would like my mother's help with the baby, but she is so attached to my little boy I can hardly get her to give a hand with the twins.

I don't know why Mom has this favoritism for Charles when the twins are as cute and need so much attention. She has always been boy better, but she should realize that this attachment isn't good for Charles. He hardly knows I'm his mother anymore. He asks his grandma for everything. Even if he wants a glass of water at night he calls for her.

Mrs. E. M. — It's true I'm just crazy about that little boy and that he feels the same about me. He won't let anyone but me dress him or help feed him.

The trouble with Lucille is that she just doesn't realize how much she is hurting me by pushing me "dress" either the first or the second night out. Is this true? If so, why? — W. H.

Yes, this is the custom . . . and the reason is that, on the first night out, you presumably have not found your clothes, and on the last night out you presumably have already repacked. 40 Attend Shower for Bride-to-Be WELLINGTON — Mrs. Gary Foster and Mrs. Arnold Thompson of Bloomfield were hostesses at a delightful bridal shower Monday evening at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moore, East St., Wellington.

The guest of honor, Miss Helen Foster, was attractively dressed in a pretty blue summer frock and was presented a lovely corsage of spring flowers. There were about 40 relatives and friends present. Each guest contributed a favorite recipe which was clipped into a recipe book for the bride to be.

All took part in two contests. The first a scrambled name contest which resulted in eight winners with perfect scores. Mrs. Wes Cunningham won first favor on a draw. The second, a cake contest was won by Mrs. Ross Ellis.

Mrs. Garry Foster briefly addressed the guest of honor and Mrs. Thompson wheeled in a cart which was filled several by Miss H. Moore). Dr. Boyle and Miss Carol Marvin, served delicious refreshments.

Guest of honor present were Mrs. Norman Foster, Miss Kathryn Foster, Mrs. Sherman Foster and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Program Works For Women Prisoners in B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — Allowing women prisoners to take part in community activities outside the prison is working well in the provincial jail for women at Prince Albert, Sask.

"Because of this program we have a very peaceful existence," Miss Margaret Hesseltine, 68, warden of women, said in an interview.

"There now are 18 women in the jail and there are facilities to handle 38. They were imprisoned for offences drawing jail, short two-year sentences.

"The women attend church downtown, enjoy walks in the park, see ball games and attend gym classes in the YWCA. All of this is done, of course, under supervision."

FINE RECORD

There have been no escapes during Miss Hesseltine's six-year tenure, though she recalled that one girl escaped a few years previously.

"They didn't know what to do when they got out, so they sat down by the subway and waited for police to pick them up.

"One of the most frustrating things about working with women in jail is the fact that a large number have no roots in society in any place overnight (18 hours). Beat a tablespoon of salt, 1 tablespoon caraway seed, 2 cups rye flour, 2½ to 3 cups white flour.

Cover the dough and let it stand for 30 minutes. Then place on a floured board and knead well, adding more white flour if necessary. Place in a pan oil boiling water in oven. When the Question: Can you tell me how to make pumpernickel bread? It is made without fat or sugar and I think it is so good. I would like to try it if I knew how . . . Mrs. Lela S.

Answer: The nearest I can come to pumpernickel for you is

SOUR RYE BREAD

The sour-dough starter is the first step:

1 teaspoon sugar, 1 cup lukewarm water, ½ package granular yeast, 1¼ cups rye flour.

Dissolve the sugar in the water and sprinkle the yeast over it. Let stand until the yeast softens. Stir in the flour. Cover and keep in a warm place for 24 hours. Then work into it ½ cup lukewarm water, ¾ cup rye flour. Allow to stand in warm place to rise for at least 6 hours or longer. This completes the starter. Reserve ½ cup of it for later (follows) and store remainder in cool place for future.

BATTER

1 tablespoon sugar, 2¼ cups lukewarm water 1 package granular yeast, 1 cup sour-dough starter (above) 1½ cups rye flour, 1½ cups white flour.

Dissolve sugar in water and sprinkle yeast over. Let stand 10 minutes. In bowl beat yeast liquid into sour-dough starter, add flour and beat well. Cover and let rise in warm place overnight (12 hours). Beat well 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon caraway seed, 2 cups rye flour, 2½ to 3 cups white flour.

Cover the dough and let it stand for 30 minutes. Then place on a floured board and knead well, adding more white flour if necessary. Place in pan oil boiling water in oven. When the loaves are slightly more than half risen, bake them in a hot over at 425 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Then remove the pan to water, lower the temperature to 350 deg. Fahr. and bake for 40 minutes, or until done. When the bread is baked but still hot, brush the loaves with salted water, using 1 teaspoon of salt to ½ cup of water. Cool the loaves on racks.

Communist China

Development of Communes

By Walter L. Gordon

(Chairman of the Recent Royal Economic Prospects) Commission on Canada's

(Article 9)

Before going to China, we heard many stories about the commune system including the rather horrifying, though quite false, suggestion that husband and wives are separated from each other and made to live in dormitories like cattle. In an attempt to learn something of the truth, we had a long talk with an official of the department of agriculture in Peking whose job it is to give advice and assistance to the communes. And we visited four communes, one in the north, two near Peking, and one on the outskirts of Wuhan.

Like many other things in China, the policy of organizing the country districts into communes has more than one objective. The first purpose is to raise production in order both to increase the living standards of the people and to provide the large quantities of foodstuffs that are shipped to the Soviet Union in payment or part payment for the arms, industrial equipment and other materials and supplies that are obtained from that country.

The second purpose is political. The long-term objective is gradually to raise the living standards of the peasants to the level of the factory workers; to emphasize the importance of manual labor, something that for centuries was looked down upon in China and eventually to make physical and mental work equally respected; and finally in place of the historic peasant village to build new country towns at strategic points throughout the communes which will be complete with all the amenities of city living. In the process, the Communist government expects to increase its hold over the peasantry which is the real source of its power.

These changes and particularly the increases in production will be facilitated by the great increase in the numbers of the working force which was brought about by the complete emancipation of women. In the old days, women did not work except in Southern China and had few, if any, rights. Their submission was assured by binding their feet in early childhood which prevented them from walking properly and doing heavy physical labor of any kind. This cruel and painful practice was discontinued following the revolution of 1911.

GRADUAL DEVELOPMENT

The development of the present agricultural policy in China has been a gradual process; the support of the peasantry could not have been obtained otherwise. Each step has been carefully explained and the peasants, we were assured have gradually learned to have confidence in the proposals put forward by the government. The first stage was the development of mutual aid teams of about ten households which has been inaugurated in the early days of the revolution in the areas from which the Communists controlled.

and October 1958. There are now some 26,000 communes each with an average of about 5,000 households. In most cases the commune has superceded the old political organization of the township with the township administrative staff being taken over by the commune. The directors of the communes are elected by the members; presumably they are all or nearly all members of the party.

SOME PRACTICAL REASONS

There are some sound practical reasons for the organization of agriculture in China into large administrative units like the communes. The total irrigated area is approximately 160 million mou (about 26½ million acres) in 1958, nearly double the irrigated area in 1957 and four times the corresponding figure when the Communists took over in 1949. The people are required to do irrigation work and it is easier to organize this on a large scale. Secondly, the water available can be used more efficiently if its use is determined by a large administrative unit. The commune, than by several smaller scattered and perhaps competing authorities. Thirdly, the commune can undertake projects, particularly those involving the construction of dams, which are beyond the capacity of the smaller units.

This was followed in the years 1950 to 1952 by land reform. This meant that the landlords were dispossessed and their land divided up among the peasants. The result was a marked increase in production and in living standards and probably did more than anything else to identify the peasantry with the revolutionary government. Land reform was followed by the organization of small-scale co-operatives between the years 1952 and 1956. Altogether there were some 740,000 of these co-operatives with about 170 households on the average and about 2,000 mou of land, i.e., about 330 acres in each co-operative.

Commencing in 1958, these smaller co-operatives began to merge into what were known as advanced co-operatives. But trouble began to develop with the co-operative system in 1957 and it is alleged that several hundred of them more or less ceased to function in the south. The difficulties were caused in some cases by co-operatives competing with each other for the water that was available for newly irrigated land and partly, it is said, because some peasants who had remained outside the co-operatives were prospering to a greater degree than those who had joined in them.

All this led to the decision to proceed with the organization of the commune system which was carried out between April output have been falling; they should not be more than 37 in 1959.

In addition to getting their food free like everyone in the communes the actual working members receive a small monthly wage. At the end of the year, as possibly once frequently, there is a further distribution to them which is based on the total value of the production and the number of work points earned by each worker. There is thus a definite incentive to work hard in the present phase of socialism — "from each according to his ability, to each according to his work." This will be changed according to the doctrine when the country is ready for the Communist era based on the principle from each according to his ability, to each according to his needs." But that time, however, is yet to come.

To be continued.

Sunday School Lesson

Accepting Help From God

By ROY L. SMITH

One of the interesting things about many of the Old Testament stories is the fact that they tell so many tales in one telling. This week's Sunday School lesson is a good illustration.

It tells the story of a little girl who was used in the blessing of a great man, and it happens on many times that the Big People owe more to the Little People than they ever admit. It tells of an independent and courageous old prophet who cut a foreign general down to size, and at the same time saved his life. It tells of a king who was big enough to humble himself and that in itself makes a great tale.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for June 14: "Elisha and Naaman", 2 Kings 5.

But the biggest story of all, perhaps, is the portrait of a man in desperate need who was willing to accept help from any source from which help might come. So many of the world's great seem to think that they dare not accept help unless it comes to them along the route they choose.

NAAMAN WAS DOOMED

One of the achievements of modern medicine is the victory that has been won over a long list of unmentionable diseases. Louis Pasteur's discovery of the microbic origin of disease opened the gates to the vanquishment of an almost unbounded list of plagues from which the race has suffered through the centuries.

Thus Naaman, the Syrian, presented himself at the door of the Israelite prophet, he was a doomed man. Nowhere in all the world was there any known cure for leprosy. But in recent years medical scientists have developed [illegible] to such an extent that they use [illegible] drugs to effectively [illegible] so many said that 25 [illegible] Dare there be [illegible] a leper anywhere in the world. Let Brother Naaman and modern science there lay at least 25 years.

IN THIS HE WAS GREAT

It was quite natural that Naaman should have wondered why Syria was holding in the Jordan when there was no healing in the waters of his homeland; and it was also quite natural that he should have felt a certain natural pride in his Syrian ancestry, home, and position. But he displayed real greatness when he agreed to lay aside his pride and accept healing.

It is unfortunately true that there are all to many among us who cannot believe they are healed unless the doctor they hear it from the pulpit to which they are accustomed. There are those others who cannot trust any other than those of their color or class, their creedal association, or their form of worship.

Naaman refused to allow himself to suffer to the end of his days because of his prejudices and his convictions in this he was truly great.

Tweed

TWEED — The Evening Auxiliary of St. John's United Church will be having a pot luck supper in the church hall Tuesday evening, and all members of the Afternoon W.M.S. and the Explorers are invited to attend. There will be a special program afterward.

Rawdon

RAWDON — On June 3rd a chartered bus took the pupils of grades 7 and 8 of the Allan Public School and Williams Public School at Mount Pleasant, to Toronto.

The pupils were under the supervision of the two teachers, Mrs. Grace L. Morton and Mrs. Joyce Parr. Ten adults, accomsection: Mrs. Irwin Potts, Mrs. were Mrs. Albert Hobbs, Mrs. Raymond McConnell, Mrs. Walter Wrightman and Miss Elsie Smith of the Allan School section; Mrs. Irwin Potts, Mrs. Archie Bailey, Mrs. Robert Hoard, Miss Diane McAdam, Mrs. Burton Sharpe and Mrs. Eric Summers of the Williams School section.

The group visited the Toronto Museum and heard two lectures on social studies and science. They had a picnic dinner in Queen's Park. In the afternoon a guide took them through the Parliament Buildings and gave them a good explanation. The pupils were allowed to sit in the various parliamentary chairs. The group also visited Casa Loma and the Riverdale Zoo.

All enjoyed supper at Bowmanville enroute home.

On Monday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Reed of Los Angeles, California, and his sister, Mrs. Evelyn Reed Warham, of Belleville, renewed old acquaintances in the Wellman's district and paid a visit to the cemetery. They also spent some time with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sine. Mr. Reed and Mrs. Warham were born on the Sine property, children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roland Reed. They attended Wellman's Public School and church. Their grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mayhew, also resided on the Sine property.

Bring Beach to Your Backyard With a Fir Plywood Wading Pool

This combined wading pool and be primed and painted with a sand box can bring the best features of the public beach to the privacy of your backyard.

good quality marine enamel or outdoors paint.

Constructed of sturdy fir plywood, the novel play pen can be easily made in two evenings by the average basement handyman. Because all the fir plywood made in Canada is bonded with waterproof glue, the wading pool will give years of satisfactory service.

Main pieces of the sand box—wading pool are sawn from a standard 4x8-foot panel of half-inch thick fir plywood, as shown in the cutting diagram.

Tight fitting at all joints is essential to make the completed box sand and waterproof. When the pieces have been cut and fitted, touching surfaces should be given a liberal coating of waterproof glue and then nailed together with galvanized nails.

As in any project involving glue, the nails simply hold the pieces tightly together so that the glue can set properly and bond the pieces permanently into place.

A 3x3I-inch dividing strip has been incorporated into the box to separate the sand from the water. This should be attached to battens nailed and glued to the inside of the side pieces.

A hole is shown in the water end of the box which is handy for draining the box when the water becomes dirty. It can be plugged with an ordinary thermos cork.

If desired, a top may be made for the play pen from half a 4x8-foot panel of half-inch fir plywood. This is attached to four 2x3-inch uprights, bolted to the sides. Colored canvas can be tacked around the edge of the roof to give the finished play pen a carnival air.

Seats not only provide the youngsters with a place to sit while playing but also stiffen the entire box.

When finished the box should be a good quality marine enamel or outdoors paint.

How to Figure Water Heater You Need

Automatic washing machines and dishwashers have changed requirements for hot water in homes. More water and hotter water are needed for these appliances than regular plumbing fixtures and non-automatic washers require.

The trend toward more bathrooms in homes also has increased the demand for hot water. The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau says home hot water heating equipment should be both modern and adequate. Modern, meaning automatic in operation; adequate, meaning sufficient in both capacity for peak loads and in consistent temperature.

The amount of hot water needed in a home is often an individual family problem. If both shower baths in the morning are followed by operation of a dishwasher after breakfast, then by a complete family laundry, a larger than average storage capacity is needed in the hot water supply.

Normally the storage capacity for a hot water system is estimated with the number of bedrooms and the number of bedrooms in a house, as follows

How to Select a Builder

The selection of a builder is a most important step in the process of becoming a home owner. It is worth your while, therefore, to take the time to find a builder with a sound reputation for integrity and technical ability. With the right builder, headaches are at a minimum, progress is smooth, and you take possession of a home which means a lifetime of comfort and satisfaction for you and your family.

There are a number of ways to select a reputable, experienced and responsible builder. First of all, from the moment you decide to become a home owner you find yourself taking an increased interest in every home you visit. Your friends and associates are glad to tell you about their own experience with home ownership, and can often provide good tips on the builder to consult for the type of home you're seeking.

Bankers and lending institution officials in your community work daily with builders and have a good idea of the calibre of their work and professional integrity.

WARRANTY IMPORTANT

Generally speaking, a builder who is willing to give a one-year warranty on his house is displaying a prime example of good faith. It's not good business for him to use substandard materials or poor workmanship.

One of the best ways of all to select a builder, especially if you're planning to settle in an unfamiliar community is to contact the executive officer of the Quinte Home Builders Association.

The group belongs to the National Home Builders Association, a national organization of nearly 3,000 members in 36 Canadian communities. As members of a progressive industry, the builder-members of NHBA lead the way in building research to develop new materials, new building techniques, new building equipment and improved methods of home financing, to the end that every home purchaser may get the greatest value possible for his housing dollar.

Builders who are active in their local and national organizations are those who are most interested in establishing and maintaining a reputation for integrity and sound performance.

Finally, the best check of all is the number of satisfied customers for whom a builder has erected houses which have stood the test of years of useful service with a minimum of maintenance and repair costs.

HOME IS COMPLEX STRUCTURE

Reputable builders give you as much guidance as possible on what to expect from your new home and how to take care of it. A house is an extremely complex piece of machinery; it needs and responds to good care.

Once you have decided upon a builder, you will find you have entered into a relationship which is unique, different from those you enjoy with other businessmen in your community. You will have to respect his expert advice on the cost of construction and the later cost of maintenance. In placing your trust in your builder you are making an act of faith. You will not know, or wish to know, the myriad technical details involved in pitting a home built. What you want is a sound, livable, home which will bring your family years of comfort and happiness.

After selecting your builder, don't be afraid to put your confidence in him. After all, he wants you to be a satisfied customer, because building customer satisfaction is the only way he can stay in business.

Killers

Weeding the lawn is not the chore it used to be thanks to 2-4-D. It is amazing what one spraying will do in getting rid of dandelions, plantain and many other broad leaved pests. But a second spraying about three weeks later will do a still better job as it gets the new plants that have come along from seed in the ground at the time of the first application.

There are special weed killer sprays for special jobs, like killing twitch grass, or almost any weed among asparagus. But these must be handled with great care and strictly according to directions. One can kill roses, azalias or carrots just as easily as one can kill weeds.

A good general rule is to get after the weeds when they are tiny with a good sharp hoe. They are much more easily handled then, but we must be sure we can recognize a small weed when we see it and not take out a flower or vegetable plant.

KEEP WINDOWS TIGHT

It's wise never to run radio or television antenna lead-ins over window weatherstripping. Notch the weatherstrip if you must bring wires in through a window. A tight window fit is the purpose of weatherstripping.

PCs are Returned to Power With Slightly Reduced Share Of Record Vote in Election

Ontario Voters Defeat Women Candidates

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario voters turned their backs on women candidates again Thursday, as they have done in every provincial election since 1948.

The late Agnes Macphail, who went to Queen's Park as CCF member for York East in 1943, was Ontario's last successful woman candidate. Nine ran in the general election of 1955.

Mrs. Alice Bickerton, a travel agent and the only woman running for the Progressive Conservatives, trailed CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald by more than 2,600 votes in York South but had a big lead over three other men. Mrs. Bickerton, 47, and mother of two, is president of the party's York South association.

WOMAN MAYOR SECOND

Liberal Mrs. Wanda Miller, mayor of Sturgeon Falls, was second in a three-way race in Nipissing, losing by 2,000 votes to Conservative R. J. Boyer, who also defeated her in 1955.

Mrs. Elsie Inwood, Liberal, trailed a Conservative by 3,000 votes in Toronto St. George, only riding with a woman in the race. Miss Iona Samis, 38, national secretary of the United Packinghouse Workers, trailed far behind for the CCF.

In Lambton West Miss Ruth Donohue, 37-year-old owner and operator of a travel agency, gave the staff battle fronting Liberals to Conservative Hugh Whitesell. Bryan Cathcart is a three-way fight.

OTHERS TRAIL

Liberal Mrs. Lillian Allison, 46-year-old farmer's wife, newspaper columnist and radio speaker, ran well behind Highways Minister Fred Cass in Grenville-Dundas. Mrs. Marjorie Clarke, 29 and a former teacher, was third of three candidates in York West. She ran for the CCF.

Another CCF candidate, Mrs. Alice Kaitosi, trailed in a three-way race in Welland. Mrs. Kaitosi, 44, operates a real estate brokerage and general insurance agency. Miss Jean Ellis, 39-year-old inspector for a roller bearing company, running under the CCF banner, became the Social Credit in Elgin but was far behind a Conservative and a Liberal.

The only women entered for the Labor - Progressives, Mrs. Leslie Jackson, 43, picked up twenty CCF votes in Toronto Riverdale's four-way contest. But she did better than Miss Dorothy Cocrain, who picked up but 132 votes for the Social Credit party in a four-way contest in Toronto-way contest in Toronto St. Andrew. Miss Cocrain lists her occupation as a voluntary civic affairs observer.

TORONTO (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives were returned to power with a slightly reduced share of a record vote in Thursday's Ontario election.

Tabulation by The Canadian Press at almost complete returns showed that Premier Frost's Conservatives received about 46 per cent of the vote in sending 71 members to the 98-seat House. Four years ago the Conservatives got 48 per cent of the votes in electing 83 members.

The Liberals, with 22 members compared with 11 in the last House, boosted their share of the popular vote to 31 per cent from 25.

The CCF, which increased its representation to five members from three, got 17 per cent of the vote, the same as last time.

Social Credit, which got two per cent in the previous election, dropped to less than one per cent this time and none was elected.

BIGGEST VOTE TOTAL

The total vote of 2,900,000 who marked ballots set a new high, surpassing the 1951 record of 1,-772,000. About 67 per cent of the 2,212,434 voters exercised their franchise, down from 1953 when 60.61 per cent of 2,905,760 eligible voted.

A breakdown of the popular vote into five geographical regions—Metropolitan Toronto received a smaller percentage than in 1955 in four—eastern, northern and central Ontario and Toronto and Yorks. They got the same percentage as four years ago in Eastern Ontario.

Some Western leaders fear that Ontario's participation at any high level could have as eroding effect on the Western cause as the Easterners, who worry that concessions — even minor ones — in Ontario could spell disaster in opposition.

The Western ministers may weaken the protection of exposed West Berlin or inadvertently open the door to gradual Communist infiltration, the Berlin folk fear, if the Western negotiations go on without results, the greater the uncertainties and tensions it creates.

Despite all these difficulties, Western leaders see no chance for the Russians to meaningful detente negotiations and hope to this point, for instance, to the second Geneva conference — the one in which the United States, Britain and Russia are trying to reach agreement on the control of nuclear weapons tests.

This conference reconvened in Geneva after four-week recess, and a total of nearly 100 meetings have been held. But the Western representatives have been striving to limit discussion largely to inspection proposals, and some progress has been made.

The important aspect is that Russia may be anxious to restrict membership in the so-called nuclear club, something that cannot be done without effective controls and a measure of disarmament.

France has been driving ahead with her nuclear tests and there may be no happier over speculation that one day Communist China will also own "the bomb."

Harry Nixon, Farquhar Oliver Again Elected as Liberals; Only Survivors of UFO Party

TORONTO (CP) — Two men who have been clipping along like a team in a tandem hitch for more than 30 years, are continuing along their strangely parallel political paths.

Harry Nixon, 68, in the Ontario legislature for 40 continuous years, was returned Thursday as Liberal member for Brant.

Farquhar Oliver, 55, in the House since 1934, was re-elected, held Grey South for the Liberals.

Both were sent to the provincial House by the now-defunct United Farmers of Ontario. They remain the only survivors of that party at Queen's Park.

Each entered the legislature at an early election won by the other—Nixon was 22 and until then the youngest member ever to take his seat.

Each turned from the UFO and joined the Liberal party. Farquhar is a former provincial Liberal leader, although Nixon went farther and became premier of the province—for three months in 1943.

The victory was the 12th in a row for Nixon; for Oliver it was No. 10.

Each held his seat as the Liberal party rode to victory in the 1959 election—and each saw his margin of victory cut sharply from the last provincial general election in 1955.

Nixon was born of United Empire Loyalist stock, Oliver of English and Scottish parentage. Both attend the United Church.

Both are farmers, working the land in the areas where they were born.

Mr. Nixon's father said his son was "crazy" to go into politics for years side by side.

Mr. Oliver "stuck to the land, but went into politics also and climbed as high as it's possible to go in his chosen field.

He had been in the House less than a month when Premier E. C. Drury appointed him provincial secretary.

Thursday night, 40 years later, he said:

"I'm very glad to go back."

He attributed his reduced majority to the fact that "the Progressive Conservatives ran a stronger candidate against me this year."

Another factor was reaction to his career from the Conservative field.

"They thought they had me over a barrel this time," he said. "I'm very glad to go back."

Farquhar Oliver said his main opponent also conducted an "exceedingly heavy" campaign. But after 10 times around, he's trusting his constituents' faith, win No. 10 hits unruffled.

He went home to bed early.

"I'll be up early tomorrow morning, running."

Oliver was known as "the boy orator" when he entered politics. He was a protege of the late Miss Agnes Macphail, former Ontario CCF member, and is first woman ever elected to the federal Parliament.

The strange parallel in the lives of Harry Nixon, Farquhar Oliver and Farquhar Oliver carries on into the pages of the Parliamentary Guide.

The biographical sketches of the two men have been printed for years side by side.

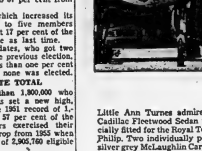
A CAR FOR A QUEEN

Little Ann Turnes admires the rear compartment of the Cadillac Fleetwood Sedan which has been adapted and specially fitted for the Royal Tour of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip. Two individually powered rear seats, upholstered in silver grey McLaughlin Carriage cloth, are features of the rear compartment of the car. Matching cushions and a lap rug of the same material — the latter carrying the Royal Cypher embroidered in red gold — as well as grey mouton floor coverings and individual hassocks, complete the decor of the rear compartment. The car is also specially equipped with twin air conditioning units, powered sliding aerials, roof panel and a remote control radio knob at the Queen's right hand. Shown top, left, is a rear view of the exterior of the Royal Cadillac, which illustrates the detachable bubble of optically perfect plexiglass. It can be removed or installed in minutes. Lower left shows the car emerging from one of the RCAF's C-119 "Flying Boxcars" which will transport it to many Canadian points and to Chicago during the Royal Tour.

Three Luxurious Royal Cars Hop-Scotch Across Canada

OTTAWA — Three of the most luxurious automobiles ever built in North America will hop-scotch across Canada by air this summer for the exclusive use of Her Majesty the Queen and His Royal Highness the Prince Philip in processions through dozens of cities and towns. Each has been especially designed to make the royal personages clearly visible to crowds along the route, while affording them protection from comfort and protection from the elements.

Plans have been made for formal presentation of the keys of the cars to Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in a brief ceremony on Parliament Hill, today, by Ben W. Hodgson, president of Chrysler Corporation Corp. of Canada, Ltd.; Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., and E. H. Walker, president of General Motors of Canada, Ltd.



Driven by Canadian army personnel, the cars will be the royal chauffeurs throughout the tour, the greatest cars the motor industry can provide will be wheeled up to the entrance, at the ready, for use by inspection by the Prime Minister and by Howard D. Graham, royal tour commissioner, and members of his staff.

WILL LOAN CARS

General Motors is furnishing a Cadillac, Ford a Continental Mark IV and Chrysler an Imperial Ghia. The cars will be on loan to the government for the duration of the tour. The R.C.A.F. will air-lift the cars by aboard C-119 aircraft when the itinerary calls for swift transport over long distances. Over the weekend the Imperial will be flown to St. John's Nfld., the Cadillac to Deer Lake, Nfld., and the Continental to Gaspe, Que., where the cars will be used on a location basis and, as they are in Ottawa, exclusively for the royal guests, only one special unit will appear in each procession.

Each car will have two royal cars, each of the three automotive companies will be driven by two supply gratis upwards of 70 seconded from the regular fleet by the manufacturers or their dealers.

The special cars represent extensive modifications of standard models by engineering experts of the respective companies. All are four-door automobiles and are fitted with windows which permit full rapid conversion from open to enclosed cars and adjustable seats to suit changes of weather or the needs of an occasion. In addition to the protection from the elements, the enclosed cars will provide a measure of security against the possibility of missiles being thrown from crowds along the route.

'Jest a Second'

"How hard must I hit it to make it slide into the water"

The royal cars have air conditioning systems and, even when they are being used in open convertible fashion, there will be some benefit of cooling breezes or warm air as desired by the passengers. In addition to radar radio, they will be short-range transmitters to enable the drivers to keep in touch with the military transport officer in charge of the motorcades. While the cars have every modern device and appointment for the comfort, safety and convenience of the passengers, they do not have armor plate bodies or bullet proof glass, as is so often the case in cars for the use of world personages. There was no suggestion that such protection would be desired on the royal cars.

The companies did not disclose the investment they had made in providing the special cars, but they said the collective value of the three units would be in the neighborhood of $100,000. A major item of cost was the hundreds of hours of time spent by engineers and others in designing the special tops, seat mechanisms, and other modifications. The automobiles has undergone many hours of intensive testing to make certain of trouble-free performance under the exacting conditions of a royal tour. For example, each cars must be capable of being driven in motorcades for prolonged periods at 4 to 6 miles per hour without overheating or stalling.

FIRMS HONORED

Speaking on behalf of the three companies, Mr. Sale, president of the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said: "Our companies deem it an honor and a privilege to have taken part in ensuring the comfort and enjoyment of Her Majesty the Queen and His Royal Highness the Prince Philip. We sincerely hope these special automobiles will contribute to the pleasure and success of their visit to our country."

Ford, Chrysler and General Motors built special cars for the Coronation tour of the Queen's parents, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, in 1939. They also furnished cars for the tour of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip in 1951, and the visits of royal personages since that time, including Prince Philip, Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra.

WELL LIGHTED

Interior lighting is provided for those occasions when the royal personages are riding through the streets at night. Electrically-operated devices will permit the Queen to raise the seat and

Liberals, CCF Congratulate Premier Frost on Re-election

TORONTO (CP)—"I'm going to have some fun for the next couple of days."

That remark came from Leslie Frost, 67, after his third election victory as leader of Ontario's Progressive Conservative government.

The premier was dressed in shirt sleeves and slacks Thursday night as he wiped his brow on the handkerchief in his hip pocket and sympathized with Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver on defeat in his Victoria riding.

He brushed off the loss of 11 seats for the Liberals and two to the CCF from his top — heavy majority in the last Ontario vote.

"We lost a few to the fortunes of war, but I'm pretty satisfied with the results," he said of the sweep—71 seats in the 98-seat legislature, a majority over 40 seats good. That was the way I figured it would be. I was surprised then when we got 83."

LOOK TO TOMORROW

And for the leaders of the losing parties, as in any other endeavor, tomorrow is another day.

"We will move forward tomorrow as our objectives have been set by the people in the government of Ontario," said Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver of Grey South.

CCF Leader Donald C. MacDonald was also thankful for tomorrow as he told supporters in his York South riding that things look better than they did then with the projected formation of the New Democratic Party of Canada and Canadian Labor Congress.

"We raise the issues and the people in a sense act as jurors. were able to take advantage of the issues we raised and the party's temperature was 87.

Both party leaders and their supporters were happy at their personal successes.

CHEERS FOR FROST

The leaders were treated to motorcades. A band played for Frost.

Mr. Wintermeyer, 42, still leader of the opposition, said he'll continue to work for the position—"I'll accept the decision of the people of Ontario and will work with the government to enact at least some of the legislation we have proposed in our program."

He was "very much encouraged" by the party's gains and declared if demonstrated "the strength and resurgence of the Liberal party in Ontario."

Mr. MacDonald congratulated Mr. Frost on re-election — "no matter what our differences."

INDIAN RAILWAYS

More than 3,800,000 passengers rode on railways in India on the average day.

Twenty New Faces Added to Ont. Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—Twenty new faces were added to the Ontario legislature in Thursday's general election.

The newcomers are seven Progressive Conservatives, 11 Liberals and two CCF.

Vernon Singer, a victor in York Centre, was one of the contenders for the Liberal leadership last year and as reeve of suburban Forest Hill York served on the executive committee of the Association of Suburban Reeves for it 40.

Reg Bryden, 43-year-old CCF provincial secretary and winner in Toronto Woodbine, was deputy provincial leader and Saskatchewan government from 1944 to 1948. Good-natured, he is the son of the late Rev. W. W. Bryden, former principal of Knox College and the late family of Toronto.

Mr. Irwin Haskett, vice-president of the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association who lives in Ottawa South, is a 26-year-old patent attorney.

Another Ottawa man in the House will be Andrew E. Thompson, 39-year-old social worker who won in Toronto Davercourt. Before his nomination he was a member of the staff of the Liberal Leader Lester Pearson.

Donald Morrow, who won Windsor-Walkerville for the Liberals, has five years' experience as an alderman and is the coach of champion gymnast Ernestine Russell.

Two of the new Liberals in Northern Ontario is Leo Troy, 29-year-old school teacher who won in Nipissing. He is widely known in sports circles as coach of several inter - scholastic teams and as secretary of the Northern Ontario Football Union.

Prospects for Summit Meet Growing Darker Every Day

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The general feeling appears to be that the talk-not-war approach of foreign ministers is running out without any important agreement, but that East - West negotiations should not stop.

Prospects for a summit meeting become darker day by day—they were never very bright to begin with.

Khrushchev discounted the value of the foreign ministers' conference from the beginning, calling instead for the summit. If more progress is getting off to blame the West for the failure to reach the height. He said last week:

"Different statesmen declare: "If the Soviet Union does not accept the conditions of the Western powers, then there will be no summit meeting." World opinion will see who bears the responsibility for that."

President Eisenhower, a n d flatly last week that Canada had not produced anything sufficient to justify the summit. Since then a new Russian proposal for Berlin has been termed "wholly unsatisfactory" by the Western foreign ministers.

It is known that Western diplomats have considered a proposal under which the Geneva conference would be "recessed" with the foreign ministers agreeing to meet again. In the interim, diplomats would study the work of the conference and try to narrow differences.

France has been driving ahead with her nuclear tests and there may be no happier over speculation that one day Communist China will also own "the bomb."

Argue Demands Full Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF House Leader Argue persisted the Commons Thursday in a demand for a full investigation of the alleged defects in St. Lawrence Seaway construction.

He refused an offer by Transport Minister Hees to make available some of the data at a time when would explain in detail construction difficulties and the government position.

He said he wanted "a full public inquiry, not only as to inefficiency in the construction of the seaway but as to why we have these jams, delays and bottlenecks."

City Commercial Softball League

"Bunk" Young won a tight pitcher's duel over McLean of Texaco Chiefs last night at Mead-Sportsmen shaded the Chiefs 3-1 in a City Commercial Softball League tilt.

Young fired a sparkling two-hitter over the seven - inning distance and had a shutout going until the final frame. A walk, an error and Jones' two-bagger scored Texaco's lone tally. Young whiffed ten while passing six.

McLean on the losers—mound was touched for only four safeties in the losing effort. He struck out three and walked the same number.

Mead - Sportsmen plated single runs in the first, fifth and ninth frames to provide Young with a working margin.

Warren Snell doubled in one of the victors' runs while the other hits, all singles, were shared by Hugh Reeves, Russ Vanderboort and Lloyd Worsley.

C. Jones collected a run-scoring double in defeat with Snell picking up a single.

SPORT IN BRIEF

PULLS MUSCLE

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—Ball Inst. who did the quarter mile in 46.9 seconds last May 30, withdrew Thursday from the NCAA championship track meet at Lincoln, Neb., this weekend because of a muscle pull. Frosh Pete Spain, Trinidad, he said he hoped to make the West Indies Pan-American Games team.

FIGHT TONIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Kenny Lane and Carlos Ortiz get their chance for a world boxing championship tonight.

Lane and Ortiz will battle 15 rounds or less for the vacant junior welterweight crown. This division, inactive since 1946, is halfway between the light and welterweight with a weight limit of 140 pounds. Both the New York State Athletic Commission and the National Boxing Association recognize the title.

Charlie Lee of Italy, the European welter king will meet the winner in the garden Aug. 31. It is close to an even-money fight with a slight edge to Lane. The fight will be broadcast and televised.

WAS TOP DIVER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The funeral for former Olympic and national diving champion Mickey Riley, 48, was held Thursday. Riley, who competed under the name of Michael Galitzen, won the springboard title in the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles; his hometown. He held national titles from 1928 through 1932.

Fred Astaire Does Not Like To Wear Top Hat, Tie, Tails

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD AP)—Things I learned about Fred Astaire by reading his autobiography, Steps in Time:

He doesn't like top hat, white tie and tails.

He claims "I am always arriving at dinner parties not wearing a dinner jacket when I should, or vice versa."

He wasn't inspired when he watched his sister Adele in dancing school—"dancing was merely something my sister did, something that all little girls did. I let it go at that and the hell with it."

Fred's father, a beer maker from Austria, was the stage struck one in the family. He sent his wife and two children to New York to seek stage careers for the youngsters.

DATED GINGER ROGERS

Astaire used to date Ginger Rogers in 1930, before either of them entered movies—"we danced now and then for fun, with no place whatsoever of working together." His ambition was to be rich when he saw himself on the screen for the first time in Dancing Lady—"I thought, I look like a knife!"

He was introduced in that film by Clark Gable, playing a dance director, if you can imagine that. Gable said to Joan Crawford: "I've got Fred Astaire here from New York to dance with you—Oh, Fred, would you come here, please?"

The story that MGM dropped him after that picture is false. He did not walk from RKO.

KISSING LEGEND FALSE

Also untrue is the legend that Mrs. Astaire prohibited him from kissing Ginger in their co-starring films. "It was my idea to refrain from kissing Ginger, partly because I hated doing them and also because it was somewhat novel not to have sticky clinches in a movie."

He dreamed up his famous golf number in Carefree when he playfully kicked a ball off the tee while lumbering up at the Belair course one day.

About his work, he says: "I have no desire to prove anything by it. I have never used it as an outlet or as a means of expressing myself.

"I just dance."

UK TOPS CHILE

EASTBOURNE, Eng (AP) — Britain won the opening two singles matches from Chile and took a 2-0 lead Thursday in the European Davis Cup quarter-finals tennis match. Bobby Wilson, 22, defeated Luis Ayala 6-3, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2, and Mike Davies downed Patricio Rodriguez 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. The doubles are today and the final two singles matches Saturday.

Hogan Top-Tied With Three In United States Open Golf

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Ben Hogan, a little fellow who carries a lot of weight, took a share of the lead into the second round of the 59th United States Open golf championship today.

But two younger pros who carry little weight—physically or competitively — found themselves in enviable positions although the 46-year - old Texas perfectionist shot a 69 Thursday in his bid for an unprecedented fifth open title.

Dick Knight, 28-year-old, 160-pound former driving range operator, was tied for first with Hogan and two others of golf's best-known stars, Gene Littler and Dow Finsterwald.

Hillman Robbins, a 27-year-old, 137-pound freshman pro who was U.S. amateur champion two years ago, was only a stroke behind.

Al Balding of Toronto fired a 34-35—72.

So many good players were grouped within a few strokes of the pace-setters that it still could be anybody's tournament. Par for the long - all - out, 6,879-yard Winged Foot west course is 70.

Tommy Bolt, the defending champion, appeared virtually out of it with an opening round of 75.

Swedish Fans Get Behind Native Son

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson may be a big favorite in the United States but in Sweden they think Ingemar Johansson is a sure thing to knock him out in their June 25 title match.

A poll of 500 persons by a Stockholm newspaper showed 70 per cent think Johansson will knock out Patterson. Most of them (26 per cent) think that the end will come before the seventh round.

In Johansson's home town of Goteborg, only 13 per cent think Patterson will win. In Stockholm 17 per cent expect Patterson to retain his title.

Widow Charges Race Driver With 'Killing'

COBLENZ, West Germany (Reuters) — The widow of a Nuerburgring sports car race ceived fatal injuries in the Nuerburgring sports car rae last Sunday has lgd a charge of "negligent killing" against British driver Stirling Moss, it was disclosed today.

Fausto Meyrat died in hospital Tuesday from injuries received when his German Auto Union car ran off the track in the ninth or 10th lap of the 44-lap race.

Moss, who won the race in an Aston Martin, was reported to have bumped Meyrat's car during the race.

Latta Triumphs Over Read 7-2

Latta chased seven runs across teh plate in the fourth and fifth innings to hand Read a 7-2 defeat in a South Hastings baseball league fixture.

Read scored both their runs in the first and held Latta at bay until teh fourth when they plated a trio. Four in the fifth sewed it up.

Stan "Lefty" Reid tossed a neat three-hitter on the Latta mound to collect the victory. He walked three batters and blanked third strikes by ten in a top performance.

Earl Hanley surrendered 11 hits on the Read hilltop while facning five and walking three.

Don Harris with three singles led the winners at bat while Rollins smashed a triple and single. Wayne Cronkwright and Ross Parks had a pair of singles each.

Kenny Brennan, Hanley and Percy Milligan had one safety each for Read.

Argos Offer Soccer Star A Tryout

TORONTO (CP)—Hans Kulker, 18-year-old soccer player for Ulster United in the National League here, has been offered a tryout as a halfback with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football union.

An Ontario all - star soccer player, the 160-pound, Dutch-born high school student has been asked to the Argo rookie camp opening June 17.

Kulker played high school football for suburban Weston Collegiate. He was scouted at a recent exhibition game by Argo head coach Lamp Pool.

Tigers Won't Deal Nagurski

HAMILTON (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble of Hamilton Tiger-Cats said yesterday Sam Francisco 49ers of the National Football League wanted to negotiate a deal with his Big Four club for tackle Bronco Nagurski "but we wouldn't have anything to do with it."

Trimble said he has had seven or eight offers from NFL teams to send players to Hamilton on loan but that he's turned them down.

"We're not running a farm system for the National Football League," he said.

Sport Snapshots

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Here we go again, fellows. Jim Trimble, the kindly coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats who probably never would win a popularity contest in Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa or Western Canada, says Tiger-Cats will win the Grey Cup next November.

People were inclined to dismiss his statement to this effect a few weeks ago because Tiger-Cats were embarking on a big season-ticket campaign. He meant it.

Reporters brought it up the other day when Tiger-Cats played host to a flock of newspaper, radio and television representatives as the Hamilton club showed off its new Civic Stadium.

"I'm not bluffing," Big Jim said. "Besides, the Cats have a score to settle with the West and that's what we'll be doing."

LEAGUE NO WORRY

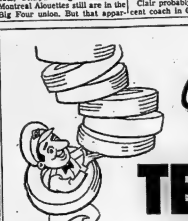
Jim forgets that Toronto Argonauts, Ottawa Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes still are in the Big Four union. But that apparently doesn't worry him. His Tiger-Cats have been in the Cup final the last two years, making the Big Four race practically a runaway each season.

Of course, it's been a different matter in the Cup classic. Ticats walloped a badly-crippled Winnipeg Blue Bomber club 32-7 in 1957, and Trimble and his black-and-yellow-sweatered athletes figured they had nothing to worry about when the clubs met again last year. The result was 35-28 for the Bombers and Trimble, who had boasted his Ticats would swallow the Winnipeg team, took a fearful ribbing from just about every football writer from the Lakehead west.

Trimble's latest prediction was sounded at about the same time Coach Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders announced his club would have "the most exciting defence that we've ever had."

Clair probably is the most reliable of coach in Canadian pro football—and one of the smartest. He piloted Toronto Argonauts to Grey Cup victories in 1950 and 1952 and was tossed out a couple of years later because, Argonaut officials and fans said, he wasn't making proper use of his Canadians.

CANADIANS VALUABLE



Rough Riders eventually latched on to the studious and silent Clair, giving him a five-year contract, and he has given Rider fans some fairly exciting football the last two years. His Canadian players were a big factor in the team's success.

Clair has had Riders in the playoffs the last two years and when he says the 1959 team will have an "exciting offence" it could mean plenty of trouble to other Big Four clubs.

Getting back to Trimble and the Tiger-Cat stadium. It will have 28,000 seats (18,000 between the goal lines) and gives Tiger-Cats the third largest stadium in the country—behind Vancouver's Empire Stadium and Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition stands.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

We thought the Swedish hockey star was kidding that morning in the spacious rotunda of the International Hotel, in Prague.

One of the press fraternity asked him what he thought of the chances of Ingemar Johansson's chances against Floyd Patterson for the world heavyweight championship.

The good - looking youngster allowed a funny smile to spread over his blonde features. Then he spoke: "You mean Ingemar the coward?"

You could almost hear the eyebrows click as they shot upward in unison on reportorial faces.

"Coward?" they chorused. "How come?"

The Swede told us the story and it was taken with definite tongue in cheek by the majority of the press-radio men. However, the story has been dug out of the files by a news-hungry columnist, and the details bared.

It happened in the 1953 Olympics. Ingemar had reached the finals and was matched against an American Negro, Dick Sanders. The colored-fighter chased the Swede all over the ring in the three-round affair. In fact the referee warned both boxers for "not giving their best."

The big crowd in the Helsinki Stadium hissed, whistled, and booed its disapproval. It figured that two fighters who reached the Olympics heavyweight finals should put on some sort of a show.

The story goes that the Swede quit cold in the second round. The 1952 gold medal went to the American, but the committee refused to give the runner-up silver medal to Ingemar. It was stated the world shunned him and his countrymen branded him a coward.

That was six years ago. Since that time Ingemar has smashed his way through 20 fights and heavyweights to win the European crown and a chance to get a crack at the world title. He has wiped out that night of shame in Helsinki.

He denied being frightened that night in the Finnish capital. He said "They thought I was scared. I wasn't. The fight just happened that way."

Three months later Ingemar was pervaded by a wealthy friend to turn professional. Swedish fans turned out in droves to see the "coward" get his come-uppances by the French boxoy, Robert Manson. Instead of being chased, he was the "chaser." He smashed through the Frenchman's defence and put him away in the fourth round.

Then, the story goes, victory followed victory. And the Swedish fans were not convinced. They turned out in huge crowds just to see him get beaten. He knew it—and was worried.

He mushroomed into a terrific fighter with shocking punching ability. Given a chance at the European title he changed his critics into admirers with a 13-round knockout in 1956 of Frank Caviezi, the Italian European champion.

His first title defence was against Britain's Brian Cooper, whom he disposed of in the fifth round. That was in 1957.

Then the handsome Ingemar shocked the entire boxing world with his brilliant one-round knockout of the then unbeaten Eddie Machen, picked by many American ring experts as the next heavyweight champion. He was a cinch to whip Johansson—so they said.

The Swede soon found a hole in Machen's defence. He whipped a terrific right to the American's jaw and Machen went down like a pole-axed steer. He came back up and again was sent down with that devastating right. He was back for more but this time the Swede finished it. He swung hard and true and Machen went out for keeps. They had been fighting two minutes and 16 seconds.

The crowd of some 58,000 went wild. Ingemar was at last back in the good graces. Ring Magazine named him the "Fighter of the Year."

Fighting or not fighting, the Swede always keeps in training. He is single, engaged to be married, with no wedding plans. He is a shrewd business man and has six or seven successful projects working for him.

THE DEATH MATCH

Wrestling fans are agog over tonight's big mat gimmick, the "Texas Death Match," which pits the spitting and "rassle know-how" of handsome Whipper Billy Watson and ferocious Gene Kiniski, who knows little or nothing of the genteel parts of the sport. It will be a battle royal for Whipper recalls what happened the last twice the pair met in a Belleville ring, not to mention other encounters. There is no love lost between the two and you can bet they'll ex all out in the novel form of wrestling that gives each plenty of room for their various styles of attack. It should be a thriller. Pat Flanagan will be one of the two referees.

Brundage Will Admit 'Chinas' On Own Terms

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Avery Brundage has extended a welcoming hand to Communist China and Nationalist China to return to the Olympic organization, but on Olympic terms.

He also denied Thursday published reports that the uproar over expelling Nationalist China might cause him to resign as president of the International Olympic Committee before the end of his eighty-year term in 1959.

Nationalist China was expelled from the IOC in a meeting at Munich two weeks ago on the grounds it did not represent sports on the Chinese mainland. Communist China withdrew last year after its claim to represent sports—in Formosa, where the Nationalists are based, was rejected.

"We hope to find the solution to the problem and we will talk with the Nationalist Chinese in good time to see what can be done," said Brundage. "But we cannot change our decision which makes it clear that they can stand only for continental China."

Brundage said only seven of the 48 IOC members at Munich opposed the decision expelling the Nationalists.

Brundage also said:

"I have no thought of resigning. Why should I? The decision

Southpaw Defeats Nats 3-1 As Tribe Replaces Orioles; Podres Wins 11-0 on 2 Hits

By ED WILKS

Billy Pierce missed that elusive no-hitter again Thursday night, coming off with the fourth one-hitter of his career—top among active pitchers in the majors.

This one wasn't quite as neat as the other three, but it was the most important, hoisting Chicago White Sox into a 1½-game lead in the American League with a 3-1 victory over Washington Senators.

Pierce, whose last one - hitter was a 3-0 decision over the Senators June 27 last year, gave up a third-inning double by Ron Samford, then pushed the run across with three consecutive walks.

The stingy southpaw, 32, walked five and struck out six and wasn't sure of his seventh victory until the White Sox scored twice in the ninth.

TRIBE HOVERS UP

Cleveland replaced Baltimore in second place by beating the Orioles 2-1. Rocky Colavito drove home the deciding run in the eighth as the Indians won two in a row for the first time in three weeks.

Detroit regained fourth place by belting Boston 8-1 as Kansas City skidded New York to fifth 9-5.

Colavito's double, following a walk to Woody Held, broke up a 1-1 duel between southpaw Don Ferrarese of the Indians and Hal Brown of the Orioles. Both finished with seven-hitters and 5-3 records. Billy Gardner had tied the score with his second home run of the season in the Birds' fifth.

KALINE HOT

Al Kaline drove in three runs with three hits for the Tigers for a total of seven hits and seven RBI in two days. He singled home the clincher in a three-run seventh inning against Hawk Taylor, Wally (12-1) and hit his 12th homer in the ninth. Relieller Ray Narleski made his second start and went all the way for a 3-6 record with a four-hitter, giving way to Williams' 484th career homer, second this year, in the sixth.

Righthander Ned Garver (5-4) seeded relief in the ninth, but beat the Yankees for the first time since 1955. The Athletics chased Bob Turley (5-3) in a five-run fifth inning triggered by Kent Hadley's two-run homer. Garver gave up 11 hits, including three runs by Norm Siebern, Marv Throneberry and Mickey Mantle.

Leafs Beaten By Miami 4-1; Royals Win

Buffalo Bisons are outlining their International League goal as a dagger at the throat of the cornubing Richmond Vees this weekend.

The teams clash in a four-game series, beginning tonight at Buffalo. Richmond is 2½ games behind Buffalo.

The Bisons took their sixth in a row from Columbus Jets Thursday night, 6-5, while Richmond lost its second game in the last 12—4-2 to Rochester Red Wings. Miami beat Toronto 4-1 and Montreal defeated Havana 6-3.

Buffalo, 1-2 against Richmond so far, will send Warren Hacker (4-2) against the Vees' Zach Monroe (1-1) tonight.

NINTH-INNING HEROICS

Buffalo's Jim Coker stroked a bases-loaded single in the last of the ninth to give reliever Dick Farrell (4-1) the Thursday victory. Don Landrum and Bobby LeoGreco singled, and Frank Herrera scored one run with a double to tie it 5-5 in the ninth. After Bob Morgan was walked intentionally, Coker smashed his hit off loser George O'Donnell (2-2).

Luke Easter and Chuck Essegian smashed home runs to help Bob Miller (6-6) to a route-going victory. He fanned seven as his mates knocked out loser Ed Dick (4-2) in a three-run second inning.

TIP FOR ANDERSON

John Anderson won his seventh for the Bucs and Willie Kirkland hit his ninth and 10th for the Giants, giving him four in four days. It also was the 19th for Mays, benched because of a slump and a bruised hip, but the first pinch-hit homer among his 566 for the majors.

Newk (6-4) gained his 23rd shutout, but first since Aug. 21, 1957, with his fifth straight complete game. Roy McMillan's three-run second inning provided his ninth, wrapped it up against loser Moe Drabowsky (4-5).

In 10 decisions for the Marlies, who took four of five from Toronto, Bob Chalkies (5-5) lost.

Carlos Paula had a home run, a double and a single to lead a 16-hit attack against Montreal lefter John Gray (6-4) and two relievers. Walt Craddock (6-2) won a six-hitter as the Cubans put it away with a three-run second inning on consecutive doubles by Leo Sklar, Paula, Larry Novak, a single and a wild pitch.

SOX-SENATORS TRADE

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Red Sox traded infielder Billy Consolo and right-handed reliefer Murray Wall to Washington Senators Thursday for relief artist Dick Hyde and infielder Herb Plews. Hyde had a 10-3 record and a 3.06 ERA last season with Senators. Plews plays mostly second base. Consolo, 24, has been playing infrequently. Wall came to the Red Sox at the end of the 1957 season.

Point Anne Defeats Trenton 10-3 With Season High 15-Hit Attack

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Point Anne Cementmen unleashed a 15-hit attack, highest total of the season in the Belleville and District Softball League, on their way to a 10-3 victory over Trenton Garretts in Trenton last night.

Every man in the lineup had at least one hit to back the veteran Pat Maracle in his initial win of the campaign. They got him six runs in the second, two in the fourth and singletons in the fifth and ninth.

Meanwhile Maracle gave up only one infield single until the homesters picked up a pair in each of the seventh and ninth frames. They scored two runs on errors in the fifth and completed the scoring on Gord Maroney's home run to deep right field in the ninth.

Maracle struck out 11 batters, in his five-hit victory with seven of this total coming in the final three frames. He issued four bases-on-balls.

Ron Wannamaker started and gave up five runs off four hits in 1 2-3 innings to take the defeat. Gord Maroney stayed in for the remainder, lasted for 11 safeties. Eight errors, many of them sloppy plays in the infield, which allowed runners to grab extra bases, added to Trenton's troubles.

Highlighting the Cementmen's outburst of power were Chuck Kingston with a 4-for-5 performance and Dave Jones with three hits for the second straight night. Kingston broke a two-game hitless streak with three solid outfield singles and a perfect drag bunt safely. Jones smashed a double and two sacrifices to give him six hits in his last nine official trips.

Claude Carr contributed two singles while Jack Elliott Jr. and Pete Green smashed triples. Gary Goyer doubled with singles going to Cam Buskard, Doug Soule and Maracle. Point Anne played without the services of Johnny Batchelor and Doug Hull, both being unable to make the game.

Gord Maroney topped Trenton at the plate with his home run and a sharp single. Doug Alexander doubled with Guy Austin and Roger Drake getting infield hits.

Kingston started the big second-inning rally with a lined smash. Soule sacrificed him for the second out but then the roof caved in on Wannamaker. Mitts dropped a fly in left and Buskard drove a bullet single to make it 2-0. A walk to Carr and Jones' scoring single, with an error on the same play, brought on Maroney. He walked one and hit one to fill the sacks and Kingston's second hit of the inning drove home two for a 4-0 lead.

Carr singled, Jones doubled him across, advanced on Goyer's sacrifice and scored on another Kingston hit in the fourth. Trenton's two in the fifth came on a walk, Don Cole's sacrifice and three errors. Elliott tripled and scored on an error for the Point-ers' ninth run. Kingston, Maracle and Soule had hits —to help close the scoring for the winners in the ninth. Throwing errors also hurt.

Maroney homered deep over Buskard's head to keep Trenton alive in the last of the ninth. Alexander doubled but died on second as Maracle ceded it by tossing a third strike by Howard Cole.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—Royal Orbit, the Privateer-owned and -trained gray filly, won in Saturday's $135,000 - added Belmont Stakes, worked a mile in 1:36 flat Thursday with Bill Hartack up.

The Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer and the King Ranch's Black Hills, the other two highly-regarded colts in the 91st running of the three-year-old classic, put in final serious drills Thursday.

The size of the purse, the 1¼-mile test will be settled when the entry box closes today and owners pay the $3,000 starting fee.

This will be the richest of all Belmont's with a group pot of $164,500 in eight starts. Any winner would net $82,675. The Mauler, a supplementary nominee at $5,000, would net $97,825.

Early odds listed Sword Dancer, winner of the $160,000 Metropolitan Handicap, as the 7-5 favorite. Royal Orbit was 2 to 1 and Black Hills 3 to 1.

TORONTO (CP)—Foxy Phil, owned by Lanson Farms of Toronto and ridden by Hugo Dittfach, won the featured Niagara Falls Purse at New Woodbine Park Thursday. The four-year-old colt ran six furlongs in 1:10 4-5 and paid $13.20, $5.80 and $4.10.

The stewards stole the spotlight by giving 10-day suspensions to three jockeys who were charged with rough riding Wednesday. Canada's leading jockey, Avelino Gomez, was one of those to be suspended. The others were Sam Cusentino and Norman Lehl. The suspensions begin Saturday.

Each was suspended for permitting his mount to interfere with other horses.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Gold Coast won the $26,750 Golden State Breeders Handicap in a stirring performance at Hollywood Park Thursday while the favored Silky Sullivan, with a belated run, ran third.

Basketball Body Selects 14 For Tryouts

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Basketball Association has announced selection of 14 players who are to try for berths on Canada's team for the Pan-American games at Chicago in August.

Only three members of Southern Alberta Champions, the Canadian Senior A champions from Lethbridge, have been selected. Chinooks had the right to form a seven-player nucleus of the team because of their championship but a squabble with the CABA arose when the western club decided it needed a greater say in direction of the team.

Players include one from Quebec Steelers, two from Vancouver Ca'ns and one from Vancouver Blers and two from Ottawa Schaeffers. From Tillsonburg Livingstones, Don Duffas and Howard Triano were picked and also Warren Reynolds of Windsor Assumption Raiders.

The final 11 players will be chosen after a practice session at Tillsonburg.

Sexual Offences Dealt With In Amendments

OTTAWA (CP) — Government proposals in the Commons Thursday to amend the code contained amendments applied, among other things, to two types of sexual offence.

One involves sexual intercourse between a man and a girl aged 14 to 16 years; the other between a man and a female employee under 21.

The present law says men accused of either offence may be granted bail only if evidence fails to show they were "wholly or chiefly to blame."

The proposed amendment would free a man if evidence fails to show him more to blame than the female person."

Small Pleasure Boats Cannot Use Seaway

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times says thousands of small pleasure boat owners "have been dismayed" to learn their craft will not be permitted to travel the length of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"As a result, many vacation plans must be changed," the newspaper says in a front-page story. "Several million dollars already spent for construction of marinas (yacht basins) on the seaway may be a dubious investment."

The newspaper quotes Willis H. Crossehile, traffic services chief of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, as says:

"Under existing regulations boats under 30 feet overall or less than two tons dead weight cannot go through the Canadian locks."

Since Canada controls 13 of the 15 locks, small boats can travel only 68 miles on water in the seaway—the distance covered by the two United States locks.

Approximately 5,000,000 of the 11,000,000 U.S. pleasure boats are under 30 feet.

Officials of U.S. boating groups met at Massena, N.Y., this week with seaway authorities to discuss desired changes in regulations, The Times reports.

"The Canadians are said to feel that there would not be enough room, expense and trouble involved in moving the small pleasure craft through the locks," the newspaper says.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The United States undersecretary of commerce, Louis A. Jr., predicted Thursday night that the St. Lawrence Seaway would pay for itself in tolls.

Allen said in a speech his view was based on an estimate the seaway would be handling 50,000,000 tons of cargo a year within 10 years.

Eldorado

ELDORADO — A number from here attended the Sunday School picnic of the Gosford Methodist Mission, on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCann spent a few days last week with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Holgate and children, of Cannifton, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holgate.

Mr. John Thompson is a patient in Belleville General Hospital, following an appendicitom on Wednesday last.

Miss Lamonia Post of Frankford, and Mr. Wayne Post of Toronto, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Post.

Mr. Don Fox of Toronto, spent the weekend with his father, Mr. James Fox.

Mrs. Floyd Blackburn spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Ella Holgate.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Saturday, June 13

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — During morning good ideas occur to you about making your work more light yet more efficient. Follow them immediately and get it behind you so that you meet requirements expected of you. P. M. be very diplomatic at residence.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Do as a true friend advises: Go to that fine beautician or barber! Put and get appearance at its very peak. Later you will then be able to meet influential persons and get invaluable data that will help you in your career.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Spend a good part of the day getting your abode cleaned and polished thoroughly, adding a few new pieces here and there. Then look into important monetary matters; be very cautious. Use diplomacy with mate who is worrying about finances.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Start the day's activities by doing your shopping early, getting in groceries, so that you feel you have made a good start. Then make calls, visit, write letters. P. M. makes better arrangements with associate.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Put everything connected with real estate and holdings in best condition possible during day hours. Set up a better budget. P. M. don't worry about your problems. The best solution is to do something constructive about them.

Virgo (Aug. 21 to Sept. 22) — This is one of those days when a nervous, squeamish associate can annoy you a great deal, if you permit. Refrain from argument and be understanding. P. M. is then fine, since comrades and other associates cooperate with you.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — If you concentrate on the impression your present work will make on the general public, you can perform it very efficiently. P. M. let others admire you by being loyal to closest of kin.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Now good pals realize your true worth and will do all they can to help you achieve your goals, commercialize on your best ideas. P. M. a new friend comes forth with some good advice that brings hopes and wishes closer.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Show devotion to loved ones in tangible way without resorting to too much talking and you win out. Also, see that adviser of note for success in other matters. P. M. you get support from a dignified, influential person.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — If you simply adopt a more understanding and charming attitude, you can today realize much of the success you covet. Use that pretty smile more. P.M. get together with associates and co-operate to fullest extent.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Bigwigs are in a mood to assist you to get what most you desire, but it is imperative you are not so reticent and state clearly your wishes. P. M. fine charitable deeds will enrich your life considerably.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Being filled with inspiration now, you can and should work diligently toward reaching your desires. Be enthusiastic. Those you love will admire your industry and become very warm toward you. Succeed.

If your child is born today ... he is delighted child born today is a veritable human dynamo and will ever be searching for new worlds to conquer. Hence, whether boy or girl, education is fields where much travel, activity and thoroughness are required is paramount. However early give lessons in charity and good will toward others for best results in this promising chart. A great humanitarian here with your good example.

MR. TWEEDY

by Ned Riddle

"I'll be glad to go to a movie with you, Mr. Tweedy, as soon as I hang out some clothes."

Frankford

FRANKFORD — Mr. and Mrs. L. Purdy, Mrs. H. McFadden and son of Belleville, were the Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Elliott and family.

Mrs. Carl Andrews entertained a number of little folk on Friday afternoon in honor of her son, David's fourth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Pierce and son Bill of Falconbridge, spent the weekend with Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Pierce.

Mrs. Preston Chase entertained a number of boys and girls on Saturday evening in honor of her daughter Donna's birthday.

Mr. Bruce Ward of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. Ray Walker and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Herrington of Hamilton have taken up residence in Frankford.

Madoc Junction

MADOC JUNCTION — The annual cemetery bee was held last Wednesday, with the men folk of the community here, also other interested ones from nearby neighborhoods, who have plots in the cemetery here, spent the day in cutting the grass, trimming shrubs, repairing some of the fence posts and giving the fence a coat of white paint. A few others who were unable to attend or assist in the work sent contributions.

A large number, including the teacher and pupils of the public school here enjoyed the beautiful dinner, served at the noon hour at the church, by the members of the Eggleton W.A. Several visitors were present from Belleville, Stirling, Madoc, Wooler, Ameliasburgh, Tweed, Warkworth and Kingston.

Mrs. Clarence Pitchett and Mrs. Maurice Clancy visited Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker at the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. George Nelson and little son, Ronald, of Warkworth, attended the dinner at the church on Wednesday, and during the afternoon visited with Mrs. A. Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Vardy recently celebrated their wedding anniversary. On Sunday last a delightful family get-together was enjoyed, in honor of the occasion, at the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stapley, and family.

Neighbors here and other friends wish to join in extending to them best wishes for many more happy anniversaries.

Mrs. C. Clancy, of Wellman's, was an overnight visitor on Friday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clancy and Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bridges, Bruce and Eric, of Oshawa, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges and Paul.

Friends visiting with Mrs. A. Andrews on Sunday were Mrs. E. Danford; Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Scott, and Paula, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stapley, of Stirling.

BOY, 14, ARRESTED IN C.I.N.T. SLAYING

Eight Are Killed As Plane Crashes, Burns In North

Ground Party Walks Five Miles Into Bush

WINNIPEG (CP)—Eight persons were killed Friday night when a Transair Limited Norseman crashed and burned on a 65-mile flight in northwestern Ontario.

Reports from a ground party which walked five miles through the bush from Big Trout Lake, 245 miles north of Red Lake, said there were no survivors.

Name of the pilot was being withheld until relatives are notified, said Transair President Ron D. Turner of Winnipeg. Identification of the seven passengers—six Indians and a Hudson's Bay Company clerk—was not known.

Mr. Turner said the crash happened five miles from Big Trout Lake where the plane had started on a chartered flight east to Kasa Bonika.

A provincial government air services plane from Armstrong, 30 miles south of the crash scene, had originally sighted the wreckage and reported no sign of life.

A ground party would trek through heavy bush to the burned wreckage, its first report said: "No survivors."

Proper Setting For Beer Barrel Polka

— BRADLEY, ENG., (Reuters) — Down the main street came the brass band—26 men in immaculate uniforms of blue and gold.

On they marched to the beat of the big base drum.

No one noticed when the drum suddenly became silent.

After the parade, drummer Ronald Loveridge explained. In the middle of the march he had dropped through a hole in the road into the beer-tunnel-loaded cellar of a tavern. The hole had been left uncovered while the driver of the beer truck, who had been unloading his wares, paused to watch the parade.

Indians Picket Govt. Buildings In Red State

TRIVANDRUM, India (Reuters) — Opposition parties in Communist-governed Kerala state set up picket lines outside government buildings today in their campaign to oust the Red regime.

The opposition parties — the Congress and Praja Socialist parties and the Moslem League—are waging a "non-violent" campaign the traditional Indian weapon of protests.

A work stoppage throughout the state Friday was described as a "complete success." The protest paralyzed activity in Cochin harbor and police said 90 per cent of the stores were closed in this state capital.

Three persons were injured in clashes during the stoppage and 17 persons were arrested on charges of threatening store owners who labored the call to close.

KEEP SCHOOLS CLOSED

ERNAKULAM, India (CP) — Archbishop Joseph Attipetty of Verapoly said Friday the Roman Catholic Church prepared to keep its 3,000 schools closed indefinitely if the Communist-governed Indian state of Kerala.

While at their new over his palace to mark hope of a day of deliverance from Communist government, he called on Kerala's 2,100,000 Catholics to pray and fast.

The archbishop, president of the All-India Catholic Bishops' Conference, said in an interview that there can be no compromise in the church's opposition to the Communists' Education Act which empowers the state to appoint school officials to be appointed from government rosters.

RELIGION THREATENED

He said the law will force Catholics to have Communist teachers. He charged that the Communists were attempting to destroy religion.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Cool air now covers nearly all of Ontario. The weather in all the province will have usually sunny weather with warm afternoon temperatures in the 70s. For Northern Ontario, skies are windy, there are a few showers and today's temperatures will be only in the 50s or 60s.

On Sunday high pressure from Manitoba will spread across into Northern Ontario bringing sunny skies and higher temperatures. For Southern Ontario, Sunday is expected to continue sunny with afternoon temperatures in the 70s.

ONE CANADIAN, THREE FOREIGN SHIPS AGROUND

Problems of Inland Navigation Unsolved

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Six weeks after the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway ocean-going ships are still having difficulties adapting themselves to the problems of inland navigation.

Four ships, three foreign and one Canadian, were aground Friday night at points scattered between Montreal and Detroit.

Three of the ships ran into trouble Friday. The fourth, the Liberian freighter Andora, has been grounded near Manitou, N.Y., since May 23 and has resisted repeated attempts to free her.

A Montreal company, the Sincrennes - Mclaughlin Line, was given the job Friday of moving the 445-foot freighter. The company expects to begin work Monday or Tuesday when special equipment arrives. Under a contract with the U.S. Seaway Development Corporation, it has three weeks to do the job.

FRIDAY GROUNDINGS

The Norwegian freighter Danish ship Kirstiene Tof from Copenhagen ran into strong winds and came to rest on a rocky shoal from the south shore of Wolf Island opposite Kingston.

It is understood the damage is not serious and a tug was expected to refloat the grain carrier from the reef. The vessel was not blocking the seaway passage.

The Great Lakes coal carrier Senator Ford, loaded with 11,500 tons of coal and headed for River Rouge, ran aground in the Amherstburg channel of the Detroit River on the northern outskirts of Amherstburg.

The big lake, stuck within 400 yards of the Canadian shore, was not expected to stop Lake traffic is moving freely north bur.

LOADED SHIP AGROUND

In Montreal another Liberian freighter, the grain-loaded Cornelia, ran aground as she nudged into an east-end wharf to take on fuel.

A fleet of tugs was trying to free the 3,500-ton vessel from a mud bank.

"She's pretty fast in the mud," an harbor spokesman said. "She's a heavy ship and she was loaded to the gunwales."

Signs Increase Geneva Parley On Its Last Legs

GENEVA (CP) — American officials said today prospects appeared dim for a summit conference. Britain called for a policy of firmness and patience in negotiations.

Advisers of U.S. State Secretary Christian A. Herter said they expect the Russians to launch a "propaganda offensive" against the West for failure of the talks and marshalling world pressure in a summit conference despite the Geneva deadlock.

There is a possibility the Western foreign ministers may take a recess and leave the way open to get together again."

Reuter news agency reported growing disillusionment with the conference in on its last legs.

Reuters said summit sources expect the talks to be adjourned next week and reassembled later in June and added that United Nations officials assigned to the conference have been told they will be reassigned to their normal duties Friday.

French representatives were reported sharing the gloom of the American and British forces of success. But British sources in Geneva said the Russians might back down on demands that the West get out of Berlin. They said the basis for agreement that would lift the crisis surrounding the divided city.

At Least Forty Italian Ships Idle In Ports Around World Due Strike

ROME (AP)—At least 40 Italian ships were idle in ports around the world today as the result of a seaman's strike.

Although most of the strikebound vessels were in Italy, there were the biggest, including the Giulio Cesare—flagship of the Italian Line—and the Vulcania, in from Halifax, were in New York.

The walkout five days ago by seven Communist and non-Communist unions hung up a number of liners in Dakar, Africa; Melbourne, Australia; Karachi, Pakistan; Cristobal, Panama; Istanbul, Turkey, and elsewhere.

Some 30 ports in seven were affected.

More than 30 of the strikebound ships are owned by companies in which the Italian government has large stock holdings.

In a move that could worsen the strike, owners of four ships obtained a court order Friday night to remove them from the commission their ships temporarily and discharge their crews.

About the time the decommissioning took place, the unions announced they would call off the strike if owners would resume negotiations. The owners did not accept.

The unions are asking a 30-per-cent wage increase. The owners have offered a one-per-cent increment over present wages averaging slightly above 90,000 lire ($100) monthly.

Another strike development was the removal of some 850 passengers from the Giulio Cesare and Vulcania. Those removed were by 175 passengers failed to take places.

The disgruntled passengers had signed a petition seeking to continue their trips.

A spokesman said that of the 1,100 passengers who were scheduled to sail last Tuesday 200 had received refunds and 300 had found passage on other transatlantic vessels. The rest were facing cancellation of their Line departures.

Cancellation of the Vulcania's and Cesare's sailings will cost the line an estimated $900,000 in passenger fares.

Air Defence Master Plan Stirs Little Enthusiasm

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new master plan for air defence that shifts emphasis from protection against manned bombers to the threat of ocean-spanning missiles met today with little enthusiasm from senators who have been critical of the Republican administration's policies.

The plan, outlined Friday by Defence Secretary Neil H. McElroy, would cut back funds for the rival anti-aircraft missiles of the army and air force, the Nike-Hercules and the Bomarc. It would become in the army's Nike - Zeus program, aimed at eventual development of missiles to knock down enemy intercontinental missiles.

Democratic Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia gave general approval. He is chairman of the armed services committee which presided defence department officials during the new strategy.

Russell estimated about $1,500,000,000 would be saved by the Nike-Hercules and Bomarc cutbacks.

Premier Not Happy With TV Election Coverage Says Paper

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail today quotes Premier Frost as criticizing CBC television coverage of Thursday's Ontario election.

The premier, whose Progressive Conservatives were returned with a reduced but still comfortable majority, is reported to have told reporter Wilfred List in an interview at his Lindsay home that he was obliged to leave the phone calls election night from people watching TV who expressed "concern about the outcome of the election as reflected on the TV screen."

"These calls indicated that the election returns being broadcast supplied by the CBC was that the government was losing," Mr. Frost said. "From my past experience, I would say that the vote on the part of the CBC was thought, but I wonder why the taxpayers of Ontario should have to put up with this sort of thing."

OPPONENTS ON SCREEN

The premier was described as particularly annoyed that CBC carried live telecasts from the Kitchener rooms of Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer and the Toronto committee rooms of CCF Leader Donald MacDonald but had no facilities for presenting the progress of the vote.

A CBC official said that the stationing of a crew to cover Mr. Frost's election night was almost physically impossible.

Stanley Burke, CBC general news editor, said the setting up of TV equipment there would require trucking from Montreal and points east to Toronto and the western networks," because of technical difficulties.

NO FACILITIES

Also, channel facilities would have had to be used by Mr. Frost's party to the nearest network point, Toronto, and the CBC said the equipment would have been taken from the Royal Tour.

Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Wintermeyer were both in areas where there are already microwave facilities.

As for the CBC giving the impression that the PCs were losing, Mr. Gunning said that right from the start of the election broadcast, "as far as I was concerned, it was quite apparent that the PCs were ahead."

At 9:02 p.m., 32 minutes after the broadcast began, Mr. Frost through the aid of computing machines had estimated that the Conservatives would have 71 seats in the new legislature.

INVITED TO ADDRESS

Mr. Gunning, director of information for the CBC's English network, issued an invitation for the premier or a delegate to come to Toronto and see film on the election broadcast.

He felt certain the return would be accepted and that the Progressive Conservative party was losing the election.

He felt that it is all a most unfortunate misunderstanding," he said.

Greenskeeper Killed

TORONTO (CP) — Tom Armstrong, 61, a greenskeeper at Cedervale Golf Club, was killed Friday when his half-ton truck and a CPR train collided at a level crossing.

But Senator Henry M. Jackson (Dem. Wash.), a frequent critic of administration defence policy, called the new plan ridiculous and "a continuation on a reduced basis of the previous master compromise of the joint chiefs of staff."

There is no real effort here to deal boldly with a very difficult defence problem," he said, adding that the public should not be misled into believing" we have a defence against nuclear attack, either manned or ballistic."

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence officials Friday said costs in the United States Bomarc missile program will have no effect on current Canadian plans for two missile bases and SAGE electronic control and communications equipment.

Work already has been on the SAGE installation at North Bay, where a Bomarc aid - aircraft missile base is to be established. The second Bomarc station likely will be somewhere in the Moni Laurier, Que., area.

Lead Dwindles For Albert Wren In Kenora Riding

KENORA (CP) — Liberal Albert Wren's lead over Progressive Conservative Howard Kerfoot in the large Kenora riding dwindled to eight Friday night as counting of votes continued in the federal election.

Five polls were still to be reported from outlying areas of the constituency. The final figures were not expected until today or later. More than 100 polls had been counted in the remaining polls.

Earlier reports had given Mr. Wren what appeared to be a comfortable lead but it began to shrink gradually after when it was found that an error in transmission from one area had given him 100 votes too many.

When counting of votes ended Thursday night with 31 of the 144 polls heard from, Mr. Wren was leading by a margin of 128 votes, or 7955, was leading by 438 and appeared to have won re-election.

Later, and with 138 polls tallied, Mr. Wren's lead fell to 108 for Mr. Wren, 6,409 for Mr. Kerfoot and 1858 for W. G. Sherman of the CCF.

Aside from Kenora, 21 Liberals, 71 Progressive Conservatives and five CCF were elected Thursday to the 98-seat legislature.

Forty Families Evacuate Homes Due to Floods

STE. ANNE, Man. (CP) — A forecast of sunny skies was expected to bring some relief to southern Manitoba's flooded Seine River area this weekend.

Forty families in this village 28 miles southeast of Winnipeg, evacuated their homes Friday when the rain-swollen Seine overflowed its banks and sent three feet of water into the village.

The river hold its flooded waters at a record high Friday night and residents downstream at St. Vital and St. Boniface — both Winnipeg suburbs — were prepared, at least temporarily, for the crest which befell Ste. Anne and St. Pierre.

Police in the two Greater Winnipeg municipalities were issued an alert to residents whose homes are situated along river banks.

The river at these areas was expected to reach its peak late Friday night or early today and indication the flooding would be serious.

At Ste. Agathe and St. Pierre officials felt the worst was over as the river was holding steady after reaching a peak Friday of 18 feet, three feet above normal.

The river and neighboring creeks inundated ruinings as rising waters from the Seine ran to an estimated 50 per cent of the crops in the area. One official said damage might reach $1,000,000.

SHIPBUILDERS MAY GET HELP FROM GOVT.

Dorval and Malton Airports to Get Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian shipbuilders may get some help from the federal government before long.

Transport Minister Hees gave a hint of this in the Commons Friday night as the House was closing up his annual departmental estimates for 1959-60.

But it was only a hint, and contained no more firm information than that problems of the hard-pressed shipbuilding on the east and west coast and major inland waters are under study.

AIRPORT CONSTRUCTION

In a day of dealing with Mr. Hees' departmental estimates, the House also approved expenditures of $63,000,000 for airport construction during the year ending next March 31.

Big items included $12,500,000 at Montreal-Dorval airport and around $13,000,000 at Malton airport.

Other items of more than $1,000,000 included:

Ottawa hangar, $1,475,000; Sault Ste. Marie development, $2,000,000; Toronto island improvement, $1,500,000.

STUDY SEAWAY RUN

Hees in reply to Lionel Chevrier (L—Montreal Laurier) that TCA is not considering an air route between Toronto and Montreal which would take in cities along the St. Lawrence but "another operator" is. He did not identify this operator.

The minister informed Opposition Leader Pearson that studies are continuing on the question of an airport for the uranium area of Elliott Lake. So far, the department has been unable to find a suitable site that could be developed at "less than excessive cost."

Tan and White Puppy Squeezed To Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tan and white puppy died Friday when squeezed by the jaws of a vise between two downtown buildings that rescuers could not get him out.

They had tried valiantly through the night to relieve him Thursday. Finally, they figured the only relief was to tear out the bricks that walled in the dog.

But owners of the two buildings refused permission.

The dog's owners, police, firemen and officials of the Washington Humane Society League were preparing to go to court for an order to break down the vise.

Nobody knew who owned the little animal, described as an 8-to-10-week-old collie.

Queen Bestows Special Favors On World of Arts on Birthday

LONDON (AP)—The Queen bestowed special favors on the world of the arts today in royal honours marking her official birthday.

Michael Redgrave, Shakespearean actor and screen star, was knighted in Buckingham Palace. The honor was conferred on Stanley Holloway, conversational comedian whose religious works have touched off many sharp debates.

Opera singer Geraint Evans and composer Michael Tippett were made commanders of the Order of the British Empire (CBE).

The military was recognized with a knighthood for Sir Hugh Stockwell, who led British ground forces in the Suez fighting three years ago, and a knighthood for grand cross of the Order of the Bath.

A record touch was the naming of Dr. Wilfrid Sheldon as a knight commander of the Royal Victorian Order for his services to the Queen Elizabeth's physician.

Another doctor, who attended the royal children when they had chickenpox, received a lesser award.

Among those awarded the British Empire Medal were J. J. A. Gough, chief fitter for a firm of Scottish bookmakers; J. Topper, 80-year-old former manager of the famed Hilton pig herds, and Dr. E. Pritchard, 84, who runs a street savings group as a member of the Women's Voluntary Services.

The Queen created three barons, who are entitled to sit in the House of Lords; three privy councillors and 12 knights bachelor.

She conferred distinctions on nearly 400 persons.

Her real birthday was April 21, when she became 32. For the official celebrations, observed once in June when weather is likely to be better for ceremony.

Cari Ronald Giles, a newspaper cartoonist, was made an officer of the OBE.

Richard Dimbleby, a broadcaster who did a much-praised commentary in the TV coverage of the Coronation, became a commander of the OBE.

Faces Charge Of Delinquency In Girl's Death

Midnight Arrest Made Of Clinton Juvenile

CLINTON, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police Inspector Harold Graham said today a juvenile has been arrested in connection with the rape-slaying of Lynne Harper, 12.

The boy was to appear in juvenile court at Goderich today.

Inspector Graham said the boy, 14, from Clinton, was charged with juvenile delinquency in connection with the girl's death.

The chief of the OPP's criminal investigation bureau declined to give any details of the arrest, but it was learned the arrest was made at midnight Friday.

FUNERAL HELD FRIDAY

Inspector Graham hinted at delinquency in the case Friday on the eve of Lynne's funeral, but refused to disclose any details.

"I can't very well say anything at the present time," Inspector Graham, in charge of the investigation, told a reporter. "It's nothing I can talk about."

Attorney-General Roberts posted a $10,000 reward Friday for information leading to the capture of the killer, who is believed to have struck the girl on his face, neck, arms and hands.

Funeral services were to be held in the tiny Protestant chapel of Bethel, Clinton, at 3 p.m. today for the girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Harper of Moncton, N.B. Burial will be at Port Stanley.

SEEN ENTERING CAR

Lynne left her home here Tuesday night to go swimming and was last seen talking to a girl who stopped to pick her up while she was standing on a ride on Highway 8.

It was only two hours later—at 9 p.m. Tuesday—that the girl was strangled with her own blouse, police said. The body was found Thursday in a wooded area little more than a mile from her home. Investigators are hoping to locate a grey and white 1955-model car which was seen driving slowly by the killer. It bears yellow license plates.

The reward announced by attorney - General Roberts is the largest ever offered by his department. If a suspect's guilt is proven, the reward will be given whether he was dead or alive.

Items taken from the area where the body was found are being examined by the provincial police crime laboratory in Toronto.

QUESTION 450 STUDENTS

In Clinton police are questioning the 450 students of Clinton and District High School, attended by the girl's 16-year-old brother Peter, and 11 classmates and habits.

Police Commr. W. J. Frankish of the provincial police said in Toronto yesterday he would not rule out the possibility of a link between the slaying of Lynne and the 17-year-old Patricia Lippon, whose body was found last March in Scarborough, a Toronto suburb.

Patricia left home in answer to a phone call from a man who gave a fictitious name and asked her to baby-sit for him. She was never seen alive again.

Patricia left home in answer to a phone call from a man who gave a fictitious name and asked her to baby-sit for him. She was never seen alive again.

Steve Truscello, 24, who told police he gave her a ride on his bicycle to a concession side road, gave a description of a car which picked the girl up after he left her.

A man held for questioning Friday in St. Clair, Mich., was later released.

Ford Company Gets Stock To Gain Control

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Company reports it has received enough offers of shares to take over control of Ford of Canada, Ltd.

The company announced last month it would pay a premium price for up to 775,625 shares of class-A non-voting stock of its Canadian subsidiary. It also said it would buy 30,300 shares of class-B voting stock.

Ernest R. Breech, Ford board chairman, said the purchase would enable Ford to provide a more competitive investment here in Ford of Canada while continuing the "substantial" public ownership.

At the time Ford said it reserved the right to reject offers unless it received acceptances of at least 90 per cent of the class-A shares.

Its latest announcement said tenders now total more than that, and as a result, Ford is committed to the purchase.

The company did not announce the exact figure on acceptances, but it requires the proposed maximum number of shares to be bought at least 75 per cent interest in Ford of Canada.

PROTEST TREATMENT IN ARGENTINA

The Belleville congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses were told last Thursday night that Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina have been denied rights of free assembly and worship. A vote of goodwill was taken and plans discussed to petition the Argentine Republic to correct the restrictions laid on the group's activities.

Mr. Ralph Wickerson, the local congregation's presiding minister, said that in spite of many liberal advancements made by present Argentine government that ended the dictorial Peron regime, a few non-Catholic religious groups that were declared illegal by Peron have yet to be recognized by Argentine's constitutional president, Arturo Frondisi.

Car Damaged When Pulled Into Side of Bridge

Watching where you are going is one of the first rules of good driving.

This was realized by Robert Muirhead, 6 Edward Street, Belleville, after midnight last night when he drove his car into the side of the Bridge Street bridge causing about $300 damage to the front and side of his car.

Police said that Mr. Muirhead was westbound along Bridge Street when his cigaret fell to the floor of his car. He leaned over to retrieve the cigaret with result that he pulled his car up bit to the right and piled into the bridge.

Radio Technicians Meet in City

The regular meeting of the Radio Electronic Technicians Association was held recently at the "Y". The guest speaker was J. K. Ford of Brantford. Mr. Ford is an honorary director of the provincial council of R.E.T.A. and past president. Mr. Ford's topic was the history, progress and aims of R.E.T.A., which was formed during World War Two as a non-profit limited company by a group of professional electronic technicians in Hamilton, Ont., and held its first meeting in Cooksville, Ont. Representatives were present from Toronto, Belleville and other centres. Each organized group operates under a provincial charter. It is the only organization in Ontario representing the electronic technician, and was formed to help raise the standards of the professional service technician, and to protect the public against fraud and unethical practices.

Mr. Ford brought to the attention of members the qualifications, standards of training and academic standing required for all members. Members must have a thorough knowledge of electronic technicians in the service and operating equipment.

The visitors were members of the Kingston group.

Elderly Owner of Snack Bar Beat off Bandits With Broom

TRENTON— Two bandits, one of them armed, failed in an attempt last night to rob a small confectionery store when the elderly proprietor beat them off with a broom.

Archie Walker, 61, and his wife Elsie, were alone in their Snack Bar, the Maples on 17 Bocage Street at 10.35 p.m. last night and just preparing to close up for the day when two men came into the store and asked for a cup of coffee.

Mr. Walker told them they were closed and there was no coffee so they asked for two bottles of pop which they paid for and started to walk out. Mr. Walker then started to sweep the floor when all of a sudden one of the bandits pointed a gun at him and said, "This is a holdup."

The bandit then backed him up into the kitchen in an attempt to get behind the counter. When Mrs. Walker was standing by the till, to get the money when the other bandit shouted, "Hurry up, the gun is loaded." Mr. Walker yelled back "I'm saying," "I'm getting it, it is," and at the same time swung with the broom handle, hitting the bandit on the head.

HAPPENED VERY FAST

He said this morning that everything happened so fast it was hard to recall, but just about that time a fellow appeared at the store and this, along with the swinging broom, gave some one outside to shout to the two men in the store, "Come on, come on, let's get out of here." And the bandits fled in a car without anymore but with Mr. Walker's broom, which they had grabbed out of his hand.

Mr. Walker said he did not recognize the men but that one was heavy set and the other was slighter but taller than his companion. He said he thought there were two other men waiting outside in the car in which they fled but wasn't sure.

He said it was the first time he had ever come face to face with a gun. "And if there had been room I probably would have run, but there was no room so I up to the kitchen door and my wife was there so I just grabbed the broom."

After the would - be robbers had left, Mr. Walker called the Trenton police.

Barbara Thrasher Dancing School Gives Recital

TRENTON — Guests at the Barbara Thrasher school of Dancing Recital last night at Trenton High School were entertained by viewing the various episodes in an imaginary Tea Party, when the daintily-dressed hostesses were Suzanne Kemp and Elizabeth Broadin, their debonair young escorts were David Hicks and Kenny Kemp.

The guests who danced their way into the "Tea Party" were Mary Lynn McConkey, with Boogie Rhythm. Debbie Scriver with a ray interpretation of Peggy Lee, while Oni Girls were represented by Carol Allore, Judy Evans Bonnie Jeffery, Valerie Laing, Linda Hamilton and Jackie Terry.

Debbie Graham and Bonnie Farrell represented Two Little Indians, and their costumes were most effective. Patsy Coutcer's dancing of Caprice Espagnol and pains Miss Thrasher takes with her dance pupils. The Strollers then entered, with much - swaggar and smartness. This scene was danced by Mary Lynn McConkey, Jackie Robertson, Debbie Scriver, Donna Gardiner and Gloria Hutchinon. A team of Majorettes, Rita Beckett, dressed with Susan Mashymski, Karen McComb, Bonnie Chouinard and Sue Graham.

The Spotlighters followed, with Gail Down, Joan Brower and Marilyn Clarke. A seaside scene was then enacted with Girls by the Sea. The group dancers who portrayed this were Donna Jean Phinney, Rita Beckett, Susan and Ann Murray. Debbie Scriver then gave a solo performance of Masquerade with much grace and vigor, while Tally Ho by Suzanne Kemp brought all the thrills of the hunt. Sweet little Oriental Dolls were danced by Susan Mashymski, Elaine Cooper, Debbie Sherington, Barbara Brockley and Sandra Ellis. Merry Widows were portrayed by Louise McVaughlen, Mary McNaughton and Hope Munro, while Jane Bonnell were Debbie Scriver, Patsy Coutcer and Mary Lynn McConkey.

When all the guests had arrived the young hostesses conducted them to the playroom. The audience then watched a number of short films, where very creditable performances were executed by Gregory Ann Mitchell, Vickie McHurter, Jan Browne, Nancy Flint, Elizabeth Kovach, Lee Anne Robillard Mary Lou Murrey, Bonne Sword.

Chairman for the evening was Jack Wilson. Mrs. Marjorie Marlin provided the music and was at the piano, while teacher and choreographer Barbara Thrasher had assistant teacher Mary Lynn McConkey directed. Usherettes were Miss Doreen Miller and Miss Lynda Wagg.

Committee Favors Purchasing Second-Hand Street Sweeper

TRENTON — A mechanical street sweeper may soon be added to the equipment now used by the Public Works and Sanitation Street Cleaning crews, it was revealed yesterday.

Although no definite plans have been made a purchase by one members of the public works and sanitation committee and several committees will keep an eye open in the event that a suitable one is found it probably should become available in some Ontario city or town.

The committees felt that good second-hand machines are frequently available at this time of the year when other places trade older ones in for new models and Trenton could perhaps buy one for around the sum of $3,000 or less.

The sweeper would hold about two yards of dust and dirt and would also be equipped with a 200 - gallon water tank which would feed water to a spray bar where it would be sprayed out onto the street to keep the dust before the huge brushes picked it up and into the truck bin.

The matter of the sweeper was brought before last years council by former Councillor Charles Hilton, then chairman of the committee and where removal committee, but was later changed to a recommendation that one was approved by council.

This year again many complaints from store owners and from citizens generally have reached the committees into taking the action they did at the last meeting, and they will likely commend at the next council meeting, on Monday, June 15, that a second-hand sweeper be purchased if a suitable one can be located.

In reviewing the situation in Trenton the committee found that at present there are six men working daily on sweeping the town streets with brooms and on some days they must employ eight.

TRUCKS PICK UP DIRT

In addition to this it takes a town truck and more men to go around and pick up the piles of dirt the sweepers have left and rather than have these piles of dirt lying in the street to blow around again it is sometimes necessary to have a truck and the men off another job to gather the dirt up and put it in the town dump.

But even with the number of sweepers out working on the streets each day it is found that it is impossible for them to keep the city clean at all times and even after they have gone over them a certain amount of dust is left to blow around every time a car or truck passes or a light wind blows.

And because of all this the committee has found that a mechanical sweeper is apparently the only satisfactory answer and would save the town money in wages they are presently paying out for a man to do the dirty job.

The mechanical sweeper would sweep water on the street first and this would enable the brushes to pick up all the dirt and leave little if any to blow around after it had gone by. Once the streets in town have all been cleaned with this machine then it would be an easy and simple job for the crews to keep them this way.

It could also be used on town intersections where there is always the danger of heavy gravel and rocks being washed out onto the streets or thrown there by passing cars. The machine will pick up this gravel and rock and it can be taken back to the town yards and used again when necessary. The committee members were told that other towns have reported the latest sweeper used in this type of thing alone.

The mechanical sweeper would also eliminate the present necessity of taking a truck and other men on a job to help clean up the streets.

DIFFERENT TYPES

The committees also pointed out that this sweeper should not be confused with the street flusher as they are two different types of machines, although they serve the same purpose of cleaning the streets.

The committee members felt that a sweeper would be better for Trenton chiefly because the flusher would wet the dirt down the street and into the gutters and storm sewers. Instead in these basins then men would still be needed to go around and clean out the basin with shovels and a truck would also be needed to pick up the dirt taken out.

A sweeper, they felt, would eliminate this also as it picked up the dirt, scraps of paper, rocks and whatever else is loaded them into its own bin which is easily dumped when its filled.

"However the committee can only recommend a form of official said, "It is up to the council to approve the purchase and give the green light."

Impressions of Canada, Its People Given by New Canadians at Aux.

The June meeting of Bridge Street Afternoon Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. H. J. Fuke, R. R. 1, Carrying Place. The beautiful June day made the trip by cars most pleasant.

As each car arrived, each member presented a contribution of food, taking it to the long table on the spacious lawn. When all the food was assembled it presented a colorful picture of hot meats; cold meats; scalloped potatoes; potato salads; macaroni and cheese. The colorful vegetable salads which were on the one end of the table were complemented by the delicious pies, fruit salads and cakes on the other end.

Following grace, the calories had a hey-day! Tea and coffee with rolls topped off a delicious luncheon. Lending greatly to the enjoyment of the meal was the beautiful setting.

Nature is indeed lavish with her beauty. There were acres of green lawn, set with different kinds of evergreens with their various shades and towering over all a huge weeping willow shimmering in the breeze, treated by her to play with its rippling iridescent rays.

HOSPITALITY THANKS EXPRESSED

The luncheon over, Mrs. MacArthur, the president, called the assembly to order and proceeded with the meeting, first by expressing the thanks of the Society to Mr. and Mrs. Fuke for giving the privilege of meeting at their home, and reading a prayer of Dr. Gilchrist's in which "a saw so much to do, the span of life so short, and the laborers so few."

Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Morton and group were in charge of the program which consisted of a poem, entitled, "Joy of Loving," read by Mrs. Anderson; an appropriate hymn read by Mrs. Broad, expressing the thought that all nature praises God, so should all His children.

After several passages of Scripture, read by Mrs. Peterkin, Mrs. Boyce led the group in a responsive thanksgiving service. As the subject for study was "New Canadians," Mrs. Anderson, before introducing the visiting new Canadians, called on several of the group to tell where their parents or grandparents came from before emigrating to Canada and then introduced the ladies.

NEW CANADIANS

Mrs. Bosman, who resides at 42 Orchard Drive, has been in Canada eight years, coming from Holland. She is the mother of nine children, all of whom are now in Canada, and grandmother of 28 children, 22 of whom were born in Canada. She speaks English fluently and lately received her citizenship papers.

Mrs. Hoekstra, Mrs. Bosma's daughter, and her little flaxen haired daughter, of about four years, were introduced next. Mrs. Hoekstra has been in Canada five and one-half years, and has five children, two boys and two girls. Her husband is a decorator. Both are happy in Canada.

Mrs. Riwowarski, who writes stories for children, as well as other types, is at present writing a book about the "Indians in the Bay of Quinte Area." A fine English extraction, but her husband, an artist, is Polish. They have been in Canada two years.

Mrs. Anderson asked Mrs. Riwowarski to give the Society her impressions of Canada and Canadians. After expressing her appreciation at being with the group, Mrs. Riwowarski stated she was fond of Canada and is hoping to take out her citizenship papers. — She enjoys the climate and the scenery; has travelled widely in Europe and stated that Canadian scenery is the most beautiful she has seen, and that it is comparable to that of the banks of the Rhine in Germany.

She thinks Canadians are surrounded by luxuries which are taken for granted. The biggest of everything confused her; the big cars made her afraid to cross the road; finds Canadians friendly, but with an air of independence. The younger generation is not as courteous to the older as those in Europe, and feels that Canada stresses youth too much.

Some of the Canadian food she does not enjoy, such as hot dogs watermelon, and cheese; (the cheese has not the "tang" generally found in imported cheese,); nor the mosquitoes, which bother her terribly.

ASKS CANADIANS BE PATIENT

When she last visited England, the would-be-emigrants there, were not so much concerned about life in Canada as a country, but more about Canadians as a people. Now he would accept the in-coming new Canadians. She asked that Canadians be friendly and reading between the lines, strangers in a strange land. Trying to master a new language makes it difficult for them, causing them to be often misunderstood. She herself, has the advantage of speaking English as a near accident on No. 2 highway north of Frankford at Brown's Corners Friday night. The accident occurred at 8.30.

Provincial Police said cars driven by Frank Salar, 37, of Belleville and Keith Pack, 20, of R.R. 3 Frankford, collided. Mr. Pack was taken to Trenton hospital by Duffin's Ambulance Service Stirling, while the driver of the other car and Ladislav Hujik, passenger in one of the vehicles, were treated by Dr. H. St. Beach of Frankford.

On Ferry Lane Road, near Deseronto, a car owned by Randolph Pfefferle, R.R. 1, Deseronto, caught fire with about $100 damage being done to the 1952 model vehicle. The car caught fire from unknown cause about one-half mile south of Avis Curve east of Deseronto.

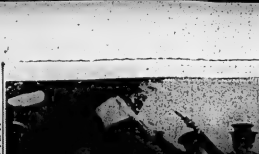
Navy League Cadets Muster For First Annual Inspection

The Navy League Cadets, Corps "Quinte", had their first annual inspection yesterday evening at the Sea Cadet barracks on South Front Street. Inspecting officer, Lt. J. G. Donovan, RCSCC, commented that he considered the turnout of the Navy League Cadet Corps, which includes lads between the ages of 12 and 18, to be "very surprising ... especially for being in operation such a short time."



The cadets put on the usual formal inspection drill and march-past. This was followed by displays put on by the guard, the band, and a signal group. The highlight for the numerous spectators present undoubtedly was the band's performance. Although the trumpeters have yet to develop their wind, their enthusiasm made up for a certain lack of volume and synchronization. The percussion section put on a good show as well, especially considering the fact that the band has been in operation for only about six weeks.

The group signalling put on by another detail of cadets was also quite impressive; indeed all the displays gave ample evidence that the quality of instruction in the corps is very high and the enthusiasm of the cadets is more than ample as well.

Following the inspection refreshments were served by the corps' officers, some of their wives, and several mothers of cadets. The fare, prepared mostly by the cadets' mothers was very good indeed.

Also in the inspection party were Lt. Al Clare RCSCC, and the commanding officer of the Navy League Cadets, Lt. Ed Richards. Representing the Navy League were Mr. Ross Stiver, president of the Belleville Branch, Capt. John Watson, and Mr. Ross Boyce, chairman of Navy League Cadet Committee.

The current complement of the Navy League Cadets although there is good indication that the Navy League, which sponsors the entire cost of the corps, will increase its support so as to admit 15 more cadets. The corps is open to any boy between the ages of 12 and 14 years of age.

Lt. Al Clare, RCSCC, a member of the inspecting party, appears quite interested in the signalling display being put on by a group of the Navy League Cadets during their inspection. The corps has also a number of Lt. J. G. Donovan, RCSCC (right) takes the salute as inspecting officer during the march past of the Navy League Cadets. Also present on the inspecting stand are Lt. Ed Richards (centre) of the Navy League Cadets, and Lt. Al Clare, executive officer of the Sea Cadet Corps.

Three Fishermen Said Drowned

RED LAKE, Minn. (AP) — Three commercial fishermen are missing and believed to have been drowned in Red Lake, where their 20-foot outboard launch swamped in rough water Friday night.

Unaccounted for were Charles Bug, 55; Charles English, 21, and his cousin, Eugene English, 19, all of the Red Lake Indian reservation.

Red Lake is about 260 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Three Men Die When Their Car Hits Two Trucks

ST. SULPICE, Que. (CP) — Three Montreal men were killed Friday night in a three-vehicle collision near this village 25 miles northeast of Montreal.

Police said all were occupants of a car driven by Albin Beaudreau, 42. He collided head-on with a truck and was hurled into the path of another.

The other victims were identified as Alcide Brodeur, 38, and Eddy Brunet, 34.

Neither truck driver was injured.

Suspect Gives Self Up to Newspaper Men

WINDSOR (CP) — Leroy Morency, 33, of Amherstburg, the object of a four-day manhunt in Ontario and Michigan, surrendered Friday to a reporter and photographer from the Windsor Star in a Detroit bar.

Morency has been sought in connection with a gunfight on Tuesday between two men and provincial police that climaxed an unsuccessful robbery attempt at an amusement park safe at Bob-Lo Island in the Detroit River.

Morency denied any part in the gunfight which developed after police were tipped off to the holdup. Both bandits escaped the police ambush, but an Amherstburg man, Leslie Temesy, 35, was arrested later that day.

WATER SAFETY WEEK

TORONTO (CP) — National Water Safety Week, sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross Society, starts Sunday. It will emphasize safe boating to reduce drowning deaths.

FREAK HAILSTONES

WOODSTOCK (CP)—Hailstones 1¼ inches in diameter broke 75 panes of glass in a greenhouse here Friday night but did little damage to crops. The hailstorm, accompanied by heavy rain, lasted about 25 minutes.

Police Bullet Kills Gunman

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Paul Thibodeau, 28, was killed by police bullets Friday night after an attempted break-in in suburban Ville St. Michel.

Constables Roland Cagelais and Lucien Lafond drove to the Lipton Company plant on St. Lawrence Boulevard after a burglar alarm sounded. As they pulled up to the plant they saw two men fleeing across an open lot.

The constables said they fired two shots into the air. They said Thibodeau then turned around and aimed a gun at them. One of the officers fired and the shot struck him in the side.

The second man is being held for questioning.

Mental Patient Sought After Boston Bombing

BOSTON (AP) — An escaped mental patient was sought today for questioning in an explosion at a rapid-transit railway waiting room in which 10 persons were injured Thursday.

Police identified him as John G. Feller, 23, of Boston, who escaped Tuesday from a mental hospital at Wingdale, N.Y.

Feller was committed after his arrest for having a homemade bomb in his possession at a recent Fidel Castro rally in New York.

Police here emphasized they want him only for questioning. No charges have been lodged against him.

Bond Market Prices Still Sliding Down

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The expected announcement of a new short-term government issue gave a generally quiet tone to the bond market this week with prices sliding down in all sections.

Observers feel Monday will see the offering of a bond issue to refund the $300,000,000 balance of 2¼-percent bonds, due July 1.

The usual $113,000,000 91-day treasury bills were offered last week at an average rate of 3.42 per cent. The discount rate is the rate at which the market discounts bills for chartered banks borrowing from the Bank of Canada.

Short - term Canada bonds weakened in price, although days-to-day moves were slight, by to 4½ percent. The Government of Canada 3½-percent due April 1, 1956, closed offered at 97.80, a gross yield of 3.62 per cent.

Provincials dropped in price. Municipals were generally quiet, with few new issues of size. The city of Chatham called for tenders on $450,000 one-to-10 year debentures.

HONOR BRIGADIER

TORONTO (CP) — About 300 veterans of the corps of the Royal Canadian Engineers paid tribute Sunday to Brig. J. L. Melville, their honorary colonel commandant. Brig. Melville, former chairman of the Canadian Pension Commission, was chief engineer in the Canadian Army during the Second World War.

Car Production Little Higher Than Last Week

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian motor - vehicle production this week is estimated at 9,302 vehicles, compared with 9,783 last week, says the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Production consisted of 7,900 cars, compared with 7,765, and 2,066 trucks, compared with 2,018.

Production to date this year is estimated at 217,931 vehicles compared with 185,771 in the corresponding period last year—made up of 180,168 cars compared with 167,047, and 37,763 trucks compared with 28,724.

Car production by companies this week and this year to date, with figures for last week and the corresponding period last year in brackets was:

Chrysler 1,373 (1,320); 25,418 (24,975). Ford 2,483 (2,200); 55,-986 (46,456). General Motors 3,-967 (4,226); 85,887 (83,817). Studebaker - Packard 48 (nil); 3,666 (1,799).

Seaway Pilots Plan Meeting, Threaten Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Seaway ship pilots announced Friday night a meeting has been scheduled for Sunday in Ottawa with representatives of the transport department and the Shipping Federation of Canada.

The St. Lawrence-Kingston-Ottawa Pilots Corporation and the Montreal harbor pilots association have threatened to walk off their jobs June 19 if seven grievances are not settled.

A strike would leave the route into the lakes without pilots. Department officials complained of working conditions.

3 Youths Die When Auto Skids

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Three Jamestown youths were killed today and two others were injured when their automobile skidded out of control, struck a tree and rolled down an embankment three miles east of here.

Killed were James R. Marshall, 19, and Clyde Cummings, 20, both of Gerry Sollinger, 19.

In critical condition was William G. Brown, 19.

Mrs. Gerry Sollinger said the Sollinger boy's parents had spent nearly four hours at the hospital by the time they left the emergency room, believing their son safe. Later, when the boy was washed and his injuries dressed, their discovered their mistake.

Die at Crossing

RIDGEWAY, Ont. (CP) — Madelyn Barbara Brennan, 28, and Mary B. Cann, 28, of Buffalo, N.Y., were killed today when their automobile ran into the side of a moving CNR freight train at a grade crossing, police reported.

Ridgeway is 10 miles southeast of Welland.

De GAULLE SEEKS EQUALITY

"De Gaulle," according to the Associated Press, "is asking to be accepted as a bargaining partner equal to President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan."

"And why not?" some may exclaim.

The difficulty is that every argument which France can advance for such treatment applies with equal force to other countries in NATO. Every argument, that is, except France's past, when she was a big power in fact as well as in name.

It should be noted, however, that the present rift between France and the other two members of the Western Big Three indicates that the U.S. and Britain believe that might, if not in itself right, conveys some right on those who possess it. One of the reasons why de Gaulle is not accorded an equal voice with Eisenhower and Macmillan is because the U.S. and Britain possess atomic weapons, while France does not.

It is easy to assail the British and U.S. stand, but if we are to be practical we should recognize that in today's world the possession of military power imposes heavy responsibilities and these responsibilities, in their turn, ought to give the nations who shoulder them first prerogatives in reaching decisions.

The only realistic grounds on which de Gaulle can base a plea for an equal voice are France's past history or, in the alternative, the theory that every nation, no matter what its military power, should be entitled to an equal voice in the decisions of the Western alliance. The latter argument would defeat de Gaulle's purpose - - instead of raising his stature to that of Eisenhower and Macmillan it would lower it to that of the heads of state of all the NATO countries. But a claim to power based on past history is open to serious question, unless the claimant can produce strong evidence that the nation in question is likely to regain its former status.

It is interesting to compare France's position in NATO and in the Security Council of the UN. In the Security Council her voice is the equal of Britain's and that of the U.S. - - and incidentally of Russia and of Nationalist China, too. All of these five countries are permanent members of the Council and all of them possess the power of the veto. The UN constitution frankly recognizes that special privileges are conveyed by the possession of power - - or perhaps we ought to say by the responsibilities which result from the possession of power.

The veto was designed to prevent the Security Council, by majority vote, from reaching a decision which powers capable of resisting this decision by force might consider made such resistance unavoidable. Of the five members three, at the time the UN was formed, had such power and still have it; today - - the United States, Russia and Britain. One, Nationalist China, appeared emerging as a major power in the Far East. The picture there has been altered, but the question of Nationalist China's right to continue to hold a permanent seat on the Council and to exercise a veto on the Council's decisions is another question from that we are considering. There remains France, one of the great military nations of the world for centuries, a country which at the end of the Second Great War was expected to regain its past power. This expectation has not been realized. Internal weaknesses, dissensions in the colonies and, above all, France's exclusion from the "atomic club" have made it a second class power.

Yes, in the UN where the prerogatives of power are frankly recognized, France continues to enjoy privileges to which it has little claim.

In NATO, where lip service is often paid to the equality of all the members, France is offered face-saving consultations but lacks the power wielded by the U.S. and Britain.

A fresh appraisal of the situation would probably force us to admit that the apparent equality between Britain and the U.S. is more imagined than real. Though she possesses atomic bombs, Britain's location within easy range of Russian intermediate range missiles and the concentration of her industrial centres, if nothing else, make her a second-class power, much above France but not in the same class with the world's two giants, Russia and the U.S.

The difference is that the realistic British have accepted this situation, have entered into a close partnership with the U.S. and, by dint of wise counsel, have won themselves, if not complete equality, at least a preferred place.

De Gaulle, by his very insistence on France's claim to equality, may end up depriving her of even the semblance of such treatment.

THE JOY OF THE WORLD

By EDGAR A. GUEST

What is it makes the old world fair?
What is not alone the skies of blue,
The fragrance of the summer air,
The clover blossoms wet with dew.
All these might be, and still the heart
Might find no joy that is worth while,
No soothing balm to ease the smart
If we could see no loved one smile.

The splash of rain upon the pane,
The roses blooming by the wall
Would to the world come back in vain
If, shining brighter far than all,
There were no smiles of loved ones true
Awaiting us at close of day.
If these we missed, how grim the view!
How rough would be our dreary way!

World's Greatest Egoists

By Walter Montfried in the Milwaukee Journal

About 60 years before his recent death, Frank Lloyd Wright assured Elbert Hubbard, an eminent writer of the time: "Not only do I intend to be the greatest architect who has yet lived but the greatest will ever live." In that belief Wright never wavered — he also had the sense of humor and showmanship to know that such talk was always good copy.

Edward D. Stone, a notable New York architect, recalls that he and Wright were having a drink in a New York tavern when Wright spotted a bald-headed, dark skinned man sitting alone. "Look at that handsome, noble example of the American Indian", exclaimed Wright, who was a self appointed authority on Indians and many other subjects. "I believe he's a Sioux. Bless me, ask him to have a drink with us."

The embarrassed Stone made the inquiry and was told acerbly: "I am Lee Shubert." (The late Lee Shubert, who did look like an Indian, controlled half of a $500,000,000 theatre empire, and his tribe was one of Israel.)

"The most highly advertised ego of our time", as Alistair Cooke fondly calls Frank Lloyd Wright, has had many energetic counterparts in former and present generations.

During a war crisis in the 18th century, the elder William Pitt, earl of Chatham, privately told his fellow Britons: "I know that I can save this country, and that no one else can."

Alexander Dumas, Sr., the novelist and all-around adventurer, remarked of a dull party: "If I had not been present, the conversation would have been positively boring."

Ben Hecht, L. Mencken, who wrote voluminously on all subjects, was often accused of insufferable conceit. To which he would tell him, "some years ago you said that you were the man you are saying just the opposite". To which the Baltimore sage would blandly reply: "Formerly I was not as wise as I am today."

Tamara Toumanova, the famed ballet dancer, was recently asked if she had ever been married. "Yes, my husband of 10 years, a Hollywood millionaire and alligator farmer for me", she explained, "I can't think of anyone but myself. Marriage is a full time business and - - I'm just a pure 100 per cent creature."

On his deathbed, Daniel Webster told those around him: "I want no epitaph on which I have not written nothing unworthy of Daniel Webster."

* * *

The late Alexander Woollcott, a brilliant critic-novelist, was so self-centred that his one time friend, Dorothy Parker rebelled, calling him "a New Jersey Negro". Mr. Woollcott descended upon the Pennsylvania farmhouse of Moss Hart, author of many comedies.

Throughout the visit Woollcott made himself obnoxious. He took command of conversation at the place, demanded constant service, rare delicacies the world for cures at all hours of the day and night, and insulted the host and everybody else.

When he was ready to depart, he demanded that his host drive him to a town 50 miles away, "I would gladly have driven him to Oregon to get rid of him", Hart said later. But, after thinking about the incident, he persuaded George S. Kaufman to collaborate with him on a play about such a visitor. The result was "The Man Who Came to Dinner".

In the London of the 1890's there gathered a group of remarkably gifted writers and conversationalists. Wilde, an overbearing and mendacious editor, was the leader in the circle which boasted of discovering Bernard Shaw. He disclosed that the foremost Italian opera teacher found that Harris had a marvelous bass voice, a lack of sense of humor, "Casanova is not fit to untie my shoe laces".

The circle included Oscar Wilde, the Irish author; James Whistler, American artist, and George Shaw, such a master of wit and egotism.

Wilde's retort to the American curious inquiry, on his visit to the United States, is a classic: "I have nothing to declare but my genius." On another occasion he confessed: "I like to do all the talking myself. It saves time and prevents arguments." His play, "Lady Windermere's Fan", was well received and he complained to her audience for thinking at least as highly of the play as he did. After the performance he confessed: "I suppose there are prettier men than the author of 'Lady Windermere's Fan', but I have never met one."

As a young man Whistler, a cadet at West Point, was expelled after failing in chemistry. "Had silicon been a gas, I would be a major general", he remarked. (Silicon is a carbon-like element.)

* * *

The most famous of the egocentrists was the unforgettable Shaw. When he was a struggling young critic, before winning fame as a dramatist, he wrote:

"For 10 years, with an unprecedented particularity and obstination, I have been telling the public head that I am an extraordinarily witty, brilliant and clever man.

"That is now part of the public opinion of England, and no power in heaven or earth will ever change it. . . My reputation is built up fast and solid, like Shakespeare's, on an impregnable rock of assured position."

"Unfortunately the building process has been a very slow one. I became I am congenitally an extremely modest man."

Sir Thomas Beecham, the late British conductor, who had received $0, has long aspired to be the Shaw position in music. Beecham is a proud parent of the sins of his musicianship. When a Mozart program of his was received, he proudly responded: "No one on earth could do this number as well, except possibly Bruno Walter".

Salvador Dali has been champion exhibitionist since 1937 when, as an unknown Spanish artist, he appeared at a fancy dress ball in Paris, wearing a mask of roses, paraded through Trafalgar Square and sold $15,000 worth of his surrealist paintings.

The greatest egomaniac in all the history of the arts appeared in Richard Wagner, the 19th century German opera master. "The monster", as Deems Taylor playfully calls him, had an unequalled conceit.

He considered himself the greatest of composers, poets, dramatists, philosophers — Aeschylus, Shakespeare and Beethoven combined. He could and did talk endlessly on every subject, under oath. An evening with him consisted only of his monologue.

Pill Helps Sunburned

Watertown Times

It won't turn a burn into a tan, but there is a pill which its developers claim can relieve the misery of too much sun this summer.

Never mind trying to remember the technical name for that pill. Call it a pill which is a cousin -in-cortisone in that it too provides relief from inflammatory conditions.

More than a claim, triamcinolone has achieved success, with significant success. Some patients who had been severely burned took the pills and within several hours were relieved; they felt remarkably improved.

Dr. Milton W. Cahn and Dr. Edwin J. Levy of the University of Pennsylvania's school of medicine are the scientists who have made this contribution to the relief of suffering mankind. But they probably have gone accompanying advice as the best possible treatment for sunburn: Don't stay in the sun too long.

FAITH AND GOODNESS

A lot of people seem to get considerable satisfaction out of their connection—fictitious that the church is full of hypocrites.

Of course, this is not true, as everyone knows who has had any experience with church people. To be sure, church people are by no means perfect. But taken all in all they are the best people one can find anywhere.

For it is a truth never to be forgotten that where faith is, there, generally, is goodness. Yes, we might say "always," for if there is not goodness that which appears to be faith is little more than a slavish allegiance to the letter of doctrine or to church custom. Certainly, it is not the joyful experience Christian discipleship produces.

Where faith is, there is goodness. Faith lifts our hearts to God and, when our hearts are uplifted, it becomes hard, unpleasant, distasteful to do things that are morally wrong. When one has Christian faith, he experiences devasting shock if he compromises the truth. If a believing Christian tells one a mutual sin, the turmoil of his conscience (or heart) is something dreadful to endure.

Get Christian faith. Seek after it. Lay hold on it. It is the foundation upon which solid, substantial, joyous living is based. It is the anchor which keeps us from drifting. It is the light which keeps us from darkness.

Where faith is, there is good-

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 12th, 1939

A target for stray lightning bolts during the electrical storms of spring, hailed by whirling dust storms of summer and pounded by the rain and blizzards of late fall and winter, the clock has stood all the ravages of Nature and Time in an exceptional manner since it was first installed in the tower more than fifty years ago. The best clock in Canada", Belleville's Big Ben was described by Mr. Jack Noble, "It's good for another fifty years if given proper attention", he declared as he continued with repairs to the time piece of which he has been custodian for many years.

Miss M. Bolton visited friends in Sudbury over the weekend.

Mrs. I. Boyd of Campbellford, is visiting her daughter, Miss Ina Boyd and Miss Margery Hunter, Queen Street for a few days.

Mrs. J. Kitchen of Smith Falls, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kitchen, Donald Street.

Mr. John M. Thrasher of the Bank of Montreal Staff, Gananoque, is spending a vacation at his home here.

Miss Winnifred Sinnott, Boston, Mass., is visiting her parents Mrs. Harry Geary, Coleman Street.

Mr. John Montgomery formerly of Port Hope and now a prominent manufacturer of Chicago, Ill., renewed acquaintances in Belleville Monday visiting Mr. L. L. Moore at Ontario Business College of which Mr. Montgomery is a graduate.

30 YEARS AGO

June 13th, 1929

Mr. Harry Clarke, school inspector, Foster Avenue, is enjoying luscious strawberries picked from his own well-arranged and well cared for garden.

Fouring of cement commenced today on the Campbell St. hill pavement.

At the Ontario State Convention of the Knights of Columbus, which was held in London, Ont., Mr. A. B. Collins of this city was elected state treasurer.

Dr. A. T. Emberry, M. P. of Burnhill was in the city today.

Mrs. William Martin has returned to her home in Detroit, after visiting her sister, Mrs. Mrs. Jack Blatherwick, Shannonville.

40 YEARS AGO

June 12th, 1919

His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, Governor-General of Canada, accompanied by the Duchess of Devonshire and their daughter, Lady Dorothy and Lady Rachael, visited this city today and received a royal welcome.

Dr. S. A. Moore an old Belleville boy, has been appointed assistant school dentist by the Board of Education, London, Ont.

Mr. Harold Vickers is renewing acquaintances in the city.

In a baseball match here between the G.T.R. team and a team from Peterborough, the local team won; the score being 3 to 4. The following represented the J.T.R. team: Weir, Ross Crowe, Mike Symons, Smith, Meagher, H. Mills, Kelleher and Geary. Spare men, Whalen and Mackey.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair has returned to the city after a tour of the middle and southern states in the interests of proHibition. He left Belleville prior to engage in a week's campaign in the Sarnia Presbytery in the interests of the Forward Movement of the Presbyterian Church.

50 YEARS AGO

June 12th, 1909

A visitor remarked today . . . You have the prettiest town in Ontario." Only do not allow city fathers do, as is done in many places, and sugar the streets of some kind in which people are passing along the street may deposit specimens of paper, cigaret boxes, etc. That is the only thing to do.

Mr. J. Sharpe returned to Cobourg this morning after visiting his mother at her home on Charles Street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hicks of Trenton, and Miss Barbara of this city have left on a trip to Quebec.

Ald. Harry Ackerman will leave shortly on a trip to British Columbia and Seattle, Wash. He will be absent about two months.

Questions Benefits Of Land Purchases

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

"Making Land Available for Industry".

It has come to the attention of citizens recently about land being made available for industry by being purchased by local businessmen.

I can see nothing in this "news release" except a free advertiser'ment, and the subject land has been available for some years for purchase.

The likelihood of industry being established under the circumstances is now, however, much more remote as the "businessmen" will be looking to at least doubling their investment and no one finds that alert industrial executives are inclined--got to assist in "businessmen" making a "killing".

Let the businessmen now offer an industry at their cost and then we will distribute the medals.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

108° TEMPERATURE NOT ESPECIALLY UNUSUAL IN INFANTS

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can a baby be perfectly healthy and still carry a temperature high-er than the normal 98.4? My baby is 14 months old, 32 inches tall, weighs 25 pounds. He is no trouble at all and is a perfectly happy child. He has been carrying a temperature all of these last 14 months 10 months now. My pediatrician is not worried about it, but I am. — Mrs. S.P."

This is not especially unusual in infants and active young children. We can take it for granted that your pediatrician has ruled out the presence of any abnormal cause for the temperature. I am not implying that a temperature of 100 in children should be disregarded. In some, it may be significant. But when all, is normal otherwise, there is no cause for worry.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I had penicillin for an ear infection and felt better for a day. Now the doctor says I have mastoiditis in both ears. Please explain what mastoiditis really is. — Mrs. E.H."

The "medical processes" is that lump of bone you can feel directly back of the ear. It is honeycombed with small chambers, if an infection spreads into that area, its penicillin becomes very difficult to. reach especially if it is allowed to continue unnecessarily for any length of time. Even the modern antibiotics may not be able to reach and clear up the infection.

For that reason, an ear infection should never be ignored. It should be treated at once, and then watched afterward, to prevent the infection from getting to the mastoid bone and becoming "mastoiditis."

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: About a year ago I cut my thumb on a broken bottle and it took many months to heal. The scar is still somewhat red. I thought this would become normal but it never has. Also the cut became infected and is very painful. What might be wrong? — M.A."

A problem like this usually means the nail bed has been damaged so the nail is deformed, etc. The pain and reopening suggests some foreign body, probably a fragment of the bottom or a chronic infection in the wound. Either way, your thumb is ready for further — and careful — examination.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am wondering if you would answer something about whiteswelling. I have an open sore on my leg which has been there since I was nine years old. I am now 46 and have pieces of bone work out of it at times. Parts of the bone was taken out when I was very young and it never completely healed. — Mrs. W.M."

I am not familiar with the term "white swelling" but from letting this continue. After it has continued so long, it could be a slightly thing to treat.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have always felt that I gained a great deal of benefit from using a sun lamp at home, but recently I was told that if one has a cold sore or fever blister, one should refrain from using the ultra violet rays of the violet rays. This seems like' consense, but I would like your opinion. — T.S."

I know of no objection to using a sun lamp during a cold or a bout with a virus, and some people think it helps them. Sun exposure is a good sedative sport if you like them but they it should be treated at once, and then watched afterward, to prevent the infection from getting to the mastoid bone and becoming "mastoiditis."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BELLS

Bells have always fascinated me. As a boy of ten I rang the big bell in my father's church each Sunday. I was so small that I had to jump high in the air to get the big rope. But it was fun to take a short ride in the air and than let go of the rope — and the still of reverberating bell.

Bells mean so much. Edgar Allan Poe wrote one of the most famous poems ever written in verse titled "The Bells." Lafcadio Hearn also wrote about Chinese bells.

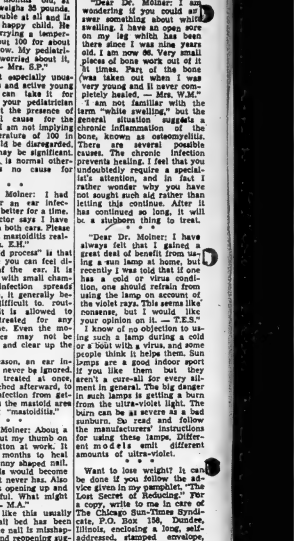
Bells have been written about in prose and poetry for years. The most inspiring of all poems about bells is that of the Camel-Bell. It is noted in that poem that "The Kasidah," written by Sir Richard F. Burton. A line runs 'through this poem making mention of the Camel-Bell. To get the full significance and beauty of the poem one must read the famous lines leading to the one referring to the Camel-Bell. Here it is:

"Do what thy manhood bids thee do, from none but self expect applause;
He noblest lives and noblest dies who makes and keeps his self-made laws.
All other Life is living Death, a world where none but Phantoms dwell,
A breath, a wind, a sound, a voice, A Thinking Of The Camel-Bell."

Wages of Sin Are Tax-Free

Windsor Star

Are the wages of sin tax-free? Income Tax Chief Carter is investigation in Singapore involving a politician who is a former minister in the administration. Involved was a "gift" amounting to $30,000 Malayan dollars.



When the question arose whether it had been taxed, the comptroller of income tax in Singapore said the amount was not taxable because it could not be classified as income arising from the man's employment. A tip could be taxed but not a bribe.

What is the law governing this in Canada? If such ill-gotten income is not taxable, then a premium is placed on dishonesty. Why should honestly earned income be taxed and dishonestly received income go free?

A Lift for Living

Tightening Life's Loose Ends

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Let us suppose I own a sailboat. (I don't, but it is a pleasant thought.) A sailor at the little harbor where it is kept comes to me and says: "Your rigging hangs loose; it cannot hold the mast firm in its place or keep the sail spread out." I would at once look to the loose ends of my sailing equipment.

Centuries ago the great prophet Isaiah looked at his nation and used those same words in the thirty-third chapter of his prophecy.

What does that statement mean when applied to a nation or a person? I think it means life needs tightening up if we are to be made shipshape. And now as we are entering the vacation season, it behooves us to examine our tackle.

We think of vacations as the time for relaxing as described tensions. And they should be. But we should remember that the strains are caused by our lives getting out of order. Whittier had the right idea when he wrote:

"Take from our souls the strain and stress and let our ordered lives confess the beauty of Thy peace."

Vacation is the time for setting them shipshape.

BUNDLES OF DESIRE

One set of loose ends which needs to be inspected is impulses not organized. We are born little bundles of desire. The infant reaches out for anything that meets its fancy and its fancy changes with almost every fleeting moment. If the child does not outgrow that impulsiveness, it remains childish. Some impulses must be curbed, others cultivated. Impulsive living leaves life at odds and ends.

A curious fact about life is that when we just let ourselves go and do what we like when we like it, we cease before long to like what we do. For this reason William James said a person should do one unpleasant duty every day just to keep himself in moral trim. If we never put ourselves out to curb some impulses, we eventually feel "put out."

In a hotel some time ago, I saw signs at various points reading, "For the convenience of our guests." Such suggestions are appreciated in a hotel. But a home can hardly be run as a convenience. To be sure, we want as many household conveniences as we can secure. But only when members of the family share some unconsgenial tasks and some mutual sacrifices do they come to enjoy the solid satisfactions and spiritual blessings of the home.

Likewise in our relationship with God we are a part of His family. And we cannot enter fully into the fellowship of God's family if we treat Him and His church merely as a convenience. If we turn to God only when we feel the need of His help in trouble, we shall never know God's friendship. Or if we go to Church only when we feel like it or when we wish to use it for a marriage ceremony, we shall not receive the joy and peace and power of our religious faith.

SACRIFICE CONVENIENCE

We must sometimes sacrifice our personal convenience and do some uncongenial tasks in the service of God and His other children. This is one reason why men join the church and assume certain obligations.

The family, the church, the state, like a ship, cannot be run by impulse. They must have an organized crew of responsible persons. Will we be members of the crew or passengers just out for the ride?

Other loose ends which need to be tightened are scruples which have grown lax. I think of a young man who came to Manhattan from a godly home in the Middle West. He came with a sensitive conscience which like a canary bird can take a snapshot of a moral wrong. He has lived for years in the foggy atmosphere of compromise which hangs over some of our social and business circles. Now he can take a time exposure of a flagrant evil and register only a dull impression. He now winks at situations which once shocked him.

When I look at such laxity of scruples, I think of the old scriptural statement, "They sowed the wind and they reaped the whirlwind." A little loosening here and there, a little compromise at this point and that, and then some gust of temptation can whip the easy brezziness into a whirlwind.

We of the free world believe in free enterprise and free conscience. Let us then remember the words President Eisenhower quoted at the cornerstone laying of the Interchurch Centre in New York last October. "Liberty is the priceless opportunity of self-discipline." If we would not be wrecked in the storms which threaten freedom, we must keep our impulses organized and our consciences fit.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

FISHING

Just as some fishermen always use flies while others prefer live baits so fishers of Birdland have their own peculiar preferences.

Most catch the prey in their bills, which are especially designed for this purpose. The merganser, when seeking its dinner, swims with its head under water to the eyes. It dives, and brings up the fish in a bill that has sawtoothed edges so that the water may be drained off as through a sieve. The loon uses much the same tactics, searching with head under the surface; but it never dives deep. Using both feet and wings to propel itself through the water, it is able to overtake the fastest fish, capturing the prey in its bill.

A gull dives through the air to catch in its bill any fish near the surface. Floating debris and dead fish are also on the menu.

Very large and strong in proportion to the size of the body is the bill of a kingfisher. Its eyesight must be extremely good, for the bird watches from some favorite perch, which may be from 10 to 50 feet above the water, and can spy a fish two or three inches long swimming several feet below the surface. Then head first a daring high dive is taken, and the fish caught and carried away in the bill.

DEEP SEA DIVER

A cormorant is a deep sea diver of wonderful ability, for though starting at the surface it often goes down 25 feet and has actually been known to go as much as 120 feet. If the fish is caught in the bill at an inconvenient angle to swallow, this bird has the unusual habit of tossing up the prey and catching it once more in a more convenient way.

A diagonal dive, sometimes from a height of nearly 400 feet, is taken by a gannet going after its dinner. The deeper the fish, the higher must be the dive to take the gannet far enough down. Naturally, the splash too is in proportion. Then resting on the surface, the bird swallows before again taking to the air.

The technique of an osprey is absolutely different. From a great height it drops down in a spiral, feet first, to grab a fish; but its body and head, though hidden by spray, never go below the surface. The catch is carried away in strong, rough-soled feet provided with a reversible outer toe and long,sharp claws. Interesting to note is that the fish is always held head pointing forward.

Mrs. Howard E. Wark, and sons, Peter and Barry, have left Friday night for Montreal, en route by air to Aberdeen, Scotland, for a three-months' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Tough.

Women's Activities

FRONT ROAD W.A.

Mrs. Don Bradshaw was hostess for the June meeting of the Front Road W.A. There was a goodly number present to enjoy the splendid program.

The president, Mrs. H. McMullen, opened the meeting and welcomed those present, and thanked the hostess for opening her home.

Mrs. E. Preston had charge of the devotional, the topic being "Forgiveness."

Mrs. G. Bradshaw gave the Scripture reading from Luke 7: 36-50, and Mrs. Charles Lane read from the W.A. folder on "Forgiveness."

Several poems were read by Mesdames C. Brown, T. Whittle, C. Reid, Preston, on "Forgiveness." David's "Psalm of Repentance" was read by "Our Father," all in keeping with the topic, and reminding of the beautiful solo sung by Jessie Reid, "The prodigal son, and that one should be slow in abiding and forgiving.

Mrs. Preston closed her devotional with a Father's Day reading entitled, "Together-ness."

BUSINESS PORTION

Mrs. McMullen conducted the business part of the meeting including a card of appreciation read for kindness during illness. The next fall was announced by donations for a fish pond for the fall bazaar and plans were made for the July meeting to be a picnic along the bay shore.

The Rev. W. E. G. Dovey called during the afternoon and offered prayer.

Mrs. Bradshaw served a delicious lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed.

WCTU Wants To Carry Fights To Classrooms

PEMBROKE (CP) — The Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union want's the province's anti-liquor fight to the class rooms.

The union asked in a resolution Thursday for provincial, government support for three instructors who would visit Ontario schools to teach pupils the facts about alcohol.

It asked Hon. G. E. Campbell of Toronto be allowed a free hand by "qualified authorities"—presumably an Ontario education department—and that if her method of instruction is found satisfactory, that she and two others be put on salary to teach about the dangers of alcohol across Ontario.

The union's annual meeting, ending Thursday, also approved:

1. A ban on newspaper publication of news pounds by police, including the names of Canadian winners.

2. A protest against the sale of candy cigarets and imitation candy cigarets and imitation cigars.

3. A ban on further liquor outlets.

4. Severe penalties to the full extent of the law when drinking is given as an excuse for crimes committed.

5. A protest against the opening of theatres on Sunday and the opening of liquor stores in shopping centres during evening hours.

6. Action to prevent magazines from by-passing Ontario laws on liquor advertising by having a publishing address outside the provinces.

HEAVY TWINS

BRIDLINGTON, England (CP) Mrs. Sheila Collinson, 29, gave birth to the heaviest twins ever born in Britain since 1948. One weighed nine pounds four ounces, the other seven pounds 13 ounces. In the next ward was a baby weighing one pound seven ounces.

HUGE CAKE

HATFIELD, England (CP)—A giant wedding cake was cut in this Hertfordshire town for 100 couples, married in the Anglican parish church in the last four years, who attended a marriage reunion service.

WEDDINGS

GIRDWOOD — POTTER

FRANKFORD — In Stockdale United Church on Saturday, before an altar decorated with pink snowballs and peonies, Lillas Vera Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Potter of Stockdale, became the bride of Brian Donald Girdwood, of Frankford. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. M. Beach, assisted by the Rev. T. Bruce Thompson.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Percy Hubble. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of gardenia-white silk organza and Chantilly lace fashioned on princess lines with a high collar bodice accented with tiny seed pearls. The wide portrait neckline was enhanced by hand-clipped lace. The bouffant skirt had panels of tiny seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a seed pearl and silk organza and white Bible with lily-of-the-valley and seed roses.

The maid of honor was Mrs. William Girdwood, attired in a floor length gown of pink taffeta with full skirt and tapered bodice, accented with the bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums with matching headband. The bridesmaid, Miss Donna Donald Whiteman, Miss Helen Ann Girdwood and Miss Virginia Mrs. Whiteman, sister of the bride, was attired in pink chiffon and carried pink and white chrysanthemums with matching headbands.

Miss Helen Arbuckle and Mrs. Ivan Vogel were lace-like chiffon with white chrysanthemums and matching headband.

Mrs. Girdwood, mother of the bridegroom, was a navy blue lace sheath dress with accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Whiteman, mother of the bride, was attired in pink chiffon and carried pink and white chrysanthemums with matching accessories.

Miss Helen Arbuckle and Mrs. Ivan Vogel were lace-like chiffon with white chrysanthemums and matching headband.

Mrs. Girdwood, sister of the bridegroom, was a navy blue lace sheath dress with accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Whiteman, mother of the bride, was attired in pink chiffon and carried pink and white chrysanthemums with matching accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was covered with white lace and was centered with a tiered wedding cake with tinted rosebuds and silver leaves.

The Rev. T. J. Riddall was toastmaster and welcomed guests to the bride to which the bridegroom responded on behalf of the couple.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride wore a navy dover-grey suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Out-of-town guests were from Brampton, Brighton, Campbellford, Carrying Place, Frankford and Worth. Upon the bride's return they will reside at R.R. 4, Frankford.

MOLINEUX — REID

A pretty June wedding was solemnized on Friday, June 5, at 2.00 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur Reid, of Belleville, when their daughter, Carol Mae, became the bride of Donald Hector Molineux, of Trenton, son of Mrs. Molineux and the late Mr. Neville Molineux. The Reverend W. H. V. Walker, officiated in a setting of summer evergreens decorated with pink and white peonies. Pink and white candles in candelabra and streamers and baskets of pink and white flowers adorned the room.

The bride was lovely in her powder blue ensemble of fine wool crepe with small circlet of flowers and tiny veil; white accessories, and corsage of white baby 'mums.

She was attended by Miss Sharon Murray, cousin of the bride, wearing a dress of navy and white taffeta with pink accessories, and corsage of pink 'mums.

Mr. Robert Watt, of Cornwall, was groomsman for the bridegroom, and the bridegroom's brother, Ronald Reid, of Belleville, was usher.

Mrs. Ray Carr-Brant spoke briefly on the Legion of the Sacred Heart. Madam President conveyed to the speaker a vote of thank you from Mrs. Buckley, Father Buckley's mother, for the flowers which were sent during her illness.

The February past president, and Mrs. P. F. Halloran attended the Legion Convention held in Kingston the first of June. Mrs. Hanley was impressed with the splendid manner in which the convention and summarized the different highlights of interest to ladies. Mrs. G. Whalen also spoke briefly of the convention.

During the social hour which followed an open discussion which was most interesting, on fish.

Mrs. R. Lynch adjourned the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Dunmire, Mrs. Gilchrest, Mrs. H. O'Neill and Mrs. G. Whalen.

Graduation Party Held by WHA Executive

On Thursday evening the executive of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary was hosted at a graduation party in honor of the graduation class of the Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Mervyn Jones, 1st vice-president, convened the party, and a delightful luncheon tastefully was attractively displayed on the dining room table which the young guests could choose.

Pouring were: Mrs. W. H. Finkle and Miss Ivy Dickson.

Afterwards, the president, Mrs. A. E. Bell, on behalf of the Auxiliary, presented each of the young ladies with a lea-ther wallet suitably inscribed.

Following are the names of the graduates:

Mrs. Marlene Bailey, Misses Arlene Bender, Phyllis Bender, Marie Davis, Shirley Dench, Margaret Hicks, Diane Hobbs, Joyce Hodgins, Barbara Ladouceur, Beverley Mastin, Barbara McFarlane, Jean Orser, Patricia Marilyn Rees, Reta Rees, Patricia Rowland and Glenna Vaughan.

HILARIOUS GAME

In charge of entertainment for the evening, Mrs. Fred Beeby succeeded in arranging hilarious shouts of laughter as the "things got under way with two contestants blindfolded and wearing oven mittens, tried to put on a pair of nylon stockings. Other, "creative" games were enjoyed and in each contest, the winners were awarded with preserved prizes.

Thanks to the combined efforts of the executive and especially to Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Beeby, an enjoyable evening was held by all.

St. Joseph's CWL Plans Future Events

St. Joseph's Catholic Women's League discussed plans for a busy fall session, at the June meeting which was the annual Hallowe'en tea is planned for November. The ladies of the League will also take part in a Marathon Bridge under the direction of Mrs. R. Lynch. Mrs. E. Leonard will convene the bridge party to be held during the month of October.

"The Hobo Tea" will be conducted in the summer and all members are asked to participate.

The president, Mrs. P. F. Halloran, presided.

Mrs. Ray Carr-Brant spoke briefly on the Legion of the Sacred Heart. Madam President conveyed to the speaker a vote of thank you from Mrs. Buckley, Father Buckley's mother, for the flowers which were sent during her illness.

Choir Presents Interim Organist With Gift

Following choir rehearsal on Thursday evening the members of St. Thomas' Anglican Church choir were guests of Canon and Mrs. A. E. Hill at the rectory.

The special occasion was arranged to honor Mr. D. W. Davenport, who during the absence of Mr. Robert Hill in England, has been organist and choirmaster.

Mrs. J. Minett made a presentation on behalf of the choir, to Mr. Davenport, now in the interim months. It have promised to attend.

Argyll Chapter Closes Season, Will Supper

The Argyll Chapter of the I.O.D.E. held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. C. Bird.

As this was the closing meeting for the summer a potluck supper was arranged for 30 members.

Mrs. Gavin Scott reported a shipment of knitting and sewing was ready. These items will be packed in cartons and attractively packaged in plastic bags and delivered to Ottawa for books for an overseas library. These are for service men in Germany.

A discussion by the purchase of a new flag was taken place and a motion was made to purchase same.

A motion was given re the bridge party to be held at the home of Mrs. Scott. The opening meeting for the fall season will be on September 29.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Bristol for the use of their home on the shore of the Bay of Quinte.

Women's Activities

COLLEGE HILL W.A.

The monthly meeting of College Hill W.A. met on the 2 p.m. last Wednesday with the president, Mrs. D. Hunter, in charge.

Mrs. J. Ritz, Mrs. K. Smith and Mrs. D. Hunter were in charge of devotions. Mrs. Ritz read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. K. Smith gave devotions, the theme being "Forgiveness."

The word is said to be the greatest word in the Bible, the greatest word spoken in heaven or on earth. It includes God's wisdom, His power, justice, goodness and truth. Many beautiful stories are told by Jesus, such as the "Prodigal Son," "Lost in the House of Simon the Pharisee" and that of Peter's denial of Christ all tell of sins forgiven.

Mrs. Smith closed with a prayer for forgiveness.

A short poem, "I Heard Someone Say," was read by Mrs. Vosburgh, then by Mrs. Hunter. A reading on "Christian Stewardship" by Mrs. Ritz and another reading entitled "The Bible Is Never Out Of Date" by Mrs. Ross Used. Hymns by Mrs. Smith.

A discussion followed concerning buying some new chairs for the church Sunday School rooms, and the disposal of the old ones. Mrs. E. Flunder was elected to the office of social convener for Mrs. J. Sproule, who is resigning due to ill health.

It was decided to dispense with the July and August meetings unless something of a special nature arose.

A "menu" contest was enjoyed and light refreshments were served by Mrs. L. Bongie, Mrs. J. Rowsey and Mrs. A. Reid.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

In the Thursday Ontario Intelligencer our readers will have read with interest of the visit to Belleville of Robert Paul, champion in the International Figure Skating Championship in Vienna.

He was the guest of honor at a party in the home of the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club, and I had the pleasure and privilege to interview Bob Paul personally to learn to our great amusement the type of contribution the club is making in Canada. It is an interesting story of co-operation as well as of a little courage because, without financial assistance from the recreation commission or any other institution, the club has risen above many discouragements to its present status.

T & T has neither the space nor the complete details to relate the history of the club from its earliest days but at present there are approximately eight tennis players, eighty figure skaters and four hundred general skaters. The latter group is not to be confused with the total number of skaters, as there are other interested citizens play a part in keeping the club active for the benefit of the participants.

It is fair to point out that the latter group is the great deal of support, the club has prospered over the years is clean, wholesome sport for sport's sake, and sport for the challenge. Thousands of thousands of boys and girls, men and women.

All the membership fees and all the extra support received would not be sufficient to keep the club operating at its present high standard if it were not for the production of an interclub carnival. Many of us have been thrilled by the performance at these carnivals. The local boys and girls and men and women display their prowess as taught by the two professionals in a program that features stars from various parts of the countryside.

Instruction is offered to junior members in tennis, and two professionals are employed for skating. You will appreciate that expenses are high, proper and the enthusiasm required it is realized that the rink rental arrangement is costly, by $2,274 per year. This is the largest single item of expenditure. And above this rental, the club pays itself an amount of $1,200 annually for the use of the ice.

There are many other incidental expenses and the total is met only after the club members have given generously such as teas and bridge parties, dances and the make up the required sum. All the administrative work is done voluntarily by members of the executive, who looks after the courts and ice.

help with the ice are paid. The fees are kept at a bare minimum for the main objective of serving as many as possible, especially boys and girls. Membership is open to anyone.

T & T could go on and on reviewing the contribution of this privately owned and operated club which, in reality a non-profit one effort.

The three divisions of tennis, general skating and figure skating. During our interview, it was never once suggested that so and so or this or that one did this or that. It was in terms of co-operation that any information was given us.

Evaluation: T & T is pleased to pass along this story of a non-profit effort that goes on day in and day out, winter and summer in our city without fanfare or ostentation. From a community point of view, the good citizenship must be considered in the aggregate and in the aggregate, the contribution is considerable. And girls enjoy and thrill to the fun of learning how to ski, skate and gracefully skill. In wholesome entertainment and in a good atmosphere they rise to profession-ship and there is a physical and moral aspect. A pride in a youngster's individual skill is evident and there is community pride in achievement as portrayed at a carnival.

Besides these so important and civic aspects of goodwill for the club, Your local club has presented some outstanding ice shows and has supplied skaters for the Shrine Circus in Toronto and Lindsay. This year it has also skaters attending the Metropolitan Figure Skating School in Weston for their training.

T & T is happy to salute this fine club for its individual and community contribution.

Let Us Keep Faith.

By Alma Mason

We all know people upon whose word we can rely fully. If they promise to do a thing we are certain that the promise will be fulfilled. Sadly, we know others that we have to follow up continually to make sure that a review will be accomplished.

In the business world, the workers who cannot be depended upon to carry out their duties, who carelessly keep no reminder of thought or on paper, are the snails who retard the progress of industrial progress. They cause untold anxiety and chagrin and frustration.

The men who has a rack in his mental machinery where tasks to be performed are listed and heeded — usually becomes a captain of industry. As he reaches for the top of the ladder of success he exercise financial patience with those associates who are irresponsible and unreliable. He is often considered by the slipshod worker too meticulous and too aggressive. However he keeps his obligations and gets things done on time, thereby considering such a man from higher places looks for promotion and favor and good repute and honesty and dependability.

How well I remember the very large family of a certain family in a small town. Over and above this, there was the children's father, who by his own labor, provided for his family. Sadly, we know others that we have to follow up continually to make sure that a review will be accomplished.

How well I remember the very large family of a certain family in a small town. Over and above this, there was the children's father, who by his own labor, provided for his family.

Paul found Timothy dependable. He had tried many young men to train with him in the work of evangelism. He asked the people of Lystra about Timothy and found Paul of the high esteem he was held in. In his letter Paul referred to Timothy as "My dearly beloved son" "He worketh the work of the Lord as I also do."

Jesus had labored only three years before His crucifixion. He left behind him a little band of eleven faithful followers on whom He could depend. That was all. He told them that the truths He had taught to save mankind from the power of sin and to eleven, pairs of hands and in eleven trustworthy loving hearts.

Through persecution and death they spread our faith. Scripture declares they were true and devoted and dependable? What then? Because of their consecration to the cause of the Master we have love instead of hate — joy instead of sorrow — holiness instead of Godlessness — hope instead of despair.

Let us keep faith;
Our little ship, well masted, true,
Must sail in steady valiant course
With dauntless crew.

Let us keep faith
In simple deeds and usfulness;
In consecrated sturdy heart,
In lowliness.

Let us keep faith
And so charge heart and soul and mind
With promise kept and service filled
To God and humankind.

Serenity, Courtesy, Honesty Prominent in City of London

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

One of the first signs to catch the deplaning visitor's eye at the London airport begins:

"These automobiles are unwilling to use escalator, please contact. . ." It continued with instructions for obtaining a driver's license.

Being willing and able, we hurried on. But it seemed evident that a similar sign in an American terminal might read, "Elevator for the handicapped passengers only. Others must use escalator or jump out window. Keep to right while falling. Not responsible for injuries."

That night the London papers carried a story about how the last minute of a television talk by Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell had been cut off the air.

Instead of the recriminations, cries of dirty politics and threats of investigation, the London television industry for which we would learn tomorrow is home, there was a brief statement from the station manager admitting, "it was all our fault," and one from the network apologizing. "We're really sorry, it won't occur about the whole thing."

Of such are the threads of courtesy, honesty and the calm demeanor that are woven into the London fabric.

LOW CRIME RATE

London is the largest city in the province with the third lowest crime rate and the fewest traffic deaths. They take care of all of them unarmed. The typical Britisher is so polite he may accept a ticket for speeding or careless when he can't make it, and if he does, he'll probably write a letter, then suggested he won't mention it for fear of offending.

Headwaiters say "thank you" before they seat you and theatre ushers "thank you" after you've found your seat. If you "thenk" them you'll get a look that will make you wish it won't stop until you hold it for peace.

At 10 Downing Street, an unimposing little house on a short street, flashing lights or roaring motorcycles. Apparently it takes more than a visiting royalty to disturb the peace in this part of here. Washington was never like this.

In our never-ending search for comparisons we found out the most typical pub we could find. Like it took considerable smoking out. It is a London institution, regardless why the place has been a setting for the Dickens' novel and Shakespeare since fiction was invented, we note our way through the dock and warehouse district to the 600-year-old water-front saloon of the Prospect of Whitby.

Inside, and outside, there is a terrace overlooking the Thames, the place was jammed with longshoremen, boilermans and local characters who had dropped in for their nightly 'alf and 'alf.

We couldn't have been American tourists more welcome if we'd carried neon signs on our backs. But strangely, we were not questioned or sidetracked. We stepped up to the bar and ordered a couple of mild and bitters with confidence growing by the minute.

"That'll be two and six," said the bartender.

We experienced a moment of panic. Though we'd handled the world's most liquid currency before and were as familiar with

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

WE THANK THEE, LORD, FOR THIS FAIR EARTH

We thank Thee, Lord, for this fair earth,
The glowing sky, the silver sea;
For all their beauty, all their worth,
Their light and glory come from Thee.

Thine are the flowers that clothe the ground,
Thy trees that wave their arms above:
The hills that glad our dwellings round,
As Thou dost gird Thine own with love.

Yet teach us still how far more fair,
More glorious, Father, is Thy sight
Is one pure deed, one holy prayer,
One heart that owns Thy spirit's might.

So while we gaze with thoughtful eyes
On all the gifts Thy love has given,
Help us in Thee to live and die,
By Thee to rise from earth to heaven.

This beautiful hymn of thanksgiving was written in 1858 by William Cleigernan, the Rev. Dr. George Edward Lynch Cotton. It was published during the same year in a collection of "Hymns for Use In The Chapel of Marlborough College", a school where the hymnist was serving at the time. This collection wrote many other religious songs and poems but this thanksgiving verse has proved to be the most popular and has lived to see twentieth century popularity.

Born at Chester, England on October 29, 1813, George Cotton was educated at Cambridge University and was graduated from that school in 1836. For a time he served as head master of the famous school at Rugby, then took a similar post at Marlborough College in 1852.

Half a dozen years later, he was named Bishop of Calcutta, but he had a larger ministry came to a tragic end on October 6, 1866 when he fell into the sea while disembarking from a steamer, and was drowned.

"These days," comments a Belleville shopper, "you never know what you are wearing, the textiles are so new and different; with names like dracon, orlon, nylon, etc. In our grandparents' day you were just plain cotton. Or wool. Or yes, pure silk."

Harriet Stevens' "Good Shopping" in her "Toronto Star" is one of this paper posts a wealth of information service on fascinating subject for readers. Another interested source is — and perhaps you'd never guess it — is the Royal Ontario Museum! It has a whole department devoted to textiles.

"Ontario has a rich textile history covered 'in a short space of time', writes the curator of the textile department, K. B. Brett. Till the late nineteenth and seventy-five years since the opening up and settling of the province began. The settlers came from many walks of life and settled contiguous from the woollen and linen industries in the British Isles and many of these set up as weavers. Others brought their traditional textile techniques and designs handed down in their homes for generations".

Financial assistance for the detail field work came from the Secondments of the handmakers, the textile mills of Ontario (among them are York Knitting Mills, Limited, Barrymore Cloth Company, Limited, The Brook Woollen Company of Simcoe, Limited, Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Limited, The Eaton Knitting Company, Limited, Bigwin Carpet and Worsted Spinning Mills Limited Mercury Mills, Limited, Newlands and Company, Limited, Paterson and Company, Limited, and Penmans, Limited.

IN MUSEUM

It is something of a breath taking surprise to learn that the two checked blankets woven by Catherine White after coming to Hastings County in 1785 from the United States, are now early examples in the museum's collection of early hand weaving. Descendants of Mrs. Elizabeth Young family of Picton, P.E.C. in the 1840's and that the linens, blankets and coverlets, many of which still survive, were woven by them in the home, in a variety of patterns. Thirty-seven patterns drafts of theirs are in the museum's collection.

Not to mention the four-harness coverlet, displayed there, a gift of Mrs. H. Williams, which was given to the donor's grandfather in payment for teaching school near Redeemville.

Bedvignette: Do you recall the publication of Miss Rose Lasier's American friend's letter on Coverlets? The writer, by the way, is none other than Helen T. Young of North Hanover, Mass., and who came to Guelph, the end of May to speak at a weaving convention! Since Mrs. Young's letter appeared in this column, considerable interest in coverlets was aroused, and on behalf of all concerned, we would like to extend a grateful, sincere vote of thanks to Miss Lasier for such a wonderful contribution. Through interested course of events a private exhibition of local coverlets was arranged for the Red Cross Homemakers. Who should be there but Helen T. and through a Red Cross Homemaker from Belleville attending the weaving course in Guelph mentioned above, but Harold B. Burnham of the textile department of the Royal Ontario Museum. He made a special trip to Belleville to see the coverlet collection.

"Our Department", he explained, "has been engaged, since 1947 in research on a facet of Ontario's 19th century history — that of her textile arts: spinning, weaving, knitting, crocheting, tatting and tree sewing. On completion it is hoped that the findings of the project will be fully published."

This project, he said, was conceived, planned and launched by the work of Dorothy K. Macdonald (now Mrs. Burnham). The first years, Mrs. Brett, (wife of the curator of the textile department), who was a former head of the Red Cross in Belgium during World War II, upon her return to Toronto, was granted a discarded Red Cross ambulance by the department of education, and each week scribes were made from Toronto in search of coverlets to ultimately within 'a radius as far as Grafton, Barrie and London. Discovered coverlets were then packed in the ambulance which made a perfect conveyance, and driven to the Royal Ontario Museum, where photographs, historical and technical weaving data of each were made. Then come Monday morning, Mrs. Brett delivered the coverlets safely back to the kind, generous respective owners. "But we didn't reach Belleville. Upon hearing of the coverlet exhibition we were most anxious to see it. I am exceedingly pleased and amazed at both the quantity and quality, and it is my hope to return as soon as possible to gather the data on each coverlet", said Mr. Burnham.

The people of Ontario have contributed valuable information to the Museum. He asks, "Do you know anything about the types of sheep raised by the pioneers? Where and how flax was raised and prepared for spinning? Where did the cotton for which was used, come from? What methods and various steps were used in sheering sheep? What kinds of spinning wheels? Do you possess any recipes for dyeing that have survived in weaver's, note books? Do you know of any surviving handloomed linen sheets, towels or rag rugs? Or lovely early knitted garments for baby's bonnets, lace edgings and stockings? These beautiful old pieces should not be lost. By being recorded they are saved for future generations. Do you know the names of any professional hand weavers and where they worked or what has become of their looms? Do you know any weaving mills, sites? Who were their owners? What did they make and what products have survived? If so please notify: The Textile Department, Royal Ontario Museum of Archeology, 100 Queen's Park, Toronto 5, Ontario."

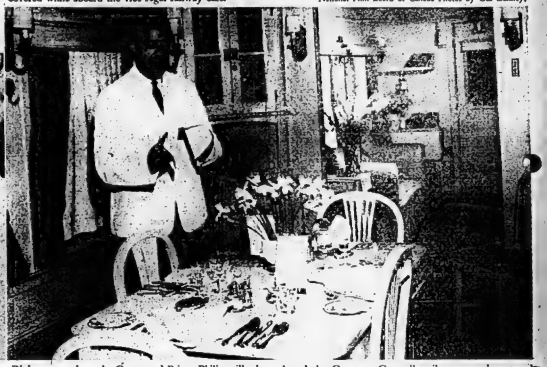
The Governor-General's Railway Cars

Quiet Comfort for Royal Guests

When Her Majesty, the Queen and Prince Philip make their tour of Canada this summer they will view a large part of the Canadian countryside from the windows of the Governor-General's railway cars which will carry the Royal Couple through parts of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Mr. Wilfred Notley, steward, and Percy Corbin, (right) porter, who have been with the vice-regal coaches since they were built over 30 years ago, exchange warm greetings as they meet in Ottawa's Union station where the railway cars sit, when not in use, on track number one.

During his 7 years in office, Mr. Massey has earned the reputation of being "Canada's most-travelled Governor-General". He has chalked up close to 200,000 miles into every corner of Canada; almost half this mileage has been covered while aboard the vice-regal railway cars.



Percy Corbin, whose home is in Montreal, was officially retired 2 years ago but is remaining with the Governor-General's cars for the duration of His Excellency's tenure of office.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.

Wilfred and Percy have tended to the creature comforts of many royal personages during their travels in Canada, including the late King George VI and his consort, Queen Elizabeth, during their tour of 1939. Above, with Princess Margaret during her 1958 visit to Canada.

Chef aboard the Royal train this summer will be Montreal's Jack Pelletier who works with a magician's skill preparing tasty meals in the train's tiny old-fashioned kitchen. The stove, one of the last remaining coal-burning stoves to be found aboard Canadian trains, bears the royal coat-of-arms.

Diningroom where the Queen and Prince Philip will take their meals in relaxed privacy has restful turquoise blue walls and furniture, bronze damask upholstery and drapes. Corridors in the royal coaches are Canadian oak and the drawing-room is in curly birch. Mr. Notley, in his 33 years aboard the Governor-General's railway cars, has served many distinguished visitors, among them Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, France's President Auriol and Winston Churchill.

Argue Visions Travel by Car To Soviet Centres

OTTAWA (CP) — A vision of Canadian travel by car to Ostrovnoye, Poplguy, Siberia, Sinkiang and assorted Asian and Soviet centres was offered Thursday by CCF House Leader Hazen Argue.

He asked the Commons mines committee whether any thought has been given to linking North America's highway system with the Soviet Union. It seemed to him that the ability to drive from North America to Asia via Russia would do wonders for international relations.

Gordon Robertson, deputy minister of northern affairs, said there doesn't seem to be any trans-Siberian highway and there are no known extended roads in the Bering Strait area just across from Alaska.

The Bering strait is a major problem to any grandiose planning. Fifty miles wide at its narrowest point, it is plagued with ice in winter and fog and currents other seasons.

Carmel

CARMEL — On Saturday morning a shower of rain refreshened gardens and the hay and grain crop.

Mr. Burrows has started to build his house. All wish him every success.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Widow Retires on $70 a Month -- With a New Standard of Living

By THOMAS COLLINS

Here we go again —

This time to Sacramento, Calif., where a widow says she is living her Golden Years quite nicely on an income of $71.82 a month.

This will seem unreal to many people living in the better residential sections across the country.

The widow is 72. She is getting $71 a month from a pension, which is just 3 cents shy of her monthly budget. That also is getting $2 a month from her daughter's husband. She moved to Sacramento last January.

The reason this will seem unreal to many is that they have become used to the standard of living they can afford. They can live a few areas where they can go without They can see items in their budgets they can trim. But you can't trim a good standard of living down to $71.82 a month. You have to throw the whole thing out the window and start over with a new concept of what an economical life is.

Well-off people can seldom do this when they retire, which is why so many of them become frustrated with what they find.

When I came here," the widow says, "I found a cute little two-room apartment in a nice residential district looking out on a park with palm trees.

MONTHLY EXPENSES

"My monthly expenses are: Rent, $45; Gas, $1.50; Phone, $3.63; Food, $25; Church, $6.

"The $25 from my food-money goes to pay for the doctor and chiropodist, when necessary, and for writing paper, stamps and sundry.

"I am well supplied with clothing, and my family gives me gifts of clothing on Mother's Day and Christmas. They insisted on getting me a television set — so I have plenty of entertainment from that and my radio.

"I belong to a senior group in Sacramento, and to a circle at the church.

"Now Sacramento is not a $70 town. It is one of the retirement jewels of California. But you can live there for $70. And you can live in Florida for $70. If you readjust your thinking to accept that $70 a month will buy.

"For seven years I have been travelling to all corners of the country in search of a "cheap" place to retire. I haven't found it, and by now I have come to the conclusion it doesn't exist. National magazines and network TV and radio are offering coffee for the same price in lower Florida as in upper Minnesota. Labor unions have raised the cost of living business to about the same levels all over.

NEW DIFFERENCES

"There are some differences — heating and clothing costs are less under the palms — but the overwhelming items of food, housing and medical bills are about the same.

Last month I spent some time along the Gulf Coast between Mobile and New Orleans. I found the retirement couples living on $200 or so a month no less hungry for things they couldn't have than they are in New Jersey or Kansas.

So what can you do? There are two ways to beat the situation:

1. Throw your standard of living out the windows and get a fresh one. On $200 a month you can't have a 1957 car — you just can't. You can't have fine clothes, color TV, trips, golf, theatre tickets and most of the other trappings your salary gave you.

To start out on a new standard of living, which is down to the fundamentals the widow in Sacramento has been willing to accept, is for those who want people don't know you — under the world perhaps — make it easier.

2. Move to a rural community. On a farm road, especially in the South, you can get housing cheap. You can get much of your food from a garden and from neighbors. There are fewer pressures to force you into activities that cost money. This is possibly the cheapest living in America. But, as compared to Sacramento or any city where you live, you aren't getting much . . . you're getting, as always, what you pay for.

Too many people continue to retire with the idea that on an income that has been cut 75 per cent they can cut-achieve corners and get by. They can't.

PRINTERS TO STRIKE

LONDON (Reuters)—A spokesman for 200,000 union printers said on Thursday a walkout scheduled for next Wednesday "looks inevitable at the moment." Cause of the planned strike, which would hit 4,200 general printshops and 1,080 suburban and provincial foutside London) newspapers, is a demand for a 10-per-cent pay raise and a 40-hour week. The printers now work 43.5 hours.

Growing Perennials From Seeds

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

It is common practice to start perennials in late July or August but you will have far better plants if you start them early in June. Soil and weather conditions will be more favorable and the plants will have more time to mature and harden before frost finishes their growth for this year.

Start with fresh seed and plant in a frame. The frame will keep some protection from the elements and from stray cats and dogs. A rough wood frame can be made from eight inch boards, one inch thick. A three by six foot frame is adequate for the home gardener. Stand them on edge to make a frame and drive in pegs to hold them in place. Dig out the soil to a depth of eight inches and fill in layer of cinders, broken crock or coarse gravel. Add four inches of good garden soil and on top a four inch layer of a mix using one part sand, one of soil and one of granulated peat. The soil in the frame should be about two inches higher than ground level. The frame should be located in a well drained spot where it will get half a day of sun.

Soak the seed well and allow to drain for 24 hours. Mark the surface off in rows two inches apart and plant the seeds one inch apart. Label the rows. Never let trust to memory. It plays tricks on us. Cover the seed lightly and tramp down with a wooden block. Cover with burlap until the seed has sprouted. Plastic is good here. It slows evaporation, but do take the plastic off as soon as the seeds sprout. Since the seeds germinate at different rates perhaps it would be well to take it off when the first ones come through. Too much moisture will cause damping off.

Water with a fine spray to avoid washing out the delicate seedlings. When the seedlings are big enough the third pair of leaves they will need thinning or transplanting. If the seedlings are small leave them in the frame now for a while longer. Larger ones should be moved to avoid crowding.

When they are ready plant them out in a garden row or in their permanent place before September so they will be well established before winter. The cooler weather and fall rains will speed their growth. The seedling should be fed every second week after the second pair of leaves form. A weak liquid fertilizer made from soaked sheep manure of a balanced chemical fertilizer will do. Spray at the same time with an all purpose liquid, or dust to discourage pests such as aphis, red spider, mildew or chewing insects.

One gardener who found that the frame did not discourage stray cats and dogs added a roll of wide mesh wire. He tacked one end of the frame and the other end of the screen to a narrow board. The screen could be rolled back for weeding, or transplanting and the sun, air and moisture entered freely with the screen in place.

Make the frame a permanent feature each year and start dahlias and tuberous rooted begonias early if the pot or soil is covered with plastic to raise the temperature enough to keep out frost. A plastic cover will raise the temperature five to ten degrees.

Grow some perennials each year from seed to fill in the vacancies, to replace unwanted plants and to experiment with new material.

FAMED DOCTOR DIES

WROXHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—Dr. Grantley Dick-Read, 69, controversial pioneer of "natural" childbirth techniques, died Thursday. The method he developed for painless or natural childbirth involved giving expectant mothers short lectures and muscle control exercises. Some of his views aroused strong opposition from segments of the medical profession.

NORTHERN PEAKS

Mount McKinley in Alaska, highest peak in North America, is 20,300 feet compared to 19,850 feet for Mount Logan in the Yukon.

Cold and Damp Weather Slows Spring Seeding

OTTAWA (CP) — Cool damp weather slowed Canadian spring seeding operations with 88 per cent of the major crops sown by May 31 compared with 96 per cent at the same time last year, the bureau of statistics reports.

The 88-per-cent figure applied to Canada on a national basis and to the prairies on a regional basis. The western provinces account for about 90 per cent of the five major spring crops, spring wheat, oats, barley, flaxseed and so-called mixed grains.

Damage from winterkill was reported heavy, especially in Ontario, Winterkill of crops in Ontario where most of the Canadian winter wheat is grown, rose to 36 per cent at the fall-sown area, compared with only five per cent last year.

Queen Invites Graham to Tea

LONDON (AP) — A British newspaper Fri. asked what was so special about American evangelist Billy Graham that the Queen should invite him to tea.

Admittedly it was a private affair, said The Daily Herald, but it amounted to an "unusual public honor."

The palace said the Queen wanted to hear first-hand about Graham's successful tour in Australia. The evangelist and his wife had tea with the Queen and Prince Philip Wednesday and left Thursday for Russia.

The Herald said Graham's visit to the Queen means that the evangelist's "bare-storming, fast-talking, massed-choir approach to religion certainly has royal interest — and possibly royal approval."

The newspaper complained that there was no such invitation to Anglican ministers Trevor Huddleston or Michael Scott when they returned to Britain after living race laws in South Africa.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Miss Fern Tinney of Cobourg spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Brooks and girls and Mr. Frank Brooks motored to Oshawa on Saturday to spend the day with the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Acker.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp spent the weekend on the Moira River fishing with Mr. Clapp getting a six and one-quarter pound pickerel. Mrs. Mr. Hillier accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush spent Sunday with friends and relatives at Bowmanville.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell White and brother Bill, of Elizabethville, and Mr. and Mrs. George Wile of Morden, Manitoba, had dinner on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry visited with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Benedict, on Sunday evening at Cobourg.

Can't Liquidate Forever Says Banking Head

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) The president of the Canadian Bankers' Association said Friday that banks cannot liquidate holdings of treasury bills and government bonds forever to meet the demand for loans.

Ulric Roberge, 63, of Quebec City gave the warning in a speech to the association's annual meeting.

He said the process of liquidating bonds to get money for loans has to end somewhere.

"There is a limit," he said. "Beyond which prudent banking dictates no bank can go in the liquidation of its bond portfolio."

MONEY SUPPLY FIXED

Canadian banks have no choice but to take "utmost care" in handling their credit facilities until the monetary authorities increase the money supply, he said.

Text of Mr. Roberge's remarks was released to the press in advance of delivery.

Dealing with the outlook for Canada's economy, he said that many economic signposts "clearly show that we are working our way out of the recession."

He also reported that in the last few months personal savings on deposit in chartered banks went over $7,100,000,000 for an all-time high.

SEVER RELATIONS

Captains of U.S. Industry Take Big Pay Cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — Pay cuts were more common than raises last year for the captains of U.S. industry and finance, a survey by Business Week magazine said Friday.

Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel Corp., took a cut of $100,000. But he still was the highest paid business executive. His salary and bonuses for 1958 totalled $311,269.

After taxes, Business Week said Homer's take-home pay was $98,374.

Next in the 1958 salary sweepstakes was Ralph J. Cordiner, president of General Electric Company. He got $399,999.50, the magazine said, compared with $370,000 the year before. In both cases payment included shares of GE. stock.

Five of Homer's Bethlehem Steel colleagues placed behind Cordiner with compensation ranging from $379,435 to $394,322. These men took cuts ranging from $77,000 to $88,000.

Ranking eighth was Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp., with total compensation of $373,508 against $442,500 in 1957.

People Use Drugs Because They Like to Use Them Just As People Drink and Smoke

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Why do some people become drug addicts?

In the British Columbia penitentiary in New Westminster, a good-looking man in prison garb said:

"I think people will use drugs because they like to. Just as people drink and smoke because they like to."

In Ottawa, an expert on drug addiction said:

Some people are prone to addiction to drugs, alcohol and even barbituates. Others can take it or leave it all their lives."

RELIEF OF TENSION

All through history, he said, people have used some form of tension-relieving drug. Even more widespread has been the formation of certain habits, consciously or more often unconsciously, intended to subdue the worries, frustrations and disappointments of life.

Tobacco is probably today's most widely indulged tension-relieving addiction, although some people even become fond addicts of the same reason. The man who must have his nightly pre-dinner cocktail is the same category.

The man interviewed in the B.C. penitentiary, an addict off and on for nine years, was serving his second sentence for illicit possession of heroin — like the widely-used medical drug morphine and illegal marijuana, a derivative of opium.

Some people use drugs at one of the better things they can get out of life, if not the best — an addict," he said. "That's the reason so few are cured."

HEROIN CURES JOBS

A former real estate salesman, logger, purchasing agent and union official, he says anything but the fiend that the phrase "drug addict" conjures to the minds of some people.

He said heroin — usually taken injected into the body with a hypodermic-type needle — gives a tremendous contented, soothing feeling.

"You take a more philosophical attitude toward disruptions and difficulties in every-day life. It's almost like you had something to replace that. I think you would be able to cure drug addiction".

Ottawa authorities say that sometimes a nurse becomes addicted through surreptitious use of hospital morphine to relieve pain and other discomforts.

SHOTS FOR "KICKS"

The prisoner, who said that he started using drugs in one thing that will make an addict, said he got his habit by buying a few shots of heroin "for kicks" with some other young men.

Some of the others didn't like the kick, though, and left drugs alone after one shot. "I was among those who got 'hooked.'" Some of the others who got hooked got cured in the pen since that time, too, he said.

Ottawa's drug consumer think addiction could best be cured?

"I don't think you can force any addicts by putting them in jail. The problem should be tackled on a medical basis," he said.

He favored treatment centres where addicts could go of their own trying to obtain a cure. But if they couldn't be cured, he said, they should be let them have drugs on a legal basis.

SUPPORTS CRIME

"It's a crime that supports the illegal drug market—it's nothing else," he said. "Every addict I know supports this statement."

He said it costs the average addict $100 a day to support his habit. Addicts would sell anything — sometimes sex — for money required.

RCMP and other authorities in Ottawa say there is no evidence to indicate that in Canada those drug traffickers have any deliberate addict-recruitment policy. Police in fact would not have trouble establishing contact with traffickers when they try cases of drug addiction worth. First drug supplies usually come from an addict with connections.

A common misconception is that addicts are dangerous when deprived of their cravings. In fact, authorities say, the male addict will commit almost any theft or shoplifter stealing to support his habit, while the female addict is most often a prostitute.

Weathermen Not Getting Enough Salary for Job

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's weathermen—all except perhaps Percy Saltman—are underpaid.

No less an authority than their boss, Transport Minister Hees, said so in the Commons Friday during consideration of spending estimates for the transport department, which operates Canada's weather stations.

Erik Nielsen (PC — Yukon) complained that Mr. Saltzman, the CBC's television weather expert, usually gives viewers more information about weather in the United States than in the Yukon or Northwest Territories.

Mr. Hees said this is perhaps because Mr. Saltzman has so few viewers in the Yukon (which has no TV stations). But possibly Mr. Saltzman's attention could be drawn to this complaint.

CLIMATE WORSENS

J. W. Pickersgill (L — Bonavista-Twillingate) said that ever since the Progressive Conservative government came to power in June, 1957, "there have been repeated complaints in Newfoundland that the weather has deteriorated very seriously."

Mr. Hees, with matching solemnity, said "it will be given very serious consideration."

Douglas Fisher (CCF — Port Arthur), who brought up the matter of weathermen's salaries, asked whether "meteorologists who are also part-time television stars" have trouble getting paid by broadcasters using their services.

Mr. Hees said Mr. Saltzman, who "seems to have a particular talent for doing that kind of work," was given permission to do it and earns extra money for it.

He added that pay of transport department meteorologists "is a very real problem with the department."

He had made strenuous representations to both the treasury board and the civil service commission pointing out that the department is steadily losing its weathermen, especially to the teaching profession, because they aren't paid enough.

Salaries mostly range from about $4,000 to $6,700.)

Denies Changing Mind Regarding Stolen Car Ring

MONTREAL (CP)—City councillor Jean Meunier said today he has not changed his mind on any statements he made about alleged police protection of a stolen car ring.

He said information made public Friday night about a statement he made to police was known only to investigators of police director J. Albert Langlois.

Investigators said Friday night they as saying Mr. Meunier "struck out" references to police connivance in the stolen car racket.

The investigation began after Mr. Meunier told a city council meeting June 8 that stolen cars had been stripped and found by police 15 hours later painted black.

Two observers have been appointed pending completion of the investigation.

Mr. Meunier said he gave the investigators a long statement and counsel and his lawyer before signing it.

Upon legal advice he deleted "a few inconsequential details" which served "no good purpose."

One of those details referred to a small reward he had given a detective who returned a car to his home, he said.

Investigators said Friday night Mr. Meunier's signed declaration did not include earlier references to police protection of car thieves and a statement made in another declaration said he said $40 to detectives investigating the theft of his car. They said the car was found not by city police but by a provincial policeman.

In a series of statements, Mr. Meunier said police told him they had called the gang and "threatened to beat them up" the weekend unless his car was returned.

The case has resulted in the suspension of Det.-Capt. Armand Gagnon, head of the stolen automobile squad, and Det.-Lieut. Armand Bonnerville.

ATTAINS OBJECTIVES

SASKATOON (CP)—Provincial treasurer C. M. Fines said in Regina committee Friday he would raise next year. Attainment of objectives set when collected $4,944, was give as one of the reasons.

OFF TO A RECORD — An adapted long-distance bomber takes off from St. John's, Nfld., as John Alcock and Arthur Brown start out on their historic flight across the Atlantic in June, 1919. The plane, with a wingspan of 68 feet and powered by two Rolls Royce engines, made the 1,890-mile flight to Clifden, Ireland, in 16 hours and 28 minutes to become the first to fly the ocean non-stop. Alcock, Brown First to Fly Non-Stop From New to Old World Had Rough Passage

By CHARLES BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The time was three hours past off on June 14, 1919, it was in the midnight. The place, a bank of cloud 4,000 feet above the dark Atlantic.

The Vickers Vimy began to tilt first to the left, then and down through drifting cloud and fog. Crouched in the open cockpit, two men fought grimly for the deadly spiral; one straining at the controls, the other searching for a break in the swirling mist.

The break came. What they saw was the lifted ice, shockingly close aboard. The aircraft shuddered to an even keel. And with the wave-crests falling back below her, slowly began to climb.

It was 3:10 a.m. GMT, June 15, 1919.

Hours of rain, sleet and fog were still ahead for John Alcock and Arthur Whitten Brown. But in the moment when they pulled out of that blind spin through billowing fog they had won their gamble. At 8:15 they raised the islands off the coast of Ireland, and then the low hills along the Galway shore.

It was the climax of a 1,960 trans-Atlantic fever that struck flying men just after the First World War. Days incidentally, had served with distinction. At least shot down seven enemy planes in the Dardanelles. Brown was himself shot down behind enemy lines and spent months in a prison camp.

$10,000 PRIZE

War had hastened the development of aircraft and put hundreds of men into the air. Lord Northcliffe's Daily Mail offered £10,000 to the crew of the first plane to fly the ocean non-stop, and the race was on.

When Alcock and Brown took off from Newfoundland's Lester's Field at St. John's, Nfld., the first men to do non-stop between the New World and the Old.

Nineteen days before, on May 27, a big Curtiss flying boat with a crew of six had made the first hop — by — hop Atlantic crossing, using the Azores as stepping-stones and a total time of 12 days from Trepassey Bay to Lisbon.

Eight years later a young man named Lindbergh was to fly from New York to Paris.

But Captain John Alcock of Manchester and Glasgow - born Lieutenant Arthur Whitten Brown were first to span the Atlantic in sustained flight from shore to shore. Their achievement stands alone.

'Citizenship' Theme of W.I. Meeting

STIRLING — The June meeting of Stirling Women's Institute was held at the school kitchen on Thursday with 18 ladies in attendance. Mrs. Allen McDonald was hostess.

A large pot of yellow chrysanthemums and baskets of spring blooms were used for decoration. Twenty dainty cups and saucers were handed in for the kitchen shower.

Mrs. Roy Tucker opened the meeting. Mrs. George Heasman read the account of the May meeting and presented a complete financial picture to date.

The roll call was answered with "something money cannot buy," which proved there were numerous things free to all.

Correspondence included a charitable appeal, "thank-you" notes, and a letter from Mrs. James Haggerty, F.W.I.O. president regarding souvenir coin spoons commemorating the Queen's visit, one hundred spoons have been ordered. Two bills were ordered to be paid, one to the contractor for $94.00 and the other for insurance on the cupboards, tables, chairs and dishes. The secretary also read the financial statement of the public relations representative of West Hastings district. The sum of $2,467.50 was expended by the seven branches. The sum of $5 was donated to the Stirling Fair Board and is to be used for a special prize in the sewing department — four aprons depicting the four seasons of the year.

A motion was passed that either the historical convener or a member of her group in the institute will be made a member of Hastings County Historical Society.

A letter regarding the new ruling for life memberships was read. The fee is $25 and the membership is open to executive years of membership.

Mrs. Roy Tucker spoke briefly on A.C.W.W. and displayed the new stamp.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen, the Friendship Link' secretary, told of the new plans which will be held in the Jube meeting in London, England. She also spoke briefly on Alberta' Leigh W.I. at Bristol.

The president thanked all who assisted with refreshments at the Conservative rally and at the district annual.

The July meeting will be held at the school with a pot-luck tea at 12.30. The children who participate in the competitions will receive their gifts and there will also be treats and games.

Mrs. Vernon Harry reported the morning session of the recent district meeting held at R. Donohoe reported the afternoon session. The district directors read the list of officers and presented the two items of business.

Mrs. Roy Bush spoke briefly and said several of the ladies would prepare a lengthier afternoon session with more time given to display. The next meeting session would begin at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Glenn Bush opened the program on "citizenship" with a poem, a poem, "You Are Not Old;" followed by "O Canada."

The motto, "Why I like to live in Canada" was prepared by Mrs. Kenneth Morrow and read by Mrs. E. C. Hay-Ellis. This closed with a poem entitled, "There's A Thing We Love To Think About" by Mrs. Ivor, native Canada.

Mrs. Kenneth Meyers read a paper on the theme, "Citizenship—What Is It?"

The rights of citizenship allow individuals to express their religious and political convictions. There is also the right to vote and to hold public office. A citizen of Canada also has the additional advantage of belonging to the commonwealth community of the Commonwealth of nations. Many feel it is a duty for all to vote on election day and thus help to determine who will carry on public business in the municipality, in the province, or in the nation.

The final topic, the topic based on "Citizenship" which she had borrowed from "The Loan Library."

"Citizenship" touches every phase of our lives — the home, school, church, social agencies, and the world. Every home life is the bulwark of Canada. Individuals must be well informed, they must have the welfare of the people at best, for democracy demands more of its people than any other form of government.

Canadians have always had an abiding friendship with their neighbours, and even with an awareness they can look forward to the worthwhile achievements in future days.

The Commonwealth of Nations stands for freedom of and Canada has a historic past and an inspiring future.

Health, sanitation, housing, all assist the church and school to make a much better community in which to dwell.

Mrs. Ivor Vandervoort read a humorous story entitled, "You Fish, I'll Paddle". This was an interesting story of Barbara and her husband out fishing at a place in Maine.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen conducted a hat contest and provided two prizes.

There were 14 hats modelled by various members and visitors found it hard to decide the winners. The hats were of both summer and winter varieties and some were of ancient styles. First prize was awarded to Mrs. Glenn Bush who had brought her late grandmother's hat of black velvet. Second hats went to Mrs. J. L. Donohoe and this was a hat she had worn at her son's wedding several years ago.

The hats were later modelled by various members.

The hostess and her lunch committee served light refreshments after which Mrs. Jack Bush thanked those responsible for hospitality, reports, program and lunch.

Junior Farmers Attend Annual Church Service

The Stone Church, 4th line of Sidney, was alive with the voices of the Junior Farmers of Hastings County last Sunday when they assembled there to hold their annual church service.

Mr. Donald Williams, Stirling, addressed the Juniors using for his topic, "Our Inheritance." He developed his address by using the many references in the Bible to it and then spoke on our inheritance, stating that we have inherited many blessings and talents and it is up to us to use them properly.

The service was conducted by Allan Lott, president of the County Junior Farmers and was assisted by Miss Francie Tucker who read the responsive reading; by Ronald Hamilton who read the Scripture and by Patricia Merrill who led in prayer, who previously provided the music for the church service, played several numbers on her piano accordion. The evening closed with the serving of refreshments.

CO of RCAF Base in France Mounts Bulldozer to Make Golf Course for Servicemen

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MARVILLE, France, (CP)—The RCAF officer in the control tower was a bit worried when he saw the commanding officer jump on a bulldozer and steer it over the crest of a hill.

He watched wide-eyed as Group Capt. D.J. (Barkie) Williams, DSO, DFC, of Vancouver drove the bulldozer's blade into the side of the hill and scraped out a big slice of earth. He repeated the process until a big hole had been dug.

Finally the spectator could stand it no longer and he raced to the snarling machine.

"Excuse me, sir," he called to the 37-year-old Group Captain. "What are you doing?"

Williams bollered over the din of the engine. "I am making a golf course."

EXPERT AT WORK

The inquiring officer wiped his brow. "Thank God, Sir. I thought you'd dipped your lid." He saluted smartly and returned to the tower.

Williams kept on working. It turned out that driving bulldozers was one of many things he did before joining the RCAF in 1940, and he knew exactly what he was doing. It wasn't long before the first green was shaping up.

Nine months later, the Arrowhead Golf Club is ready for operation. And if you ask anyone at No. 1 fighter wing about it, the club they will quickly single out their commanding officer for all the credit.

Flt. Lt. Rod Perks, 44, of Toronto, who supervised the technical aspects of the course, says Williams "did more than anyone — he's the man who got the job done."

The Group Captain still goes over the course with a bag picking up stones.

WEEDED LINKS

Williams, a compact, well-tanned pilot who still puts in his time on Sabre jets, decided the base needed a golf course when he and other officers and airmen were reading several hours' travelling to and from courses in Belgium and Luxembourg. He tried to buy land from a neighboring farm and when this failed he decided to push ahead with available property.

Perks, one - time golf professional at the old Glenmawr Club in Toronto, designed a course on a slope that runs down from an aircraft taxiing strip, across a brook, to the base's boundary fence. The fairways criss-cross past a few maintenance buildings, radio towers and other obstructions.

After Williams made his conspicuous start with the bulldozer, each airman and station section was assigned two greens and two fairways to help into shape.

Instead of labor, some technical sections offered equipment like cups, flagsticks, litter baskets and signs. Station funds were used to build a neat stone clubhouse.

PROUD RESULTS

"This building is the only thing that cost us money," says Williams, proudly. "The course itself cost nothing."

The nine - hole course, which Williams figures will have a par of 72, for two trips around, is not without a few faults. One hole is within jet-shattering distance of a Sabre jet runway range. Another is 50 yards behind a jet engine test bed and any ball caught in that draught won't be staying around long. In fact, any jet turning on the taxiing strip can deliver a powerful blast of air all over the 3,125-yard course.

But little drawbacks like this won't hold back the enthusiasts. The Arrowhead Club — named after the station emblem — has already hired a pro, Allen Freeman from Britain's Royal Mid-Surrey Club. One of his first jobs will be giving lessons to the base's school-age dependents on the station.

Williams says the club will start off with an initial membership of 400 servicemen and dependents who will pay a "very nominal" fee to play all year round.

Trouble Ahead If Oil Pressure Drops too Low

By EUGENE MILMOE

When oil pressure is obviously dropping too low, what's the reason?

The worst — worn bearings, main, camshaft or connecting rod — is generally feared. But the odds are more or less with you since there are many other possibilities.

Very light, cheap grade or dilluted oil can send the pressure gauge reading down. Oil pump wear, looseness, damage or a poor gasket will do it, too. If the pressure relief valve spring is weak or the adjustment off, if the oil intake is clogged or restricted, if there's an air leak in the oil intake or an oil leak in the discharge pipe, or if there are loose feed line connections, pressure will be low.

For the optimist there's always a chance that a new oil pressure gauge is the only cure needed. It sometimes happens that way.

* * *

From R. L.: "My car runs smoothly most of the time, but on a hot day when the temperature gauge reading climbs, the engine misses frequently."

(A) The likely causes are a mild case of vapor lock, overheating spark plugs or slight flooding due to mixture richness.

W. M. writes: "The carburetor on my '54 hardtop often floods, raining the outside. Would this be due to fuel pump pressure or the carburetor float adjustment?"

(A) Either, but a high fuel level is more probable than too much pump pressure. Don't overlook the possibility of a worn needle valve and seat or defective carburetor gaskets.

T. L. asks: "There is a clicking noise coming from the fan area on my car, a '52 sedan. I've checked the fan blades but they're straight with ample clearance."

(A) A noise such as this can also be caused by damaged fan bearings or loose mountings.

* * *

J. P. writes: "My brakes are too good. They are so sensitive that a sudden hard push on the pedal will almost send me against the wheel."

(A) Take your car into a good service station. They will check for oil-soaked lining, incorrect brake shoe adjustment or loose backing plates on the offending wheel or wheels.

EMERGENCY HELP

MONTREAL (CP) — The city executive committee approved in principle a plan for a single telephone number for such emergency services as ambulances and fire and police departments. Outdoor telephone boxes would also be installed throughout the city for emergency calls.

J. E. McArthur Attends 4-H Club Parley

OTTAWA — Ten members of a 4-H Club delegation, on their visit to the 39th National 4-H Club conference at Washington, D.C., were guests of the Canada Department of Agriculture at a noon luncheon in Ottawa Friday.

All ten provinces are represented in the delegation, which is organized and financed by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs. Members were selected by provincial departments of extension.

Their average age is 18½ years.

Attending the luncheon, held in the Parliamentary Restaurant, were the Honorable Douglas S. Harkness, Minister of Agriculture, Dr. J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister, and J. E. McArthur of Belleville, Ont., president of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs.

Following the luncheon, delegates toured the Capital. They were to leave Saturday for the Washington conference, which runs to June 19.

Movie Names Will Invade Television In Coming Fall

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This fall, will see the biggest invasion of television by movie names in the history of the medium.

With the 1959-60 season pretty well shaped up, the schedule of new shows indicates a stellar turnout. Stars who can still draw big money in films are turning to the series grind.

The lure is obvious: Security. They need only observe the fortunes earned by Loretta Young, Jane Wyman, Lucille Ball, Dick Powell, David Niven and others who got into TV. The important factor is not the salaries, but ownership of the series. This can amount to an annuity.

Here are some of the newcomers:

Robert Taylor's Detectives (ABC-Fri.). Taylor plays a captain of detectives in a typical American city. He will appear in all the shows, following through on six of the cases and assigning underling detectives to the rest.

JUNE ALLYSON STARS

June Allyson Theatre (CBS-Mon. An anthology show with Miss Allyson as hostess and partime star.

Whispering Smith (NBC-Mon. Audie Murphy stars as a detective in the first city police force in the West. Guy Mitchell plays his sidekick.

The Deputy (NBC-Sat.) Henry Fonda appears with Allan Case, Wallace Ford and Betty Lou Keim in a western adventure show.

Wichita Town (NBC-Wed.). Joe McCrea plays the marshal with son Jody as his friend, a foreman on a frontier ranch.

BEGINS ANTHOLOGY

Barbara Stanwyck Theatre has been planned by NBC, though a time hasn't been scheduled. It's another—anthology with Miss Stanwyck appearing in 18 of the 26 shows.

The Dennis O'Keefe Show was scheduled by CBS, then dropped because of a sponsor problem. It may well land on one of the other networks.

Goldie (CBS-Thurs). Betty Hutton stars as a musician who is given the bequest of a fortune, plus care of three children by a wealthy friend. A situation comedy with heart.

And there may be more.

TV TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

Television has proven extremely popular with young and old, but some children are apt to adopt poor viewing habits—such as lying on the floor in front of the TV set. Get them in the habit of watching while sitting up at a reasonable distance in front of the screen — Since children's eyes are (till developing, frequent interruptions from television with normal play is a good idea.

Whether you are young or old, dumpy or out of focus TV pictures can tire your eyes. CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 384 Coleman St., specializes in restoring top performance to ailing television sets to give more pleasant viewing. For prompt action — Dial WO 8-6791. (In Trenton EX 2-7689).

At the Belle

Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward, Ava Gardner in "The Snows of Kilimanjaro", in Technicolor.

"The Snows of Kilimanjaro", Twentieth Century-Fox's production, heralded Technicolor production, of Ernest Hemingway's classic story starring Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward, Ava Gardner and Hildegarde Neff, will open Monday at the Belle Theatre.

One of the year's major film achievements, "The Snows of Kilimanjaro" is the dramatic story of a famous writer and big game hunter who reviews his life, loves, adventures and frustrations while awaiting possible death beneath the shadows of Mt. Kilimanjaro in Africa via the use of back flash, the writer traces his career through Paris, the French Riviera, Africa and the Spanish Civil War.

"Intent To Kill", Suspenseful. Betsy Drake, co-starring with Richard Todd in "Intent to Kill", Twentieth Century-Fox's pistol-taut crime of an assassination attempt against a South American dictator is announced as the 2nd feature attraction on the program starting on Monday.

Opposite Cary Grant, whom she later married, she gave a bubbling study of a young mother in "Room for One More", and her last film, before moving to Montreal, Canada, for 'Intent' showed her as a glamorous star.

The Belle Latest World News Events is an added attraction.

Commencing Monday, the daily matinee will start at 1.30. One complete show will be presented in the evening beginning at 7.30 for the program only.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Most athletes and a lot of sports fans are funny guys. A lot of humor can be squeezed out of any day in the day but the Friday that falls on the 13th day of the month.

A lot of them have their favorite hexes. If Perve sees a knight of the road being escorted to the local boozery by a city gendarme he figures the "Bums" are in" and celebrates a Dodger victory.

His Yankee-loving buddie "Pat" saw a car with a New York license almost run down a black cat the other day—and figured his luck was out. The Yankees were blanked 3-0.

Frankie Brimsek, former hotshot goalie for the Boston Bruins not only put the beantowners on the ice but insisted he fire the first puck into the net.

Baseball, perhaps, has the largest number of jinxfearers of any sport extant. In the old days when Hank Greenberg and Al Lopez were topflight diamond stars, and opened a slugging bee, they continued to eat the same food eaten on the opening day of the spree. Once Lopez chewed on kingsized herring and eggs for seventeen days during a bestie batting slump.

The famous Christy Mathewson was walking with a clergyman friend when the reverend gentleman was amazed to hear the hurler say "Quick, spit in your hat!" Obeying the clergyman whipped off his hat and spat in it. Christy hurriedly exploded that a black cat the woman was approaching them. Without the spit set nothing but bad luck would dog his mound effort that day.

High up in the players' favor is the presence of redheaded gals. But hairpins found anywhere are a menace to batting averages. Quickly they are picked up.

The big Bambino never failed to kick second base on his way from right field and Ducky Medwick always dropkicked third when he trotted in from the outer darkness.

When Bill Corrigan managed the Red Sox he was convinced that Pullman car numbers were good batting average figures and he always put his charges in carefully selected cars. Apparently Corrigan was superstitious to the end for his Sox landed in the cellar in all three seasons of his management.

Many boxers, like actors, shiver if they see a hat on a bed. Max Schmeling always attributed his loss to Jack Sharkey after a friend carelessly tossed his fedora on a cot in the dressing room.

Some golfers will tell you robins on course markers, throwing and from the tee-box, entering a tee from behind and walking on the same side with the caddie, are bad luck omens.

Annapolis midshipmen press their good luck by tossing pennies at the statue of Tecumseh on the academy grounds. Likewise their football team always pull down the Pullman car shades when travelling through Baltimore on the day of the game. Superstitious supporters will tell you that Notre Dame's grotto-shrine once slept off the campus the night before a battle and lost their first game to Carnegie Tech in 22 years.

Peter de Paolo, famous racing driver, once lost his favorite baby shoes and promptly started to lose a succession of races. A reward of $5,000 for the booties. They were returned and he zoomed off on another winning streak.

A group of frantic supporters implored Gene Tunney not to wear the resplendent but unlucky new bathrobe of blue adorned with the insignia of the Marines. Tunney laughed at them—and went on to defeat the famous Manassa Mauler.

Lightweight Johnny Summers had a peculiar ring superstition. He would kneel in his corner between rounds and, kissing his young daughter's ear data for luck. In Paris, he was accused of getting resin on his hands and was disqualified.

Don Mossi 6-Hits Yankees To Zoom Detroit Into Third; Braves Beaten, Giants Win

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Staff Writer

"Call it great," said manager Bill Rigney.

"Call it lucky," said young lefty Mike McCormick.

Call it a little of both, for McCormick pitched a no-hit shutout in a 3-0 San Francisco victory over Philadelphia Phillies Friday night that was preserved as five innings by rain.

Only Richie Ashburn singled in the bottom of the sixth and a couple of walks had the bases loaded before the rains came, washing away the threat.

The decision sent the Giants to within a game of Milwaukee Braves, leading the National League once. The Braves were beaten 9 - 7 by Chicago Cubs. Third-place Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Pittsburgh Pirates 9-6. St. Louis Cardinals beat Cincinnati Redlegs 2-1 in 10 innings.

FOURTH SHUTOUT

McCormick, 25, a one-time $50,000 bonus kid, posted his fourth shutout in a three-year career. It was his third against the Phils, who have been the victims for a third of his victories in the majors. The last - place Phillies also have been hitless in their last 10 innings, scoring 1 in the last 17.

McCormick (4-3) was given a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Jim Davenport's triple and an error. Then the fielding support went to pieces in the second inning when Jack Meyer (4-3) got the first two batters on twice in the fifth on a double by Ed Bressoud and Hobie Landrith's single.

The Cubs chased Lew Burdette (5-5) with three runs in the first and second innings, opening up with Lee Walls's third homer and Ernie Banks' 10th. Third baseman John Bunhard's 9-1 lead, not the pesky Cubs, scored in the fifth Henry's relief help when the Braves scored five in the seventh, three on Johnny Logan's 18th homer.

Ed Mathews belted a pair of bases-empty home runs for Milwaukee, increasing his major league leading total to 22 and regain pulling even with Babe Ruth's record-pace of 1927.

LATE RALLY WINS

The Dodgers blew a 5-3 lead, scrambled back for a tie and then won with three runs in the ninth. Norm Larker's pinch two-out single scored clinchers against losing reliefer Bennie Daniels (3-5).

The Dodgers, who outhit the Pirates 13-6, had seven pitchers, with Danny McDevitt (4-6) the winner, Southpaw Harvey Haddix, first of six pitchers to go for Pittsburgh, left after Don Demeter's two-run 13th homer in the fifth inning.

The Cardinals, held to two hits for nine innings, beat Joe Nuxhall and reliefer Tom Acker (1-1) on a sacrifice fly by pinch - hitter George Crowe after Bill White's single, Ken Boyer's infield hit and a walk had loaded the bases.

Lindy McDaniel (4-8) won it in relief for Vinegar Bend Mizuno, a righthander who gave up only four hits in his nine innings, one to Ed Bailey's home run with a man in the second inning. Brooks Lawrence, Reds' starter, gave eight innings, walking home and unearned run in the first.

Red Wings Moving Up; Leafs Beaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Veteran pitcher Bob Keegan is combining baseball and business with Sterling Rochester among the leaders in the tight International League pennant race.

A stockholder in the Red Wings' community-owned club, the 37-year-old major league veteran is insuring his investment with his talents as a shutdown dealing.

Keegan's latest dividend was Friday night's 7-1 victory over Columbus—a four-hit job—which moved the Wings within 2½ games of league-leading Buffalo. It was his eighth victory against one loss and lowered his earned-run average to 2.59.

KNOCK OFF BISONS

Second - place Richmond cut Buffalo's big lead to 1½ games by knocking off the Bisons 3-0 behind Jack Monroe's six-hit pitching. Havana defeated Toronto 6-3 in the only other game. Miami and Montreal were rained out.

Chuck Essegian's first inning two-run homer and a two-run single by Gene Green in the second were all the early support Keegan needed. The only run off the former Chicago White Sox mound ace came in the fourth on Tommy Burgess' homer. Luke Easter also had a run-batted-in for the Wings.

The Virginians scored all their runs on homers off Warren Hacker—Easter's 13th and a two-run six-bagger by Bix Bixon stakes since Mr. Hacker, who allowed only six hits, was tagged for a solo shot by Darrell Johnson in the third and Frank Lary added a two-run insurance blast in the seventh.

Larry Novak, with a 3-for-4 night, drove in four runs including his 11th home run. Rochester's 11th in the second inning with a two-run homer. Chuck Cottier added his 11th to the Leafs, who lost their fifth in six games, but went all the way to bring his record to 4-6.

GRISSOM RETIRES

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Marv Grissom, 38-year-old right-hand pitcher, asks relief pitcher who played a major role in the New York Giants' drive to the world championship in 1954, requested Friday to be placed on the voluntarily retired list. He is a 10-year major league veteran.

The big right-hander has been bothered by back trouble this season.

Grissom appeared in 36 games for the New York Giants in 1953 and 1954. Working 122 innings, he compiled a sparkling 2.36 earned run average. The Giants traded him to the Cards last Oct. 8.

Jockey Loses Race by A Tooth

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Close races are won and lost by a nose or a neck, but jockey Willie Shoemaker apparently lost one at Hollywood Park Friday by a tooth.

Shoemaker was scheduled to ride Midnight Date in the $15,000 feature race but was forced to cancel because he lost a filling in a tooth. He headed for the dentist for a replacement before he caught a plane for New York to ride Sword Dancer today in the Belmont Stakes.

Jockey Manse got Shoemaker's mount and rode Midnight Date to a three-length victory.

Essex Holds Cricket Lead

LONDON (Reuters) — Essex gained an innings win over tailend Nottinghamshire Friday and now holds a 12-point lead in cricket's championship table.

It is the only side to have won six championship matches this season and its winning method usually has aroused new interest among the keen cricket followers of Essex's seven successive championships.

An innings of 180 by Doug Insole, the Essex captain, on the last day laid the foundation of the win over Nottinghamshire. Faced with an Essex total of 385, Nottinghamshire could muster only 170 and 94 with less than an hour remaining to finish the match.

Insole's innings, which had shared the lead in the table with Essex, found the task of making 145 runs in 150 minutes a bit too much and finished 17 behind. Peter Parfitt and Alan Moss, the last pair, had to play out 10 minutes of extra time to avoid defeat.

Worcestershire strove hard to clinch a win as wealthy supporter had promised the side a free weekend in Paris if it beat Hants.

There was rejoicing in the Worcestershire camp because Glamorgan's victory over Lancashire at Llanelly was the first one in 12 years that Lancashire had lost in Wales.

Sports Editor Andy Lytle Dies at 75

VANCOUVER (CP) — Andy Lytle, 75, (50), Sheridan Park, sports editor of Canada's best-known sports writers, died suddenly at his home here Tuesday.

Born in Kenora, he was sports editor of the Vancouver Province for several years and later occupied the same position with the Vancouver Sun and the Toronto Star.

Ten years ago he returned from Toronto and took over his old position at the Sun. Soon after that he was named sports editor for now - defunct Vancouver Herald, then retired.

Stew Westmiffster, where he worked on the Columbian before coming to the Province, former newspapers, was his first sports love and he followed Lytle to the Star. Westminster Salmonbellies of lacrosse were his favorite subject.

Lytle is survived by his wife Mary and Mrs. Ross Blatchford of Nanaimo.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Big Bull Casper Leads Pack At Tourney Half-Way Mark

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP)—Big Bull Casper, who was the golf pro, call the man who invented putting, gave himself a lengthy putting lesson the night before the U.S. open championship started.

Then he played a "fantastic" first round he says he'd like to forget despite the score of 71. But Friday everything clicked and Bill came out with a big 68 and a score of 71-68—139 that made Apple Valley, Calif., lad a one-stroke edge over three of the most dangerous rivals you could name—Ben Hogan, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer.

Another stroke back were Doug Ford and Mike Souchak. Three behind at 142 were PGA champion Dow Finsterwald and Ernie Vossler.

YOSS-UP

Any one of them could come up with the winning score tonight. So could some of the others who weren't so far back—Sam Snead, Jay Hebert, Claude Harmon, Cary Middlecoff, Ted Kroll and even Sammy Snead.

At Balding of Toronto fired a 74 to go with his sparkling round of 72 for 146, seven strokes off Casper's pace.

It has been a surprising tournament on the deceptive 6,873-yard, par 70 Winged Foot West course. Things have been tougher than they seemed—as shown by the fact that 13 players with aggregate scores of 150 were among the 61 qualifiers for the final 36 holes.

Pitching — Don Mossi, Detroit, pitched a six-hit, 3-1 victory over New York Yankees as the Tigers gained a third-place tie.

Hitting — Harry Chiti, Kansas City, hit a home run with two men on base in the fourth inning for 3-2 victory Boston Red Sox.

OLMEDO WINS, LOSES

BECKENHAM, England (AP) Alex Olmedo of Los Angeles, advanced to the men's singles finals today of the Kent lawn tennis championship. In women's singles Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., and Christine Hard of Mossbello, Calif, will meet. Olmedo will meet Kurt Nielsen of Copenhagen today for the championship. Big shock of the day came when Olmedo and Rafe Mackay of Dayton, Ohio, seeded No. 1 in men's doubles, were beaten by Australians Bob Mark and Rod Laver.

Watson Whips Wily Kiniski In Wild Texas Death Match

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Whipper Billy Watson finally made his ferocious Gene Kiniski say "uncle", in a Belleville ring. Three times he has tried it — and three times he has failed. With skullduggery, officials and chairs and ganging up to oppose him.

Last night he did it — and did it the hard way.

A real hard way.

Whipper figured a "Texas Death Match", with its novel rules and regulations, might turn the trick. He was right. He got a little help — not much — from palsy-walsy Pat Flanagan, one of the Tunney-appointed brace of judges. Bert Maxwell shared the honors.

The Whipper was not fooling, but he met a tenacious fighting Kiniski who wasn't exactly treating the get-together as a summer picnic.

Texas Death Match regulations call for a two-minute rest after a wrestler is counted out. If he returns, O.K. If not, he loses the match. There are no five counts, and an enlarged area outside the ropes is made available for the having in case they want to mix a little roadwork with the half - nelson, eye-gouging and other ring calisthenics.

Kiniski doesn't like running in the open prairie. No, sir. He likes a roped - in enclosure and he said so in no uncertain terms last night. And to show his disgust he skipped two heats around the open spaces outside the ring with the Whipper in hot pursuit before the actual show got under way. He disappeared into the dressing room and cooled off before he made his re-appearance.

Then he vented his western spleen on Referee Joe Azzarello when he was given the nod he subjected the handsome Pride of East York to terrific punishment, with nothing barred, and everything used.

He pummelled, kicked, choked and "knee'd" the former champion with the Whip apparently unable to do much of anything about it. However, he did survive the two-minute rests between falls.

Pat got in a few licks and they were telling ones, the punishment being presented itself, but Maxwell was there mainly for the novelty of getting a ringside clip put even tangle with Flanagan.

Then it happened.

After three solid falls, the Whip seemed to gain a new lease on life. And Kiniski knew it. Watson body-slammed the Fury of the Foothills and then, with the speed of the lightning out of thunder clouds. Then he applied his famous "sleeper" hold — but Kanny Kiniski knew the ropes and used them.

Four or five times Watson had Kiniski hearing birdies in the stratosphere but as many times the big fella fell for and found the ropes.

Flanagan and Maxwell ended these monkeyshines. Then the Whipper got his chance. He jumped him in his well-known Canadian Commando style and the referee "stooped" to put RARE BEAUTY — Two-year-old Marilyn Arashewski is one of the few North Americans to get this close to a Dall sheep. The frisky youngster was caught in late May in 7,000-foot mountains in the Yukon when he was one day old. Brought to Alberta's wildlife farm near Edmonton, the pure-white variety of Rocky Mountain bighorns is doing well on a diet of milk. The rare sheep are seldom captured because of their agility and the mother's ferocity in which they live, mainly on the farm and she has made fast friends with the animals. (CP Photo).

EDMONTON (CP) — Zoologist Al Oeming, bronzed after two rugged weeks in the Yukon, made a prized addition last month to his growing wildlife farm—a pair of Dall sheep, rarest of North American mountain sheep.

Dall sheep, found only in the Yukon and Alaska, are a snow-white variety of the Rocky Mountain Big Horn. Frisky, fast and photogenic, they are crag - hoppers from birth. Expeditions chasing them in the 7,000 - foot granite peaks of the Yukon often get no more than a picture.

Oeming, leading a 12-man party into the Kluane game sanctuary 125 miles west of Whitehouse, Y.T., caught his prize by climbing above the ewe sheep, then descending on them.

"That's the only way we could have done it," says the husky nature lover, who makes his living as a wrestling promoter here.

FLEW TO WHITEHORSE

Oeming flew the 950 miles to Whitehouse May 15. Included in his party were veteran Yukon guide Buck Dixon, nature artist Clarence Tillenius of Winnipeg, and a photographer.

The sheep seem at home in a large enclosure on Oeming's farm 15 miles east of Edmonton. The top half is wire when one of the five-day-olds bounced over the 6-foot fence.

The effect of their forbidding environment can be seen in their strong legs and wiry coats. About 18 inches high now, the rams grow as large as 200 pounds and have long curved horns. The ewes are horned.

Oeming began stringing 10 miles of wire about his wildlife farm five years ago to wire off up and meadows were cleared, he trapped Canadian animals. Now, moose and elk, reindeer and caribou roam about the birch glades and fields of the farm. Wolverines, lynx, martens and other small animals live in spacious cages.

SHOOTING PROHIBITED

The caribou, straight from the barren lands of the, Northwest Territories are being studied in further knowledge of the caribou which has provided food for Eskimos and Indians of the North for centuries.

The farm, which has a national park atmosphere, takes another big step in August when Oeming goes to the Northwest Territories in search of musk ox. He has a permit to catch six.

He hopes to open the farm to the public this summer "to help people get closer to Canadian wild life."

REPUDIATES MOTION

LONDON (Reuters) — British Labor Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell Thursday night repudiated a motion submitted by 80 labor MPs opposing any transfer of American nuclear bombers from France to Britain. Political sources said Gaitskell won over a meeting of labor members to the view that Britain as a member of NATO could not refuse the planes if it were considered military necessary.

Women Urged To Continue Refugee Aid

By PAUL GRESCO
CanEdition Press Staff Writer

WASAGAMING, Man. (CP) — Canada's first woman senator has told the National Council of Women it must continue the work of aiding world refugees.

Senator Carine Wilson, appointed to the Senate in 1930, spoke Thursday to 125 delegates attending the six-day annual meeting of the council. Earlier she received a life membership, highest tribute the council bestows.

Senator Wilson said World Refugee Year which began June 1 is a suitable time to help rid the world of refugee camps where she said "appalling conditions" exist.

In 1953 Senator Wilson founded and became chairman of the Canadian National Committee on Refugees, formed to seek modification of immigration laws.

She said an eight-year plan to empty the refugee camps was begun in 1950 under Dr. G. J. van Heuven Goedhart, United Nations high commissioner for refugees. Until recently, the plan had received little support, she added.

"Canada's contribution in 1955-56 was a rather meagre $125,000," she said. "It should be $200,000."

"The plan was making good progress until the Hungarian uprising filled the camps. Canada let down her restrictions and accepted a number of Hungarians and willingly spent $1,000,000 for their relief and resettlement.

"We feel proud of this generosity, but can not fail to think of those left behind who have led such a dreary existence in the camps."

There are still 150,000 refugees in Europe — many of them in camps, Senator Wilson said.

Marsh Hill

MARSH HILL — Ten members of Pine Grove W.I. attended the district annual for West Hastings Women's Institute at Stirling, when Rocky Valley Inn was hostess branch.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hagerman of Derbyville, were recent Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hollinger.

To My Fellow Citizens . . .

I should like to take this opportunity of thanking you for your support during the recent hectic campaign. Many of you who also worked very hard to support me will realize the recent election . . . I am humbly grateful to the people who think you did — it was very gratifying.

To my opponent, I extend my congratulations on having carried on the fight of a most energetic election by a free electorate. I am sure this riding will continue to appreciate the significance attached to the mandate he has received. It was a clean and well-fought campaign.

Once again my most sincere thanks to all who supported and worked for me.

Most respectfully yours,
JACK C. LUNDBERG

Astrological Forecast

Sunday, June 14

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — Concentrate on how to cooperate more fully with fellow workers or associates now. Later in the day you realize the certain unwise moves by an associate are an infringement on certain laws or regulations. Plan to adjust wisely.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — During A. M. it occurs to you suddenly how you can bring about greater harmony with others. Go to hear some great speaker who stresses the importance and power of love at your favorite church. P. M. do not be jealous and you avoid argument.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Be at your most magnanimous and kindly best with kin in Show true affection. Later in the day a feeling of unhappiness may fall over you because your finances are not what you would like them to be. Cheer up! They will improve. Play.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — If you listen very carefully to the wise words of priest, pastor or rabbi, you will gain a wonderful philosophy of life today which you can follow for greater success and happiness in life. P. M. apply it and avoid trouble with family.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Recall the best lessons you have learned from experience that far, and add to these the fine principles under which you were reared, and form a future pattern for living that will be infallible. P. M. drive carefully. Guard your health.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Be sure you utilize the wisdom founded by religious leaders Shrewd instead of trying to force it on others. Criticism begins at home. P. M., take care you do not spend too much money having fun and entertaining.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) — Whether you listen to a great orator or read sublime literature, you can today have deep inlinements with infinite wisdom. P. M. calm ruffled home atmosphere. Be kind to unfortunate.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Co-operate with fine and exacting pal today so that others will admire you. Also, be very generous at the right time, and you succeed. P. M. something occurs which truly bothers you, but it is inevitable. Be philosophical.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — You are a very human person. Exercise your charitable leanings today and they will come to the attention of power-ful persons. However, also work hard toward your goals and do not invest money foolishly.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Inspirational thoughts occur to you that had been forgotten, or you get greater ones while attending services today. Later you will find it wiser to give support to a Bigwig rather than antagonize him or her.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You are deeply intuitive today about living in greater harmony with those you admire and respect. This will also help to keep you from becoming confused over some unexpected happening in the evening.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Listen very carefully to the ideas and words of others, and do not argue though you may feel they do not agree with your judgment. P. M. could bring the birth of a good pal if you pick an argument. Be kind and understanding instead.

If your child is born today — The wonderful child born today will have such a human touch and charm that it would be well to organize him or her for work with the public in general and before great crowds. Give him best training possible in both the academic and the manual arts, since with body are wonderfully co-ordinated. The great doctor specialist is also in this chart, whether man or woman.

Monday, June 14

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — If you express your deep devotion toward closest of kin and true friends, you will find that your associates will think very highly of you. This will cement better relations and you prosper. P. M. enjoy yourself at pleasures you like best.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — You are so full of vim and vigor now that it would be the height of wisdom to get an early start and see how much you can accomplish. This can be either at residence or in business world. P. M. buy the nice toiletries you need.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Here is a day when you can be at peace with the world and yourself. Go about doing the things you like best to do and restore your energies. Smile and the world will smile with you, even if you are putting over a big deal.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Be sure you think about the needs of closest of kin in A. M. and if you are doing your duty by them to the best of your ability. Generosity is the keynote now. P. M. have a truly happy and harmonious time at own fireside.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Being as friendly as you please with everyone pays big dividends today. Be very close to those with whom you labor every day and show the fine cooperative attitude you now have. Wear a cheerful smile and act positively.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Take inventory of your holdings now and utilize that fine mind for detail to increase the value and beauty thereof. Once you have made your decisions, roll up your sleeves and work methodically.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Social mail of the morning getting your appearance at its most charming best. Don't be afraid to add that extra individualistic touch. P. M. be with pals for a social time.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You are very fond of investigating that which puzzles, and today you can exercise this desire to the full. Also, be certain you get in touch with influential person for the support you need in putting forward your ideas.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Contact that wise friend and frankly ask for advice about improving your job in life. If you refrain from being egotistical, fine advice will be given you which you should follow immediately. P. M. go about socially.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Outside activities are best for you on this day. Excellent opportunity awaits you if you do not procrastinate or give it up altogether. P. M. fine for getting the splendid suggestions good advisers can give you.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — You will get many fine leads today if you go to the right persons. Stop tackling too many things and concentrate on the best. Be analytical and perfect master of yourself. Follow advice given by prominent person.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) — Intuitive faculties are working nicely now, so follow your hunches wisely. Go into seclusion, however, for best results. Discuss your plans with fellow workers first, then full speed ahead. Act and succeed.

If your child is born today — The wonderful child born today can achieve success very early in life since there is a lovely, elusive quality of sweetness in your progeny's nature that opens the right doors. There is a great potential here for big enterprises, while the innate love and appreciation of beautiful things is ever apparent in this fine nature. Great aptitude for detail and precision. Politics is forte. Fine love life.

PROSPECT —OR— SUSPECT?

Do you want to "SELL" your property, or desire your property "LISTED" for sale? If it's for sale, we can handle it. But if you really want it sold quickly, quietly and with the least amount of disturbance, we can sell it. We would appreciate the opportunity to talk this over with you.

We are LARGE enough to serve you, and small ENOUGH to KNOW you.

Communes Offer Better Life

By Walter L. Gordon

(Chairman of the Recent Royal Commission on Canada's Economic Prospects)

(Article 10)

We spent four half days visiting four separate communes or sections of them. In this article I shall describe our visit to Hopin (Peace) commune outside Peking and then indicate how the others differed from it.

We were received by the director, a strong, intelligent, cheerful man of about forty with obvious leadership qualities. He had lived in the area in the old days as a "middle peasant" with about 10 mous of land (between 1½ and 2 acres) and later had fought with the Communist army and been wounded by the Japanese. Almost certainly he was a member of the party.

He told us the commune was made up of four advanced cooperatives and included 151 natural villages. It was about ten miles long and seven miles wide with 18,000 acres under cultivation. Formerly this area concentrated mainly on cotton and grain but now it will gradually switch over to producing meat and vegetables for Peking.

There are almost 10,000 households in Hopin commune with a total population of 41,000; 80 per cent of the labor force are women. Some of the men work in the factories or on construction in the city and commute home for week-ends.

The Hopins commune has 19 primary schools with 9,000 pupils; four middle schools with 1,200 students; five hospitals with twenty doctors and about thirty nurses; 17 nursery houses; 16 public dining halls (almost one to every village); six old people' homes; 54 kindergartens; and 120 day time baby centres for babies under three years old. About half the mothers place their babies in these centres; there is no compulsion upon them to do so.

There is no housing shortage in this commune and no immediate plans to erect apartment houses or to build new country towns. Everyone has his own house, many of which were built during the period of land reform.

LABOR RESERVOIR

If a factory in Peking, for example, advertises for workers, members of the commune can decide to move there with their families permanently. The director told us that about 1,000 people had moved for this purpose last year. He said people are quite free to leave the commune providing arrangements are made beforehand to place them somewhere else. Actually, everyone living in the cities must have ration cards; and new arrivals and departures are quickly reported by the street committees so the authorities are well able to keep track of the population.

Nearly everyone eats in the dining halls where the food is free. Theoretically people who wish to do their own cooking at home may do so; but they would not be very popular; and they would have to pay for their food.

We visited a dining hall in one of the villages. It was located in several rooms of what once had been a good sized house and was capable of feeding 500 people at a sitting. Both the dining hall and kitchen looked clean and tidy. The mid-day meal consists of a big fresh soggy looking steam roll or dumpling made of corn flour, the staple food in this area, a green vegetable and soup.

We then visited a kindergarten where 20 to 40 children, aged about four to six, under the direction of two girl teachers clapped loudly and sang songs for us. They all looked fairly clean and cheerful. We inspected one of the houses where the teacher's wife was at home as she suffers from a disability and cannot work in the fields; her husband is a factory worker in Peking and thus they are relatively well off. The house consisted of a hallkitchen, a reasonably large bedroom for the husband and wife, another bedroom for their unmarried son and a store room. It all looked very neat and tidy. The spoons were new and had been built by the commune carpenters and paid for by the owner. The woman showed us her garden where she grows good looking vegetables; she also keeps six bees.

We visited another new house where perhaps a dozen old people with no relatives are housed; one big room for the women and one for the men with a hall in between. It was certainly not palatial but formerly if they had no relatives to look after them, such old people would have died or had a very bad time, so we were told. They are supplied with food, lodging and a very little pocket money. Some of them had fine, cultivated looking faces. One old lady told us she was 86. She had been divided into three sections. This overcrowding was due to some doubling up necessitated by moving 300 families from the hilly region of the commune where the soil is very poor. We were informed that because of these conditions, this community proposes to proceed as fast as possible with the construction of a new country town with all the trimmings. We were shown a model of it. But this is a poor commune and I suspected it might be some time before this dream is realized.

Unquestionably there are wide differences between conditions in different parts of the country and in the incomes of the people in the different communes. The following is a very rough approximation of the average incomes per household in 1958 in the four communes that we visited:

	Food	Cash	Total
Hopin (Peking)	—	320	yuans
Lukon Chio (Peking)	240	420	660 yuans
Ching Yiu (Changchun)	150	120	270 yuans
Nan Hu (Wuhan)	324	172	496 yuans

At the official exchange rate, one yuan is worth 44 cents Canadian but in terms of purchasing power it is probably worth much more than that. In view of this I came to the conclusion that no useful purpose can be served by converting the amounts shown in Chinese yuans into Canadian currency.

The figures shown in the table do not include whatever income may have been realized by the peasants from their privately owned gardens, chickens, etc. They are painfully low notwithstanding. This is not in every case we were told they represent a substantial improvement over 1957; and that 1959 will be still better.

To be concluded.

FAVOR LIQUOR

ORILLIA (CP) — Residents of the Rama Indian reserve, five miles northeast of here, voted 85-16 Wednesday to permit liquor on the reserve. It was the first reservation in Southern Ontario this year to support such a proposal. There were 151 eligible to vote in the Rama referendum.

QUEEN'S REST SPOT

A luxurious estate 25 miles west of Kelowna, B.C., has been picked as the site of a three-day rest for the Queen during her Canadian tour.

The Queen and Prince Philip will spend three days at Pennask Ranch on Pennask Lake July 12-14. The estate is owned by six wealthy Canadians, including Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

The holiday is designed to give them a complete rest at the halfway point of their six-week Canadian tour. (CP Newsmap.)

HE'LL PROVE THAT NATURAL GAS IS CLEANER
The only remnants of burning gas are carbon dioxide, nitrogen and water vapor — all of which are present in any pure air. And there are no ashes or foul vapors to deposit grimy film throughout your home. A home heated with natural gas is a CLEANER, HEALTHIER home.

YOU'LL LEARN THAT NATURAL GAS IS ECONOMICAL
The initial cost of purchasing and installing of gas furnace is relatively low, as is the cost of the fuel itself. Maintenance costs are almost zero, since Lakeland provides FREE service . . . no more costly service-call charges. You SAVE MONEY by heating with natural gas.

NATURAL GAS IS MORE EFFICIENT
Natural gas is best for home heating because you have INSTANT heat, automatically controlled . . . with no storage or delivery problems. In water heating with gas, on a small unit can produce 20-25 gals. of hot water an hour. No other fuel does so much, so well.

NATURAL GAS IS SAFE
Natural gas is non-poisonous. Another of the assuring features of modern gas appliances is the 100% shut-off when pilot-light is extinguished. And natural gas has the LOWEST FIRE LOSS RECORD of all fuels. Thousands of Canadians enjoy natural gas in complete safety — SO CAN YOU!

WITH NATURAL GAS, NO COSTLY SERVICE CALLS — YOU SAVE BECAUSE YOUR GAS COMPANY GIVES FREE 24 HOUR SERVICE

Surgical Supply Firms Practise Price Fixing

Justice Minister Says Two Firms Are Involved

OTTAWA (CP)—The Restrictive Trade Practices Commission said today price fixing was practised by two manufacturers of surgical supplies, one Canadian and one American.

The report made public today by Justice Minister Fulton said Bard-Parker Company of Danbury, Conn., which manufactures surgical blades and accessories, employed a contract system "designed to secure resale price maintenance."

It said further that Sterling Rubber Co. Inc. of Guelph, which makes surgeons' gloves, threatened to withhold supplies to sell its products not below its suggested resale prices on threat of termination of dealership or delays in filling orders.

Mr. Fulton said in releasing the report that "the usual consideration will be given to the question of what further steps ought to be taken."

All-White Jury Convicts Four Youths of Rape

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)— The all-white jury which convicted four white youths for the mass rape of a Negro coed decided against the death penalty because there was no evidence of brutality, the jury foreman said Sunday night.

A. H. King, a Tallahassee plumber owner, described how the verdict was reached and as attorneys were returned to the Florida capital city after weeks of tension.

King said that "on the basis of the testimony before us there was no evidence, not even with a gun and knife but no brutality was involved."

The foremen said the case was decided on "the law and the evidence" without any consideration of race.

CLAIMS PREJUDICE

Dr. A. Gregg Reddick, a former state president of the national association for the advancement of colored people, said the decision against a death penalty resulted from "ingrained prejudice by a white jury."

The four defendants appeared stunned by the verdict. They were whisked off to state prison after the jury recessed early Saturday.

Spectators filed out quietly and dispersed. Sheriff Bill Joyce reported no disturbances.

"I am so thankful we came through this without one bit of trouble," Joyce said of the 10 weeks of racial strain since the May 2 rape.

CAN GET LIFE

The four youths will remain in prison until their sentencing, expected in about 30 days. Circuit Judge W. May Walker gave no hint of the penalties he will impose. Under Florida law he can go as high as life imprisonment or he could let them off with probation. Others convicted or rape usually serve at least 10 years.

Convicted were: David Ervin Beagles, 18, a high school senior; Willies (Ted) Collinsworth, 22, illiterate telephone lineman and father of two children; Patrick (Gene) Scarborough, 20, and air force man who is married but separated from his wife; and Melvile Stoutamire, a 16-year-old described as a key witness as he is not mentally retarded.

Each verdict was identical, a finding of guilty of rape with a recommendation of mercy.

THREATENED WITH GUN

The victim, a slender thin-faced girl of 19, testified that the four youths, threatening her with a shotgun and a knife, abducted her from a car where she was parked with her date and attacked the Negro couple after a dance. She said she was beaten unconscious while pinned to the ground for two or three hours.

Defense lawyers based their case upon a claim of consent.

No white man ever has gone to the electric chair in Florida for raping a Negro.

MARK CHARTER

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, England (AP)—Four thousand people crowded the grounds of Bury St. Edmund's ancient abbey Sunday to commemorate the Magna Carta. The memorial service was held on the ruins where English barons met in 1214 to force King John to recognize their demands for an end to totalitarianism. John signed the charter in June the following year.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: — Northerly winds will persist over all of Ontario and Central Canada for a day or two. West of the Great Lakes, a surge of warm air from the south, sent temperatures soaring into the high 80s across the prairies Sunday and this very warm weather should work into northwestern Ontario today. At the moment there appears to be little chance of this air reaching the lower lakes within the next 48 hours.

SIXTY-TWO DIE IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

Drownings Reduced By Cool Weather

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Only 12 drownings were reported in Canada during the weekend as chilly weather suppressed water sports.

But traffic and other accidents jumped the annual death toll to a near-record 82.

In Ontario 26 persons died accidentally between 6p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday, a Canadian Press survey showed. Quebec had 18 deaths.

Ten were killed on Ontario's highways in the 54-hour period. Eight persons died in an airplane crash in Northwestern Ontario and a fisherman was drowned in Lake Ontario.

Quebec had a dozen road deaths and four drownings, while Manitoba had five. Other provinces with six deaths—five in Alberta.

SPECTACULAR CRASH

A spectacular accident at Lambton, near Toronto, Saturday claimed the life of Mrs. Deborah Butterworth, 32, of Waynesville, Ohio.

Her husband, Dr. Ralph Butterworth, and a third passed beneath them.

The Toronto family, returning home from a vacation at Lake Muskoka, were involved in a collision with an oncoming car driven by Simon Levesque, 35, of Buffalo.

Stan Clair, Windsor, who was driving one of the vehicles collided head-on and jackknifed into the Levesque vehicle, he drove into car between them before they finally came back to the pavement.

Mr. Clair's car was badly smashed and scratched along its length when the level of the road door handles.

He said he stopped his car and ran back to the scene with a tire

Barbers Must Get Approval For Brush-off

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—"Leave a little side-burn, heavy on the top and it's okay by me if you brush the hair off my neck."

That's the situation in Utah now that the state business regulation department has issued a set of rules and regulations for barbers.

The new rules prohibit barbers from using shaving mugs and lather brushes. They must use disposable lather from canisters or machines.

Barbers must sterilize the brushes they use to whisk away cut hair and they can use them only if they get the customer's permission.

CLIMBER KILLED

Plan 7-Land Free Trade Area As Reply to Common Market

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters)—Proposals for a seven-nation, free - trade area linking Scandinavia, Britain, Portugal, Austria and Switzerland went to the seven governments today for consideration following a meeting of trade experts here.

The projected trade association is aimed at meeting the challenge of Europe's six-nation common market. It would put the seven on more equal terms with the common market in future trade deals.

Draft proposals, announced Sunday, call for the reduction of industrial tariffs by 20 per cent July 1, 1960, followed gradually by steps leading to abolition of tariffs in 10 years.

Special arrangements for freer trade in agricultural and fishery products would be worked out in bilateral negotiations between interested countries. The new would be open for other European countries to join.

European nations outside the common market fear they may be shut out of valuable trading when the terms of the market become fully effective in the next decade.

The common market alliance is Italy, France, West Germany, Belgium, Netherlands and Luxembourg aims at the free movement of materials, money and manpower among the member nations.

A British-inspired attempt to create a looser association of all remaining West European nations in a free-trade zone linked to the common market failed earlier this year.

CBC Gets Another Blast From Frost Over Election

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost Saturday night delivered a second blast at the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Dissatisfied with broadcast coverage of Thursday's election, which gave Conservatives a new term, the premier expanded his criticism and declared: "The Government's part in TV and broadcasting ought to be regulated by the people's representatives. Far better results would be reached in this way."

In a statement handed to the CBC, he said:

"It is my judgment the whole principle of the CBC is wrong. It is inconsistent with the right of private ownership that a business of broadcasting should be in the business of disseminating slanted news, or any other news. This is clearly the case when a non-broadcast was biased, slanted and prejudiced. The fact that little or no coverage was given to the government side on election night almost all of which was only incidental. There is only one cure for this situation and that is to have a good private radio and TV stations."

The statement said the premier knew of "all sorts of people who turned to CBC because of its monopoly stations) for fair reports."

The statement followed by a day an interview with the Toronto Globe and Mail in which the premier said it was "the height of insolence" for the CBC to suggest that he owed an apology to Mr. Lindsay to appear on television election night.

The CBC replied Saturday that the invitation was made because technical difficulties made it impractical to set up equipment for a live telecast from Lindsay.

The CBC had done an excellent job arranging live telecasts from Lindsay following the June 8 election, the statement said.

Lawrence Duffy, manager of CBC television news, said every effort was made to originate a live broadcast from Lindsay.

"It was unfeasible to do so, very much to our regret," he said.

"We did broadcast on television a statement by Mr. Frost received over CBC audio facilities from Lindsay, television cameras were in Lindsay to record on film Mr. Frost's election night statement and this was used Friday on CBC television news broadcasts."

The television crew interviewed Mr. Frost in Lindsay Saturday after the premier's initial criticism of the CBC.

COMMUNIST RULE IN KERALA BEING BITTERLY FOUGHT

Seven Killed in 3 Days of Violence

TRIVANDRUM, India (CP)— Indian army units moved into the Communist - ruled state of Kerala today after a third day of violence claimed seven more lives.

The four were killed when police twice opened fire today on demonstrators picketing a government-owned rice mill.

Twenty-one persons were injured when police fired on balloon-dropping bombs in a Trivandrum suburb.

Today's shooting brought the death toll to seven since the opposition began a campaign of "non-violent" campaign Friday to oust the state's communist government. In 1957 the Communists were elected 26 months ago.

At least five persons were killed and more than 60 injured Saturday when police fired on 3,000 demonstrators in Ambanadi, a suburb of the state capital southeast Indian state.

Three policemen were injured in the battle over rice stores.

A crowd at Arrur. Armed police opened fire, killing two.

HUNDREDS HELD

Hundreds of persons were reported arrested in other parts of the state, including 137 Roman Catholics picked up while picketing in Kerala.

The government announced the arrests Sunday. Most of the coastal village near here. Another 600 were arrested in the state, it announced, said in another area after Congress, Socialist and Moslem League parties started picketing some government offices in a campaign of non-violence.

The opposition strategy is to paralyze the government as Prime Minister Nehru's regime in New Delhi would be forced to take over the state administration. That could be done legally by a constitutional provision applying when there is a breakdown of law and order. A new election would then be ordered.

ARMY MOVES IN

The government said the clash at Ankamali village started after 600 Congress party workers picketing a co-operative liquor store for two months was arrested. Immedia-

Lloyd Flies Back With Secret Plan To Save Parley

Will Seek to Prevent Fruitless Adjournment

LONDON (AP)—The government today backed a "save Geneva" plan put forward by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd in private weekend consultations with Prime Minister Macmillan.

Informants in London indicated it seeks to avoid a fruitless adjournment of the foreign ministers' conference.

Details were kept secret, apparently to please Lloyd time to report today to his American colleague Christian Herter concerning his talks with Macmillan and other British government leaders.

The plan was discussed by Lloyd, Macmillan and cabinet members this morning just before the foreign secretary returned by plane to Geneva.

It was clear in London after the important cabinet session that British leaders are not enthusiastic about suggestions which have been made for a four-week break in the current Geneva talks.

SUMMIT MUST MEET

They would like a summit conference to take place in August or September. The prospect of a general election here in the early autumn would make it hard for Western leaders at this time.

It is understood in London that the United States, while not as eager for a summit conference, is now dead set against one.

The French, however, are viewed as being more rigid on the question.

The British proposals are understood to be framed in such a way as to appeal to both the British and the French.

The Russians say they want the present four power-status in Berlin to end in a year. And the feeling in London today appears to be that Khrushchev will accept June there's plenty of room and time for compromise.

GENEVA (CP)—Britain today made an eleventh-hour move to keep the East-West foreign ministers' talk alive.

Today's private big four session was postponed two hours as Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the American and French foreign ministers about his hopes for agreement.

Lloyd flew in from London at the start of the sixth—and probably final—week of the 30-foreign ministers' talks.

The big question is whether the conference on Germany's future will end in stalemate or agree at least on a summit meeting.

Lloyd attended a cabinet session in London this morning and later told reporters he is still hoping for an East-West agreement. He said: "I will be glad to play my part in seeking to achieve it."

U.S. officials said that if Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko came up with no new ideas today the Western powers were ready to talks to go on for probably two more meetings in a search for an agreement that would bring off negotiations.

Western diplomats still talked of some compromise which would lift the immediate Soviet threat to West Berlin. They believe Russian's proposed one-year time limit for a settlement is negotiable.

Diplomatic sources in Moscow said they believe Premier Khrushchev is ready to avoid summit party praesidium ar-

Study Planned On Detecting Nuclear Blasts

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union agreed today to a three power scientific study of the problem of detecting all underside nuclear explosions.

A compromise lasting about after 50-minute meeting of the nuclear test suspension conference as American, British and Soviet scientists will meet in Geneva June 25 to study the problem and report back to the conference next July 1.

High-altitude blasts represent one of the major unresolved problems in establishing a foolproof control system to police a ban on nuclear weapon tests and underground explosions. The other major problem has to do with underground shocks.

The high-altitude study will be headed by Dr. Lloyd Berkner, president of the Associated Universities, Inc., and Isador James J. Wadsworth, head of the American delegation.

Oshawa Man Facing Charge After Shooting Death

OSHAWA (CP)—Nick Crowko, 66, of Oshawa was charged Sunday with attempted murder after a man was shot twice in the stomach and another suffered a broken ankle during a political argument in the city's east end.

John Worobec, 52, a city works department employee, suffered the stomach wounds from .32-calibre bullets and was described in fair condition at Lakeview General Hospital.

Frank Kosmik, 54, a carpenter living in the same-house as Worobec, was taken to hospital with a broken ankle. He was cuts suffered in a fight before the shooting occurred.

Police, who seized two revolvers and a .22-calibre rifle from the Crowko home, said the three men had been arguing over politics. The pistol shots came as sitting on a chair in the kitchen when he was shot at close range. Police said the fatal session lying on a bed with a towel around his ankle.

'Copter' Pilot Just Dropped In for Gas

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — A helicopter pilot dropped in for a sight at a filling station near here. The pilot, Lynne Harper, climbed out of the machine, "Fill 'er up, please."

Sees' Disgraceful Campaign' Here To Wreck Forthcoming Royal Tour

LONDON (Reuters)—A London Sunday newspaper charges that there is a "disgraceful campaign" in Canada to wreck the forthcoming tour of the country by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh embark this week.

The story in the mass-circulation newspaper, The People, says: "It is time the mother country learned just how far open hostility to the Royal Tour and even to the Queen herself has gone in one of her own dominions."

"Some newspapers keep publishing letters from Canadians that there is constant ramming of the Queen down Canadian throats to work up an enthusiasm that does not exist.

"Some newspapers reading certain Canadian publications and the letters columns of a number of prominent Dominion personalities it seems brutally clear that there is something like a conspiracy to present the Queen as a sort of unwanted mother-in-law barging in on a long-suffering relative."

The paper adds that "the Canadian government itself and the Dominion's more responsible newspapers are opposed to these unseemly attacks on the tour."

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Province, in an overseas telephone interview with Harry Ainsworth, quotes the editor-in-chief of the London newspaper The People as saying he does not believe the attitude of Canadians towards Queen Elizabeth is as bad as the story makes out.

The Vancouver newspaper says Mr. Ainsworth was interviewed in his office Ainsworth out of bed at 8 a.m. London time to speak with Province editor Don Hutchison. Mr. Ainsworth's story saying "there is a disgraceful campaign going on in one of her own dominions."

Former Mayor Of Toronto, Wife Seriously Hurt

TORONTO (CP)—Former Toronto mayor and controller Leslie H. Saunders and his wife were severely injured Saturday in a head-on car collision near Uxbridge, 17 miles north of here.

Authorities of East General Hospital here said both are in satisfactory condition. Mrs. Saunders suffered two broken legs and facial injuries and Mrs. Saunders' left leg and her nose were broken.

Juvenile Held For Slaying Of Lynne Harper

CLINTON (CP)—A 14-year-old boy was charged with murder, following the strangle slaying of Lynne Harper, 12, shortly before the girl's body was performed over the child's body.

Lynne's body was found by a passing motorist in a ditch near here. The autopsy showed she had been beaten raped and strangled with her own belt.

The boy was charged before Judge Dudley Holmes in nearby Goderich. His parents were in court with him.

The funeral was held in the tiny Presbyterian chapel at the RCAF station in this town 30 miles northwest of Stratford. Teachers and fellow-classmates of grade seven attended. Lynne was the daughter of FO and Mrs. Leslie Harper, formerly of Moncton, N.B.

Police made the surprise arrest after a 24-hour grueling questioning of Kelso Roberts offered a $10,000 reward or police for reward for the child's pupil-killer.

Police said they now have collected enough evidence. The boy was picked up on Highway 8 near here by a motorist. They have also ruled out any connection with the slaying of Patricia Lupien, 13, Long Sault, whose body was found last March in a snowbank in Scarborough, a Toronto suburb.

The charge against the juvenile was laid by Constable Lynne Harper and is therefore a juvenile delinquency charge under the Juvenile Delinquency Act."

Louisiana Governor Claims Family Railroaded Him Into Mental Clinic

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Governor Jimmie Davis of Louisiana, who claims members of his family railroaded him into a Texas mental clinic, goes to court today in a libel suit he has filed against "I'm no more crazy than you are." Long described the governor's road-floor window in hospital here Sunday night.

The 63-year-old governor, who has been confined here two weeks, is suing Long, publisher of a string of habeas corpus. There was a possibility that lawyers for both men's maneuvres might change the procedure.

"I've had me in here in handcuffs," Long yelled to James McLean, news correspondent for the Associated Press. McLean and Mrs. Margaret Dixon, managing editor of the Baton Rouge Morning Advocate, and two other reporters were standing 10 feet of Long's hospital room.

Long threatened to kill the loan shark bill" yelled Long. "They wanted to pass the sales tax. They wanted to kill my election bill.

The governor's references were to a bill he vetoed while in the Louisiana legislature. The "loan-shark bill" proposed to limit interest charge in the interest rate on small loans. The election bill was designed to change the Democratic primary from Dec. 5 to Sept. 19, a move the governor mentioned was not an issue in the legislative session. The other two bills were:

Psychiatrists at John Sealy Hospital, where Long has been since May 30, never have publicly classified Long's mental illness. The governor has indicated he was persecuted in that he was arrested at the mansion in Baton Rouge, strapped to a stretcher, handcuffed to an ambulance, and flown to Texas.

"Long took that attitude again Sunday when he talked to a reporter interview, "there never has been any brutality used against the governor or his governor—like I've been handled."

URTON SALISBURY AS HOLE-IN-ONE F COUNTRY CLUB

A hole in one is an accomplishment seldom registered by a golfer whether he be a professional or a duffer. Recently the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club this feat was registered when Burton Salisbury, playing with H. Hendrick and James Chapman, negotiated one of the short holes in one stroke. It took place on the first tee-off after all the players had been for the hole, they walked up to the cup to find Mr. Salisbury's ball safely lodged in it. No doubt this ball will be no more service and will be duly inscribed with the event.

Third Attempt Made to Crack Safe at Plant

For the third time in the past two months, safe-crackers over the weekend attempted to crack the safe at the Coca Cola plant on Sidney Street.

Detective Harold Reid said that the dial had been knocked from the safe door and a drill used, to bore a hole into the mechanism following which an attempt had been made to blow the safe. Remains of caps and string used to set off the charge were found on the scene.

Entry to the building was gained through a door at the north corner of the building. On two other occasions this year, entry has been gained to the Coca Cola building, with attempts being made to loot the office safe.

Summer-Long Beautification Contest Planned

TRENTON — It will be "Clean up", "Paint Up", "Plant Up" and "Light up" all this summer in nearby Frankford, it was announced over the weekend.

The program, which will see prizes of cash awarded in each of the months of August, has been outlined by the Town Betterment Committee, which consists of F. Rabel, D. Servos, H. Abbot, A. Pickle, R. Rowe, and E. Loucks.

In speaking on the "Frankford Beautification Program", the name attached to the project, the chairman of the committee said:

"We can be very proud of the forward movement in our village with the establishment of waterworks, sewage disposal and other conveniences. An increase in housing and a general upward trend in all phases of community life is evident, and with this in mind the local Lions Club, in co-operation with the Municipal Council, is sponsoring a town beautification contest in which they will offer worthy cash prizes for achievement in horticulture, landscaping and general home improvement.

"Such a program, we believe, will develop a community spirit and our appeal for endorsement and financial support has been well received by local supporters and this committee is grateful to them for their initiative and action.

"The contest starts immediately and will end by the end of August when outside, experienced judges will be brought in to decide on the various winners. A total of $170 will be given out in cash prizes.

"Donations for prizes", he said, "were received from the Municipal Council, Lions Club, Rota Shoe Company, Lindsay Construction Company, Frankford Building Supplies, Stirling Lumber, C. A. Frost, H.E. Coulter, Quinte Nurseries and Reeve H. W. Rose."

All residents of Frankford are invited to participate in the contest which will include those living within the village boundaries.

NOT CANDIDATE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said Saturday he is not a candidate for a third Democratic presidential nomination in 1960 and "will not be nominated." He told a press conference: "I will be the proudest private party any way I can in 1960 because it is more important every day for the Democrats to win."

Chief J. Taylor Attends Course At Hamilton

TRENTON — Police Chief Jack Taylor left yesterday for Hamilton where he will attend a training seminar for Chief Constables and Detectives' Association of Ontario and will be held in co-operation with the Attorney General's Office. The classes will be under the direction of Professor W. McClellan of the Department of Extension, McMaster University in Hamilton.

The chief Chiefs will stay at the University all during the week and their classes will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 10 p.m. each day, with the exception of one night when the Chiefs will be taken on a conducted tour.

The course will consist of lectures and panels on all types of criminal investigation, from 7.30 p.m. to 10 p.m. there will be a group study in which the Chiefs will review the previous days's held during that day.

The seminar will be officially opened by A. Kelso Roberts, Attorney General for the Province of Ontario, and the main speaker for the opening will be the Board of Commissioners of Police in Hamilton.

During this week, while Police Chief Taylor is away, Inspector H. Sutherford of the Trenton Police Department will take over his duties.

Legion Plans Party For Air Commodore

TRENTON — In recognition of the untiring efforts and ready co-operation of Legionnaire Air Commodore James R. Harvey, the Chief Staff Officer of Training Command Headquarters, RCAF, Trenton, Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion is holding a social evening in his honor, Friday evening, June 26th.

During Air Commodore Harvey's stay in Trenton he has always found time in his very busy schedule to take an active part in Legion affairs. As chairman of the Air Force Legion Search Committee, he has initiated many members in the Canadian Legion.

With the move of Training Command Headquarters to Winnipeg, in the very near future, Air Commodore Harvey will be leaving Trenton, to take up his duties at Winnipeg.

Legion Branch Is Visited by District Head

District Commander Lou Knack of Trenton, paid his official visit to the Belleville branch of the Canadian Legion at its last regular meeting. He conducted the initiation of several new members to the branch and spoke briefly on the Canadian Legion physical fitness program, and the Canadian Legion youth training plan.

Robert Blair commented on the newly formed Belleville Minor Sports Association, mentioning that this organization is designed to give all the youth of the city a chance to participate in the sport of their choice. Mr. Blair is currently handling the League's entry in the minor soccer leagues. Other business of the branch was discussed, with several members being reported sick in hospital.

Shirley Fleming Wins Honors in Judo Tourney

Miss Shirley Fleming, Belleville's foremost lady exponent of judo, won honors for herself, her city and her country in Toronto on Saturday.

Miss Fleming captained a Canadian team against an American aggregation in the first International Women's Judo Tournament in the history of the sport.

In judo parlance, Miss Fleming is the "brown belt," a high classification of the sport.

In the individual championships, Miss Fleming defeated an American brown belt, Carman Vaga, Detroit. She lost the championship in overtime by a half-point to Chicago's Alice Harper, also a brown belt.

The team event which saw entries from Belleville and Ottawa represent Canada and those of Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago play for the United States, was the highlight of the tournament.

It narrowed down to the final fight between Miss Fleming and Mrs. Phyllis Harper of Chicago, a second-degree black belt.

Miss Fleming won the championship. She threw Mrs. Harper but the three was completely outside the mat area, and thus did not count.

The team was completed for the match and the championship by Mrs. Ann Sawchuk.

Miss Fleming was honored in that she was the only Canadian to win a place in the tournament and the first selected to represent a Canadian women's judo tournament.

Water Safety Week in City Well Planned

This week is Water Safety Week in Belleville. The local Water Safety Council, with the co-operation of numerous other organizations which have a direct interest in educating the public in the value of safe water swimming and water accidents.

The highlight of the week will be the Civic Regatta at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club on Thursday, June 18, at 7.30 p.m. Three films on water safety will be shown: Eve Witness, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police film; Don't Drown, a Red Cross film; and Safety Was a Thing Sat out by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Officer Peter Pete King of the Royal Canadian Air Force Search and Rescue Unit, will also be present to explain the activities of this group in assisting civil authorities. The Belleville Fire Department will also be present with their fire boat, rescue equipment, and a representative of the Red Cross.

Posters will be displayed by merchants and businessmen throughout the city to remind the public of water safety. In the schools teachers will be distributing water safety pamphlets to their students. A lecture outlining water safety rules will also be given.

The Quinte Water Safety Council, with the co-operation of the public schools board and the Belleville Y.M.C.A. have completed the first "Learn-to-Swim" campaign among grade eight students in this city. Of the 31 who were given the course last September, 29 were able to successfully passed their basic swimming examinations.

The Belleville Harbor Commission has also been quite active in promoting the interest of safety around the harbor front. Buoys, poles, and ropes have been placed in convenient places about the water front. Signs are also being posted to advise people what to do and where to call in the event of an emergency.

The Safety Commission will be meeting tomorrow evening and will probably discuss other safety measures.

Canadian Band, Majorettes Seen In U.S. Parade

(Special to the Ontario Intelligencer)

PITTSBURG — A colorful Canadian band and dainty prancing majorettes featured a four-mile long parade here Saturday.

The band and majorettes represented Canada in the Grand Lodge International Convention of Odd Fellows participation in the observance of Pittsburgh's bi-centennial.

The band was the fine fortypiece musical organization of the Picton, Ontario IOOF while the pretty majorettes came from the Dunlop Dickey School of Dancing, Belleville Ontario.

Under the direction and direction of music Creighton Lockyer, the band and majorettes were here on the special invitation of the Grand Lodge IOOF. Of the 65 bands, majorettes and other personnel took part in the parade.

The parade was filmed and reporters paraded post television cameras and such outstanding entertainers as Arthur Godfrey, etc.

The Canadian contingent got a tremendous ovation as it marched and the parade said to be witnessed by 1,000,000 was the largest parade of its kind ever held in the New York-Pennsylvania area.

The band and majorettes left Picton on Friday morning and Saturday when they received a rousing welcome from the Grand Lodge and other host officials.

On Saturday evening the Canadian visited the IOOF orphanage and Home for the Aged here where they heard music and a show by the majorettes. They received a tremendous ovation and also were feted for hour playing and dancing encores.

Fourth Mishap In Front of Same House

TWEED — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Way, while sitting down to their evening meal, were startled by a loud crash in front of their residence on Victoria Street in this village. Running to the front of the house to Way found that his car had been struck by another while parked. It is the third time that such an occurrence has taken place in as many cars of Mr. Way's, and once on another occasion to a visiting friend's car.

Mr. and Mrs. Way stated that they are moving to a new residence in the near future and are hoping that the spell remains behind them.

Damage to Mr. Way's car, a 1939 Pontiac, is estimated at $275, while that of the other car, a 1949 model driven by Mr. Wm. Bagley of Tweed, is estimated at about $350.

The driver of the second car was Harold Wallace Higgins that while he was driving south on Victoria St. a bag of groceries fell from the seat onto the floor, and as he reached to try and bend up the fall of the articles, the car swerved across the street and into Mr. Way's car.

Belleville area.

Mr. Bagley of Tweed, is employed by one local firm.

Predeceased by his wife, the former Margaret Houser, in 1939, he is survived by two grandsons, Graydon and Douglas Rodgers, by one brother, Stanley Chambers of Hallowell, a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Rodgers died in 1953.

Resting at the John R. Bush funeral home, the funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.
